Index

AAMS. See alignment and accuracy measurement system ABCS. See automated building construction system ACBT. See advanced construction and building technology actuators, 102–103
advanced construction and building technology (ACBT), 9–11, 49–50 for architecture, 10–11
R&D for, 9
advanced modular micro-production system (AMMS), 94 agility, of a company, 78 agricultural sector. See computer-aided farming AGV. See automated guided vehicle aircraft manufacturing, 139–143 d总 assembly strategies in, 152–153 Ford production process for, 189
robot technology in, 150
ROD for, 143, 189–190
strategies and systems in, 140–143 airplanes, as products, 139–140 alignment and accuracy measurement system (AAMS), xiii allocation efficiency, 56
AMMS. See advanced modular micro-production system AMURAD. See automatic up-rising construction by advanced technique Andon production system, 83
android/humanoid robot technology, 118–119
architectonic scales, in ROD, 184–185 Architects Data, 41
assembly, xiii
adaptive, 205
in aircraft manufacturing, 152–153
automatic, 204
of building structures, 209–216 components, 221
factory approach to, 152–155 flexible, 204
joining mechanisms, 216–220
manual, 204
OEM approach to, 152–155
reverse innovation and, 249
in ROD, 204–225
semi-automatic, 204
in shipbuilding, 129, 152–153 sub-operations for, 205 systemization of, 152–155
for TBMs, 152–153
in tunneling industry, 152–153 in various construction industries, 146 assembly system logistics, 84 automated building construction system (ABCS), 171 automated construction. See also robot technology application and development of, 2 applications for, 99–100
assistance and, 15–17
building maintenance and, 15–17 conventional construction and, 6 disruptive nature of, 5–9 end-effectors in, 108
growth phase of, 6, 8–9 innovation phase of, 6, 7–8 maturity of, 6, 8–9 maturity phase of, 6
origins of, 5–9
PMIE in, 150–151
service and, 15–17
themetic fields for, 5
automated guided vehicle (AGV), xiii automated/robotic on-site factories, xiii capital intensity for, 62–63 comparative analysis of, by industry, 144 definition for construction and deconstruction, 14–15 CS in, xiv
development history for, 7–8 economic performance of, 51 efficiency of, 51
MHSPY and, xviii–xix
automated/robotic on-site factories (cont.)
multilevel modularity in, 68
productivity of, 51
reverse innovation in, 249
RTMMS in, xxi–xxii
SF in, xiv

automatic up-rising construction by advanced technique (AMURAD), 236–237 automation technology, 49, 96–124. See also automated construction; robot technology actuators in, 102–103 construction applications for, 99–100

development of, 96–100
end-effectors in, xvi, 103–104
fixtures in, 105
inbuilt dexterity levels in, 106–107, 108
jigs in, 105
Karakuri Ningyo technology, 98
multi-move settings in, 105
parallel processes in, 104–105
PME by, 147–151
reverse innovation and, 244–245, 249–250
scales in, 105–106
sensor systems in, 103
serial processes in, 104–105
system complexity in, 120
tele-construction in, 110–116
tele-control in, 110–116
tele-existence in, 110–116
in tunneling, 149–150
work task complexity in, 120

automotive industry capital intensity in, 61–62
manufacturing in, 143–144 product structure advances in, 257–258
robot technology in, 150
ROD in, 187–188

batch size, xiii
Bauordnunglehre (Neufert), vi, 41
Bauschiff (ship frame construction), 39–40
BCM. See building component manufacturing Benz, Karl, 38
BIM. See building information modeling
BMBF. See Bundesministerium für Bildung und Forschung Buckminster, Richard, 238 building component manufacturing (BCM), xiii, 7, 12–13 building industries. See aircraft manufacturing; automotive industry; construction; shipbuilding building information modeling (BIM), 32 building integrated manufacturing technology, xiii Bundesministerium für Bildung und Forschung (BMBF), xiii

