AKEL (Progressive Party of Working People), 10, 58, 69, 107, 126, 201 ambivalent teachers
  critical ambivalence concept, 209–210, 232, 234–230 individual trajectories of teachers engagement with individual discomfort, 220–223 self-reflection and new ways of thinking, 217–219, 225–226
Annan Plan, 9
anthropological approaches, 29–30
Aspeslagh, R., 22
Bajaj, M., 23
Ball, S. J., 12, 31, 39, 40–41, 42, 43
Bar-Tal, D., 22, 31, 34, 153, 154
Bekerman, Z., 26, 30, 153, 207, 208, 237
Bloom, D., 45
Boler, M., 175–176
Bourdieu, P., 41
Bowes, R., 40–41
Brantmeier, E., 23
Braun, A., 12, 39
Bryant, R., 8, 56
Burns, R. J., 22
Christianity in Greek-Cypriot education, 56, 57 civic nationalism (Cypriocentrism), 9 collective emotions challenge of overcoming, 24 formation of emotional style, 140–141 role of socio-psychological infrastructure, 153 structuring of through language, 140–141, 142 collective identity discourses see also identities in superdiverse classrooms, 157–158, 163–166 within Peaceful Coexistence policy classroom practices, 163–166 collective memories see also memory challenge of overcoming, 1–2, 24 construction of I Don’t Forget policy, 61–62 reproduction of in schools, 36, 37, 61–62 of trauma, 1–2, 36
  collective narratives and ‘forgetting’ of Greek-Cypriot history, 125–126 of Greek-Cypriot history, 6 within peace education initiatives, 24 on reconciliation, 100, 108 and the other, 8
    of Turkish-Cypriots, 6 conflict discourses
  and essentialist assumptions, 24–25 essentialized identities within, 167–168, 169 homogenizing discourses of, 153 memory of trauma, 1–2 within critical peace education, 23 institutionalization of, 154 negotiating diversity within, 163–166 opposing conflict terminology, Greek- and Turkish-Cypriots, 184 and sociopsychological infrastructure of conflict, 34–35, 153–154 tension with convivial classroom realities, 167–168 tension with diversity ethos, 166–168 vocabulary of in classroom practices, 159–163, 168–169 conflict narratives formation and sociopsychological infrastructure, 153
Index

teaching the conflict narrative, 160–162, 163–164, 222–223 teaching the vocabulary of, 159 contact theory, 27
contexts of policy making of influence, 40
of policy text production, 40 of practices or effects, 40–41 conviviality, concept, 167, 169
critical ambivalence concept, 209–210, 232, 234–230 critical peace education see also peace education as response to essentialist approaches, 26 transformative agency of, 23
Curti, G. H., 134
Cyriocentrism see also leftist political discourses as civic nationalism, 9 exclusion from formal education, 58 ideology of and Peaceful Coexistence policy, 9–10, 68–70 and leftist political discourses, 9–10, 58 perspectives on the Greek flag, 185
and reconciliation, 99
Cyprus Conflict
Annan Plan, 9
overview of, 6–8
post-2003, 8–9
the settler problem, 8
D/discourses intertwinement with emotions, 237 larger D/Discourses, 34–35 small d/discourses, 34–35
and sociopsychological infrastructure of conflict, 34–35 Danesh, H. B., 27–28
data analysis
ethnographic case study approach, 51–52 interpretable repertoires, 46–47, 49, 80 interviews, 79–80
quantification of qualitative data, 49–50
sociolinguistic tools, 46
Diaz-Soto, L., 23
discomfort see also pedagogy of discomfort concept of, 173–175, 178 conflict-related discomfort, 182–184, 213–214 explicit mentions of, 178–180, 182 and fears of social repercussions, 188–189 implicit manifestations of, 180–182 and imposition of Peaceful Coexistence policy, 187–188, 199 individual trajectories of teachers engagement with, 220–232, 239 and Intercultural Education discourse, 214 and intra-Greek-Cypriot ideological tensions, 184–187 teaching-related discomfort, 187–190 and Turks/Turkish-Cypriot distinctions, 215–216 diversity see also superdiversity within conflict discourses, 163–166 and peace initiatives, 29 education policy
contexts of policy making, 40–41
and ethnographic methodology, 45 as a field (Bourdieu), 41–42 policy enactment, 42–44
as a process, 30–31, 40–42 as trajectories/cycles, 40, 43–44 emotional resistance ideological obstacles, 129 to Peaceful Coexistence policy, 128, 228–232 practical obstacles, 129 to reform processes, 112, 129 and wider sociopolitical context, 129 emotional style analytic elements of, 136–138
classroom analysis of, 138–139
concept of, 36, 135
dominant/subordinate distinctions, 136, 146–148, 149 emotional dissonance, teachers’ strategies for, 142–144, 149 emotional rule setting, 135–142 interactional strategies for, 142 link with political norms, 135–136 emotions see also collective emotions; discomfort; schooling of emotion conceptualization of, 35 correlation analysis of teacher emotions and perceptions of the Peaceful Coexistence policy, 120–121 as distinct from affect, 35 history of violent conflict as emotional challenge, 122–124 institutional legitimization of, 36 intertwinement with D/discourses, 237 and memory, 36–37, 134–135 reconciliation and reason/emotion conflict, 106 role of in educational change, 111–113

