WHAT'S YOUR PERSONALITY?

LESSON OBJECTIVE

talk about people's personalities

- 1 LANGUAGE IN CONTEXT
- A PAIR WORK Do you meet new people often? Where do you meet them? Who have you met lately?
- B Read the article. How does Kenneth say you can learn about someone?

What kind of person are you?

The answer is in your questions.

How do you get to know someone new? You can ask a lot of questions: What's your name? Whose class are you in? Which neighborhood do you live in? Where did you go to school? What kind of work do you do? But the answers don't tell you about someone's personality. I think it's best to listen to the questions that people ask you.

A sociable person, for example, will ask you a lot of questions. Quiet people don't ask you much. The same is true about selfish people – they show little interest in other people. Or imagine you're telling someone about a problem you have. A generous person might ask, "How can I help?" But if you ask someone for help first, and they agree, are you sure they're really helpful? Or are they just afraid to say "no"?

So, the next time you meet someone, ask less, and listen more. The questions people ask show more about their personalities than their answers do.

a farm family members his car his college movies sports

To: Elin Hansen <elin953Hansen@blinknet.com>
From: Andrew Bennett <and.bennett@mymail.org>
Subject: Your American cousin

Hi Elin,

I'm writing because I want to get in touch with the Norwegian side of the family. My Aunt Joan got your email address from your mom. Aunt Joan says you're one of my cousins, and you're about my age – 23. I just finished my degree in economics at North Dakota State University in Fargo. Fargo is the biggest city in North Dakota, and I live there with my parents.

I'd like to know about you and what you're interested in. Are you a student, or do you work? What kind of music do you like? Aunt Joan says you live in Oslo. Can you tell me what it's like? And is it true that everyone in Norway is really into winter sports? Sorry for all the questions, but this is an unusual situation – we're strangers, but we're also family.

Our side of the family moved to North Dakota from Norway a long time ago. They had a farm in the Red River Valley in North Dakota, and the old house is still there (see attached photo).

Hope to hear from you soon.

- ³ Oslo is the capital of Norway and is its biggest city. It's a nice place to live because people are friendly and sociable. It's full of great museums and restaurants, and people walk and ride bikes a lot around the city. I don't know if everyone in Norway is into winter sports, but it's true that a lot of us enjoy snowboarding, hockey, and skiing (see attached photo of me).
- ⁴ I'd love to hear about Fargo. I wonder what people do for fun there. Can you tell me more about your family? Do you have any brothers or sisters? What do you do in your free time?
- Also, do you know who lives in the old house in the Red River Valley now?
