

Contents

List of Figures	page vi
Acknowledgments	ix
Introduction: Streets of Desire and Discontent	1
1 Paper Revolutions: Urban Advertising in the Aftermath of the First World War	18
2 Commerce Turned Inside Out: Street Hawkers, Shopkeepers, and the Moral Geography of Consumption during the Inflation	60
3 Crowd Control: Traffic, Spectacle, and Demonstrations during the “Golden Twenties”	107
4 Fortress Shops and Militarized Streets: Looting in Depression-Era Berlin	151
5 When Rogues Become Regulators: “Coordination” of the Streets under the Nazi Regime	199
6 Visions of a Nazi World City: Urban “Revitalization” from the Christmas Market to Kristallnacht	243
7 Epilogue: Eradicating Berlin: Urban Destruction from Germania to the Second World War	291
Select Bibliography	307
Index	321