

Index

- Aaron, Jessi Elana, 55, 62 academic register, 187, 199, 230 accountability, 24, 39, 46, 223, 231, see also principle of accountability
 accusations, 104
 acoustic analysis, 245, 251
 acquisition of constraints, 162, 163–4, 260
 of discourse-pragmatic change, 5, 16
 of discourse-pragmatic variation, 160–81, 258–61
 of linguistic variation, 160–1, 163–4
 of quotative variation, 9, 160–81, 258–61
 activation states, 70–6, 83, 256
actually, 41–2, 48–54
 Ädel, Annelie, 23
 adverbials with discourse-pragmatic functions, 41, 48, 51–2
 adverbs
 as discourse-pragmatic features, 41, 49, 53
 as discourse-pragmatic variables, 41–2, 48–54
 variability, 41–55
 with discourse-pragmatic functions, 42, 49–55
 age of speaker
 children and quotatives, 160–81, 258–60
 general extenders, 118, 121, 127–8, 253–4
 intensifiers, 254
 NEG-TAGS, 77–8
 quotatives, 140
 utterance-final tags (UFTs), 97–9, 103, 106,
 107–8, 110, 253
 Agha, Asif, 225, 229
 Aijmer, Karin, 26, 48, 49, 50, 54, 87, 123, 129, 136, 213
 aims of the book, 4–6
 American English (AmE), 187, 190, 208, 209,
 218, see also North American English; US
 English
 amplifiers, 186, 187
 analogical levelling, 138, see also paradigm
 levelling
 and stuff, 87, 99, 102, 111, 118, 253, 255, 258
 and that, 123, 126, 129, 134–5, 136, 137, 213, 253, 254
 and things, 99, 111, 253
 Andersen, Gisle, 6–7, 12, 25, 35, 60, 61, 63, 64, 77, 87, 90, 91, 109, 264
 AntConc concordancing software, 190
 Anttila, Raimo, 118
 apparent-time
 change, 78, 88, 107, 127, 179
 component, 166
 construct, 87, 117
 context expansion, 13, 102–8, 111
 data, 16
 evidence, 61, 67, 77, 78–9
 framework, 77
 trajectories, 102
 approximator like, 236, 237
as I say/ as I said, 37
 Asian Englishes intensifier usage, 185–210
at the end of the day, 37
 attention seeking functions, 68–70, 257
 Australian English (AusE), 139–59, 262
 Avis, Walter S., 104
aye, 132

 Baayen, Harald R., 99
 backchannels, 30–1
 Bailey, Charles-James N., 77, 84
 Bailey, Guy, 77, 117, 166
 Balasubramanian, Chandrika, 185
 Bao, Zhiming, 185
 Barbieri, Federica, 230
 Barnfield, Kate, 254
 Barron, Anne, 53, 55
basically, 50
 Bayley, Robert, 185
be all, 235, see also quotatives
be like. see also quotatives
 Canadian child quotatives study, 165–78, 258, 261
 in Multicultural London English, 258–61

Cambridge University Press

978-1-107-05576-6 - Discourse-Pragmatic Variation and Change in English:

New Methods and Insights

Edited by Heike Pichler

Index

More information

296 Index

- be like* (cont.)
 West Australian English quotatives, 140–1, 146–59
- Beeching, Kate, 255
- Bell, Barbara, 141, 168
- Benor, Sarah Bunin, 250
- Berwick-upon-Tweed, 119, 121, 125, 126, 127, 135, 136, 137, 253
- bespoke analyses, 17, 41, 42, 48–54, 265
- Biber, Douglas, 22, 26, 50, 187, 188, 208
- bigrams, 25
- bilateral speaking process, 71
- binomial models, 106–8
- Blondeau, H el ene, 172
- BNC (British National Corpus), 23, 33
- Braida, Louis D., 250
- Brinton, Laurel J., 43, 48, 136
- Brown, Keith, 70
- Brown, Penelope, 138
- bruv/ blud/ bro*, 36–7
- Bucholtz, Mary, 234, 235, 250
- Buchstaller, Isabelle, 140, 143, 145, 158, 168, 254
- Burnouts, 234, 262
- Bybee, Joan, 102, 109
- Campbell-Kibler, Kathryn, 234
- Canadian English
be like, 161, 162
 child quotatives study, 168–78, 258, 261
 general extenders, 86–7, 111, 253
 utterance-final tags (UFTs), 86–111
- Carbaugh, Donal, 141
- Carroll, Ruth, 117, 120
- cataphoric topicality of referents, 74, 75–6
- Chafe, Wallace L., 70, 237
- Chambers, J.K., 163
- Cheshire, Jenny, 6, 11–12, 17, 43, 44, 59, 73, 84, 95, 118, 119, 126, 129, 131–2, 135, 164, 220, 223, 253, 263
- children, 160–81, 258–61
- circumscription of the variable context, 7, 17, 41, 42, 44–55, 61–2, 82–4, 87–9, 90–5, see also envelope of variation
- Clark, Herbert H., 71, 73
- clause peripheries, 63–7, 255–8, see also left periphery; right periphery
- Clift, Rebecca, 42, 48
- clipping, 123, 129
- cluster analysis, 13, 191–6, 210
- COCA (Corpus of Contemporary American English), 33, 35
- coding discourse-pragmatic variables
 cross-study variation, 230
 for diagnostics of grammaticalisation, 63–76, 95–7, 123–4, 145–6, 168–9, 220–2 for discourse-pragmatic function, importance, 13–14 for discourse-pragmatic function, methods, 14–15, 67–76, 95–7, 220–22, 236, 264, 265 for speaker style, 225–8
 for register variation, 225–7
 subjectivity, 264
 collaborative referring process, 73–4
- Collins, Peter, 210
- collocation, 25, 29, 263
- COLT (Bergen Corpus of London Teenage Language), 27–39, 60, 77, 80, 81, 87
- Columbus, Georgina, 87
- commands, 104
- common ground/ shared knowledge, 73, 74, 75, 83, 84, 87, 90, 91, 95, 215, 216, 217
- communities of practice, 238, see also social group membership
- comparative methods, in corpus-driven studies, 25
- concordancing software, 190
- Conrad, Susan, 188
- conservative dialects, 115–38
- Constant Rate Effect, 138
- context expansion
 semantic-pragmatic context expansion, 95, 97, 102–8, 109–10
 syntactic context expansion, 62, 67
- co-occurrence patterns
 general extenders, 131–4
 in corpus-driven studies, 25–6
- Coronel, Lilian, 187, 209
- corpora
 BNC (British National Corpus), 23, 33
 COCA (Corpus of Contemporary American English), 33, 35
 COLT (Bergen Corpus of London Teenage Language), 27–39, 60, 77, 80, 81, 87
 Fisher English Corpus, 211, 219–20
 ICE (International Corpus of English), 188–91
 LCS (Language Change and Stabilisation Corpus), 211, 219
 LIC (Linguistic Innovators Corpus), 27–9, 62, 253–4, 257
 MLE (Multicultural London English), 27–29
 OCLC (Ottawa Child Language Corpus), 165–7, 171–2
 OHSLA (Ottawa-Hull Spoken Language Archives), 166–7, 172–3
 Roots Archive, 118–19
 Switchboard corpus, 219

- TEA (Toronto English Archive), 88, 89
UWA Corpus of English in Australia, 142–3
Wellington Corpus of Spoken New Zealand English, 187, 188
- corpus linguistics
 basic concepts, 24–6
 corpus-driven vs. corpus-based, 21–2, 23–4, 26, 38–9 corpus studies, 23–4
 cross-corpora studies, 11, 28, 30, 81, 89, 223
 implications for future research, 12
 methods, 21–40
 short-term diachronic comparable corpus linguistics, 21, 27
- corroboration-seeking, 68–70
- Coupland, Nikolas, 234, 251
- co-variants, establishing, 80, 82–3
- Cruttenden, Alan, 65
- Cukor-Avila, Patricia, 166, 169
- Cullybackey, 119, 127, 134
- Cumnock, 119, 127, 132, 134
- cumulative principle, 139
- Cutler, Cecilia A., 234
- D'Arcy, Alexandra, 43, 44, 46–7, 51, 52, 99, 101, 140, 141, 143, 145, 147, 150, 157, 158, 162, 165, 167, 168, 169, 170, 236, 257
- Dasher, Richard B., 48, 51
- de Klerk, Vivian, 187
- dead*, 254, 255
- decategorialisation, 86, 87, 117, 253
- defining discourse-pragmatic variables. see discourse-pragmatic variables
- Denis, Derek, 8–9, 13, 15, 16, 87, 90, 95, 99, 101, 118, 119, 120, 127, 128, 136, 212, 220, 253, 254, 257, 264
- Denison, David, 40, 77
- Detges, Ulrich, 255
- Deutschmann, Mats, 23
- diachronic datasets
 conservative dialects as proxy for, 117–18, 137
 grammaticalisation research, 254
 implications for future research, 15–16
 relic dialects as proxy for, 117–18, 137
- dialects, conservative, 115–38
- diminishers, 186, 190
- Dines, Elizabeth R., 17, 143
- diphthong vs. monophthong in discourse like, 242–3, 245–6, 248
- discourse like. see also be like; like; quotatives and position, 46–7
 approximator like, 236
 discourse marker (DM) like, 46–7, 236, 237 discourse marker like vs. discourse particle like, 236 discourse particle (DP) like, 47, 232, 236, 239–51
it's like, 170, 171
 phonetic variation, 232–51, 261–2
 quotative be like, 140, 150, 161, 162, 171, 236, 240–51, 258–60
- discourse markers (DMs), defined, 3
- discourse particles (DPs), defined, 3
- discourse-new markers, 84
- discourse-organisational functions, 42
- discourse-pragmatic features, defined, 3
- discourse-pragmatic variables adverbs as, 48–54
 bespoke analyses of, 17, 42–3, 48–54
 complexities of defining, 48–54
 criticism of, 264–6
 derivation-based definition of, 41, 43, 46, 62–3, 90, 123–4, 220 different approaches to defining, 42–8 discourse like as, 46, 233–6
 flexible approach to defining, 8, 17, 82–4
 form- and function-based definition of, 43, 44, 46–7 form-based definition of, 44, 46–7, 220 function- and position-based definition of, 46–7, 90–1, 236–7 function- and structure-based definition of, 115–16 function-based definition of, 41, 44–6, 80
 general extenders (GEs) as, 45, 46, 115–16, 123–4, 220
innit as, 62–3, 82–4
 intensifiers as, 44, 45–6, 48, 52
 negative polarity interrogative tags (NEG-TAGS) as, 62–3 position- and derivation-based definition of, 62, 82
 quotatives as, 45, 143, 168
 utterance-final tags (UFTs) as, 90–1
- distance matrices, 194–5
- Dixon's Q-Test, 223
- do you get*-type response elicitors, 37–9, 80
- do you know what I mean*. see know what I mean
- Drager, Katie, 11, 14, 16, 232, 237, 239, 242, 243, 246, 250, 261–2, 264
- Du Bois, John W., 235
- Dubois, Sylvie, 116, 123, 137, 215, 223
- duh*, 35–6, 40, 265
- e* (Scots tag), 70
- Eckert, Penelope, 165, 234, 250, 262, 263
- eh*, 88, 90–1, 96, 98, 99, 110

