REASONS AND INTENTIONS IN LAW AND PRACTICAL AGENCY

This collection of new essays explores in depth how and why we act when we follow practical standards, particularly in connection with the authority of legal texts and lawmakers. The essays focus on the interplay of intentions and practical reasons, engaging incisive arguments to demonstrate both the close connection between them, and the inadequacy of accounts that downplay this important link. Their wide-ranging discussion includes topics such as legal interpretation, the paradox of intention, the relation between moral and legal obligation, and legal realism. The volume will appeal to scholars and students of legal philosophy, moral philosophy, law, social science, cognitive psychology, and philosophy of action.

GEORGE PAVLAKOS is Research Professor of Globalization and Legal Theory at the University of Antwerp and Professor of Globalization and Legal Theory at the University of Glasgow. He is the author of Our Knowledge of the Law (2007) and has edited several collections of essays including New Essays on the Normativity of Law (2011).

VERONICA RODRIGUEZ-BLANCO is Senior Lecturer in the School of Law at the University of Birmingham, UK. Her publications include Law and Authority Under the Guise of the Good (2014).

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

We should like to thank for valuable comments and unmitigated support the contributors to this volume, most of whom also participated in the IVR Workshop on ‘Legal Normativity and the Philosophy of Practical Reason’, which was held in Frankfurt on 15–18 August 2011. The editing of the volume would have been a much more difficult task had it not been for the help of Özge Akarsu, a doctoral researcher at the University of Antwerp. Anthea Connolly has offered invaluable suggestions and advice on matters of English style. We are further grateful to Hilary Gaskin, our publishing editor, for believing in our project and offering plenty of wise advice in preparing the manuscript. George Pavlakos acknowledges the generous support of the long-term strategic development financing of the Institute of State and Law of the Academy of Sciences of the Czech Republic (RVO: 68378122).

Finally we would like to dedicate the book to our loved ones, who yet again have tolerated our demanding passion for philosophy: Thomas, Estelle, Eleonora, and Charlotte.
