

Cambridge University Press

978-1-107-09329-4 - Debating Early Child Care: The Relationship between Developmental Science and the Media

Robert Crosnoe and Tama Leventhal

Index

More information

Index

- accuracy in media presentation, 73–78
- affirmative action and framing effects, 32
- Alexander, Duane, 50, 52, 74
- American Educational Research Journal*
 article on NICHD SECCYD study (2005), 83
 on study presented at SRCD (2001), 71
- American Journalism Review*
 on NICHD publication standards, 50, 52
- American Psychological Association (APA)
 National Longitudinal Study of Youth, 91
- American Psychologist*
 on research-to-media exchange, 34
- Annual Review of Political Science* on framing theory literature, 29, 32
- Antifeminist Movement, 102–104
- Archives of Pediatrics and Adolescent Medicine*
 on effects of spanking of children, 123
- Associated Press
 racist framing of Hurricane Katrina survivors, 30–31
- Audit Bureau of Circulation, 57
- Australia, in international research results, 109–113
see also research results, on international
 media framing of NICHD
 SECCYD study
- behavioral risks. see cognitive benefits vs.
 behavioral risks dichotomy
- Belsky, Jay, 46, 50–52, 72, 75, 97, 115–116
- Bianchi, Suzanne, 6–7
- Boston Globe*
 “Child Care without Guilt,” 97–98 on early child care, 134
 “A Guilt-Edged Occasion. It Would Seem That Today’s Moms Have Much to Celebrate. Instead, Many Are Feeling Insecure and Torn,” 96–97, 102–103
- “It’s Not as Bad as it Seems for the Brat Pack,” 100
- “New Squabble Over Day Care,” 102
 on NICHD SECCYD study, 85–86
- “Quality Day Care Can Boost School Readiness,” 85
- “What Good Old Days,” 91, 103
- Boston Herald*
 “Must Both Parents Work? New Studies
 Stir Debate,” 98
- Breakdown of Newspaper Articles by Focal
 Benefits/Risks Discussion
 (figure), 81–82
- Breakdown of Newspaper Articles by Maternal or Child Focus (figure), 96
- Breakdown of Newspaper Articles by Other
 Benefits/Risks Discussion
 (figure), 88
- Burchinal, Margaret, 75
- Canada, in international research results, 109–113
see also research results, on international
 media framing of NICHD
 SECCYD study
- Care Arrangements for Today’s Children from Birth through Age Four
 (figure), 8–9
- causal inference in research, 14–15
- child care wars. see early child care debates, overview
- Child Development*
 on cortisol levels of children in child care, 91
- Chong, Dennis, 29, 32
- clear communication, 134–135
- Clinton, Bill, 95
- cognitive benefits vs. behavioral risks
 dichotomy, 81–88
see also research results, on media framing of NICHD SECCYD study

Cambridge University Press

978-1-107-09329-4 - Debating Early Child Care: The Relationship between Developmental Science and the Media

