

Cambridge University Press

978-1-107-47046-0 - Building Professional: Nursing Communication

Edited by Jill Lawrence, Cheryl Perrin and Eleanor Kiernan

Frontmatter

More information

Building Professional Nursing Communication

Establishing and building effective relationships are essential skills for safe nursing practice. Building Professional Nursing Communication guides students through the concepts integral to successful communication for nurses.

Each chapter addresses communication theory and clearly demonstrates how it can be applied both to university studies and to professional nursing practice. Learning is extended further through case studies, practical scenarios and student learning activities. The book also addresses recent developments in online learning, covering information literacy, digital learning and consultation, as well as emerging forms of digital communication such as e-portfolios, blogs and new media.

This book brings together authors from nursing and communication backgrounds, combining extensive research and practical experience in both fields. This diverse team mirrors the interdisciplinary nature of the nursing role in the contemporary healthcare sector.

A companion website contains links to video and audio resources, and provides learning activities to connect these to the book's content. These resources can be accessed at www.cambridge.edu.au/academic/nursingcommunication.

Building Professional Nursing Communication is an essential resource for nursing students throughout their entire degree.

Jill Lawrence is Professor of Communication and Associate Dean (Students) in the Faculty of Business, Education, Law and Arts at the University of Southern Queensland.

Cheryl Perrin is Associate Professor in the School of Nursing and Midwifery at the University of Southern Queensland.

Eleanor Kiernan is Lecturer, Communication, in the Faculty of Business, Education, Law and Arts at the University of Southern Queensland.

Cambridge University Press

978-1-107-47046-0 - Building Professional: Nursing Communication

Edited by Jill Lawrence, Cheryl Perrin and Eleanor Kiernan

Frontmatter

More information

Cambridge University Press

978-1-107-47046-0 - Building Professional: Nursing Communication

Edited by Jill Lawrence, Cheryl Perrin and Eleanor Kiernan

Frontmatter

More information

Building Professional Nursing Communication

Edited by

Jill Lawrence Cheryl Perrin Eleanor Kiernan

CAMBRIDGE
UNIVERSITY PRESS

Cambridge University Press
 978-1-107-47046-0 - Building Professional: Nursing Communication
 Edited by Jill Lawrence, Cheryl Perrin and Eleanor Kiernan
 Frontmatter
More information

CAMBRIDGE UNIVERSITY PRESS

477 Williamstown Road, Port Melbourne, VIC 3207, Australia

Cambridge University Press is part of the University of Cambridge.

It furthers the University's mission by disseminating knowledge in the pursuit of education, learning and research at the highest international levels of excellence.

www.cambridge.org

Information on this title: www.cambridge.org/9781107470460

© Cambridge University Press 2015

This publication is copyright. Subject to statutory exception and to the provisions of relevant collective licensing agreements, no reproduction of any part may take place without the written permission of Cambridge University Press.

First published 2015

Cover designed by Eggplant Communications

Typeset by Aptara Corp.

Printed in China by C & C Offset Printing Co. Ltd.

A catalogue record for this publication is available from the British Library

A Cataloguing-in-Publication entry is available from the catalogue of the National Library of Australia at www.nla.gov.au

ISBN 978-1-107-47046-0 Paperback

Additional resources for this publication at www.cambridge.edu.au/academic/nursingcommunication

Reproduction and communication for educational purposes

The Australian Copyright Act 1968 (the Act) allows a maximum of one chapter or 10% of the pages of this work, whichever is the greater, to be reproduced and/or communicated by any educational institution for its educational purposes provided that the educational institution (or the body that administers it) has given a remuneration notice to Copyright Agency Limited (CAL) under the Act.

For details of the CAL licence for educational institutions contact:

Copyright Agency Limited
 Level 15, 233 Castlereagh Street
 Sydney NSW 2000
 Telephone: (02) 9394 7600
 Facsimile: (02) 9394 7601
 E-mail: info@copyright.com.au

Cambridge University Press has no responsibility for the persistence or accuracy of URLs for external or third-party internet websites referred to in this publication and does not guarantee that any content on such websites is, or will remain, accurate or appropriate.

Every effort has been made in preparing this book to provide accurate and up-to-date information that is in accord with accepted standards and practice at the time of publication. Although case histories are drawn from actual cases, every effort has been made to disguise the identities of the individuals involved. Nevertheless, the authors, editors and publishers can make no warranties that the information contained herein is totally free from error, not least because clinical standards are constantly changing through research and regulation. The authors, editors and publishers therefore disclaim all liability for direct or consequential damages resulting from the use of material contained in this book. Readers are strongly advised to pay careful attention to information provided by the manufacturer of any drugs or equipment that they plan to use.

