

Contents

Acknowledgments	page vi
List of Abbreviations	xii
Introduction	1
1 State Elites and the Influence of Islamist Activists	9
2 Islamist Activism and the State 1945–1998	42
3 State Elites and Institutional Change	69
4 The Accumulation of Power in Local Politics after 1998	90
5 Islamist Parties after 1998: Mobilization without Influence	109
6 Islamist Movements after 1998: Mobilization and Influence	132
7 Providing Resources in Exchange for Shari'a Regulations	158
8 Conclusion: Summary of Findings and Avenues for Future Research	187
Appendix 1 Number of shari'a regulations adopted, 1998–2013, per administrative unit	215
Appendix 2 Number of effective candidates in West Java and South Sulawesi government head elections, 1998–2013, per administrative unit and year	221
Appendix 3 Background of local government heads who adopted shari'a regulations, 1998–2013	227
Bibliography	232
Index	259