Generations of Feeling

Generations of Feeling is the first book to provide a comprehensive history of emotions in pre- and early-modern Western Europe. Charting the varieties, transformations, and constants of human sentiments over the course of eleven centuries, Barbara H. Rosenwein explores the feelings expressed in a wide range of “emotional communities,” as well as the theories that served to inform and reflect their times. Focusing particularly on groups within England and France, chapters address communities as diverse as the monastery of Rievaulx in twelfth-century England and the ducal court of fifteenth-century Burgundy, assessing the ways in which emotional norms and modes of expression respond to, and in turn create, their social, religious, ideological, and cultural environments. Contemplating emotions experienced “on the ground” as well as those theorized in the treatises of Alcuin, Thomas Aquinas, Jean Gerson, and Thomas Hobbes, this insightful study offers a profound new narrative of emotional life in the West.

Barbara H. Rosenwein is Professor Emerita, Department of History, Loyola University Chicago.
Generations of Feeling

A History of Emotions, 600–1700

Barbara H. Rosenwein

Loyola University Chicago
For Tom
The human world provides a spectacle convulsive with opposing desires and contending wills.

Geoffrey O’Brien, “Balzac on the Brink”
Contents

- List of plates
- List of figures
- List of maps and genealogies
- List of tables
- Prefatory note
- Acknowledgments
- List of abbreviations

Introduction

1. Ancient theories
2. Attachment and detachment
3. Alcuin’s therapy
4. Love and treachery
5. Thomas’ passions
6. Theatricality and sobriety
7. Gerson’s music
8. Despair and happiness
9. Hobbes’ motions

Conclusion

Bibliography

Index
Plates

1.1 An early icon of friendship in Christ  page 26
3.1 A Carolingian image of wisdom  77
6.1 Wauquelin’s “piteous words”  180
6.2 Jean de la Huerta’s mourners  188
6.3 and 6.4 Christ’s Passion at Norwich  208
7.1 and 7.2 Gerson’s canticordum as a cross  240
9.1 Leviathan title page, sketch for Charles II  296
9.2 Leviathan frontispiece (1651)  302
Figures

4.1 Aelred’s two forms of amor  page 96
5.1 Aquinas’ body-soul composite  148
5.2 Aquinas’ sequence of the concupiscible passions  153
5.3 Aquinas’ sequence of the concupiscible and irascible passions  154
7.1 The hexachord system  237
7.2 Gerson’s hand of the passions  238
7.3 Gerson’s cross of the passions  239
Maps and genealogies

Maps

2.1 Early medieval Francia
4.1 England and France in the twelfth and thirteenth centuries
6.1 France, England, and Burgundy in the fifteenth century

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Map Description</th>
<th>Page</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Early medieval Francia</td>
<td>36</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>England and France in the twelfth and thirteenth centuries</td>
<td>92</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>France, England, and Burgundy in the fifteenth century</td>
<td>171</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Genealogical Tables

2.1 The Merovingians (simplified)
6.1 The Pastons

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Table Description</th>
<th>Page</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>The Merovingians (simplified)</td>
<td>50</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>The Pastons</td>
<td>212</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
Tables

1.1 Cicero’s genera of perturbationes animi
page 18

1.2 Cicero’s constantiae

1.3 Cicero’s aegritudines

1.4 Cicero’s perturbationes (apart from the aegritudines)

1.5 Cicero’s “good” emotions

1.6 Augustine’s emotion words

3.1 Alcuin’s emotion words

3.2 Alcuin’s emotion words enhanced

4.1 Old Occitan words associated with cor

4.2 Old Occitan emotional vocabulary at the Toulouse court

5.3 The moral virtues that regulate Aquinas’ passions and affections

6.1 Emotions associated with the heart in Monstrelet, Chronique

6.2 Enhanced list of emotions associated with the heart in

   Monstrelet, Chronique

6.3 Margery’s heart-felt terms and those associated with them

6.4 Margery’s typical emotional sequence

6.5 Paston emotion words

7.1 The Stoic emotional grid

7.2 Gerson’s terms of pain and sorrow

7.3 Gerson’s list of the passions of animals and men

7.4 Names of the voices of Gerson’s canticordum

8.1 Bright’s “primitive” and “derivative” emotions

8.2 Burton’s emotions

8.3 General sequence of emotions in Spirituall Experiences

8.4 Emotions valued and devalued by Walker

8.5 A Leveller list of vices

9.1 Hobbes’ motions in the Leviathan

9.2 Hobbes’ passions in “life’s race to get ahead”

© in this web service Cambridge University Press

www.cambridge.org
Prefatory note

I have regularized the use of i/j and u/v in Latin quotations in accordance with the guidelines of H. A. Kelly, “Uniformity and Sense in Editing and Medieval Texts,” in Medieval Academy News (Spring 2004), 8: I use the i and u for the vowel sound and j and v for the consonant sound. However, I have not regularized other orthography, nor have I changed the punctuation of the editions that I use.

