Advances in Economics and Econometrics

Eleventh World Congress, Volume II

This is the second of two volumes containing papers and commentaries presented at the Eleventh World Congress of the Econometric Society, held in Montréal, Canada in August 2015. These papers provide state-of-the-art guides to the most important recent research in economics today. They include surveys and interpretations of key developments in economics and econometrics, and discussion of future directions for a wide variety of topics, covering both theory and application. The second volume addresses topics such as big data, macroeconomics, financial markets, and partially identified models.

Bo Honoré is Class of 1913 Professor of Political Economy and Professor of Economics at Princeton University. He is Director of the Gregory C. Chow Econometric Research Program at Princeton University, and was formerly a member of the Board of Trustees of the Danish National Research Foundation. Honoré is a Fellow of the Econometric Society and conducts research in econometrics.

Ariel Pakes is the Thomas Professor of Economics at Harvard University. His research has been in industrial organization, the economics of technological change, and in econometric theory. He is a Fellow of the Econometric Society, and received the Frisch Medal of the Econometric Society in 1986. He has been elected to the National Academy of Sciences and the American Academy of Arts and Sciences, was the distinguished Fellow of the Industrial Organization Society in 2007, and was the winner of the Jean Jaques Laffont Prize in 2017.

Monika Piazzesi is the Joan Kenney Professor of Economics at Stanford University, and she is also the Program Director of the NBER Asset Pricing Group. She conducts research in finance and macroeconomics. Piazzesi is a Fellow of the Academy of Arts and Sciences, the Econometric Society, and the Society of Financial Econometrics.

Larry Samuelson is the A. Douglas Melamed Professor of Economics at Yale University and is Director of the Cowles Foundation at Yale University. His research is in economic theory, with an emphasis on game theory. He has served as a co-editor of Econometrica and the American Economic Review.