Robert Crosnoe and Tama Leventhal

Index

More information

- content-coding of articles. see methodology;
research results, on media
framing of spanking research
- data collection. see methodology
- developmental science, overview
causal inference in research, 14–15
framing theory and, 34–35
history of research, 13–16
lessons learned for scientists, 132–137, 156–157
role in public sphere, 5–6, 158
translational tension in research-media exchange, 2–5
- developmental science-to-media exchange and framing effects
introduction, 1–5, 16–19, 27–29
Chong and Druckman on, 29, 32
early child care as subject to framing, 35–40
examples of terminology usage and change in public opinion, 30, 32–33
framing theory and science, 29–35 media emphasis on select frames, 33–34 multidimensional issues and value systems, 30
The Process of Creating Framing Effects, 30–31
summary conclusion, 54–55
see also headings at research results;
methodology
- Dionne, E.J., 98–99
- Druckman, James, 29, 32
- early child care debates, overview
introduction, 6–13
Care Arrangements for Today's Children from Birth through Age Four, 8–9
developmental science-to-media
exchange and framing effects,
1–5, 16–19, 27–29
Gender Breakdown of the U.S. Labor Force, 7
goals of authors, 25–26
impetus for research, 21–23
maternal employment and, 6–11, 76 media coverage as research topic, 21–25 purpose and history of research, 13–16
see also headings at research results;
methodology; NICHD SECCYD
- early childhood education, lack of focus on, 106–107
- Early Childhood Research Quarterly*
on day care centers as safe environments, 90–91
Network article on early child care, 40–42
- effect sizes
in dual findings for post-school entry child care, 44–46
media reporting on, 22, 73, 114, 134
scientists' explanation of, 75, 76–77, 87, 90
- fathers, lack of focus on, 100, 105
- Feminist Movement, and values debates, 11, 102–104, 147
- findings. see headings at research results
- Findings Reported in Newspaper Articles about the NICHD SECCYD by Year (figure), 84
- Framing of the NICHD SECCYD (figure), 148, 153
- framing theory
frames of thought, 30–31, 33
framing in communication, 30–31, 33 science and, 29–35
terminology usage and shifting of opinions, 30, 32–33
see also NICHD SECCYD; *specific aspects of media framing
research*
- Friedman, Sarah, 46–47, 50–52, 75
- Fuller, Bruce, 90–91
- Full Text of the NICHD Press Release for the Final SECCYD Omnibus Report
(figure), 148–152
- Galinsky, Ellen, 76
- Gender Breakdown of the U.S. Labor Force
(figure), 7
- gender inequality and framing effects, 102–104
- Gershoff, Elizabeth, 120, 123–126
- global warming and framing effects, 33–34
- Globe and Mail*

Cambridge University Press

978-1-107-09329-4 - Debating Early Child Care: The Relationship between Developmental Science and the Media

Robert Crosnoe and Tama Leventhal

Index

More information

168 INDEX

- Globe and Mail* (cont.)
- “Trust not Hurt by Child Care, Study Finds. Research Tries to Answer Question: Does a Mother Put her Baby at Risk by Working Outside the Home?,” 114–116
  - “U.S. Study Finds Good and Bad in Day Care,” 113, 114
- Griffin, James, 75
- Gunnoe, Marjorie, 120–121, 123–124
- Harvey, Elizabeth, 91
- Hirsh-Pasek, Kathy, 85
- Houston Chronicle*
- “Study: Day Care Ups Odds of School Behavior Woes; Quality of Care, Family Status Make No Difference in Effects Seen as Late as Sixth Grade,” 86–87
- Hurricane Katrina
- AP racist framing of survivors in photos, 30–31
- international media. see research results, on international media framing of NICHD SECCYD study
- interviews. see methodology
- jargon, avoidance of, 134–135
- journalists and journalism
- accuracy in media presentation, 73–78
  - conflict as reporting angle, 49–50
  - interviews with, 65–66
  - lessons learned and recommendations, 137–141, 154–156
  - multiple takeaways from study, 5
  - on NICHD SECCYD study, 3, 55
  - on topic of early child care, 11–13
  - see also* developmental science-to-media exchange and framing effects; headings at research results; specific newspapers
- Kutner, Lawrence, 127–128
- labor force
- Gender Breakdown of the U.S. Labor Force, 7
  - see also* maternal employment narrative
- LaCour, Michael, 132
- Larzelere, Robert, 124–125
- Lean In: Women, Work, and the Will to Lead* (Sandberg), 10–11
- Lero, Donna, 116
- lessons learned and recommendations
- introduction, 131–132
  - for journalists, 137–141, 154–156
  - for parents, 141–144, 157–158
  - for scientists, 132–137, 156–157
- Lexis Nexis, 35, 60
- Life Without Father* (Popenoe), 77–78
- low-income families, lack of focus on, 105–106, 129, 137
- maternal employment narrative
- early child care debates and, 6–11, 76
  - Gender Breakdown of the U.S. Labor Force, 7
  - international media coverage, 114–116
  - media framing and, 91, 95–100, 147–148
- Mattox, Bill, 77–78
- media. see journalists and journalism; specific aspects of media framing; specific newspapers
- methodology
- introduction, 23–24
  - content-coding of articles, 5, 53, 56–65
  - Article Characteristics, 62–63
  - The Broader Context of Framing, 64
  - Discussion of Early Child Care Effects, 63
  - data collection, 56–60
  - evaluation of data, 60–65
  - goals of authors, 25–26, 66
  - interviews, 65–66
  - Newspapers Selected for Search and Content Coding, 60
  - NICHD Early Child Care Network Papers Used to Organize Media Coverage, 57
  - overview of research results
  - accuracy in media presentation, 73–78
  - non-NICHD SECCYD experts, 76–78
  - overall coverage and positive picture of the science, 66–72