298 Index

- elliptical anchors, 63, 65
 Ely, Richard, 164
 embedding problem, 82, 107
end of the day, 33
 envelope of variation, 44–7, 54, 62, 90, 95, 264, see also circumscription of the variable context
 epistemic functions, 50, 110
 epistemic parentheticals, 254
 Erman, Britt, 129
 ethnographic methods, 237
 Euclidean distance, 242
 exclamations, 110
 existential constructions, 74
- facilitative function, 110
 familiars vs. strangers, talking with, 211, 217, 218–31
 Ferrara, Kathleen, 141, 168
 Finegan, Edward, 50
Fisher English Corpus, 211, 219–20
 fixed expressions, 120, 212
 floor-claiming moves, 69, 73, 256, 257
 follow-up position, 60, 66, 76–7 footing, shifts in, 246, 247
 formulaic constructions, 66, 75, 120
 Fox, Sue, 258
 Fraser, Bruce, 3 frequency
 analyses, limitations of, 16–17, 43–4, 80–1, 108, 179–80, 228–30, 264
 vs. functionality, 211, 224, 229–30, 232
 Fuchs, Robert, 10, 12, 13, 209, 210, 255 functional equivalence, 41, 43
 functional variability, 44–6
 functionality, vs. frequency, 211, 224, 229–30, 232
 Fussell, Susan R., 74
 future research directions
 acquisition of be like, 180, 260
 acquisition of discourse-pragmatic change, 260–1
 acquisition of ongoing change, 162
 antecedents of general extenders, 120 clause periphery changes, 257–8
 cross-variety studies of discourse-pragmatic
 change, 255
 cross-variety studies of general extenders, 137, 138
 general extenders and register variation, 230–1
 intensifiers and language change, 254–5
 language change and discourse-pragmatic
 features, 253–5
 lexical replacement, 255
 phonetic variation in discourse-pragmatic
 features, 262
 propagation of change, 180
 real-time studies of general extenders, 120
 stance and discourse-pragmatic variation, 250–1, 261–2, 264
 unconventional datasets, 15
- gender/ sex
 Australian English quotatives, 149, 150–1, 153, 154, 157–8
 child quotatives, 171–2, 176
 utterance-final tags, 99, 100–1, 110–11
 general extenders (GEs)
 antecedents of, 115–38
 coding the function of, 220–2
 collocation with other discourse-pragmatic
 features, 131–2
 constraints analysis, 128–35
 definition as discourse-pragmatic variable, 45, 46, 115–16, 123–4, 220
 functions, 122–3, 213–14, 220–2
 grammaticalisation, 86–7, 115–38, 253–4
 in conservative dialects, 115–38
 length of, 129–31, 134, 136
 lexical replacement, 87, 111, 253
 politeness, 215–17
 referential vs. non-referential functions, 213–14, 220–2, 229–30
 register variation, 211–31
 set-extension, 45, 96, 122–3, 212, 218, 220–2, 224–5, 228
 template, 46, 124, 212
 Gerrig, Richard J., 74
 Givón, Talmy, 75
go, 145, 148, 150, 151, 152–3, 154, 156, 164, 171, 172, 260, see also quotatives
 Goffman, Erving, 246
 Gold, Elaine, 96
 Goldvarb X, 132, 148, 173, 174, 258
 Gordon, Matthew, 70
 gradual vs. abrupt change, 87, 102, 107, 108, 111, 254, see also lexical replacement
 grammaticalisation
 assessing ongoing, 122, 123, 128–9, 134, 137, 174, 176, 177, 179
 coding for diagnostics of, 34–9, 63–76, 95–7, 123–4, 145–6, 168–9, 220–2
 context expansion, 13, 62, 67, 87, 95, 96, 97, 101–10, 111
 defined, 109, 117, 174
 diachronic evidence for, 44, 254
 expansion of discourse contexts as proxy for, 109–10

