

Index

- accountability, culture of, democratic education and, 6
- Adorno, Theodor, 114
- affective atmospheres
  - challenging right-wing populism and, 135–138
  - defined, 124–125
  - in democratic education, 13, 129–135
  - relevance of, 124–129
  - staging of, in democratic education, 132–135
- affective contagion, far-right rhetoric and, 113
- affective counterpolitics
  - in democratic education, 49–53
  - pedagogical space for, 4–5
  - risks of, 52–53
- affective economies, 23
- affective ideology
  - far-right rhetoric and, 110–114
  - political appeal and, 26–27
  - of Trump pedagogy, 45–48
  - Trump pedagogy and, 46–48
  - Trump's politics of shame and, 24–28
- affective-political contingency, anti-complicity pedagogy and, 205–206
- affective style, Trump's establishment of, 42–43
- affect theory
  - agonistic pluralism and, 13
  - citizenship and, 82–83
  - complicity and, 192–194, 200–203
  - dead bodies of children and, 186
  - defined, 22
  - evolution of, 124–129
  - far-right rhetoric and, 109–110, 112–114
  - fascism and, 71–73
  - governmentality and, 61–63
  - Laclau's discussion of populism and, 41
  - microfascism and, 74–80
  - as political and pedagogic practice, 22–24
  - post-truth and, 54–61
  - right-wing populism linked to, 2–7, 41–45
  - sentimentality and, 182
  - shame and, 10–11
  - social, political and embodied aspects of, 7–10
  - truthiness and, 56–61
  - truth regimes and, 66
  - white shame and, 19–22
- affirmative critique
  - critical theory's focus on, 95–97
  - defined, 91–94
  - development of, 11
  - discourse on, 94–97
  - pedagogical formulation of, 93–94, 103–107
  - pedagogues for, 12–13
  - philosophical discourse on, 92–93
  - response-able pedagogy and, 103–105
  - of right-wing populism, 51–52
  - unmaking microfascist subjectivity with, 84–88
- Afxentiou, A., 197–200
- Against Purity: Living Ethically in Compromised Times* (Shortwell), 212–213
- agency, microfascism and, 80
- agonism, far-right rhetoric and, 113–114
- agonistic democratic education, 5–6
- agonistic emotion, 13
  - affects in pedagogy and, 118–122
  - far-right rhetoric and, 109–110
- agonistic pluralism
  - collective identification and, 114–118
  - democracy and, 116–117
- Ahmed, S.
  - affect theory and, 7–10, 23
  - on angry populism, 42–43
  - on atmospheres, 128, 130–132
  - economies of shame and, 25–26
- alternative belongings
  - affective counterpolitics and, 52–53
  - atmospheres and, 137–138
- ambivalence of shame, 31–35
- Amin, A., 137
- Anderson, B.
  - affective counterpolitics and, 49–53

Index

241

- on angry populism, 42–43
- on atmospheric walls, 124–129
- complicity and, 200–203
- Andreotti, V., 196
- anger, right-wing populism and, 1–2
- angry populism, mechanisms of, 42–43
- anti-complicity pedagogy
  - democratic education and, 15
  - development of, 203–207
  - emergence of, 192–194
- anti-immigrant ideology
  - dead bodies of migrants and, 184–187
  - far-right rhetoric and, 110–114
- anti-racism
  - politics of shame and, 19–22
  - redemption and, 28
  - reparative pedagogy and, 32–33
  - shame and, 30–31
  - white guilt and, 162
- apartheid
  - complicity and, 192
  - necropower and, 179–180
- Appelbaum, B., 171–172, 192, 194–197, 206
- Arendt, Hannah
  - on collective guilt, 163–164
  - on collective responsibility, 166–169
  - critique of emotion by, 143–147
  - on education, 14, 150–153
  - pedagogy and influence of, 153–156
  - on political consequences of compassion and pity, 147–150
  - political philosophy of, 142–143
  - on shared responsibility, 14–15, 169–170
- Ashenden, S., 163, 165–166
- atmospheres, philosophical concept of, 124–129
- staging in democratic education of, 132–135
- atmospheric intervention, challenging right-wing populism and, 135–138
- attunement, affective ideology and, 46–48
- The Authoritarian Personality* (Adorno), 114
- authority, Arendt on role of, 151–152

