CONTENTS

List of Figures  page xiii
List of Tables  xiv
Acknowledgements  xv
List of Abbreviations  xvii
Table of Agreements  xx
Table of Cases  xxix

Foundations  1

1 Special and Differential Treatment in the WTO  3
   I Developing Countries in the WTO  4
   II Least-Developed Countries in the WTO  13
   III Special and Differential Treatment  17
   IV In Summary  24

2 The Rationale for South-South Services Trade  27
   I Trade in Services  29
   II Development Effect of Services Trade  37
   III Controversies of Preferential Services Trade  40

3 The Quest of this Study  44
   I South-South in this Study  45
   II Gap in Literature and Why Understanding South-South Services Trade Matters  50
   III Methodology  52
   IV Mapping Preferential Trade Agreements in Services  54
   V Structure of the Study  57

PART 1 Preferential Services Trade  61

1 History and Geography of Preferential Services Trade  63
   I Influence of Early PTAs on GATS  67

2 Stock-taking of Preferential Services Trade Agreements  73
   I Lack of Notifications to the WTO  73
Table of Contents

Part I  Legal Regime for Preferential Services Trade

1. Historical Background of Preferentialism in Services Trade and its Regulation
   1. Regulatory Flexibilities for Preferential Trade
   2. Most-Favoured Nation Treatment (GATS Art. II)

2. GATS Art. V
   1. Positioning GATS Art. V in International Economic Law
   2. Chapeau of GATS Art. V
   3. Quantitative Requirements: GATS Art. V:1 lit. a and lit. b
   4. Qualitative Requirements: GATS Art. V:1 lit. b
   5. Related Provision: GATT Art. XXIV

3. Regulatory Flexibilities in the GATS: Special and Differential Treatment

4. Compliance with GATS Worldwide

5. Loopholes in the GATS: Problems in Practice
   1. Language of GATS Art. V
   2. Missing Case Law

6. Innovation in South-South Agreements?
   1. Sectors of Interest
   2. Modes of Supply

7. In Summary

Part II  Legal Regime for South-South Preferential Services Trade

1. The Legal Scope of Flexibilities for South-South Preferential Services Trade
   1. Preamble of the GATS
   2. Preferential Trade in Services: GATS Art. V
   3. Flexibilities on the Basis of the Positive List Approach

Part III  Legal Regime for South-South Preferential Services Trade

1. The Current Level of Liberalisation
   1. Low Level of Liberalisation

4. The Special Case of South-South Preferential Services Trade
   1. The History of South-South PTAs
   2. The Geography of South-South PTAs

© in this web service Cambridge University Press
www.cambridge.org
Table of Contents

I No Additional Flexibility: The Narrow Interpretation 226
II Flexibility in Number of Sectors and Level of Liberalisation: The Medium Interpretation 227
III Sectorial Agreements: Broad Interpretation 228

2 Legal Arguments for a Large Scope of Flexibilities in the GATS 224

3 New Approach to a Better Use of the Scope of Flexibilities 231

IV Flexibilities Embedded in Special and Differential Treatment 216
V Waiver 218
VI Enabling Clause 220

2 Systemic Considerations 271

I Legal Uncertainty 273
II Political and Economic Effect 275
III Number of Notifications 277
IV Level of Liberalisation 277

5 In Summary 281

Conclusion 285

1 Lessons for the WTO 289
2 Lessons for the Architecture of International Economic Law 291
3 Critical Issues for Future Research 293

Bibliography 294
Index 317