EQUITY AND ADMINISTRATION

Each generation of lawyers in common law systems faces an important question: what is the nature of equity as developed in English law and inherited by other common law jurisdictions? While some traditional explanations of equity remain useful – including the understanding of equity as a system that qualifies the legal rights people ordinarily have under judge-made law and under legislation – other common explanations are unhelpful or misleading. This volume considers a distinct and little noticed view of equity. By examining the ways in which courts of equity have addressed a range of practical problems regarding the administration of deliberately created schemes for the management of others' affairs, modern equity can be seen to have a strongly facilitative character. The extent of and limits on this characterisation of equity are explored in chapters covering equity's attitude to administration in various public and private settings in common law systems.

P.G. TURNER is a University Lecturer and a Fellow of St Catharine's College at the University of Cambridge.

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

The conception of this book has its origins in a seminar of the same title held in Cambridge in January 2014. The seminar drew together, as it was designed to do, lawyers of a wide range of experience. Naturally they included English lawyers. But they also included lawyers from Australia, Canada and the United States. Naturally the gathering was scholarly. Yet it was made up of learned judges and practising lawyers as well as lawyers of the academy. The seminar was borne of a conviction that each of these groups had a deal to learn from all the others; and, at the seminar's conclusion, those from each group professed to have done so.

It was only possible to gather those lawyers together, and it is only now possible to offer this published collection, with the support of the Cambridge Centre for Private Law. Through its directors, Professor Graham Virgo and Professor Sarah Worthington, the Centre gave vast support. In turn, full thanks are due to the Centre's supporters – especially the Cambridge University Press, Clifford Chance LLP, the Faculty of Law in the University of Cambridge, Lord Grabiner QC, South Square Chambers and Trinity College, Cambridge.

Ms Kim Hughes of the Cambridge University Press was a most constructive and accommodating commissioning editor. The skill of Mr Peter Illidge, and a grant from the Yorke Fund administered by the Faculty of Law in the University of Cambridge, made the final stages of preparing the manuscript considerably simpler.