- backfire effect, post-truth pedagogy and, 67–69
- Badiou, A., 92–93
- Barad, K., 103–105
- Barnwell, A., 95–97
- Bar-On, T., 111
- Beausoleil, E., 210–211
- Beckermann, K., 92–93
- belonging
  - alternative belongings, 52–53
  - citizenship education and, 82–83
  - collective guilt and responsibility and, 168–169
- Benin, D., 24–28

- Berlant, L., 22–23, 50, 182–184, 189–190
- Bernstein, B., 46
- Bhanji, N., 180
- Biesta, G., 174
- Bille, M., 124–133, 138
- biopolitics
  - microfascism and, 79
  - necropolitics and, 177
  - sentimentality and, 182–184
- biopower
  - in educational institutions, 86–87
  - microfascism and, 77–80
  - necropolitics and, 178–181
  - sentimentality and, 181–184
- Bjerg, H., 62
- Black Lives Matter, 15
- blame, complicity and, 198–199
- bodies
  - affect-affected duality in, 78
  - affect and role of, 8–10
  - atmospheres and, 129–130
  - complicity and, 200–203
  - dead bodies in classrooms, ethical, political and pedagogical dilemmas and, 184–187
  - health education and cult of, 80–82
  - in necropolitics, 179–180
  - sentimentality and, 182
- Böhme, Gernot, 127
- Boland, G., 101
- Boler, M., 55
- Bowell, T., 64
- Braidotti, Rosi, 92–93
- Brexit discourse, far-rhetoric concerning, 111n.8
- British First movement, 111n.9
- Brown, W., 129–130
- Buser, M., 132–135
- Butler, Judith
  - analysis of critique by, 12–13, 92–94
  - on Covid-19, 209–214
  - on Foucault's critique theory, 100–103
- Button, M., 29

- Carniel, J., 186
- Cartwright, L., 24–28
- character education, risks of, 170–172
- children
  - Arendt education for, 14, 150–153
  - dead bodies of, 184–187
  - necropolitics and, 184
- Christian theology, guilt in, 163–166
- citizenship
  - microfascism in education about, 82–83
  - political emotion and education in, 156
- Clark, J. N., 164–165
- Clarke, M., 141

