CONTENTS.

INTRODUCTION .................................................. 13

MEMOIR ........................................................... 21

I.
A New Epiphany in Philadelphia.—Dr. Kane's First Visit.—Love at First Sight.—
Chams of the Young Lady.—Her Freedom from Vanity.—Dr. Kane’s repeated Visits.—Notes to Mrs. and Miss Fox.—'A Prophecy.'—Dr. Kane’s Proposal of Marriage.—His Acceptance.—Good Advice and Promises of Devotion.—Drives about Philadelphia.—Visit to Laurel Hill Cemetery.—Introductions as ‘The Future Mrs. Kane.'—‘A Story' in Verse by Dr. Kane .................. 21

II.
Dr. Kane’s Anxiety to remove Miss Fox from her Association with Spiritualists.—
His Attention noticed.—His Indifference to Mrs. Grundy.—His Discontent.—
Plain speaking to his ‘Maggie.'—The Dream of Love.—Regard for Ri-quette ............. .................................................. 43

III.
Mrs. Fox takes her Daughters to New York.—Residence in Twenty-sixth Street.—
Dr. Kane follows them.—His Complaints of the Young Lady's Coldness.—His Loneliness without Her.—His Burdenome Duties.—He proposes a Meeting at Satler’s Cosmoramas.—Miss Fox refuses any clandestine Meeting.—Dr. Kane goes to Boston.—Letters written while Miss Fox was in New York.—Dr. Kane buying a Bonnet ................................................... 51

IV.
Visit of Mrs. Fox and her Daughters to Washington.—Telegraphic Despatches and Letters from Dr. Kane.—Mayor Seaver’s Dinner at the Severe House, Boston.—Dr. Kane’s Lecture in Boston.—Dr. Kane admires his Lady Love, but complains of her not writing, and her Want of ardent Love.—Advice as to Behavior and Dress in Washington.—The Lace.—The Lover merged in the Friend.—Dr. Kane’s Illness from hard Work.—His Longing for ‘Maggie.'—
Her ‘Milk and Water Love.'—Dr. Kane cries ‘her whole Heart.'—Telegraphic Despatches during Illness.—Miss Fox lost in Washington. .......... 59

V.
Dr. Kane's Letter to Miss Kate Fox.—‘The Spiritue in Boston.—Warnings against a Life of Deception.—A Sad Instance of Credulity.—Cruelty in the 'Medium,' —Dr. Kane thinks ‘Maggie' esteem him too lightly.—Dr. Kane’s Letter of Retrospection.—His own Destinies.—The “Little Princess.”—His failing in Love deplored.—Is she worthy so much Affection?—Appeal to ‘Maggie' to decide if she really cares for him.—She is like Surrey’s Geraldine. .......... 70
CONTENTS.

VI. Dr. Kane comes to Washington.—Etiquette observed.—"The Preacher" at Fault.—The Polygamy overheard in the Wardrobe.—Washing off the Couch Syrup.—Drives about Washington.—Influences and Telegraphic Despatches.—Dr. Kane's Letters from Philadelphia.—He claims "Maggie" as her Master.—Leading her to better Ways.—Return of Mrs. Fox and her Daughters to Philadelphia.—Dr. Kane's Inquiries after Schools.—"Maggie" must give up her present Associations and settle down to School Life.—The Lovers' Compact.—An Immediate Union Impossible. .............................................. 80

VII. Return of Mrs. and Miss Fox to New York.—Dr. Kane's Letters from Washington.—His Visit to their Hotel.—His Remembrances and Cautions.—The Prospect of a Home for Miss Fox during his Absence.—Dr. Kane's Misgivings.—He must give up his Love unless she abjures the Spirit.—Gloomy Forebodings.—Purity of Dr. Kane's Affection.—His Indignation at an unworthy Suspicion.—Miss Fox too sparing of her Letters.—Dr. Kane's Reproaches.—Proposal of a Visit to the Home selected.—"You are my Child now," ............................................. 91

VIII. Dr. Kane's Presentiments.—Return from Washington.—He craves Love.—Letter sent by Mr. Grinnell.—Dr. Kane's Fears lest the Rappings should be found out.—He would not know the Secret for Ten Thousand Dollars.—Letters in New York.—Dr. Kane's Despond at Spiritual Circles.—He does not wish to be thought a Fool. ................................................................. 103

