

Contents

Foreword by Tom Calma	v
Contributors	xi
Acknowledgements	xvii
Chapter 1 A long, slow dance: The nation's history	1
Steve Kinnane
Introduction	3
History's shadow	4
Beyond the cult of forgetfulness	5
A world of alternatives	7
Making knowledge, making history	8
Common narratives	11
Counter-narratives	14
Conclusion	21
Further reading	23
References	23
Chapter 2 Reconciliation	26
Paul Newman
Introduction	28
Contextualising reconciliation: Dispelling some of the myths	30
The politics and ideology	31
Symbolic reconciliation	32
Formal reconciliation	34
Conclusion	35
Further reading	36
References	37

Chapter 3 Law and native title	39
Asmi Wood
Introduction	40
Indigenous people and the law: From discovery to Federation	41
Native title in Australia	48
Conclusion	53
Further reading	56
References	57
Chapter 4 Overkill, over time: The criminalisation of Indigenous society – or genocide by stealth	59
John Williams-Mozley
Introduction	61
Over-policing defined	63
The operationalisation of over-policing	65
Conclusion	72
Further reading	74
References	74
Chapter 5 Art: Connecting cultures	77
Fabri Blacklock
Introduction	79
Colonial Aboriginal art	80
Anthropology and authenticity: Representing Australia	81
Growing Aboriginal art	82
Copyright	83
Art and politics	84
Community art centres	85
Papunya Tula	86
Urban Aboriginal art	86
Art business	87
Art from the Torres Strait Islands	88
The diversity of Aboriginal art	89
Conclusion	94
Further reading	96
References	96
Chapter 6 Literature: Writing ourselves	98
Sandra R. Phillips
Introduction	99
Early Indigenous writing	101
Early Australian publishing	102
Indigenous publishers	104
Indigenous writing from the 1960s onwards	106

Reception of Indigenous writing	112
Conclusion	114
Further reading	115
References	115
Chapter 7 Enterprise and entrepreneurial thinking: It's a black thing!	118
Dennis Foley
Introduction	120
Protocol	120
How colonisation rewrites history	121
How academic theory has colonised Aboriginal practice	122
Aboriginal enterprise	123
Early accounting	126
Expansion of the role of the accountant	127
Other Aboriginal enterprise/entrepreneurship	128
Early post-colonial enterprise	130
What is the future for Indigenous business?	132
Conclusion	133
Further reading	135
References	135
Chapter 8 Health and wellbeing	141
Raelene Ward
Introduction	142
Historical standpoint	143
Indigenous health policy initiatives	144
Understanding social and emotional wellbeing	144
Impact of government policy on social and emotional wellbeing	146
Indigenous health perspectives	146
Social and emotional wellbeing within a health context	147
Cultural health considerations	149
Conclusion	150
Further reading	151
References	151
Chapter 9 A room full of strangers: Racism as a determinant of health in the maternity care of Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander women	154
Karel Williams
Introduction	155
Social indicators	155
Racism as a determinant of health	155
Background	156
Racism and the construction of Aboriginality	157
Maternity settings and disconnection	158
Aboriginal medical services and health workers	159

Cambridge University Press

978-1-107-47742-1 - Knowledge of Life: Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander Australia

Edited by Kaye Price

Table of Contents

More information

x

Contents

Cultural safety and cultural competency	159
Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander-specific maternity services	161
Recognising and overcoming racism	162
Conclusion	162
Further reading	163
References	164
Chapter 10 Education	166
Jessa Rogers
Introduction: Who we teach	169
How we teach	172
What we teach	177
Conclusion	180
Further reading	181
References	181
Chapter 11 Good sports: Representations of Aboriginal people in Australian sports	184
Barry Judd
Introduction	185
Representations of the 'Aborigine': Knowing the native 'other', constructing the national 'self'	187
The political elimination of Aboriginal people in colonial Australia	189
Sporting discourses of Australian national identity	191
The 'Aborigine' as 'other': Anomalies in Australian sport	193
Conclusion	198
Further reading	199
References	199
Chapter 12 The right to be human: Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander peoples and human rights	203
Gary Thomas
Introduction	204
What are human rights?	205
Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander peoples and human rights	208
Human rights and pragmatic implementation	209
The UN system: An international stage for indigenous peoples	210
Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander peoples contributing to human rights at the domestic level	211
Removal of rights	213
Rights through relationships, responsibility and reciprocity	214
Conclusion	215
Further reading	217
References	217
Index	219