

Contents

Preface	page	xiii
1 Introduction		1
1.1 The Rising Interest in Religion		1
1.2 The Central Storyline of the Book		4
1.3 Methodological Approach		15
1.4 Concerns with Quantitative Studies		20
The Endogeneity Problem		20
Additional Problems and Weak Results from Cross-Country Studies		22
Historical Experiments		26
Final Clarifications		28
1.5 The Outline of the Book		29
2 Insights from Early Modern Europe		33
2.1 A Skeptical View of the Role of the Protestant Reformation An Updated Critique of Weber's Approach to Protestantism		34
State and Religion in Western Europe before the Reformation		49
State and Religion in Western Europe after the Reformation		52
2.2 A Skeptical View of the Role of the Early Enlightenment The Early Enlightenment as the Decisive Breakpoint? Back to the Reverse Causality Problem		62
The Stickiness of Religious Conventions		75
2.3 Central Lessons from Early Modern European History		78
3 Conflation between Religion and Politics: The Case of Islam		86
3.1 Conflation between Religion and Politics in Islam: Statement of the View		86

3.2 Varied Aspects of the Islamic Doctrine	91
Plurality of Sources of the Islamic Law	91
Role of the Islamic Jurists	96
Role of Local Customs: Islam as a Cultural Hybrid	98
Encounters between High and Low Islams	108
Shi'ism as a Mixture of Doctrinal Flexibility and Charismatic Leadership	112
3.3 Conclusion	113
4 The Dominant System of Politico-Religious Relations in Islam: A Historical Perspective	116
4.1 First Insights from the Early History of Islam	116
4.2 The Archetypal Model of Politico-Religious Interactions in the Lands of Islam	125
Subordination of Religious Authorities to Political Rulers	125
Illustrations	131
4.3 Islam in the Service of National Unification	138
Examples from Old Imperial and Dynastic Regimes	138
Afghanistan	140
Illustrious Predecessors: Ibn Hanbal and Ibn Taymiyya	142
4.4 Summary: Asymmetric Cooperation and Sanctuary
Rights	143
The Subordination of Religion to Politics	143
The Moderately Counterbalancing Role of Islam	145
Islam as a Banner for Political Unification and Nation-Building	146
4.5 Analytics of Politico-Religious Interactions	147
The Setup	148
Results	150
What about the Merchants?	155
5 The Rise of Islam in Conditions of State Crisis: The Case of Weak States	159
5.1 Two Types of State Crisis	159
5.2 Ottoman Egypt	160
5.3 Post-Safavid Iran	163
Successful Cooperation between State and Religion under the Safavid Rule	163
The Post-Safavid Collapse of State-Religion Cooperation	165
Linking the Change to Theory	175

Contents		ix
5.4	State-Appointed versus Self-Appointed Clerics	176
5.5	Reaction to Foreign Domination	178
5.6	Conclusion and Final Remarks about the Puzzle of Iranian Theocracy	182
6	The Rise of Islam in Conditions of State Crisis: The Case of Kleptocratic Despotism	185
6.1	Instrumentalization of Islam in Support of Despotism	185
6.2	Evidence	188
	Case Study 1: Egypt	189
	Case Study 2: Sudan	203
	Case Study 3: Pakistan	209
	Case Study 4: Algeria	223
	Case Study 5: Indonesia	229
	Baathism as Secular Religiosity in the Service of a Totalitarian State: A Prelude to the Study of Iraq and Syria	233
	Case Study 6: Iraq	235
	Case Study 7: Syria	252
	Glimpses at Palestine and Malaysia	256
6.3	Conclusion	260
	Islamization of Political Debate	260
	Linking Results with the Theory	261
	Relationships between State Power and Puritanical Islamists	262
	The Exacerbating Role of Foreign Policies	263
7	Islamism in Historical and International Perspective	265
7.1	The Birth and Spread of Islamic Puritanism	266
	The Influence and Spread of Wahhabism	267
	Islamic Reformism as Anticolonial Reaction	274
	The Doctrines of Mawdûdi and Qutb	283
	Political Shi'ism	286
7.2	A Modernization Crisis Compounded by Military Defeats	287
	The Hard Dilemma Born of a Modernization Crisis	287
	Islamism as an Attempt to Reformulate the Project of Modernity	291
	Analogies with Europe	294
7.3	Motives behind Recruitment into Islamist Movements	297
	Need to Restore a Damaged Self-Image	298
	Social Role of Islamist Movements	302
	Radical Islam as a Weapon in Class Struggles	304

	Islamist Leaders	308
	Islamism and the Low Islam	311
7.4	Conclusion and Final Reflections	312
	Summing Up	312
	The Challenge of Civilizational Change	314
	The Role of Foreign Domination	315
8	Revivalist Movements in Other Religions	323
	8.1 Introduction	323
	8.2 The Puzzle of Hindu Fundamentalism in India	324
	8.3 Sikh Revivalism in Modern India	331
	8.4 Buddhist Revivalism in Sri Lanka and Myanmar	336
	Sri Lanka	336
	Myanmar	343
	8.5 Conclusion and Discussion	346
9	Enlightened Despotism Examined	351
	9.1 Legal Reforms in the Lands of Islam	352
	9.2 Kemalist Reforms in Modern Turkey	355
	Kemalism as a Revolutionary and Nationalist Project	356
	Kemalism as an Authoritarian and Elitist Project	359
	The Aftermath of the Kemalist Republic	364
	The Gradual Reentry of Islam into Turkish Politics	368
	The Second Revolution in Modern Turkey: An Islamic Party in Power	372
	Concluding Remarks	375
	9.3 Radical Reforms in Modern Tunisia	378
	Bourguiba's One-Man Rule	379
	Bourguiba's Radical Social Reforms	382
	The Entry of Islamic Opposition Forces onto the Stage	388
	Crushing of the Islamists under Enduring Autocracy: The Ben Ali Era (I)	391
	Crony Capitalism under Enduring Autocracy: The Ben Ali Era (II)	395
	The Arab Spring and the Islamists' Access to Power	398
	9.4 Enlightened Despots in Modern Afghanistan	400
	The Bold Reformism of King Amanullah	400
	A Renewed Attempt by the Left	403
	The Taliban Regime	404
	9.5 Drawing Lessons: Radical versus Moderate Reforms	406

Contents		xi
Avoidable Flaws of the Reform Programs		406
The Way Forward: A Middle Road between Assertive Secularism and the Status Quo		409
The “Magnet Effect” of Progressive Reforms: Theoretical Insights		411
The Moderate Road Illustrated: The Case of Morocco		416
The Moderate Road Illustrated: The Case of Indonesia		418
9.6 Conclusion		422
10 Islam, Politics, and the Challenge of Enforcement		426
10.1 Institutional Change and the Enforceability Issue		426
The Theory of the “Institutional Trap” in a Nutshell		427
An Important Caveat		428
The Enforcement Problem		431
Politics in Kuran’s Work		435
10.2 Islam in a Comparative Perspective		438
A Novel Approach to State-Religion Interactions		438
A Reasoned Typology of Country Case Studies		441
The Ingredients of a Severe Modernization Crisis		446
10.3 Persistence of Tribalism		452
Islam’s Failure to End Tribalism		453
Back to Western Europe		457
10.4 Final Thoughts		462
Bibliography		465
Index		497