IX. Dr. Kane's Illness at Mr. Grinnell's, in New York.—Notes to Miss Fox.—Orients her Presence.—Gifts to bind himself in Writing to her, and urges her to do the same.—His Sufferings and Patience.—Miss Fox replies that he need not blind himself.—His Notes.—Entreat your Affection.—He urges a Visit in her Own Person.—His Reproofs for her Refusal.—Complicity of Love.—He cannot be angry with her.—Miss Fox's Visit to Dr. Kane at Mr. Grinnell's House. ................................................................. 108

X. Convalescence of Dr. Kane.—The Wife of President Pierce and Miss Fox.—Notes from Dr. Kane to Miss Fox.—Visit to the Theatre with Kate and Mr. G.—Dr. Kane's nocturnal Reflections.—Advice and Warnings.—His Indignation at Mrs. *—He promises Miss Fox her Freedom in a Week.—Entreats her Promise never to permit Rappings in her Presence again ................................. 117

XI. Dr. Kane's Consultations with Mrs. Fox about sending Margaret to School.—Journey projected to New Haven.—Letters from Dr. Kane to Miss Fox preparatory.—Mrs. Fox accompanies them to New Haven.—The Sickness of a Relative.—The Visit to New Haven not satisfactory.—Preparations going on for the Arctic Expedition.—Dr. Kane's Visit after the Discharge of Miss Fox's Relative.—His solemn Yaw in Presence of the Corpse.—Moralizing Letter.—Warnings and Entreaty for a Promise of a complete Separation from Spiritualism.—solenm Promise of Miss Fox.—Dr. Kane's cheering Anticipations of Her Future Life.—Refers to their expected Happiness in the Wedding Visit to Italy on his Return................................................................. 119
CONTENTS. V

XII.
Mrs. Fox and her Family go to Rochester.—Letters from Dr. Kane.—His Preaching.—Reference to the Word made in the Presence of Death.—Dr. Kane presses for Mrs. Fox’s Answer about the School near Philadelphia.—The Matter settled.—Crocksville to be the Home of Miss Fox, near Dr. Kane’s Aunt.—Letters hinting her Preparations.—June d’ESTRUCTIONS.— ‘The Preacher’ and ‘Magpie.’—The Compact in Force.—Miss Fox’s Portrait.—Dr. Kane’s Superstition.— 135

XIII.
Dr. Kane escorts Mrs. and Miss Fox to Philadelphia.—The Parting.—The young Girl’s Love and Sorrow.—Extract from her Journal.—Letter from Dr. Kane in New York on the Eve of his Departure.—His Reference to their Marriages on his Return.—The Farewell.—Mrs. Fox’s Return from Philadelphia.—Her Account of Margaret’s Grief.—Dr. Kane resolves to pay her one more Visit.—His Return from Crocksville and Recovery of her Bird.— 147

XIV.
Sailing of Dr. Kane, May 30th, 1833.—Letters from Mr. Grinnell to Miss Fox.—Letter from Dr. Kane, written at Sea.—Another written at Sea.—More good Advice about School Matters and Studies.—Mr. Grinnell’s Account of Dr. Kane.—His Advice about the School.—Mrs. Leiper’s Interest in the Young Lady.—Her Sorrow affects her Health.—Visit to New York.—Letters from Mrs. Turner.—Mrs. W.—A Letter.—Mrs. Turner’s Reply.—Letters to Miss Fox at School.—Mr. Grinnell forwards a Letter from Greenland.— 154

XV.
Dr. Kane’s Letter from Greenland to Miss Fox.—Mr. Grinnell’s further Account of him.—Suspense.—Miss Gray’s Letters.—Mrs. Turner’s.—Mr. Grinnell’s.—Knowledge of the Engagement between Miss Fox and Dr. Kane.—Letter from Mrs. Bayard.—Mrs. Turner congratulates Miss Fox on Dr. Kane’s Arrival.— 175