Cambridge University Press

978-1-107-09329-4 - Debating Early Child Care: The Relationship between Developmental Science and the Media

Robert Crosnoe and Tama Leventhal

Index

More information

- Placement of Newspaper Articles
  - about the NICHD SECCYD by Year, 66–69
- Type of Newspaper Articles about the NICHD SECCYD by Year, 70
- summary conclusion, 78–79
- Topics Covered in Interviews with NICHD SECCYD Study
  - Investigators and NIH Officials, 65
  - see also* headings at research results
- middle-class/affluent families. see parents and parenting
- Milwaukee Journal Sentinel*
  - “Child Care May not Harm Ties to Good Mothers,” 85
  - “Day Care Mustn’t Be a Kid Dump,” 99
  - “mommy wars” narrative, 95–102, 114–116, 147, 154
- National Association for the Education of Young Children (NAEYC), 76–77
- National Institutes of Health, interviews of officials, 65–66
- National Longitudinal Study of Youth (APA), 91
- Nelson, Charles, 34
- Newspapers Selected for International Search and Number of Articles Coded by Year (table), 111
- Newspapers Selected for Search and Content Coding (table), 60
- New York Times*
  - “Academics Seek a Big Splash,” 132, 156–157
  - “Findings Give Some Support To Advocates of Spanking,” 125–127
  - “Good Day Care Found to Aid Cognitive Skills of Children,” 90
  - “Quality Child Care is Important in Developmental Years,” 86
  - in research results, 60, 77, 90–92
- NICHD Early Child Care Network Papers
  - Used to Organize Media Coverage (table), 57
- NICHD Early Child Care Research Network
  - attitudes toward media coverage, 22
  - authors join Network, 19–21, 52
  - background of scientists, 42, 54–55
  - consensus through debate process, 40–42
  - diverse views of scientists, 17–19
  - end of NICHD sponsorship of, 37
  - lessons learned for scientists, 132–137, 156–157
  - presentation at SRCD (2001), 50–52, 69–70, 71, 88
  - press release approval process, 17–19, 48
  - quotations by member scientists
    - on clear communication, 135
    - on consensus through debate process, 41, 46
    - on dissemination and media coverage, 27, 44, 46–48, 53
    - on peer review requirement, 52
    - on press releases, 5
    - on small effect sizes, 75, 87, 90
  - role in NICHD SECCYD study, 36
  - social changes leading to formation of, 94–95
  - see also* research results, on media framing of NICHD SECCYD study; specific member scientists
- NICHD Public Information and Communications Branch (PICB), 46–47
- NICHD SECCYD-to-media exchange,
  - summary trends
- introduction, 145–146
  - focus on behavioral risks, 153–154
  - focus on maternal employment, 147–148
  - focus on negative dimensions of, 146–147, 148
- framing by journalists, 154–156
- framing by scientists, 156–157
- Framing of the NICHD SECCYD, 148, 153
- Full Text of the NICHD Press Release for the Final SECCYD Omnibus Report, 148–152
- public policy effects, 152–153, 154
- summary conclusion, 157–158
- NICHD SECCYD
  - introduction, 1–2, 36–37
  - age 15 data collection, 19–21
  - dissemination of findings, 46–49, 74, 156–157
  - framing theory and, 3–5, 24
  - null findings in, 44, 84, 97, 98, 138
  - omnibus papers and presentations, 39–40, 41, 43