CAF. See computer-aided farming CAFM. See computer-aided management capital intensity, xiv. See also workplace costs for automated/robotic on-site factories, 62–63 in automotive industry, 61–62 low in construction industry, 61–63 capital productivity, 53 CAQM. See computer-aided quality management chain-like organizations, xiv changeover ability, 78
CIM. See computer integrated manufacturing climbing system (CS), xiv, xvi closed loop manufacturing, 251–253 closed loop resource circulation, xiv Closed Sky Factory (CSF), xiv
CNC. See computer numerical control components, xiv
assembly-oriented, 221
carriers, xiv, 87
connector systems for, xv control mode adaptation in, 226 disassembly requirements in, 224–225
end-effectors and, 226–227 handling requirements, 221 industrialized components of, 12–13 kinematic structure for, 226 maintenance requirements in, 224 manipulation of, in machine technology, 37–38 manufacture of, 13
modular systems, 25–26
redesign of, 222
robot modularity and, 226
in ROD, 179–185, 184, 192
computer integrated manufacturing (CIM), xv CAD/CAM and, xiv, 31
in construction, 29, 32–33
integration of macrosystems, 32 purpose of, 30
computer numerical control (CNC), 29 computer-aided design/computer-aided manufacturing (CAD/CAM), 30, 31 CIM and, xiv, 31
construction with, 29
crputer-aided engineering (CAE), 29 crputer-aided farming (CAF), 149 crputer-aided management (CAFM), 32 crputer-aided quality management (CAQM), xiv connector systems, xv, 73–74, 77 crostruction, xv. See also automated construction; defects, in construction; machine technology;
reverse innovation
adaptability of, 73–77
assembly in, by specific industry, 146 automated/robotic on-site factory for, 14–15 with Bauschiff, 39–40
BIM for, 32
with CAD, 29
CIM in, 29, 32–33

© in this web service Cambridge University Press www.cambridge.org
comparative analysis to other industries, 144–146 conventional, 6, 68
defect costs in, 28
defect rates in, 59–60
digital sites, 28
DOF for, 42
of Elbphilharmonie complex, 65
F&e strategies in, 69–70
flexibility of, 73–77
health and safety factors for, 58–59 industry productivity, declines in, 1, 7 informational aspects of, 29–33 innovation science for, 235–239 integration along value chain in, 63–66 investment strategies for, 61 job site installation in, 27 labor-based nature of, 28 lean, 28
low capital intensity in, 61–63 management in, 24–28
of modular structures, 24
on-site processes, 34, 35, 41–42
organization in, 24–28
PME in, 150–151
product structures in, 24
R&D spending, 1–2, 60–61 robot technology for, 150–151
ROD for, 24, 185–197, 201–204, 225–230
with SCARA, 24
7-dimensional view in, 239–241
Sommerfeld’s influence on, 40 technology and machines in, 22 of Willy Brandt Airport, 64–65 construction automation, 130, 186, 244 construction robotics, i, 98 conventional construction, 6, 68
CS. See climbing system
CSF. See Closed Sky Factory cycle time; xv
Da Vinci, Leonardo, 38
data acquisition technology, 28 defects, in construction, 28, 59–60 degree of freedom (DOF), xv kinematic base body and, xvii–xviii in kinematic body positioning and orientation, xx manipulator kinematics for construction, 42 in robot kinematics, 101–102 rotation of kinematic structures and, xxii DEKRA. See Deutscher Kraftfahrzeug-Überwachungs-Verien Dematic, 123–124
design for business model (DIBM), 160–161 design for end-of-life (DIeL), 159–160 design for function (DF), 158–159 design for manufacturing (DIM), 157–158 design for production (DIP), 157–158 design for X (DIX) strategies, xv ROD and, xv, 156, 157, 161–163
in TPS, 83
Deutscher Kraftfahrzeug-Überwachungs-Verien (DEKRA), xv
DIBM. See design for business model DIeL. See design for end-of-life
DF. See design for function
DIM. See design for manufacturing
DIP. See design for production DIX strategies. See design for X strategies digital construction sites, 28 distributed building production, 96 DOF. See degree of freedom downstream processes, xxiv Dymaxion Car, 238