Permission: Kossen, Kiernan & Lawrence 2011 text and artwork in Chapters 3, 4 and 5 reproduced with permission from Chris Kossen, Eleanor Kiernan and Jill Lawrence, Communicating for Success © 2014 Pearson Australia. Figure 8.1 © shutterstock.com / snapgalleria.

Cambridge University Press

978-1-107-47046-0 - Building Professional: Nursing Communication

Edited by Jill Lawrence, Cheryl Perrin and Eleanor Kiernan

Frontmatter

More information

Foreword

The first female Prime Minister of Australia, Julia Gillard, recognised the value of nurses, whom she described as the ‘backbone’ of the health system. I agree with her profoundly. My experiences as a nurse, as a nurse teacher and researcher, and indeed as a patient and as a family member of a patient, have all demonstrated the centrality of nurses as the accessible communicator.

Nurses ‘make sense’ of the health system and indeed of healthcare; patients and families look to nurses to tell them what’s happening, in everyday language they can understand. Nurses are also at the centre of the healthcare team, and spend much of their time ensuring that other health professionals are up to date with what’s happening for their patients.

At the heart of nursing, then, is the capacity to make connections: to communicate clearly, deeply and meaningfully. It is also the capacity to communicate accurately, succinctly and effectively with other members of the health team. It’s the ability to write and keep accurate records. And finally it’s the capacity to advocate for and on behalf of patients and their families, and to ensure adequate resourcing is made available.

Communication might seem a natural skill, but there is plenty of evidence to suggest that it’s not inborn for many health workers. Communication can and must be taught; yet it’s challenging to do so. Not least because everyone assumes they can communicate and may not realise their challenges in this space!

That’s where this visionary Australian text, designed specifically for nurses, will make a significant impact. This text recognises the extent and variety of communication skills required each and every day by nurses; and responds by providing nurses with the essential knowledge they will need to be effective communicators. A variety of nursing authors, together with communications experts, have written accessible and contemporary chapters that explore the key areas of communication practice for nurses.

I commend the editors and authors of this work for their vision, expertise and passion to share their knowledge with nurses and nursing students. I commend this book to all nursing students, nurses and indeed all health professionals.

Cath Rogers

Head of School of Nursing

University of Southern Queensland

Cambridge University Press

978-1-107-47046-0 - Building Professional: Nursing Communication

Edited by Jill Lawrence, Cheryl Perrin and Eleanor Kiernan

Frontmatter

More information

Foreword

Paradigms of nursing are many and varied, and differ greatly across the world. This fact is never more important than when considering communication in the context of professional care. This important text acknowledges the skill of communication as pivotal to the role of the nurse. Paradigms of nursing have shifted over time, and with increased autonomy and, more recently, assumed leadership of the multi-disciplinary team, communication has never been more important.

For many decades student nurses were taught only what they needed to know in order to carry out their role; higher level problem-solving skills being associated with others educated to a different blueprint. This, of course, relates to the previously mentioned paradigms of nursing or particular world-views. Over recent decades two different views have been recognised. The first of these sees nursing as a collection of procedures, requiring some skill but being initiated and directed predominantly by doctors, while the second views nursing as a particular kind of interpersonal interaction that has specific goals determined by the nurse, and uses clinical judgement based upon specific nursing knowledge. Communication is pivotal to the second conceptualisation and is therefore an important facet of nurse education.

If nurses are to belong to, and lead, multi-disciplinary teams they must be comfortable acting as the integrating force between professionals and families. Communication skills must be developed to a high level to allow this to happen and this book facilitates that development. Communication theory is explicitly addressed and repeatedly applied to the clinical situation allowing students to explicate their experiences and continually develop their practice.

This book will complement pre-registration studies in Australia and beyond, and be a useful reflective companion for the registered nurse for many years to come. I commend the editors and authors for their authentic approach and encourage nurses everywhere to embrace and apply the content of this very important text.