- class politics
  - atmospheres and, 131–132
  - politics of shame and, 19–22
- classroom atmosphere, democratic education and, 130–132
- Clough, P., 7–10
- Colbert, Stephen, 54–56
- collective affect
  - agonistic pluralism and, 114–118
  - creation of, 64–65
- collective guilt
  - democratic education and, 14–15, 158–159
  - shared responsibility and, 170–172
  - understanding of, 163–166
- collective identification
  - Mouffe on passion and, 115–116
  - promotion of, 117–118
- collective responsibility, Arendt & Young on, 166–169
- colonialism. See settler colonialism
- common space, political emotion and, 155–156
- community of responsibility, collective guilt and, 164–165
- compassion, political consequences of, 147–150
- complicity
  - affect theory and, 192–194
  - as embodied and affective practice, 200–203
  - necropolitics and, 188
  - non-representational theory and, 200–203
  - as political concept and act, 197–200
  - scholarship on, 192
- Conovan, M., 151–152
- context
  - political emotion and, 154–155
  - shared responsibility and, 172
- countering violent extremism (CVE) pedagogy, 111–112
- counterpolitical response and resource, Trump politics and, 49–50
- Covid-19 pandemic, democratic education and impact of, 209–214
- The Crisis in Education* (Arendt), 150–153
- critical theory
  - affect and, 7–10
  - anti-complicity pedagogy and, 203–207
  - counterpolitical response and resource and, 49–50
  - critique and, 99–100
  - dead bodies of children and, 186
  - Latour's discussion of, 94–97
  - pedagogies of shame and, 33–34
  - post-critical pedagogy and, 103–105
  - post-truth and, 55
  - shared responsibility and, 173
- critical thinking pedagogy, post-truth politics and, 64
- "Critique, Dissent, Disciplinary" (Butler), 92–93, 101
- critique theory
  - Butler's analysis of Foucault's work on, 100–103
  - Foucault on, 12–13, 92–94, 97–100
  - Latour's discussion of, 91–92
  - negative and affirmative critique, 94–97
  - philosophical discourse on, 92–93
  - virtue and, 100–103
- cruel optimism, right-wing populism and, 50
- culpability, degrees of
  - anti-complicity pedagogy and, 192–194
  - complicity and, 198–199
  - guilt pedagogy and, 170–172
- Cummings, A., 133
- current affirmative turn, 95–97
- Cvetkovich, A., 7–10, 23–24
- Davies, L., 111–112, 120–121
- Davis, E., 55
- death
  - dead bodies in classrooms, dilemma of, 184–187
  - democratic education and, 15
  - necropower and, 179–180
  - pedagogic practice and visibility of, 187–191
- decolonial pedagogy, shared responsibility and, 173
- defensive response, to guilt, 160–163
- Degerman, D., 142–147, 149
- Deleuze, Gilles
  - on affect and biopower, 77–80
  - on body and affect, 201
  - on desire and fascism, 74–76, 80–82
  - on limits of moral terminology, 116–117
  - on microfascism, 12, 71–77
  - on micropolitics, 49
  - on resistance to microfascism, 86
- democracy
  - agonistic pluralism and, 116–117
  - Arendt on emotions and, 148–149
  - atmospheres and values of, 130–132
  - Mouffe's theory on, 114–115
  - populism and future of, 1–7
  - reparative pedagogy and, 32–33
- democratic education
  - affective atmospheres and, 13, 129–132
  - affective counterpolitics pedagogy in, 49–53
  - agonistic emotion and, 120–121
  - anti-complicity pedagogy and, 15
  - Arendt on, 150–156
  - biopower and affect in, 80

- collective guilt and, 14–15
- complicity pedagogy and, 196–197
- death and, 15
- guilt in, 158–160
- microfascism and, 73
- political emotions and, 14
- politicization of, 52–53
- as response to Trump pedagogy, 48
- rise of right-wing populism and, 2–7, 11, 124–126
- risks of, 52–53
- spatialities of, 125
- staging of atmospheres in, 132–135
- Trump Pedagogy and, 37–38
- denial
  - complicity pedagogy and, 194–197
  - as response to guilt, 160–163
- desire
  - educators' microfascism and, 85–86
  - microfascism and, 74–76
- desubjectivation, response-able pedagogy and, 106–107
- Dewey, John, 210–211
- DiAngelo, R., 24
- Dickinson, G., 24
- disenfranchisement, shame and, 30
- disobedience, critique as, 102
- distancing strategies, complicity pedagogy and, 196–197
- economies of shame, 25–26
- educational interventions, in far-right rhetoric, 112–114
- educational theory, agonistic pluralism and, 114–115
- education and educational institutions
  - Arendt on, 142–143, 150–153
  - atmospheres in, 130
  - far-right rhetoric and, 110–114
  - microfascism in, 76–77, 80–84
  - post-truth and, 11–12
  - post-truth politics in, 63–66
  - rise of populism and, 2–7
  - unmaking of microfascist subjectivities in, 84–88
- Eichmann, trial of, Arendt on, 142–143
- Eichmann in Jerusalem* (Arendt), 145–147, 168–169
- elites
  - populist classification of, 39
  - resentment of, 42–43
- Elliot, T. S., 213–214
- emotion. See also political emotions
  - affective atmospheres and, 125
  - affect theory and, 124–129
- agonistic emotion, 13, 118–122
- Arendt's critique of, 143–147
- citizenship education and, 82–83
- politics and, 58–59
- post-truth and, 54–58
- right-wing populism and, 1–2
- sentimentality and, 182–184
- social, political, and embodied aspects of, 7–10
- empathy
  - banality of, 184–185
  - pedagogies of shame and, 33–34
  - promotion of, 65–66
  - reciprocities in, 34
- empathy wall, Hochschild's concept of, 59–61
- engineered atmospheres, in democratic education, 132–135
- enlarged thought, Arendt's concept of, 153–156
- ethical practice
  - complicity denial and, 196
  - critique as, 100–103
  - dead bodies in classrooms, dilemma of, 184–187
- ethical responsibility, 159
- ethno-nationalism, far-right rhetoric and, 110–114
- European populism, attributes of, 39–40
- Evans, B., 73–77, 83–85
- everyday life, microfascism in, 76–77
- existence, aesthetics of, 100–103
- Exploring Complicity: Concept, Case, and Critique* (Afentxiou), 197–200
- extremism
  - CVE and PVE pedagogy, 111–112
  - moralization about, 116–117, 120–121
  - pedagogical and political intervention in, 13, 109–110
  - youth identification with, 115–116
- far right movements, global emergence of, 109–110
- far right rhetoric
  - affective dimension of, 110–114
  - ideologies of, 109–110
- fascism
  - Adorno on acceptability of, 114
  - citizenship fascism, 82–83
  - current rise of, 1
  - definition and analysis of, 71–73
  - Deleuze & Guattari on, 71–73
  - micropolitics of, 73–77
- fear, right-wing populism and, 1–2
- feminist theory, post-truth and, 55
- fetishistic commodities, bodies as, necropolitics and, 180
- Finn, M., 131