267
Index

268 emotions (cont.)
- teachers' emotional readiness for reconciliation, 116–118
- teachers' emotional wavering towards the new policy, 128
- teachers' emotions towards Turkish-Cypriots, 118–119, 120–121, 124–125 and teachers' repertoires on reconciliation, 102–105, 106, 107–108
- trauma and impact on teachers' emotions, 112–113, 114, 120, 233

enosis, 7

EOKA (National Organization of Cypriot Fighters), 7

essentialism defined, 21 and essential conditions approaches, 27–28 essentialist assumptions and peace/peace education, 24–26 peace education critiques, 26 ethnicity see also diversity essentialized identities within the conflict discourse, 167–168, 169 ethnic estrangement, post-separation Cyprus, 8

humanistic discourses and de-essentialized ethnic identities, 223–225 interethnico violence, 1960s, 7 protracted ethnic separation and reconciliation, 104, 124–125 within Greek-Cypriot education policies, 57

ethnocentrism
  assimilationist assumptions, education policies, 59, 65 Hellenocentrism in education, 56–58, 65, 70, 73 threat from multiculturalism, 66–67 ethnonationalism, Hellenocentric, 9, 10, 56

European Union (EU)

Cyprus' accession to, 9, 59, 64

European Year of Intercultural Dialogue (2008), 65–66

fideism, 25

forgetting
  and collective narratives, 125–126
  and reconciliation, 115–116, 125–126

Gale, T., 43–44

Galtung, J., 22

Gammerl, B., 135, 136

Gee, J. P., 34

Gilroy, P., 167, 169

Gold, A., 40–41

Great Britain, 7

Greek-Cypriot education adaptation to multiculturalism, 59

Hellenocentrism orientation, 56–58, 65, 70, 73 historical overview, 56–57 the Green Line, 7, 9, 58–59
  Green, J., 45

Gregoriou, Z., 59

Gur-Ze'ev, I., 26, 207

Hammack, P. L., 27, 211, 239

Hellenocentrism
  alternatives to, interpretative repertoires, 202–203 as ethnonationalism, 9, 10, 56 in Greek-Cypriot education, 56–58, 65, 70, 73 within the Intercultural Education framework, 65 within the Peaceful Coexistence policy, 70–71, 74 perspectives on the Greek flag, 185 sense of injustice within, 141

Heller, M., 166, 167

historicization, peace education, 27

human rights
  within peace education, 4, 21, 23
  reinstatement of, Greek-Cypriot rhetoric, 8, 104, 116 violations of and processes of reconciliation, 115–116, 122, 128 humanistic discourses application of as politically neutral, 206–207, 208 and de-essentialized ethnic identities, 223–225 within peace education, 26, 197–198, 207

  as theoretically naïve, 26, 198, 207

I Don't Forget and I Struggle policy allegorical tale, primary school, 160–162, 163–164, 222–223 background to, 60–61, 73
  compatibility with Peaceful Coexistence, 85–89 construction of collective memories, 61–62 and evocations of patriotism, 60 hegemonic vocabulary of, 160
Index