- general extenders, 86–7, 117, 135, 136–7, 138
 gradualness of, 102, 174
it's like, 170
 quotatives, 177, 179–80
 utterance-final tags (UFTs), 95–7, 108–10
 vs. lexical replacement, 87, 101–2, 107, 108, 128, 253–5
 Greenbaum, Sidney, 52, 53, 188
 Güldemann, Tom, 169
 Gundel, Jeanette K., 74
 Gut, Ulrike, 10, 12, 13
 Guy, Gregory, 148

 Haddican, William, 150
 Half Moon Bay Style Collective, 234
 Hardie, Andrew, 23, 24
 Haselow, Alexander, 255
 Hasselgård, Hilde, 54
 hedges, 22, 33, 40, 216
 Heine, Bernd, 44, 102, 174, 252
 Hickmann, Maya, 164
 Himmelmann, Nikolaus P., 62, 67, 95, 96,
 102, 109
 Hock, Hans Heinrich, 118
 Holmes, Janet, 218
 Holmes-Elliott, Sophie, 262
 Hong, Huaqing, 185
 Hopper, Paul J., 84, 174, 178
 Horton, William S., 74
 Hudson, Rachael, 172, 179
 Hulk, Aafke, 258
 Hull (Kingston upon), 119, 121, 126, 134, 135, 136, 137
 Hungarian, 70

I don't know/ I don't think, 46
I know, 65
 ICE (International Corpus of English), 188–91
 IceCup concordancing software, 190
if you know what I mean. see know what I mean imagination-appealing function, 110
in fact, 49, 51–2
indeed, 51–2
 Indian English (IndE), 190, 199–202, 203–5, 208, 209
 inductive approaches to research, 22, 24, 25
 information structure marking functions,
 70–6, 257
 in-group identities, 122, 232, 233, see also social group membership immit
 and clause peripheries, 63–7, 256–7
 and negative-polarity interrogative tags
 (NEG-TAGS), 59–79, 80, 81, 82, 84–5

 and right, yeah, 64–5, 66, 77, 83, 84–5
 as a discourse-pragmatic variable, 62–3, 82–4
 evidence of ongoing change, 77–84
 in Multicultural London English (MLE), 59–85
 new functions, 63–76, 79–80, 81–2
 positional distribution, 63–82, 83
 scopal properties, 64–7, 76–7, 79–80
 innovations, methods for identifying, 29–34, 80–2
 intensifiers
 across Asian Englishes, 185–210
 as a discourse-pragmatic variable, 44, 45–6, 48, 52
 classification, 186
 future research directions, 254–5
 register variation, 187–210
 semi-automatic analysis, 188–210
 interjections, 34–6, see also duh; rah internal state reporting/ inner thought, 141, 144, 145, 151, 155–6, 159, 164–5, 168–9, 178
 intonation, 93, 264, see also prosody
 Irish English, 140, see also Roots Archive
 Irvine, Judith T., 233
it's like, 170, 171, see also be like; discourse
like Izutsu, Katsunobu, 65
 Izutsu, Mitsuko Narita, 65

 Jamaican Creole, 70
 Janda, Richard D., 86, 102, 109
 Jeffrey, Chris, 187
 Jones, Bob Morris, 65, 66

 Kärkkäinen, Elise, 3
ken, 132
 Kenesei, István, 70
 Kern, Joseph, 266
 Kerswill, Paul, 165, 172, 180, 253
 Keysar, Boaz, 75
 Kiesling, Scott, 158, 234, 235, 261, 262, 263
kind of/ kinda, 29, 32–3, 40
 Kingston-upon-Hull, 119, 121, 126, 135, 136, 137
 Kirkpatrick, Andy, 208 know what I mean, 39, 70, 80
 Krause, Jean C., 250
 Krauss, Robert M., 74
 Kroch, Anthony, 77, 138
 Krych, Meredyth A., 71

