

Index

- agency, 39, 59
 Churchill's belief in, 179, 184, 200, 208, 216
 in romanticism, 51–52
 Reagan's belief in, 246, 257, 264–265, 289, 297, 302
- appeasement, 37, 164, 176–177, 182, 189–197, 201, 203, 207, 220, 230, 273 rational argument for, 191, 230
 appeasement, 10
 Austro-Prussian War, 129–138
- belief assimilation, 18, 32, 236 belief perseverance, 4, 18, 67, 307
- Bismarck
 adaptation to structural circumstances, 100–101, 114, 139 alliance with national liberals, 112–114, 139, 145 consequentialism of, 111, 113, 117, 143 differences with fellow conservatives, 112, 114, 117, 127, 130, 139, 143
 Differences with fellow conservatives, 103–107
 emotional regulation, 118
 long-term thinking, 103, 133–135
 Prussian loyalties, 96–98, 106, 109
 rational thinking style, 98–112
 recognition of uncertainty, 102 security dilemma sensibility of, 133–135 strategic restraint of, 101, 131–132, 138, 142
 unique rationality of, 128
 as uniquely rational, 101, 114, 120, 137
- bounded rationality, 32–34
- Chamberlain, Neville, 10–11, 176–177, 183, 189–196, 198–200, 202, 204–205, 207–210, 212, 223, 225–229, 234–237, 239, 242, 244, 310, 316, 321, 323–324
 and fall of France, 234
- departures from procedural rationality, 196
 rational thinking style, 189–195, 211, 221
- Churchill, Winston and civilization, 180, 196–197
 belief in agency, 179, 184, 200, 208, 216
 Dardanelles operation, 188–189
 and fall of France, 235
 importance of will and resolve, 189, 199–200, 202, 223, 237, 239, 241
 importance of will and resolve, 182 isolation of, 186, 204–206 lack of rationality, 182–184, 188–189, 198–204, 219, 221 romantic approach to rearmament, 198–202
 romanticism of, 178–182, 188, 216, 222, 241 view of history, 188 views of imperialism and British Empire, 179–181 views of Nazis, 196–197 views on Indian independence, 202–204 views on United States, 242
- cognitive complexity, 21, 64, 133, 151, 220
- Congress of Princes, 124–125
- consequentialism, 41, 65, 111, 113, 117, 143
 of Bismarck, 111
 in mutually assured destruction doctrine, 262 of Richelieu, 157
 of Shultz, 276
- Day of the Dupes, 167–170
- deliberation, 1, 19–20, See also procedural rationality
- deontology, 31, 59
 in romanticism, 59–60
 in romanticism, 53
 in thinking of German conservatives, 107, 109

