

Contents

List of Figures	page ix
Acknowledgments	x
A Note on the Text	xiv
List of Abbreviations	xv
Introduction	I
The History of Mens Rea	3
Methodology	11
The Trial Jury and Its Predecessors: Anglo-Saxon and Angevin Antecedents	20
A Brief Chapter Summary	24
The Essentials of Medieval English Felony Procedure	25
PART I FELONIA FELONICE FACTA: FELONY AND INTENTIONALITY	31
1 The Meaning of Felony	33
Felonia Felonice Facta and the Question of Non-Felonious Felonies	33
The Etymology of Felony	37
2 Felony in the Archives	49
Words of Felony in Law and Literature	49
Accomplice Liability and the Nexus between Actus Reus and Mens Rea	79
A Felonious State of Mind	82
Conclusion to Part I	89
PART II DE DEUYLYS DOGHTYR OF HELLĒ FYRE: FELONY AND EMOTION	91
3 The Language of Anger	93
An Elite Emotional Episode: The Warenne-Zouche Incident	93
The History of Law and Emotion	95
	vii

	The Language of Anger	99
	Anger and the Common Law: An Overview	107
	Passion in the Plea Rolls	111
	Melancholic Felony in Gower's Tale of Canace and Machaire	120
4	Cultural Understandings of Anger	123
	Anger and the Judgment Day	125
	Positive Manifestations of the Passion	127
	Anger in the Confessional	129
	Slight, Affront, and Provocations	148
	Anger, Provocation, and the Medieval English Jury	150
	Conclusion to Part II	156
	PART III HANDLYNG SYNNE: GUILT AND INNOCENCE	163
5	Confession and Circumstantial Inquiry	165
	Confessions of a Horse Thief	165
	A Confessing Society	171
	Inquiry into the Circumstances	173
	The Role of Confession in Felony Adjudication	182
6	Guilt Assessment	199
	Handlyng Synne and Crime	199
	Sins of Thought, Speech, Deed	201
	Rankings of Sins and Crimes	217
	Conclusion to Part III	239
	PART IV DIES IRÆ: JUDGE AND JURY	243
7	Tales of Judging	245
	The Perils and Prosaic Nature of Felony Judging	245
	Pontius Pilate and Deference to Jury Verdicts	258
	The Misjudging of Christ and Its Resonance	262
8	The Mind and Comportment of Judge and Jury	270
	Erkenwald and the Pagan Judge	270
	Harsh Justice Tempered by Mercy	274
	The Proper Comportment of Those Who Judge	281
	Judicial States of Mind	283
	Conclusion to Part IV	301
	Conclusion	303
	Looking Back	303
	Looking Forward	305
	Legal Literacy and the Medieval English Jury	308
	Bibliography	312
	Index	332