

Contents

List of Figures	page viii
List of Contributors	ix
Foreword	xvii
Donna Landry
Acknowledgments	xxiii
Introduction	I
John Goodridge and Bridget Keegan
1 When “Bread Depends on Her Character”: The Problem of Laboring Class Subjectivity in the Foundling Hospital Archive	10
Jennie Batchelor
2 “Stirr’d up by Emulation of the Famous Mr. Duck”: Laboring Class Poetry in the 1730s	24
Jennifer Batt
3 The Verse Epistle and Laboring Class Literary Sociability from Duck to Burns	39
William J. Christmas
4 “But Genius Is the Special Gift of God!”: The Reclamation of “Natural Genius” in the Late-Eighteenth-Century Verses of Ann Yearsley and James Woodhouse	55
Steve Van-Hagen
5 Alexander Wilson: The Rise and Fall and Rise of a Laboring Class Writer	70
Gerard Carruthers
6 Neither Mute nor Inglorious: Ann Yearsley and Elegy	85
Kerri Andrews

vi	Contents
7	“British Bards”: The Concept of Laboring Class Poetry in Eighteenth-Century Wales Mary-Ann Constantine	101
8	“Behold in These Coromantees / The Fate of an Agonized World”: Edward Rushton’s Transnational Radicalism Franca Dellarosa	116
9	Transnational Ulster and Laboring Class Self-Fashioning Jennifer Orr	130
10	Working Class Poetry and the Royal Literary Fund: Two Case Studies in Patronage Scott McEathron	149
11	The Life of William Cobbett: Caricature, Hauntology, and the Impossibility of Radical Life Writing in the Romantic Period Ian Haywood	176
12	John Clare’s Agrarian Idyll: A Confluence of Pastoral and Georgic Gary Harrison	195
13	“And aft Thy Dear Doric aside I Hae Flung, to Busk oot My Sang wi’ the Prood Southron Tongue”: The Antiphonal Muse in Janet Hamilton’s Poetics Kaye Kossick	208
14	“The Guilty Game of Human Subjugation”: Religion as Ideology in Thomas Cooper’s The Purgatory of Suicides Mike Sanders	226
15	At the Margins of Print: Life Narratives of Victorian Working Class Women Florence S. Boos	248
16	The Newspaper Press and the Victorian Working Class Poet Kirstie Blair	264
17	Tensions, Transformations, and Local Identity: The Evolving Meanings of Nineteenth-Century Tyneside Dialect Songs Rod Hermeston	281

Contents		vii
18	On the Road: All Manner of Tramps in English and Scottish Writing from the 1880s to the 1920s H. Gustav Klaus	296
19	Ethel Carnie Holdsworth: Genre, Serial Fiction, and Popular Reading Patterns Nicola Wilson	311
20	“The Young Men of the Nation”: Alexander Baron and Urban Working Class Masculinity Anthony Cartwright	327
21	Kathleen Dayus: The Girl from Hockley Sharon Ouditt	339
22	“It Have a Kind of Communal Feeling with the Working Class and the Spades”: Sam Selvon, Tony Harrison, and “Colonization in Reverse” Jack Windle	352
23	Clannish Confines: The Folk, the Proletariat, and the People in Modern Scottish Literature Corey Gibson	367
24	A Critical Minefield: The Haunting of the Welsh Working Class Novel Lisa Sheppard and Aidan Byrne	385
25	Transforming Working Class Writers and Writing: Digital Editions, Projects, and Analyses Cole Crawford	398
	Afterword Brian Maidment	413
	Works Cited	419
	Index	455