 Labov, William, 5, 41, 42, 43, 50, 77, 84, 90,
 95, 99, 137, 139, 142, 143, 156, 161, 162,
 163, 165, 166, 168, 179, 181, 225, 226,
 227, 240, 265

Cambridge University Press

978-1-107-05576-6 - Discourse-Pragmatic Variation and Change in English:

New Methods and Insights

Edited by Heike Pichler

Index

More information

300 Index

- Lambrecht, Knud, 70, 71, 75
 language contact, 55, 59, 261
 Lavandera, Beatriz R., 138
 Lave, Jean, 238
 LCS (Language Change and Stabilisation Corpus), 211, 219
 Leech, Geoffrey, 21, 27
 left periphery (LP), 46–7, 52, 65, 66, 68–70, 255–6
 Levey, Stephen, 46, 95, 115, 116, 120, 121, 123, 124, 125, 126, 127, 128, 135, 136, 180, 181, 212, 213, 214, 230, 253, 258
 Levon, Erez, 262
 Lewis, Diana, 43
 lexical replacement, 87, 89, 102, 107, 108, 111, 127, 128–9, 253–5
 lexico-grammar approaches, 49
 Li, Charles N., 157
 LIC (Linguistic Innovators Corpus), 27–9, 62, 253–4, 257
like. see approximator like; be like; discourse like; it's like; quotatives linguistic variables. see also discourse-pragmatic variables discourse-pragmatic features as, 1, 3–4, 5, 17, 42–4, 265–6 original conception of, 41, 42–3
 Llamas, Carmen, 162
 Long, J. Scott, 111
 longitudinal data
 need for more research based on, 40
 quotatives in, 139–58
- Macaulay, Ronald, 1, 2
 Maechler, Martin, 195
 Mair, Christian, 44
 Malvar, Elisabete, 178
man, 36, 59, 263–4
 Martin, J.R., 246
 Maryport, 119, 127, 129, 132, 134–5
 Matras, Yaron, 261
 McCabe, Allyssa, 164
 McEnery, Tony, 23, 24
 McIntyre, Rebecca, 180
 mega-corpora, 13
 Meillet, Antoine, 117
 Méndez Naya, Belén, 109
 methods. see also circumscription of the variable context; coding discourse-pragmatic variables; corpus linguistics; discourse-pragmatic variables; envelope of variation; statistical methods; transcription conventions
 bespoke analyses, 17, 41, 42, 48–54, 265
 corpus-driven methods, 21–40
 ethnographic methods, 237
 implications for future research, 12–17, 264
 qualitative methods, 13–15
 semi-automatic methods, 185–210
 Meyerhoff, Miriam, 215
 Millar, Martin, 70
 mimesis, 45, 169, 177, 180, 258
 Mithun, Marianne, 70
 mixed-effects model, 99
 MLE (Multicultural London English)
 corpus-driven study of London adolescent speech, 26–39
 general extenders, 253–4
 innit, 59–85, 256
 innovations, 34–39, 59
 quotatives, 258–61
 modal certainty, 50
 Müller, Natascha, 258
 multifunctionality coding. see coding discourse-pragmatic variables multi-word sequences/ constructions, 25, 45, 46
 Murphy, Brona, 23
 Mutual Information score, 25–6
 Myhill, John, 75
- narrative
 narrative complicating action clauses, 153, 156–7 narrative discourse, 156–7 narrative fact, 96, 104
 negative polarity interrogative tags (NEG-TAGS), 46, 59–60, 62–85. see also innit
 NeighbourNet, 191–6
 Nelson, Gerry, 187
 Neumann, Stella, 185
 New Zealand English (NZE), 140, 141, 147, 157, 158, 187, 188, 216
N-grams, 25, 26, 29–33
 non-occurrence. see null/ zero variants
 Nordqvist, Åsa, 164
 Norrby, Catrin, 120, 123
 Norrick, Neal, 26
 North American English. see also American English; Canadian English; US English
 be like, 161–2
 child quotatives, 165–78, 258, 261
 general extenders (GEs), 86–7, 111, 211–30, 253
 utterance-final tags (UFTs), 86–111
 North American indigenous communities, 70
 Norwegian, 25
now, 49–50, 54, 187