- Fitzpatrick, K., 80–82
 Fortier, A.-M., 82–83
 forward-looking model, collective responsibility, 166–169
 Foucault, Michel
   on biopolitics, 79
   on biopower, 78–79, 178–181
   Butler's analysis of, 100–103
   on critique, 12–13, 92–94, 97–100 on emotion, 57–58
   on fascism, 71–73
   on truth, 66
 Frankfurt School, 99–100
   critical theory and, 95
 Freeden, M., 38–41
 freedom, critique and, 98
 Freire, Paulo, 211–212
 French Revolution, Arendt on, 147–150 functionality, affective ideology and, 46–48
- Gebhardt, M., 22–23
 gender
   atmospheres and, 131–132
   sentimentality and, 183–184
 *Giddens, 116
 Gilbert, C., 56
 “Giving and Account of Oneself” (Butler), 101–102 globalization, rise of populism and, 1–2
 Goodin, R., 192, 212
 good in the present, response-able pedagogy and, 105–106 governing-through-affect, citizenship education and, 82–83
 governmentality
   critique and, 99
   post-truth politics and, 61–63
 Gray, B. J., 28–32
 Gregg, M., 136
 Guattari, Felix, 12
   on affect and biopower, 77–80
   on desire and fascism, 74–76, 80–82
   on microfascism, 73–77
   on micropolitics, 49
   on resistance to microfascism, 86
 Guenther, L., 24–28, 31–32 guilt collective responsibility and, 166–169
   in democratic education, 158–160
   pedagogical tensions and risk in education about, 160–163
   shared responsibility and, 169–173
   student responses to, 160–163
- Hage, G., 31–32
 Hällander, 186
 Hartman, S. V., 182–184
 Harwood, V., 106–107
 health education, microfascism and, 80–82
 Hegelian thought, critique theory and, 95
 Heins, V., 147–148
 Hitler Youth, indoctrination and, 150–153
 Hochschild, empathy wall concept of, 59–61
 Hochschild, A.
   economies of shame and, 25–26
   response-able pedagogy and work of, 105–106
 Hodgson, N., 94, 103–104, 106
 Holland, E., 74–76
 homophobia, populism and, 39–40
 hope
   complicity pedagogy and, 195–196
   in democratic education, 52–53
   Trump pedagogy and, 45–48
 hopeful criticism, affective counterpolitics pedagogy, 49–53 humanities, affirmative critique in, 95–97
- identity
   affect and, 62–63
   collective identification and, 115–116
   shame and, 25
   shared responsibility and, 170
 ignorance explanation, post-truth pedagogy and, 67–69 immigration
   dead bodies of migrants, ethical-political dilemma of, 184–187 sentimentality in pedagogy about, 176–187 individual shame, limits of, 29
 indoctrination
   Arendt on education as, 152–153
   Arendt on emotions and, 144–145
   democratic education and risk of, 142 intensity of affectivity, self-management and, 62–63
 interculturalism
   rise of populism and, 2–7
   rise of right-wing populism and, 124–126
 interest, shame and, 19–22, 25
 intimacy
   necrointimacies and, 180
   sentimentality and racialization of, 182–184
- Jaspers, Karl, 163–164
 judgment
   critique and, 101
   political emotion and, 154
 juridico-discursive thought, critique and, 97–100 justice, complicity with injustice and, 198–199