and creation of existential threats, 33–34 expressions of explicit discomfort, 179–180, 182 expressions of implicit discomfort, 180–182 language socialization and literacy studies, 168–169 lexical choices for repertoire on reconciliation, 102–103, 104–105, 106, 107 local linguistic authenticity and globalizing forces, 166 at the micro-level of classroom interactions, 237–238 modality, 86
nationalist discourse vocabulary, 160–162, 226–227
opposing conflict terminology, Greek- and Turkish-Cypriots, 184 role in sociopsychological infrastructure, 153–154 and structuring of collective emotions, 140–141, 142 in superdiverse classroom practices, 157–158 terrorism and new forms of, 33–34 leftist political discourses see also Cypriocentrism Cypriocentrism
and culture of peaceful coexistence in education, 1, 69, 72, 126–127, 198, 201–202, 206 and rapprochement, 10, 58, 69, 99–100, 126–127, 201–202, 205, 206 reconciliation and leftist discourses, 107–108 linguistic ethnography, 46 macro/sociopolitical level approach to, 30, 31–32 interrelatedness of, 33
Maguire, M., 12, 39, 42
Maronite Church, 144
McGinty, R., 150, 235–236 memory see also collective memories and emotions, 36–37, 134–135 forgetting of previous animosities, 115–116 politics of memory, 37
and reconciliation processes, 100, 109, 123–124 social memory and ‘I Don’t Forget’ slogan, 61 within superdiversity contexts, 238–239 meso/institutional level approach to, 30, 31, 32
interrelatedness of, 33
micro/institutional level approach to, 30, 32–33 contexts of teachers’ experiences of policies, 41–42 educational policies experienced at, 40, 41–42
interrelatedness of, 33
language at, 237–238
peace education and micro approaches, 97–98 Middleton, D. R., 36, 135–137
Ministry of Education and Culture (MOEC) circular for reconciliation-based ideas, 69 circular on ‘I Don’t Forget’ policy, 62–63 circular on multiculturalism, 64–65 and reactions to the Peaceful Coexistence policy, 72–73 recontextualization of EU Intercultural Dialogue discourse, 65–67 Mitchell, J. C., 45 multiculturalism, 58–59 nationalism, Greek, 6–7 nationalism, Greek-Cypriot Cypriocentrism and, 9–10 Hellenocentrism and, 9–10, 56 vocabulary of nationalist discourse, 160–162, 226–227 nationalism, Turkish, 6–7 nation-building, 8
nation-state, 28–29
negative peace, 22
Nevo, B., 22, 24
the other and adversarial narratives, 8 boundaries of and increasing diversity, 152, 153 cultivation of ‘otherness’ within education policies, 5, 59 emotional style and categorization of, 150 humanizing of the dehumanized other, 207–208 language of within conflict narratives, 153–154, 167–168, 169 perpetrator-victim discourse, 8, 116, 122, 125, 189–190
Index