economic efficiency, 51, 52–56
economic performance, 49
analysis of, 50–51, 52
of automated/robotic on-site factories, 51
economic productivity, 53 efficiency, xv, 49
allocation, 56
analysis of, 50–51, 55–58
of automated/robotic on-site factories, 51
economic, 56
resource, 56–57
technical, 56
Elbphilharmonie complex, construction of, 65
effector
in aircraft manufacturing, 143
in automated construction sites, 108 in automation technology, xvi, 103–104 complexity of, 172–174
component design and, 226–227 coupling strategies for, 104 modularity and, 109
in prefabrication, 107
in robot technology, xvi, 103–104, 108
in ROD, 172–174
TCP in, 103–104
types of, 105–106
Engleberger, Joe, 2–3
tenterprise resource planning (ERP), 130
reverse innovation and, 248–249
ERP. See enterprise resource planning evolutionary changeability, 78 fab labs, 95–96
factories. See also automated/robotic on-site factories; ghost factories; ground factory; Sky Factory floating, 95
n-X floors in, xix
roof structure, xvi
systemization of final assembly in, 152–155 24/7-mode in, xxiv
“zero-waste”, xxiv, 251–253 factory external logistics (FEL), xvi, 85 factory internal logistics (FIL), xvi, 85–91 indoor, 85
outdoor, 85
types of, 85, 86
FEC. See floor erection cycle
FEL. See factory external logistics
F&I. See frame and infill FIL. See factory internal logistics final integrator, xvi
fixed-site manufacturing, xvi fixtures, in automation and robot technology, 105 flexibility. See also modular flexibility inbuilt, 78
of manufacturing systems, 77–79, 91 modular, 78
of production systems, 78 of workers, in production systems, 82–83 floating factories, 95
floor erection cycle (FEC), xvi flow line organization, xvi flow of material, xvi
Ford, Henry, 24, 150
aircraft manufacturing under, 189 production system under, TPS compared to, 81 shipbuilding under, 188 frame and infill (F&I) strategies, xvi–xvii, 146 allocation depth of, 73
in construction industry, 69–70
interfaces and, 75–77
MC and, xviii
full-body robot exoskeletons, 117–118
Gates, Bill, 2
GF. See ground factory
ghost factories, 31, 46, 148–149, 151 Gropius, Walter, 39–40, 41, 237 ground factory (GF), xvii, xviii–xix group-like organization, xvii Habraken, N. J., 70–71
Haller, Fritz, 70
HDS. See horizontal delivery system health and safety issues, for construction, 58–59
Helix tower prototypes, 43–44
HER group. See human environment robot group horizontal delivery system (HDS), xvi factory roof structure and, xvi
OMs and, xx
RTMMS and, xxi–xxii
horizontally moving TBMs, 125 human environment robot (HER) group, 119 human power amplification, 116–117 human resources, production and, 51 humanoid robot technology. See android/humanoid robot technology
human-robot cooperative manipulation, 109–110
IbC. See innovation by customer
IbM. See innovation by modularity IbO. See innovation by overlay
IbP. See innovation by performance IbPT. See innovation by production technology IbT. See innovation by transformation IbTT. See innovation by technology transfer idle time, xvii
inbuilt flexibility, xvii, 78 innovation by customer (IbC), 238–239 innovation by modularity (IbM), 235–236, 242–243 innovation by overlay (IbO), 238 innovation by performance (IbP), 236 innovation by production technology (IbPT), 235 innovation by technology transfer (IbTT), 235–236 innovation by transformation (IbT), 237–238 innovation science. See also reverse innovation application of methodologies, 241 change management in, 232
for construction, 235–239 development of mechanisms, 231–232 individual deployment of, 232 novelty level viewpoint of, 234–235 process viewpoint of, 234 7-dimensional view in, 239–241
shimbashira approach in, 237–238 system viewpoint of, 233 typologies, 232–233
integrated STCR systems, 14
interfaces, 73–77
categories of, 74, 77
F&I strategies and, 75–77