In note citations I normally leave out p. (standing for page number) unless the citation involves a series of numbers (chapter, section, and so on), in which case the p. is used.

I do not ordinarily cite the full original Latin of Latin-language sources in my notes. However, I include relevant Latin terms in my translations. I do give the original texts of Moyen français, Old Occitan, and Middle English in the notes. All translations are my own unless otherwise noted, but I have taken into account (and herewith express my gratitude for) numerous modern translations.
I began this project nearly ten years ago. My debts range from chance meetings, emails, and papers as much as they do from solicited advice, invitations, and critical readings. In short, this book owes so much to so many people that it is impossible for me to name and thank them all. Some of those who helped me will find their names in fitting places in chapter footnotes. I hope that others will forgive me if I have left out their names. Although their names are perhaps omitted, their impact remains very real and very much appreciated.

Here I will limit myself to thanking four people who have sustained me in ways more than I can say throughout the long process of writing this book.

My first debt is to Riccardo Cristiani. I first met him when he was a doctoral student at the University of Bologna. He eventually became my research assistant. In the course of our work together, he has become a collaborator. He has an amazing knack for seeing problems in argument and exposition, for doubting (and being right to doubt) the accuracy or the completeness of a point, and for critiquing weak translations and paraphrasing. He identified new and essential bibliography for me to read. Via email and Skype and even more intensely when we got together in person, we discussed the emotional consequences of mankind’s Fall from Paradise; hammered out the differences between one theorist and another; disagreed (until we agreed) about the contents of chapter introductions; and worried about the suitability of words, phrases, and formulations. Together we wrote the first half of Chapter 4 on Aelred and all of Chapter 5 on Thomas Aquinas. Together we laughed and anguished over passages of reading and writing. In addition to all of that, Riccardo did the essential “little things” that make or break a book: proofreading, preparing the genealogies, maps, figures, bibliography, and index – even checking to be sure that my commas and periods were in the right places. Rather than thank him separately in each chapter, which might seem merely repetitive, I want here to say that there is nothing in this book that does not bear witness to his incisive input.
Lester K. Little has been my mentor and colleague throughout my career. Indeed, he inspired that career. It was Lester who first made clear to me that one could talk about feelings in history without being anachronistic: as an undergraduate, I sat enthralled in his classroom as he talked about how medieval Christians projected their anxieties onto Jews. We have collaborated often both formally and informally, and the latter is the case for this book, of which Lester read and critiqued a near-final draft. I am deeply indebted to him.

Dominique Iogna-Prat has been my intellectual companion since I began work, years ago, on the monastery of Cluny. He and I subsequently changed our focus almost simultaneously, he looking at social and ecclesial theory across the medieval and early modern divide, I doing much the same for emotions. After reading the entire manuscript of this book in draft, Dominique offered numerous observations and suggestions. Extraordinarily attuned to continuities and transformations, he saw connections and gaps that had never occurred to me. I am very grateful.

Finally, I thank my husband, Tom. For years he has lived with this book in the process of becoming and a wife eternally at her desk. He has been unfailingly supportive in every way. In the interstices of his own busy law practice, he has done the laundry, washed the dishes, and purchased the groceries. He has listened to me complain, gush with enthusiasm, and wallow in misery about theorists, courts, and churchmen. When the manuscript was finished in draft, he read it, offering me both feedback and encouragement. I dedicate the book to him.

Let me end with some institutions and people who helped me continuously with this project: Loyola University Chicago, its library (above all Interlibrary Loan Librarian Jennifer Stegen), and its Department of History (above all chairmen Timothy Gilfoyle and Robert Bucholz); and Cambridge University Press (especially Elizabeth Friend-Smith, Amanda George, Katherine Law, and Rebecca Taylor).

To all, my grateful thanks.
Abbreviations

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Abbreviation</th>
<th>Description</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Aelred,</td>
<td>Aelred of Rievaulx</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>BS</td>
<td>De bello standardii, ed. J.-P. Migne</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Inclus.</td>
<td>De institutione inclusarum, in OO, 637–682</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Lament</td>
<td>Eulogium Davidis regis Scotorum, in Pinkerton’s Lives of the Scottish Saints, ed. William M. Metcalfe</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>OO</td>
<td>Aelredi Rievallensis. Opera Omnia, 1: Opera ascetica ed. Anselme Hoste and Charles H. Talbot</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>SA</td>
<td>De spirituali amicitia, in OO, 287–350</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Spec. car.</td>
<td>De speculo caritatis, in OO, 3–161</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Aimeric de Belenoi</td>
<td>Aimeric de Belenoi, Le Poesie, ed. and trans. Andrea Poli</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Alcuin,</td>
<td>Alcuin of York</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>DR</td>
<td>Disputatio de rhetoric a et de virtutibus sapientissimi Regis Caroli et Albini magistri, in The Rhetoric of Alcuin and Charlemagne, ed. and trans. Wilbur Samuel Howell</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>DVV</td>
<td>De virtutibus et vitiis liber ad Widonem comitem, ed. J.-P. Migne</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Ep.</td>
<td>Epistolae, ed. Ernst Dümmler</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Aquinas,</td>
<td>Thomas Aquinas</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ST</td>
<td>Summa theologiae, in Corpus Thomisticum, ed. Enrique Alarcón</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Super Sent.</td>
<td>Scriptum super Sententias, in Corpus Thomisticum, ed. Enrique Alarcón</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