Papadakis, Y., 61
Papastergiadis, N., 207
peace essentialist assumptions and, 24–25 justice as prerequisite for, 25–26 negative peace, 22
negative peace to positive peace approaches, 22 peace education
as an academic field, 4–5 as an alternative approach to peaceful coexistence, 203–206, 227–228 anthropological approaches, 13 challenges to, 5–6 in conflict-afflicted societies, 24 critical peace education, 23, 26
and essentialist assumptions, 24–26 and fideistic assumptions, 25 human rights in, 4, 21, 23 humanistic discourses within, 26, 197–198, 207 and increasing diversity issues, 152 local level processes, importance of, 235–236, 239
overview of, 4
policy/society/individual interrelations, 12 political dimensions to, 206, 227–228 and the politicization of memory, 37 predefined essential conditions for, 27–28 psychologized perspectives of peace education, 26–27 re-contextualization of within neutral discourses, 208 relevance of micro approaches, 97–98 as social education, 4 social variations within, 22 teachers as policy actors, 12–13, 98, 150 teaching and learning methods, 23–24 undertheorization of, 5 variety of approaches in, 22–23 peace education policies, 43 peace pedagogies, teachers’ engagement with, 204–205, 206, 216, 227 peace studies, reconciliation within, 100 Peaceful Coexistence policy carefully opening up Intercultural Education to Peaceful Coexistence, 93 challenges of, 11–12
compatibility with Peaceful Coexistence, 85–89 correlation analysis of teacher emotions and perceptions of, 120–121 and Cypriocentric ideology, 9–10, 68–70 Hellenocentrism within, 70–71, 74 incompatibility with Peaceful Coexistence, 83–85, 95–96 intertextual links with Intercultural Education policy, 71, 74 introduction of in education policies, 1, 6 as leftist political discourse, 1, 69, 72, 126–127, 198, 201–202, 206 life cycle of, 2–3, 11 negative reaction of primary school trade union (POED), 72, 127–128 peace education as an alternative approach to, 203–206, 227–228 Peaceful Coexistence is harder than Intercultural Education, 91–93 Peaceful Coexistence renewing Intercultural Education, 94–95 as politically dangerous, 125–126, 200–201, 205 reactions to introduction of, 1, 72–73 reconciliation-related basis of, 69–70 and reframing of I Don’t Forget policy, 85–89, 96–97, 187–188, 199, 204 in relation to the simplicity of Intercultural Education, 97 and student identities in superdiverse classrooms, 167–168 suggestions for activities, 71–72 and teacher-related discomfort in the classroom, 187–190, 199 teachers’ perceptions of, quantitative study, 119–120 term, 2
within the Intercultural Education framework, 90–91, 214 pedagogy of discomfort see also discomfort acknowledgment and acceptance of diverse opinions, 192–194 acknowledgement of emotional discomfort, 190–191 concept of, 175–176

and feelings of marginalization, 194
perpetrator-victim discourse, 8, 116, 122, 125, 189–190
Persians, P., 60
Philippou, S., 62
POED (trade union of Greek-Cypriot primary school teachers), 72, 127–128 policy studies
polices as trajectories/cycles, 30–31 policies within wider contexts, 31 sociopolitical and emotional relevance to, 13–14 politics of memory, 37
positive peace, 22
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Lexical Choices</th>
<th>Page References</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>psychology</td>
<td>272</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>predefined essential conditions for peace education</td>
<td>27–28</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>psychologized perspectives of peace education</td>
<td>26–27</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>qualitative analysis of teachers’ reported difficulties</td>
<td>272</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>emotional responses within</td>
<td>121–122</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>history of violent conflict</td>
<td>122–124</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>human rights violations</td>
<td>122</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>lack of institutional support</td>
<td>127–128, 129</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>lack of political settlements</td>
<td>124–125</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>leftist political discourse and Peaceful Coexistence policy</td>
<td>126–127</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Peaceful Coexistence policy as politically dangerous</td>
<td>125–126</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>protracted ethnic separation</td>
<td>104, 124–125</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>quantitative study, teachers’ emotions</td>
<td>114</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>age groups of teachers</td>
<td>114</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>correlation analysis of teacher emotions and perceptions of the Peaceful Coexistence policy</td>
<td>120–121</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>instrument</td>
<td>113–115</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>perceptions around the Peaceful Coexistence policy</td>
<td>119–120</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>sample</td>
<td>113–114</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>sample demographic information</td>
<td>113</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>teachers’ emotional readiness for reconciliation</td>
<td>115–118</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>teachers’ personal experiences during and after 1974 war</td>
<td>114</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Rampton, B.</td>
<td>46, 167, 169</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>rapprochement</td>
<td>102–103, 104–105, 106, 107</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>and leftist political discourses, 10, 58, 69, 99–100, 126–127, 201–202, 205, 206</td>
<td>15, 50–52</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>as necessary for peace, 69–70</td>
<td>45–46</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>and reconciliation, 99–100</td>
<td>79–80</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>reconciliation</td>
<td>12–14</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>collective narratives on</td>
<td>100, 108</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>as a communal activity</td>
<td>116</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>and Cypriocentric ideology</td>
<td>99</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>human rights violation and processes of</td>
<td>115–116, 122, 128</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>and human rights violations</td>
<td>115–116, 122, 128</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>introduction in education policies</td>
<td>185–186, 230–231</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>and justice</td>
<td>134–135</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>and leftist political discourses</td>
<td>107–108</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Rampton, B., 46, 167, 169