motorized units and, 74
International Association for Automation and Robotics in Construction, 32 investment strategies, for construction industry, 61 iPhone, 161
jigs, in automation and robot technology, 105
JIS. See just in sequence JIT. See just in time systems job site installation, 27
joint of manipulator, xvii Junkers, Hugo, 38
just in sequence (JIS), xvii
just in time (JIT) systems, xvii, xxii Kaizen production system, 83–84
Kanban production system, 82
Karakuri Ningyo technology, 98
kinematic base body, xvii–xviii kinematic body positioning and orientation, xvii–xviii kinematic synthesis, 37–38
kinematics, xvii
base bodies, 102
components and, 226
DOFs in, 101–102
location orientation manipulators, 42 manipulators and, xviii
modularity in, 109
in robot technology, 100–102
ROD and, 168–169
rotation in, xxii
translation of, xxiv
Kiva Systems, 123

labor productivity, 53–55 large scale prefabrication (LSP), xviii, 7, 12–13 lead time, in manufacturing, xviii lean construction, 28
life-cycle integrated manufacturing technology, 253–255 lifting technology, 43
link of manipulators, xviii location orientation manipulators (LOMs), 42 logistics systems, xviii assembly system, 84
embedding, 221
FEL, xvi, 85
FIL, xvi, 84, 85–86, 91
in manufacturing, 84–91
LOMs. See location orientation manipulators low capital intensity, 61–63 LSP. See large scale prefabrication machine productivity, 53 machine technology, 21, 33–48. See also automated construction; robot technology Bauschiff and, 39–40 component manipulation in, 37–38 conventional building machines, 34–35 development roots of, 36–38 evolution of, 39
focus of, vi, 44–48
helix tower prototypes, 43–44
industrialization of, 39–40 kinematic synthesis and, 37–38
lifting technology, 43
LOMs, 42
Neuert’s influence on, vi, 41
for ONM, 41–42
for on-site construction, 41–42
prefabrication technology, 43
Sommerfeld’s influence on, 40
Taylorism and, 39–40
manipulators, xviii manufacturing systems, xviii. See also off-site manufacturing; on-site manufacturing adaptability of, 77–79, 91
aircraft, 140–143
AMMS, 94
analysis of, 84
assembly in, xiii
BCM, xiii
closed loop, 251–253
comparison of, 145
downstream processes in, xxiv fab labs and, 95–96
flexibility of, 77–79, 91
in floating factories, 95 future concepts in, 93–94 Kaizen system, 83–84
lead time, xviii
logistics in, 84–91
OEM and, 84–85
organization in, 49, 79–96
pallets and, 87
parameters for, 79
personal fabricators and, 95–96
production in, xxi
robot technology and, 122–124
for ROD, 161–167, 198–200 RTE in, 93–94
for shipbuilding, 129–130
subsystems within, 146
supply chain design and, 84–85 sustainability in, xxii, 92–93
for TBMs, 126–127
technology in, 49, 79–96 transition from craft-based systems, 154 upstream processes in, xxiv mass customization (MC), xviii, 31 material handling, sorting and processing yard (MHSPY), xviii–xxix material productivity, 53
May, Ernst, 40
MC. See mass customization means of production, xix MFF. See mobile field factory
MHSPY. See material handling, sorting and processing yard Micro Compact Car GmbH, 91–92 microsystem technology. See building integrated manufacturing technology mining. See urban mining mobile field factory (MFF), 95 modular flexibility, xix, 78 modularity, xix. See also multilevel modularity
end-effectors and, 109
end-effectors and, 109
in kinematic structures, 109
in robot technology, 107–109
system integration and, 109
types of, 69
modules, xix, 66
in building component systems, 25–26 composition of, 66–67
construction of, 24
industrialized customization of, 12–13
in ROD, 179, 181–183
Moravec, H., 120
motorized units, interfaces and, 74 multilevel modularity, 49, 66–79 applications of, 67–68
in automated/robotic on-site factories, 68
Habraken as influence on, 70–71
in ONM, 68
Open Building Approach in, 70–72 multi-move settings, in automation and robot technology, 105 Neufert, Ernst, vi, 40, 41 no-failure design, 158
