Contents

List of Contributors
Page vii

Acknowledgments
Page xiii

Introduction
Page 1
By Jack Jacobs

Part One
Political Implications of Judaism

1 The Strangeness of Jewish Leftism
Page 29
By Michael Walzer

Part Two
Anti-Semitism and the Left

2 The Dualisms of Capitalist Modernity: Reflections on History, the Holocaust, and Antisemitism
Page 43
By Moishe Postone

3 Marxism’s Other Jewish Questions
Page 67
By Lars Fischer

Part Three
Israel, Zionism, and the Left

4 Socialist Zionism and Nation Building
Page 87
By Anita Shapira

5 Delegitimation of Israel or Social-Historical Analysis? The Debate over Zionism as a Colonial Settler Movement
Page 103
By Yoav Peled

6 Does the Left Have a Zionist Problem? From the General to a Particular
Page 123
By Mitchell Cohen
Contents

PART FOUR JEWS AND COMMUNISM
7 Jews and Communism in the Soviet Union and Poland
   Antony Polonsky
8 Jews and American Communism
   Harvey Klehr

PART FIVE GENDERED PERSPECTIVES
9 Gesia Gelfman: A Jewish Woman on the Left in Imperial Russia
   Barbara Alpern Engel
10 Manya Shochat and Her Traveling Guns: Jewish Radical
    Women from Pogrom Self-Defense to the First Kibbutzim
   Deborah Hertz
11 The Gender of Jews and the Politics of Women: A Reflection
   Alice Kessler-Harris

PART SIX CANONICAL FIGURES
12 Gershom Scholem and the Left
   Steven E. Aschheim
13 The Romantic Socialism of Gustav Landauer
   Michael Löwy
14 Martin Buber between Left and Right
   Uri Ram

PART SEVEN CASE STUDIES
15 The Soviet Union, Jewish Concerns, and the New York
   Electoral Left, 1939–1944
   Daniel Soyer
16 Jews and the Left at the New School
   Judith Friedlander
17 Deutscher and the Jews: On the Non-Jewish Jew –
   An Analysis and Personal Reflection
   Samuel Farber

Glossary
Index