XVI.
The Letters quoted show the Knowledge of her Betrothal among the Friends of Miss Fox.—Newspaper Articles.—The Family Pride mortified.—Miss Fox in New York when Dr. Kane arrives.—She swears his Visit.—He does not come.—Her Chagrin and Grief.—The Visit late at Night.—Not Dr. Kane, but Mr. Grinnell.—Dr. Kane’s Visit next Morning.—Miss Fox refuses to see him.—Convents with Reluctance.—Trouble in his Family, and Opposition to his Engagement.—He loves her, but must defer their Marriage.—She assents and writes the Statement he requires.—Pursuits his Visits as a Brother.—Mrs. Leiper’s Indignation at Dr. Kane’s Conduct.—Visit of an Editor.—The Friends of Miss Fox interfere.—Dr. Kane entreats Miss Fox to stand firm.—His Notes.—Promises to be true to her.— 190

XVII.
Letter from Dr. Kane entreating Miss Fox to have no Association with Spiritualists.—More of the ‘Preacher’s’ Morality.—A Fairy Story.—Miss Fox writes to her “Brother.”—Dr. Kane’s Reply.—Mrs. Fox renounces, and requests him to consider binding her Daughter.—He cannot comply.—Meeting of All his Friends.—Dr. Kane’s Anguish and Dread of Separation.—He is forbidden to see or write to Miss Fox.—Her Farewell Letter.—Dr. Kane’s Distress.—He entreats her to write to him, and promises Fidelity.— 201
CONTENTS.

XVIII.
Contingence of Dr. Kane's Visits.—He places his Fate in Miss Fox's Hands.—She refuses to marry him.—Defence of his Conduct.—He calls on Mrs. Fox, when he cannot see her Daughter.—He cannot give her up.—Newspaper Reports.—Article from the N. Y. Tribune.—The Times and the Lady author of its Statement.—Dr. Kane's Notes and Letters to Miss Fox.—Her reproving Letter.—The Cloud Lifted.—Dr. Kane's Health impaired by the Struggle of Feeling.—Mrs. Fox returns his Letter to her Daughter, and forbids him to write to her again.—He writes Miss Fox a Farewell.—A formal Note, with his Portrait... 214

XIX.
Dr. Kane's Renewal of his Engagement with Miss Fox.—Injunctions of Secrecy.—Shower of Notes.—Visits every Day.—Dr. Kane's Hours of Fun and drifft Imitations.—Practical Joke on a Spiritualist.—The Parlor Sanctuary.—Dr. Kane's Recollections of former Times in Self-Defence.—Refers to his oft repeated Promise of Marriage. ................................. 229

XX.
Dr. Kane's Letter to Mrs. Fox in reply to a Reproof from her.—Brotherly Letter.—"The Royal Family."—Dr. Kane asks Pardon for a Fault.—His Abhorrence of Spiritualism.—He shields his Lady-Love from the sight of any "Manifestation."—His Jealous Care in Guarding her. ................................. 240

XXI
Miss Fox's Letter.—Brief Missives written in the Midst of Dr. Kane's Labors.—The Wonderful Event.—Departure of Mrs. and Miss Fox for Canada.—Letter of Miss Fox to Dr. Kane.—Dr. Kane's Letter written in "Maggie" s deserted Parlor in New York.—The Lover and the Poohie.—Letters of Miss Fox from Canada.—Dr. Kane keeps the Key of her Box containing his Letters.—He tells her she "has a Fortune in them." ................................. 259

XXII.
Return of Mrs. and Miss Fox to New York.—Dr. Kane has watched for them, and welcomes them.—The Diamond Bracelet.—The Billlet plunked up in Miss Fox's Parlor.—Notes and Verses.—Dr. Kane an Indifferent Poet.—The Surprise.—The Ambrotype.—Despondency of Dr. Kane in View of Separation.—The Solemn though Secret Marriage of Dr. Kane to Miss Fox.—He promises that the Marriage shall be made public in May.—His Note to his Wife. ................................. 263

XXIII.
Dr. Kane's sad Forebodings.—He does not now doubt his Wife's Love.—The Envelope with a private Muck.—Making his Will.—A Legacy left to Mrs. Kane.—"A Secret Trust."—"The Adieux.—The Final Parting.—Distress of Both."—Shall I go, or stay?—Dr. Kane's Notes from England and at sea.—His last Letter.—Mrs. Kane's Letters to Havana.—Death of Dr. Kane.—Extract from Mrs. Kane's Journal.—Hick's Painting of Dr. Kane described.—Mrs. Kane's Appeal for her Husband's lost Message to her.—Her abiding Grief.—Her Imbison into the Roman Catholic Church.—Baptism.—Letters of Condemne from Governor Talma... ................................. 278