n-X floors, in factories, xix

OEM. See original equipment manufacturer OEM-like integration structure, xix, 146 off-site manufacturing (OFM), xix LSP and, xviii
  reverse innovation and, 246–247
  in Russia, 41–42
OMs. See overhead manipulators one-piece flow (OPF), xx
  reverse innovation and, 248–249
in TPS, xiii, 82
ONM. See on-site manufacturing on-site automation, 177–179 on-site construction processes, 34, 35, 41–42 on-site manufacturing (ONM), xx mechanized, 41–42
MFF for, 95
multilevel modularity in, 68
reverse innovation and, 246–247
Open Building Approach, 70–72
Open Sky Factory (OSF), xiv
open source, in robot technology, 120–122 OPF. See one-piece flow order fulfillment systems, 123 organization
  chain-like, xiv
  in construction, 24–28
  flow line, xvi
  group-like, xvii
  in manufacturing, 49, 79–96
  workbench-like, xxiv
  workshop-like, xxiv
original equipment manufacturer (OEM), xx depth of added value and, xv final integrator in, xvi
JIS and, xvii
JIT and, xvii
manufacturing systems and, 84–85
model, xix
  systemization of final assembly for, 152–155
Osanbashi Pier, 238
OSF. See Open Sky Factory outfitting, in shipbuilding, 129 overhead manipulators (OMs), xx
  factory roof structure and, xvi
  FES and, xviii–xix
HDS and, xx
JIS for, xvii–xix
JIT for, xviii–xix
MHSYP and, xviii–xix
ROD and, xx
pallets. See also components in manufacturing systems, 87 palletizing and de-palletizing sequencing, 87 pantograph technology, 147–148 parallel processes, 104–105 Partial robot exoskeletons, 117 parts, xx
  performance multiplication effect (PME), xx, 27 in automated tunneling, 149–150 by automation, 147–151
  in CAF, 149
  in construction industry, 150–151
  in ghost factories, 148–149, 151 by mechanization, 147–151 with pantograph technology, 147–148 by robot technology, 147–151 in self-acting machine systems, 147 personal fabricators, 95–96 platform strategy, xx plug-and-play connectors, 74 PME. See performance multiplication effect prefabrication technology, 43
end-effectors in, 107
principle of continuous flow of materials, 81
principle of intelligent and adaptive automation, 81–82 production, xxi. See also machine technology;
  Toyota Production System
Andon system, 83
distributed building, 96
domestic investment ratio for, by nation, 62
flexibility of, 78
Kaizen system, 83–84
principle of continuous flow of materials, 81
principle of intelligent and adaptive automation, 81–82 pulling system, xxi, xiii, 82 pushing system, xxi, 82 representative systems, 90–94
ROD and, 163–164, 177
worker flexibility, 82–83 production line organization, xx productivity, xxi, 49
analysis of, 50–51
of automated/robotic on-site factories, 51
  capital, 53
  in construction industry, declines in, 1, 7
  economic, 53
  expressions of, 51, 52–55
  human resources for, 51 labor, 53–55
  machine, 53
  material, 53
  means of, 51
  resource, 53
  technical, 53
  transformational process for, 51
work, 53
Project Better Place, 167
pulling production, xxi TPS and, xiii, 82
  pushing production, xxi, 82
radio frequency identification (RFID) tags, xxi R&D. See research and development real-time economy (RTE), xxii, 93–94 real-time monitoring & management system (RTMMS), xxi–xxii re-configurability, 78
re-customization, xxii
research and development (R&D) for ACBT, 9
for construction, 1–2, 60–61
information in, 29
for STCR systems, 7
resource efficiency, 56–57 resource productivity, 53
reverse innovation, 241–253
advance customer integration and, 247 assembly and, 249
in automated/robotic on-site factories, 249 automation technology and, 244–245, 249–250 closed loop manufacturing strategies for, 251–253 as concept, 245–246
ERP and, 248–249
OFM and, 246–247
ONM and, 246–247
production-line based OPF and, 244–245, 249–250 urban mining and, 251–252