Cambridge University Press

978-1-107-09329-4 - Debating Early Child Care: The Relationship between Developmental Science and the Media

Robert Crosnoe and Tama Leventhal

Index

More information

170 INDEX

- NICHD SECCYD (cont.)
 school entry and differing findings, 44–46
 as subject to framing, 40–55
 Timeline of the NICHD SECCYD, Focal Research Reports, and Focal Media Coverage Windows, 37–39
see also research results, on media framing of NICHD SECCYD study
- null findings of NICHD SECCYD, 44, 84, 97, 98, 138
- Number of Spanking Articles Identified and Coded Across by Year (table), 120
- Number of Spanking Articles Identified and Coded by Newspaper (table), 119
- Obama, Barack, 152–153
- parents and parenting
 focus on in media coverage, 88–90 lessons learned, 141–144, 157–158
 middle-class/affluent family anxieties,
 10, 94, 116, 129, 137,
 153, 154
- Patriot Act and framing effects, 32–33
- Perry Preschool Project, 91
- Philadelphia Inquirer*
 “Mothers on the Firing Line – Again,” 98
 in research results, 81
 “Spanking Worsens Children’s Behavior,
 A Study,” 128
 “Study: Behavior Declines with More
 Day Care Time,” 86
- Phillips, Deborah, 96–97
- Pittsburgh Post-Gazette*
 “Child Care and Aggression: Reality
 Check,” 103–104
 “Day Care Picture Brighter than Some Believe,” 85
 “Mommy at her Desk, 99
 “Our Child Care Culture Tells Kids that Work Matters Most,” 93–94
- Popenoe, quotations of, 77–78, 98
- Placement of Newspaper Articles about the NICHD SECCYD by Year
 (figure), 66–69
- political science and framing theory, 4–5
- Popenoe, David, 77–78, 98
- Preston, Samuel, 10
- Process of Creating Framing Effects, The
 (figure), 30–31
- Psychological Bulletin*
 on meta-analysis of spanking research, 123–124
- racism and framing effects, 30–31
- recommendations. see lessons learned and recommendations
- research results, on international media
 framing of NICHD SECCYD study
 introduction, 108–109
 benefits and risks framing 113–114
 comments on effect size, 114
 coverage in English-speaking countries, 110–113
 coverage of NICHD SECCYD reports, 109–110, 147
 maternal employment and “mommy wars” framing, 114–116
 Newspapers Selected for International
 Search and Number of Articles Coded by Year, 111
 summary of country comparisons, 116–117
see also NICHD SECCYD-to-media
 exchange, summary trends
- research results, on media framing of NICHD
 SECCYD study
 introduction, 80
 accuracy in media presentation, 73–78
 benefits and risks framing, 24–25, 80–88
 Breakdown of Newspaper Articles by Focal Benefits/Risks Discussion,
 81–82
 Breakdown of Newspaper Articles by Maternal or Child Focus, 96
 Breakdown of Newspaper Articles by
 Other Benefits/Risks
 Discussion, 88
 comparison of coverage to spanking research coverage, 128–130
 early childhood education, lack of focus on, 106–107
 fathers’ role, lack of focus on, 100, 105
 Feminist/AntiFeminist Movements,
 102–104
 Findings Reported in Newspaper Articles
 about the NICHD SECCYD by
 Year, 84

Cambridge University Press

978-1-107-09329-4 - Debating Early Child Care: The Relationship between Developmental Science and the Media