332 Index

- deontology (cont.)
 in thinking of King Wilhelm I, 132 of les devots, 151, 162, 172–173
 of Ronald Reagan, 263
 of Winston Churchill, 186, 201, 236–237
- emotion, 30–32
 in romanticism, 56–58
- epistemic motivation, 1, 22, See also procedural rationality, deliberation, and objectivity
 vs. intelligence, 24
- Geneva summit, 288–291
- Gorbachev, Mikhail, 37, 246, 261, 264, 271, 282, 284–286, 288–291, 293–296, 298, 301, 310, 315, 322, 329
- Grace of Alais, 10, 148, 166
- Halifax, Viscount, 10–11, 199, 208–209, 227–230, 232–238, 241, 243–244, 310–311, 313, 326
 and fall of France, 233–234, 236
 on Indian independence, 203
 rational thinking style, 232–234, 236
- heuristics and biases, 4–5, 7, 11, 14–21, 23, 28–29, 32–33, 35, 63, 93, 156, 203, 247, 252, 260, 307
 neglect of individual variation, 22
- Huguenots, 150–151
 war against, 163–167
- implemental mindset, 69, 218, 239
- instrumental rationality, 2, 13, 15, 26–27,
See also procedural rationality in realism, 41
- Intermediate Nuclear Forces, 296
- Intermediate Nuclear Forces (INF), 278–281
- intuition, 29–30
- les bons Français*, 160
- les devots*, 151–152
- les dévots, 10, 148, 151
- long-term thinking, 65
- Long-term thinking
 of Bismarck, 103, 134
 of Richelieu, 155
 of Shultz, 275
- Louis XIII, King, 148–149, 151–152, 157–161, 164, 167–169, 172–173, 328
 thinking style, 157–158
- Marie de Medici, 152, 154, 161, 163, 168–169
- Marillac, Michel de, 160, 162, 168–169
- Matlock, Jack, 246, 260–261, 267–269, 272–276, 281, 285, 287–288, 295, 297–300, 302, 310
- McFarlane, Robert, 250, 260, 264, 285–287, 290, 295, 302
- need for closure, 22–25, See also epistemic motivation
- need for cognition, 5, 22–23, 25, 28, 83, 85, 87–88, 303, 314, See also epistemic
 motivation
- Northern German Federation, 138–142
- objectivity, 1, 17–19, See also procedural rationality
- procedural rationality, 2, 5–6, 15–17, 21, 23, 25–26, 31, 61, 63, 70, 75, 78, 88,
 93, 98, 100, 107, 146, 155, 157, 194, 196, 212, 238, 240, 304, 308 acceptance of uncertainty, 18 individual variation in, 1, 4–5, 21–26, 74–75
 as matter of degree, 25, 68, 146, 195–196
 as necessary for instrumental rationality, 1, 5, 15, 24, 75
- rational choice theory, 13, 15 irrationality of, 8, 303–309
- rationality. See also procedural rationality,
 instrumental rationality
 advantages and disadvantages of, 3, 34, 37, 256, 300–302
 as normative standard, 2, 14, 34
- Reagan, Ronald
 belief in agency, 11, 246, 248–250, 257, 264–265, 289, 297, 302
 belief in personal engagement, 264–269, 281
 differences with fellow conservatives, 264–269, 278, 296–300 hatred of nuclear weapons, 261–265, 280 importance of will and resolve, 250–251, 256–261
 non-rational thinking style, 93–119, 248–250, 266–268, 291
 rejection of mutually assured destruction, 261–265, 285–288
 romanticism of, 248–251, 256–261
 and Strategic Defense Initiative, 261–265 views of Soviet Union, 256–261, 282
- realism, 40–49, See also Bismarck,
 Chamberlain, Shultz, Halifax,
 Richelieu
 and procedural rationality, 44

- as prescription, 2, 6, 44
- and rationality, 6, 41
- rarity of, 2, 6, 45, 48, 72, 95, 101, 120, 146, 175
- strategic restraint of, 7
- strategic restraint of, 46–48
- Realpolitik, See realism
- Reykjavik summit, 293–296
- Richelieu
 - adaptation to structural circumstances, 155, 167
 - alliance with Protestants, 171
 - dedication to French interests, 149, 160
 - differences with les devots, 160–163, 167–170
 - emotional regulation, 154
 - long-term thinking, 155
 - rational thinking style, 152–157
 - recognition of uncertainty, 156
 - religiosity of, 163, 174
 - strategic restraint of, 156, 165
 - unique rationality of, 170, 174
- risk, 68–69
- romanticism, 3, 7, 49–56
 - emotional quality of, 56–58
 - importance of will and resolve, 55
 - vs. realism, 7, 58–61
 - of Ronald Reagan, 248–251
- Romanticism
 - of Winston Churchill, 178–182
- Schleswig-Holstein crisis, 125–129
- security dilemma sensibility, 47, 67, 133, 230, 276, 281, 283
 - of Bismarck, 134
 - of Halifax, 230
 - of Reagan, 281
 - of Reagan, 281
 - of Shultz, 276
- Shultz, George
 - pragmatic position of, 274–278, 288, 292
 - rationalist thinking style, 274–278
- Strategic Defense Initiative, 261–265, 274, 276, 279, 286
 - Reagan wants to share, 287–288, 290
 - trading for ICBM reduction, 285–289
- System I and System II processing, 7, 28–32, See also procedural rationality, epistemic motivation, intuition
- updating, 2, 18, 21, 67–68, 236, 282, 284, 307
- Valtelline crisis, 158–163
- Weinberger, Caspar, 251, 253, 267, 272–274, 276, 280–281, 287, 289–293, 298, 300, 311
- Wilhelm I, King (Emperor)
 - and Congress of Princes, 124–125
 - early resistance to war with Austria, 129
 - non-rational approach to
 - Austro-Prussian war, 135–136
 - opposition to Prussian indemnity bill, 144
 - resistance to annexation of
 - Schleswig-Holstein, 128
- will and resolve
 - importance to Churchill, 182, 189, 199–200, 202, 223, 237, 239, 241
 - importance to Reagan, 250–251
 - in romanticism, 55
- Zero Ballistic Missile proposal, 293, 298–300
- zero option, 278–281, 296, See also Intermediate Nuclear Forces