Lyn Karstadt
Executive Dean (Health, Engineering and Sciences)
University of Southern Queensland

Cambridge University Press
978-1-107-47046-0 - Building Professional: Nursing Communication
Edited by Jill Lawrence, Cheryl Perrin and Eleanor Kiernan
Frontmatter
More information

Contents

Foreword by Cath Rogers	v
Foreword by Lyn Karstadt	vi
1 Communication in context: Developing a professional identity	1
Nicholas Ralph
Introduction	1
Developing a professional identity	2
The roles of the nursing student and the healthcare professional	7
Person-centredness	8
Pathways to professional practice	11
Summary	16
Discussion and critical thinking questions	16
References	17
2 Communication theory and its applications in nursing and healthcare	20
Eleanor Kiernan
Introduction	20
Rationale for the development of theory	21
Communication theory	22
Communication models	22
People's unique world-views: Perception	25
Communication barriers	27
Intrapersonal/psychological barriers	28
Interpersonal barriers	32
Semantic barriers	38
Physical/external barriers	41
Strategies to overcome physical barriers	42
Summary	43
Discussion and critical thinking questions	44
Further reading	44
References	45
3 Building lifelong learning capacities and resilience in changing academic and healthcare contexts	48
Jill Lawrence
Introduction	49
Understanding who you are and what you bring to higher education	49

viii CONTENTS

	Understanding the new higher education context	52
	Conceptualising transition	55
	Summary	68
	Discussion and critical thinking questions	68
	Further reading	69
	References	69
4	Communicating in academic and clinical contexts	70
	Steve Parker and Jill Lawrence
	Introduction	70
	Writing academically	71
	Academic literacy and its structural elements	73
	A writing strategy	74
	Editing your academic writing	88
	Writing in clinical contexts	91
	Oral communication	94
	Oral communication in the clinical context	98
	Summary	100
	Discussion and critical thinking questions	101
	Further reading	101
	References	102
5	Building transcultural skills for professional contexts	103
	Coralie Graham and Jill Lawrence
	Introduction	103
	Defining culture	104
	Cultural difference	106
	Healthcare culture	110
	The impact of spiritual beliefs on medical decision-making	116
	Developing cross-cultural practices	121
	Tips for working with interpreters	124
	Summary	125
	Discussion and critical thinking questions	126
	Further reading	127
	References	127
6	Developing interpersonal capabilities for healthcare professionals	130
	Julie Martyn and Eleanor Kiernan
	Introduction	131
	Nursing standards in global and local contexts	131
	Interpersonal communication in healthcare settings	133
	Building self-awareness and self-concept	134
	Self-efficacy and assertiveness	136

	Non-verbal communication.....	137
	The relationship between verbal and non-verbal communication	141
	Aggression in the workplace	143
	Workplace bullying	144
	Summary.....	151
	Discussion and critical thinking questions.....	152
	Further reading.....	152
	References	152
7	Digital skills in healthcare practice	155
	Clint Moloney and Helen Farley
	Introduction	155
	Context of digital skills in healthcare practice	156
	Mobile and online communications: Distance learning strategies	157
	Emerging learning technologies	159
	Digital learning as a substitution process.....	160
	The driving societal forces for online learning	161
	Digital literacies and learning inequalities.....	162
	Digital technology and learning outcomes	166
	Online safety	167
	Making digital technologies work for you.....	168
	Using digital literacy to improve the quality of your assessment pieces	170
	Career and identity management.....	172
	Communication technologies for study and in the workplace.....	172
	Summary.....	175
	Discussion and critical thinking questions.....	175
	Further reading.....	176
	References	176
8	Professional skills for nurses and other health professionals: Contexts and capability of practice	182
	Cheryl Perrin, David Stanley and Melissa Taylor
	Introduction	183
	Contexts of practice	183
	Understanding healthcare organisational structures	184
	Professional communication	188
	What are leadership and management in healthcare?	194
	Clinical leadership and practice capability	196
	The attributes of clinical leaders	197
	Linking clinical leadership to scope of practice, quality initiatives and evidence-informed practice	199
	Summary.....	200
	Discussion and critical thinking questions.....	201

Cambridge University Press
978-1-107-47046-0 - Building Professional: Nursing Communication
Edited by Jill Lawrence, Cheryl Perrin and Eleanor Kiernan
Frontmatter
More information

x CONTENTS

	Further reading	202
	References	202
9	Contributing to evidence-based healthcare cultures through lifelong learning	205
	Lisa Beccaria, Clint Moloney and Craig Lockwood
	Introduction	206
	Understanding theoretical frameworks that guide communication processes and skills development	206
	Understanding known facilitators and barriers to research-utilisation practices	214
	Understanding the dispositions to enable effective change management	218
	Understanding team dynamics and effective change management	222
	Leadership	223
	Cultural influence in communication and nursing practice	224
	Links to professional practice	226
	The evolution of skills and knowledge as they relate to evidence utilisation and leadership	229
	Summary	233
	Discussion and critical thinking questions	233
	Further reading	234
	References	234
	Glossary	241
	Index	244