Rapprochement as necessary for peace, 69–70 and reconciliation, 99–100

Reconciliation

Index

© in this web service Cambridge University Press www.cambridge.org
Index

Sleegers, P., 112
social contexts
and anthropological approaches, 29–30 lack of, essential conditions approaches, 28
lack of, psychologized perspectives, 26–27
sociolinguistic tools, 30, 46
stances, teachers
on Intercultural Education, 89 orientations to reconciliation prior and during the workshops, 210–213 on Peaceful Coexistence policy, 80–81, 82
on reconciliation, 101–102, 108–109, 110, 115–118, 232–233
superdiversity see also diversity boundaries of ‘us’ and ‘them,’ 304.30, 153
classroom analysis of, 155
and collective identity discourses, 157–158, 163–166
concept of, 29, 152–153
and decreased relevance of I Don’t Forget policy, 169
in everyday classroom practices, 155–158, 167
lexical choices and identity discourses, 157–158
role of memory and conflict discourses, 238–239
tensions between diversity and conflict ethos, 166–168
taksim, 7
teacher training workshops see also discomfort
and classroom interaction analysis, 150–145
data analysis, 178
design of, 176–177, 195
and discomforting topics covered, 176–177
individual trajectories of teachers’ engagement with individual
discomfort, 220–232
methodological tools, 15, 52–54
and move towards critical ambivalence, 232 peace education as an alternative approach to peaceful coexistence, 202–206
as Phase 3 of the research project, 15, 52–54, 176
researchers’ roles during, 177, 178 sceptical teachers’ points of departure, 213–214
self-reflection and new ways of thinking, 217–219
shifts during the workshop interactions, 216–217
stances and repertoires on reconciliation, 110, 232–233
support for participants, 177–178 topics covered, 53, 174–175 teachers see also interpretative repertoires;
stances, teachers
activities for Peaceful Coexistence policy implementation, 81–82
and the ideologies of education policies, 41–42
as policy actors, 12–13, 98, 150, 238 policy interpretations and enactments, 42–44
satisficing strategies, 95
as social agents, 42–43 teachers’ emotions towards and relations with Turkish-Cypriots, 118–119, 120–121, 124–125
terrorism, new forms of language for, 33–34
texts asymmetrical relations between, 43–44 interpretations of, methodological tools, 48–50
intertextuality concept, 43–44 TMT (Turkish Resistance Organization), 7
trauma collective historical memories of, 1–2, 24, 36
historical trauma in education, 36, 57, 91–92
impact of on teacher emotions, 112–113, 114, 120, 233
and implementation of Peaceful Coexistence policy, 122–124 reconciliation as threat to memory of,
100, 109, 123–124
Turkish language
and left-wing political discourses, 202, 206
in secondary schools, 68 Turkish-Cypriots see also the other binary identities of Turkish- and Greek-Cypriots within Peaceful Coexistence policy, 163–166
de-essentialization of ethnic identities, 223–225
as distinct from Turks, 215–216 historical narratives of, 6 humanizing of the dehumanized other, 207–208
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Turkish-Cypriots (cont.)</th>
<th>teachers’ self-reflection and new ways of thinking about, 194, 218–219, 220–223</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>inescapability of living together, teachers’ repertoires, 105–106</td>
<td>term, 187–188 as the wrongdoers, teachers’ repertoires, 102–103</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>within interrelation of Intercultural Education and Peaceful Coexistence policies, 90–93</td>
<td>Van Veen, K., 112 Vertovec, S., 152–153</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>opposing conflict terminology, Greek- and Turkish-Cypriots, 184</td>
<td>Zembylas, M., 26, 30, 175–176, 237</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>suggested relations with under Peaceful Coexistence policy, 71, 72</td>
<td>Zurich–London Agreements, 7</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>support for the Annan Plan, 9</td>
<td>teachers’ emotions towards, 118–119, 120–121, 124–125</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>