in “zero-waste” factories, 251–253 RFID tags. See radio frequency identification tags robot exoskeletons, 117–118 robot-oriented design (ROD), 11–12 ABCS and, 171
accuracy systems, 207–209
for aircraft manufacturing, 143, 189–190 in architectonic scales, 184–185 assembly-oriented design in, 204–225 for automotive manufacturing, 187–188 on building scale, 184–185 for building structures, 209–216 business model aspects of, 166–167 checklist for, 223
components in, 179–183, 184, 192 computational complexity in, 174–175 conception redesign, 229
for construction, 24, 185–197, 201–204, 225–230 control complexity in, reduction of, 169–170 control of variation in, 192, 205–207 design subsystems, 157–161 development of, xxii, 8, 12, 156
DBM, 160–161
DFEL, 159–160
DFP, 158–159
DOF, 157–158
DX strategies for, xv, 156, 157, 161–163 dimensions of, 167–183
disassembly requirements in, 224–225
elements of, 156
closed-loop complexity in, 172–174 closed-loop aspects of, 165–166 functional aspects of, 164–165 geometric coordination in, 200–201 gripper complexity in, 172–174 informational complexity in, 174–175 joining mechanisms in, 216–220 kinematic/mechatronic complexity of, reduction of, 168–169 life cycle of, reduction of complexity throughout, 175–176 maintenance requirements, 224 by manufacturing phase, 198–200 manufacturing system capabilities for, 161–167 on master plan scale, 185 module assembly, 179, 181–183
OMs and, xx
on-site automation and, 177–179 organizational complexity of, 170–171 prefabrication/preassembly and, 177 process chains in, 228–229 process measuring in, reduction of, 169–170 product structure and, 192 production aspects for, 163–164 in pure production, 177
robot technology and, 177–179
in robotics, 177–179
SCARA and, 163–164
sensor complexity and, reduction of, 169–170
for shipbuilding, 139, 188
SMAS and, 173–174
in SMEs, 167
for specific building materials, 199–200 for specific manufacturing strategies, 200
for TBM s, 127–128
tolerance systems, 207–209
in TPS, 83
units in, 181
urban mining in, xxiv, 166 value chain in, reduction of complexity along, 176–183 robot technology, 49, 96–124. See also building integrated manufacturing technology; robot exoskeletons actuators in, 102–103
in aircraft industry, 150 android/humanoid, 118–119
assistance and, 15–17
in automotive industry, 150
building maintenance, 15–17
construction applications for, 99–100
in construction industry, 150–151
development of, 96–100
end-effectors in, xvi, 103–104, 108 evolution of research on, 3
fixtures in, 105
for human power amplification, 116–117
human-robot cooperative manipulation, 109–110
inbuilt dexterity levels in, 106–107, 108
industrialized customization of, 12–13
jigs in, 105
Karakuri Ningyo technology, 98
robot technology (cont.)
kinematics in, 100–102
material handling in, 116–117
modularity in, 107–109
multi-move settings in, 105
new manufacturing concepts in, 122–124 open source in, 120–122 order fulfillment systems with, 123
parallel processes in, 104–105
PME by, 147–151
reverse innovation and, 244–245, 249–250
ROD and, 177–179
scales in, 105–106
SDKs for, 121–122
self-organization in, 122
sensor systems in, 103
serial processes in, 104–105
service and, 15–17
social robotics, 119, 120
swarm, 123
system complexity in, 120
tele-construction in, 110–116
tele-control in, 110–116
tele-existence in, 110–116
work task complexity in, 120 robotic on-site factory. See automated/robotic on-site factories
Robotic Service Wall, 75 robotics. See robot technology ROD. See robot-oriented design rotation, of kinematic structures, xxii DOF and, xxii
RTE. See real-time economy RTMMS. See real-time monitoring & management system
Sass, L., 96
scales, in automation and robot technology, 105–106
SCARA. See selective compliance articulated robot
SDKs. See software development kits
SE. See structured environment Sekisui Heim, 72–73, 181
selective compliance articulated robot (SCARA), xxii, 24, 163–164
