CAMBRIDGE TEXTS IN THE
HISTORY OF PHILOSOPHY

Series editors

KARL AMERIKS

Professor of Philosophy, University of Notre Dame

DESMOND M. CLARKE

Emeritus Professor of Philosophy, University College Cork

The main objective of Cambridge Texts in the History of Philosophy is to expand the range, variety and quality of texts in the history of philosophy which are available in English. The series includes texts by familiar names (such as Descartes and Kant) and also by less well-known authors. Wherever possible, texts are published in complete and unabridged form, and translations are specially commissioned for the series. Each volume contains a critical introduction together with a guide to further reading and any necessary glossaries and textual apparatus. The volumes are designed for student use at undergraduate and postgraduate level, and will be of interest not only to students of philosophy but also to a wider audience of readers in the history of science, the history of theology and the history of ideas.

For a list of titles published in the series, please see end of book.

Acknowledgements

Several friends and colleagues have offered helpful advice and comments on parts of this translation. I wish here to thank the following: Elizabeth Ashford, Pedro Fortuny Ayuso, Lesley Brown, Pierre Destrée, Troels Engberg-Pedersen, Daniel Ferguson, the late R. M. Hare, Bryn Harris, Rosalind Hursthouse, Christopher Kirwan, Christopher Megone, Daniel Robinson, Dominic Scott, Robert Wardy, and David Wiggins. I am greatly indebted to the late Heda Segvic for suggesting a number of revisions in an acute review of the first edition in Utilitas 14.3 (2002). Errors that remain are, of course, my own responsibility, and I would be grateful to be informed of them. I am obliged also to Will Allen for help with literary references, to Desmond Clarke for his encouragement and for his comments on the penultimate draft of the translation, to Hilary Gaskin for her wise advice and patience, and to Bryn Harris for assistance in adding the Bekker line numbers for the second edition. First drafts were completed during a British Academy Postdoctoral Research Fellowship held at University College, Oxford, 1989–91. I am grateful to both institutions for their support.