Robert Crosnoe and Tama Leventhal

Index

More information

- focus on “mommy wars,” 95–102
- focus on mothers amidst social change, 94–95
- low-income families, lack of focus on, 105–106
- overall coverage and positive picture of the science, 66–72
- pairing NICHD SECCYD findings with other study findings, 90–93
- “parents matter most” theme coverage, 88–90
- Placement of Newspaper Articles about the NICHD SECCYD, by Year, 66–69
- supplementation of NICHD SECCYD with other discussions, 93–94
- time/place/scope trends, 100–102
- Type of Newspaper Articles about the NICHD SECCYD by Year, 70.
- see also* NICHD SECCYD-to-media exchange, summary trends
- research results, on media framing of spanking research
  - introduction, 108–109
  - comparison of coverage to early child care coverage, 128–130
  - content-coding of articles
    - Article Characteristics, 121
    - The Broader Context of Framing, 122–123
    - Discussion of Spanking Effects, 122
  - effects of spanking on child development, 117
  - low-income families, lack of focus on, 129
  - Number of Spanking Articles Identified and Coded by Newspaper, 119
  - Number of Spanking Articles Identified and Coded by Year, 120
  - overview of findings, 123–128, 147
  - scope of media coverage, 118–123
  - see also* NICHD SECCYD-to-media exchange, summary trends
- Sandberg, Sheryl, 10–11
- scientists, lessons learned, 132–137, 156–157
- Social Science Quarterly*
  - content analysis of media coverage of Columbine High School massacre, 22–23
- Society for Research in Child Development (SRCD), 35
  - NICHD presentation (2001), 50–52, 69–70, 71, 88, 98–99
  - press releases and conferences, 71
- spanking of children research. see research results, on media framing of spanking research
- Star-Tribune of the Twin Cities*, in research results, 92
- Statistical Assessment Service, 78
- Straus, Murray, 123, 125–126
- summary trends. see NICHD SECCYD-to-media exchange, summary trends
- Thompson, Ross, 34
- Timeline of the NICHD SECCYD, Focal Research Reports, and Focal Media Coverage Windows (figure), 37–39
- Topics Covered in Interviews with NICHD SECCYD Study Investigators and NIH Officials (table), 65
- Toronto Star*
  - “Day Care Won’t Fray Bond with Mother, Research Says,” 115
  - “Investing in Our Children’s Future: Improvements to Child Care will Pay Off Later, Researchers Say,” 111–113, 116
  - Lero on maternal employment, 116
- trends. see NICHD SECCYD-to-media exchange, summary trends
- Tulsa Pre-K program, 91
- Type of Newspaper Articles about the NICHD SECCYD by Year (figure), 70
- United Kingdom, in international research results, media coverage in research results, 109–113
  - see also* research results, on international media framing of NICHD SECCYD study
- universal pre-K education (Obama), 152–153
- USA Today*
  - “Balancing Family, Work: Day-Care Study Raises Questions, and Anxious Moms Need Answers,” 101

Cambridge University Press

978-1-107-09329-4 - Debating Early Child Care: The Relationship between Developmental Science and the Media

Robert Crosnoe and Tama Leventhal

Index

More information

I72 INDEX

USA Today (cont.)

“New Fuel for the Spanking Debate,”

127–128

in research results, 60, 77

U.S. Department of Health and Human Services (HHS),

46–47

values debates. see Feminist Movement, and values debates

Vandell, Deborah, 75

Vedantam, Shankar, 124–125

Wall Street Journal

“Good, Early Care Has a Huge

Impact on Kids, Studies Say,” 92–93

in research results, 60, 77, 83

Washington Post

“Child Care Worries Adding Up,” 92

Dionne on NICHD SECCYD study,

98–99

“Harm Outweighs Benefits of Spanking,”

124–125

in research results, 77, 83

on spanking research, 127

“Working Moms and Day Care: It’s Life with a Guilt Edge,” 97

Watamura, Sarah, 91

welfare reform, 95, 106

West Wing (tv show excerpt), 1–2, 13,

96–97

Willer, Barbara, 76–77, 87

working mothers. see maternal employment

narrative; “mommy wars”

narrative