- null/ zero variants
actually, 50, 51, 52
 adverbs, 49
 NEG-TAGS, 84
 quotatives, 143, 148, 149–50, 151, 152–3, 155, 158, 161, 164, 168, 171, 172, 174, 176, 178
- O’Keeffe, Anne, 216, 217
 OCLC (Ottawa Child Language Corpus),
 165–7, 171–2
 Oh, Sun-Young, 48
 OHSLA (Ottawa-Hull Spoken Language Archives), 166–7, 172–3
okay, 77, 80
 one-to-one searching, 23
 Opdahl, Lise, 48
 optionality of discourse-pragmatic features, 43
or something, 121, 214
 Östman, Jan-Ola, 87
 outliers, statistical, 223–4
 Overstreet, Maryann, 215, 216, 218
owt, 120
 Oxford English Dictionary (OED), 33, 40, 137, 150
- Palacios Martínez, Ignacio, 61, 81, 82, 95
 paradigm levelling, 60, 62, see also analogical
 levelling
 Parviainen, Hanna, 209
 peer group and language acquisition/development, 164, 172, 180
 persistence principle, 84
 personal vs. non-personal styles, 226–8, 229–30
 Peter, Lothar, 187
 phenogrammes, 13, 185, 191–6, 197–208, 209, 210
 Phillippine English (PhiE), 188, 190, 199–202, 203–5, 208, 209
 phonetic reduction, 63, 65, 86, 117, 250
 phonetic variation, 232–51, 262
 phrasal vs. clausal scope, 66, 70–6, 79–82
 phraseological units, 26
 Pichler, Heike, 1, 7–8, 12, 13–14, 16, 28, 34, 41, 43, 44, 46, 60, 62, 80, 82, 89, 90, 95,
 120, 123, 124, 125, 126, 127, 128, 136,
 144, 145, 213, 214, 217, 223, 230, 231,
 253, 256–7, 264, 265
 Podesva, Robert, 250
 Poisson regression models, 13, 105, 106, 111
 politeness, 36, 117, 215–17
 Poplack, Shana, 44, 118, 167, 173, 178
 Portavogie, 119, 127, 134
- position
 discourse like, 237, 257
 future research, 257–8
 general extenders, 212
 identifying, 65, 91–4, 264
innit, 60, 63–7, 76–9, 256
 left periphery (LP), 46–7, 52, 65, 66, 68–70, 255–6
 NEG-TAGS, 60, 63–7, 76–9, 256
 prosody, 65, 82, 93–5, 237
 quotatives, 144–5, 147
 right periphery (RP), 60, 66, 68, 69, 70, 77, 79, 81, 82, 84, 255–6, 257
right, eh, you know (Canadian), 90–1 Poutsma, Hendrik, 120 pragmatic markers (PMs), defined, 3
 pre-posing, 68, 70
 Preston, Dennis, R., 234
 Prince, Ellen F., 74
 principle of accountability, 43–4, 45, 52, 90, 168, 240, see also accountability propositional truth, 48
 prosody, 55, 65, 77, 82, 169, 237, 264, see also intonation
 punctors, 137, 213, 214, 230
- question tags, 4, see also innit; negative polar-
 ity interrogative tags (NEG-TAGS) Quirk, Randolph, 186
quite, 187, 208
 quotatives, see also be all; be like; discourse like; go; say; this is + speaker; think
 as discourse-pragmatic variables, 45, 143, 168
 children’s acquisition of, 160–81
 first-person subjects, 152, 156, 168, 177
 future research, 258
 in Multicultural London English (MLE), 258–60
 in West Australian English, 139–59, 264
 phonetic variation, 232–51
 tense, 145, 150–1, 153, 154, 156–7, 169, 176, 258, 260
 third-person subjects, 145, 150, 152, 153, 168
- rah*, 34–6, 265
 Reading, 125, 135
really, 49, 51, 52, 187, 191, 203, 205, 208, 254–5
 realness/ reality, 49, 51
 real-time
 benchmark, 15, 166
 change, 77–9, 254
 component, 162

Cambridge University Press

978-1-107-05576-6 - Discourse-Pragmatic Variation and Change in English:

New Methods and Insights

Edited by Heike Pichler

Index

More information

302 Index

- real-time (cont.)
 corpora, 16
 data, 16
 depth, 141
 evidence, 77
 recency fallacy, 40, 77
 recipient design, 74
 reduction in form, 117, 123, 126, 129–31, 253
 referent
 activation, 70–6, 83, 256
 activation states, 70
 collaborative referring process, 73–4
 identification, 71, 76, 83, 256
 information structure marking functions, 70–6, 257
 principle of separation of reference and role, 71
 retrievability, 74–5
 semi-active, 71, 83
 register variation
 and style, 225–8
 Asian Englishes intensifier usage, 185–210
 general extenders, 211–31
 regression models, 99–100
 Reinhart, Tanya, 73
 relic data, 15, 118–19, 120, 137
 reported speech, 96, 157, 164–5, 168, 236, 246, 247, 248–9, see also quotatives Reppen, Randi, 23
 response elicitors, 37–9, 59 restricted search hypothesis, 75 right
 Canadian English, 88, 97–111
 etymology of, 109
 functionality, 91
 innit, 64–5, 66, 67, 83, 84–5
 NEG-TAGS, 64–5, 66, 77
 position, 90–1
 utterance-final tags (UFTs), 88, 253
 right periphery (RP), 60, 66, 68, 69, 70, 77, 79, 81, 82, 84, 255–6, 257
 Roberts, Julie, 163, 164
 Rodriguez Louro, Celeste, 9, 15, 140, 142, 146, 156, 264
 Romaine, Suzanne, 162
Roots Archive, 118–19, 120, 124–7, 129, 132, 135, 136–7
 Rutter, Ben, 161, 164
 Sankoff, David, 41, 43, 44, 132, 143, 148, 173, 258
 Sankoff, Gillian, 137, 138, 143, 172
say. see also quotatives
 Canadian English, 172
 child quotatives, 164, 168–9, 176, 177–8
 West Australian English quotatives, 141, 144, 145, 146, 147, 148, 149–55, 156
 scene-setting functions, 73
 Schiffrin, Deborah, 43, 87, 145
 Schilling-Estes, Natalie, 225
 Schneider, Edgar W., 141, 208
 Schneider, Klaus P., 53, 55
 Schourup, Lawrence, 3, 48, 54
 Schwenter, Scott A., 55
 scope, 63–7
 Scott, Mike, 25
 S-curve model, 84, 170
 Sebba, Mark, 70
 Secova, Maria, 253, 266
 self-revelation, 140, 141, 155–6, 159
 Selwyn Girls' High school, 237–9 semantic bleaching, 51, 213
 semantic equivalence, 41, 43
 semantic meaning residual, 49, 53
 semantic-pragmatic change/ shift, 86, 117
 semantic-pragmatic context expansion, 95, 97, 102–8, 109–10
 semi-automatic methods, 185–210
 semi-fixed constructions, 116
 set-extension, 45, 96, 122–3, 212, 218, 220–2, 224–5, 228
 shared knowledge/ common ground, 73, 74, 75, 83, 84, 87, 90, 91, 95, 215, 216, 217 shared recollections, 73
 shibboleth discourse particles, 88, 98
 shortening, 117, 123, 126, 129–31, 253
 short-term diachronic comparable corpus linguistics, 21, 27
 Simon-Vandenberg, Anne-Marie, 49, 50
 Singapore English (SinE), 190, 199–202, 205, 208, 209
 Singler, John, 172
 SketchEngine, 27
 Smith, Jennifer, 118
so, 187, 190, 203, 208
 social class
 general extenders, 134–5
 quotatives, 148–54, 154, 157–8
 social distance, 227
 social distribution
 discourse like, 239–42
 general extenders, 126–7, 127–8
 innit, 77–8
 NEG-TAGS, 76–9
 quotatives, 145–6, 148–54, 154, 157–8, 169–73, 176
 utterance-final tags (UFTs), 97–102
 social group membership, 233, 234, 235, 238–9, 241–2, 250, 251, 261–4, see also in-group identities