xvi
List of abbreviations

Augustine, Augustine of Hippo
Civ. dei De civitate dei, ed. Bernard Dombart and Alphonse Kalb
Conf. Confessions, ed. and trans. Pierre de Labriolle
Lib. arb. De libero arbitrio, in Il “De Libero Arbitrio” di S. Agostino, ed. and trans. Franco De Capitani
Tractatus Commentaire de la première épître de S. Jean, ed. and trans. Paul Agaësse

BMK The Book of Margery Kempe, ed. Sanford Brown Meech and Hope Emily Allen

Cadenet Les Poésies du troubadour Cadenet, ed. and trans. Josef Zemp

CCCM Corpus Christianorum. Continuatio Mediaevalis

CCSL Corpus Christianorum. Series Latina

Chanson Chanson de la Croisade albigeoise, ed. and trans. Eugène Martin-Chabot

Cicero, Marcus Tullius Cicero
DA Laelius: de Amicitia, trans. William Armistead Falconer
TD M. Tulli Ciceronis Tusculanae Disputationes, ed. Michaelangelus Giusta

CSEL Corpus Scriptorum Ecclesiasticorum Latinorum

DLFMA Dictionnaire des lettres françaises: Le Moyen Age
xviii  List of abbreviations

DNB  Oxford Dictionary of National Biography

EEBO  Early English Books Online

Gaucelm Faidit  Les poèmes de Gaucelm Faidit. Troubadour du XIIe siècle, ed. and trans. Jean Mouzat

George, A Latin Poet  Judith W. George. Venantius Fortunatus: A Latin Poet in Merovingian Gaul

Gerson,  Jean Gerson

CP  Canticordum au pélerin, in La doctrine du chant du Coeur de Jean Gerson, ed. and trans. Isabelle Fabre

DP long  De passionibus animae, in OC, 9:1–25

DP short  De passionibus animae, in OC, 9:155–57

EP  Enumeratio peccatorum ab Alberto posita, in OC, 9:160–66

OC  Oeuvres complètes, ed. Palémon Glorieux

TC  Tractatus de canticis, in La doctrine du chant du Coeur de Jean Gerson, ed. and trans. Isabelle Fabre

Greg. Tur.,  Gregory of Tours

Histories  Historiarum libri X, ed. Bruno Krusch and Wilhelm Levison

VP  Liber vitae patrum, ed. Bruno Krusch

Hobbes,  Thomas Hobbes

Lev.  Leviathan, ed. J. C. A. Gaskin

OL  Thomas Hobbes Malmesburiensis opera philosophica quae latine scriptis, omnia in unum corpus nunc primum collecta, ed. William Molesworth

La Marche  Olivier de La Marche, Mémoires, ed. Henri Beaune and Jean d’Arbaumont

LB  The Holy Bible … made from the Latin Vulgate by John Wycliffe and his
List of abbreviations

Followers, ed. Josiah Forshall and Frederic Madden

Lefèvre
Jean Lefèvre, Chronique, ed. François Morand

Loeb, “Le relations thesis” Ariane Loeb, “Les relations entre les troubadours et les comtes de Toulouse (1112–1229).” M.A. Thesis

MGH
Monumenta Germaniae Historica

AA
Auctores antiquissimi

SRM
Scriptores rerum Merovingicarum

SS
Scriptores (in Folia)

Monstrelet
Enguerrand Monstrelet, Chronique, ed. L. Douët-D’Arcq

Paston

Peire Vidal
Peire Vidal, Poesie, ed. Silvio Avalle d’Arco

PL
Patriologia Latina, ed. J.-P. Migne

Raimon de Miraval
Les poésies du troubadour Raimon de Miraval, ed. and trans. L. T. Topsfield

RB
The Rule of Saint Benedict, ed. and trans. Bruce L. Venarde

SC
Sources chrétiennes

SE
Spirituall experiences, of sundry beleevers. Held forth by them at severall solemnne meetings, and Conferences to that end. With the recommendation of the sound, spiritual, and savoury worth of them, to the sober and spirituall Reader, By Vavasor Powel, Minister of the Gospel

Staley
The Book of Margery Kempe, trans. Lynn Staley
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>xx</th>
<th>List of abbreviations</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>WW</td>
<td>The Writings of William Walwyn, ed. Jack R. McMichael and Barbara Taft</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>