sensor systems technology. See also building integrated manufacturing technology in automation technology, 103
in robot technology, 103
in ROD, reduction of, 169–170
serial processes, 104–105
7-dimensional view, innovation in construction by,
239–241
SF. See Sky Factory
shimbashira approach, in innovation science, 237–238
ship frame construction. See Bauschiff shipbuilding, 128–139
assembly strategies in, 129, 152–153
Bauschiff in, 39–40
ERP strategies in, 130
under Ford production process, 188 manufacturing strategy and systems for, 129–130
outfitting in, 129
ROD for, 139, 188
ships, as products, 128–129
single-task construction robot (STCR) systems,
xxii
development of, 13–14
first generations of, 14
flexibility of, 14
integrated, 14
R&D for, 7
Sky Factory (SF), xxii
climbing system and, xiv
CSF in, xiv
OSF, xx
stilts in, xxii
slip forming technology, xxii
small and medium sized enterprises (SMEs), 167 Smart Car. See Micro Compact Car GmbH
SMAS. See solid material assembly system SMEs. See small and medium sized enterprises Smithwick, D., 96
social robotics, 119, 120
socially situated robot learning (SSRL), 119 software development kits (SDKs), 121–122 solid material assembly system (SMAS), 173–174, 190–197
Sommerfeld, Adolf, 40, 41
Sony Walkman, 163, 164
SSRL. See socially situated robot learning STCR systems. See single-task construction robot systems
stilts, in SFs, xxii
storage facilities, 87–91 structured environment (SE), xiv superstructure, xxii
supply chain, xxii
manufacturing and, 84–85
sustainability, in manufacturing, xxiii, 92–93 swarm robotics, 123
Tachi, Susumu, 110
taylorism, machine technology and, 39–40
TBM. See tunnel boring machine TCP. See tool centre point technical efficiency, 56 technical productivity, 53
Technische Universität München (TUM), 9–10, 258 technology. See specific technologies technology diffusion, xxiii tele-construction, 110–116 tele-control, 110–116

Cambridge University Press
Thomas Bock and Thomas Linner
Index
More information
Index

tele-existence, 110–116 textile industry, in England, 147 tier-n suppliers, xxiii tool centre point (TCP), xxiii, 103–104 tool makers, in TPS, 83
Toyota, Sakichi, 81–82
Toyota Home, 72–73
Toyota Loom Works, 81
Toyota Production System (TPS), xxiii design methodology for, 83
development of, 80–81
DfP in, 158
DfX-strategies in, 83
Ford production system compared to, 81
Kanban system in, 82
no-failure design in, 158 OPF and, xxiii, 82
principle of intelligent and adaptive automation in, 81–82 product fusion in, 83
pulling production in, xxiii, 82 pushing production in, xx, 82
ROD in, 83
tool makers in, 83
worker flexibility in, 82–83 TPS. See Toyota Production System transformability, of a company, xxiii transformational process, xxiii translation, of kinematic structure, xxiv TUM. See Technische Universität München tunnel boring machines (TBMs), xxiv, 125–128
development of, 150
final assembly strategies for, 152–153
horizontally moving, 125
manufacturing strategies and systems, 126–127
ROD for, 127–128
tunneling industry
automation in, 149–150
development of, through mechanization, 149–150 final assembly strategies in, 152–153 tunnels, as products, 126 24/7-mode, xxiv
Ubiquitous Computing, 15–17
Uhl, Oto Kar, 70
unified robot description model (URDF), 122 unit method, xxiv
units, xxiv
in ROD, 181
upstream processes, xxiv
urban mining, xxiv, 166
reverse innovation and, 251–252
URDF. See unified robot description model value chains, in construction industry, 63–66 vertical delivery system (VDS), xxi–xxii, xxiv warehouse facilities, 87–91 wearable robot technology, 117–118
Wichita House, 238
Willy Brandt Airport, in Berlin, construction of, 64–65 woodcraft industry, 147–148 work productivity, 53
workbench-like organization, xxiv workplace costs, 62
workshop-like organization, xxiv “zero-waste” factories, xxiv, 251–253
Zuse, Konrad, 148–149