- solidarity, expressing, 213, 214, 216, 232, 257, 263
- Sorace, Antonella, 180, 258
- South African English, 187
- specialisation, 178, 255
- speech rate, 242, 246
- stance, 232, 233–6, 242–9, 251, 261–4
- stand-alone utterances, 64
- State Library of Western Australia Oral History Collection*, 142
- statistical methods
- binomial models, 106–8
 - cluster analysis, 13, 191–6, 210
 - Euclidean distance, 242
 - fixed-effects logistic regression, 98, 99, 132–4
 - implications for future research, 12–13
 - mixed-effects logistic regression, 99
 - NeighbourNet, 191–6
 - phenogrammes, 13, 185, 191–6, 197–208, 209, 210
 - statistical measure of association, 25–6, 29
 - stepwise multiple regression, 173
 - zero-inflated Poisson (ZIP) regression, 107, 111
- Stenström, Anna-Brita, 27, 65, 66, 77, 83, 87, 91, 110, 120
- strangers vs. familiars, talking with, 211, 217, 218–31
- Stubbe, Maria, 218
- stuff*-variants, 118, 121, 122, 124, 125–6, 127, 128, 132, 136, 137, 138
- style, 224–5, 232, 233–6, 242–3, 249–51
- summat*, 120
- Switchboard corpus*, 219
- syntactic context expansion, 62, 67
- syntagmatic length changes, 123, 129–31
- syntax-discourse interface, 180
- syntax-pragmatics interface, 257, 258
- Tagliamonte, Sali, 8–9, 13, 15, 16, 42, 43, 44, 47, 87, 89, 90, 95, 99, 101, 117, 118, 120, 127, 128, 143, 145, 162, 165, 167, 168, 170, 172, 173, 176, 177, 179, 212, 253, 264
- Taglicht, Josef, 52
- TEA (Toronto English Archive), 88, 89
- teenage speech
- corpus-driven study of London teenage speech, 26–39
 - discourse like in New Zealand English, 26–39
- Terkourafi, Marina, 43, 44
- terminology, 3–4
- Terraschke, Agnes, 216, 218, 224, 229
- tetragrams, 25, 30, 33
- text-organising features, 37
- Thibault, Pierette, 41, 43, 44
- thing(s)*-variants, 121, 124, 127, 129, 132, see also or something
- think* 141, 148, 150, 151, 152–3, 155, see also quotatives
- this is + speaker*, 59
- Thomas, Erik, 118
- time-stalling functions, 37, 252
- Tognini-Bonelli, Elena, 24
- topic
- cataphoric topicality of referents, 74, 75–6
 - topic-marking who, 59
 - topic persistence, 75
 - topic-reopening, 42, 48
- Torgersen, Eivind, 12, 23, 28, 34, 38, 39, 60, 61, 62, 80, 82
- Torres-Cacoullous, Rena, 55
- Tottie, Gunnel, 43, 49, 50
- transcription conventions
- consistency of, 28–9, 223
 - corpus-driven research, 28–9, 30–1
 - key to, 35, 60, 116, 244
 - paralinguistic features, 30
 - pauses, 30–1, 65
 - quotatives in Western Australian study, 144
 - utterance boundaries, 30
- Traugott, Elizabeth Closs, 44, 48, 51, 86, 102, 117, 174, 178
- Tremblay, Mireille, 96
- trends in linguistic usage, 254
- trigrams, 25, 30, 37
- Trinidad Creole, 122, 217
- Trousdale, Graeme, 102
- turn-taking, 70, 252
- Tyneside English, 140, 158, 254–5
- ugye* (Hungarian), 70
- unconventional datasets, 15
- unigrams, 25
- Unix wc function, 223
- Urban Dictionary (UD), 33
- US English, 211, 215, 216, see also American English; North American English
- utterance-final tags (UFTs). see also right; you know
- as a discourse-pragmatic variable, 90
 - context expansion, 102–8
 - in Toronto English, 86–111
 - lexical replacement vs. grammaticalisation, 86–7, 101–2, 107, 108, 253
 - semantic-pragmatic contexts, 95–7
 - trajectories of change, 97–102
- UWA Corpus of English in Australia*, 142–3

Cambridge University Press

978-1-107-05576-6 - Discourse-Pragmatic Variation and Change in English:

New Methods and Insights

Edited by Heike Pichler

Index

More information

304 Index

- vague category markers, 212, 216, see also
 general extenders (GEs)
- van Rooy, Bertus, 187
- variable context. see circumscription of the variable context
- verbatim reported speech, 148
- vernacular stabilisation, 143, 162, 180
- very, 187, 203, 205, 208
- vocatives, 36–7
- voiceless stop release, 250
- Wagner, Suzanne Evans, 10–11, 14–15, 16, 96, 214, 218, 219, 224, 264
- Waletzky, Joshua, 156, 226, 227
- Walsh, Steve, 25
- Waters, Cathleen, 7, 17, 48, 51, 52, 53, 61, 82, 265
- Watts, Richard J., 50
- Weinreich, Uriel, 82, 167
- well, 49
- Wellington Corpus of Spoken New Zealand
 English*, 187, 188
- Welsh English, 65
- Wenger, Étienne, 238
- Werner, Valentin, 193
- West African Pidgin English, 187
- West Australian English, 139–59, 264
- whatever, 121, 127, 262–3
- White, P.R.R., 246
- Wilkes-Gibbes, Deanna, 73
- Winter, Joanne, 120, 123, 152–3
- Wolf, Hans-Georg, 187
- Wolfram, Walt, 118
- Wolfson, Nessa, 216
- women. see gender
- word counting, 223
- WordSmith tool, 25
- Xhosa speakers, 187
- Yao, Xinyue, 210
- yeah, 64, 65, 66, 69, 72, 74, 77, 83, 98, 99
- York, 99, 119, 127, 136
- you get me*, 80
- you get-* type response elicitors, 37–9, 59, 80,
see also you get me
- you know*, 87, 88, 90–1, 93, 97–111, 132, 253
- you know what I mean. see know what I mean*
- Youssef, Valerie, 122, 217
- Yule, George, 215, 218
- zero/ null variants
actually, 50, 51, 52
- adverbs, 49
- NEG-TAGS, 84
- quotatives, 143, 148, 149–50, 151, 152–3,
 155, 158, 161, 164, 168, 171, 172, 174, 176, 178
- zero-inflated Poisson (ZIP) regression, 107, 111
- Ziv, Yael, 63
- Zweig, Eytan, 150