- Kant, Immanuel, 154
 Kinnval, C., 44
 Klein, Melanie, 158, 161–162
 Kølvrå, C., 109–110, 112–114
 Krasmann, S., 66
 Kurdi, Alan, 184–187
- Lacan, Jacques, 115–116
 Laclau, E., 40–41
 Latour, Bruno, 91–97
 Lebron, C. J., 210–211
 Lemke, T., 97–100
 Lepora, C., 192, 212
 Levinas, Emmanuel, 158–159, 161–162 liberal democracy
   post-truth and, 59–61
   rise of populism as threat to, 2–7, 124–126 liberal guilt, risks of, 161
 Locke, J., 24–29
 logic of difference, populism and, 40–41 logic of equivalence, populism and, 40–41
 Lorimer, H., 200–203
 Lowe, L., 180
 Lupton, D., 80–82
 lynchings, necropolitics of, 180
- Maddison, S., 163–166
 Mårdh, A., 41, 48, 138
 Marotta, S., 133
 Martin, J. L., 125
 Massumi, B., 44–45, 49, 77–80
 *Maudlin, 195–196
 Mbembe, Achille, 177–181
 McCarty, T. W., 198–199, 203–207 media literacy, post-truth politics and, 63–64
 Mejia, R., 92–93
 Michels, C., 137
 microfascism
   affect and, 12
   biopower and affect in, 77–80
   citizenship education and, 82–83
   definition of, 71–73
   health education practices and, 80–82
   reparative pedagogy and, 87–88
   unmaking subjectivities in, educational pedagogy for, 84–88
 micropolitics affective counterpolitics pedagogy and, 49–53
   citizenship education and, 82–83
   far-right rhetoric and, 113–114
   of fascism, 73–77
 Mihai, M., 118, 121–122, 197–198
 Milazzo, M., 28
 Miller-Idriss, C., 111–112
 modernity, biopolitics and, 182–184
- Mohammed, S., 86
 monopolistic representation of people, populist claim to ownership of, 39 morality
   death images and, 189
   far right ideologies in frame of, 121–122 guilt and, 161–162
   limits of, 116–117
   pedagogic practice and, 212
   populists' claim to ownership of, 39
   shared responsibility and, 169–173
   suffering and compassion and, 149–150 moral responsibility, complicity and, 194–197 moral spectatorship, death images and, 189
 Morrow, A., 8–10
 Mouffe, Chantal, 5–6, 114–118
   on agonistic pluralism, 13
 Mühlhoff, R., 41–42
 Mulcahy, D., 24
 multiculturalism far-right rhetoric as response to, 111
   rise of populism and, 2–7, 124–126
- narcissism, shame and, 30
 Nathanson, D., 25
 national identification, collective guilt and,
   164–165
 nationalist politics
   far-right rhetoric and, 110–114
   fascism and, 71–73
 National Socialism (Nazism)
   Arendt on, 142–143
   citizenship education under, 82–83
   collective guilt and, 163–168
   ‘ideal’ body stereotypes of, 81–82 nativism origins of danger and, 44–45
   populism and, 39–40
 necrointimacies, Mbembe's concept of, 180 necropolitics biopower and, 178–181
   bodies in, 179–180
   complicity in, 188
   defined, 176
   populism and, 15
   queer theory and, 180–181
 “Necropolitics” (Mbembe), 178–181
 necropower
   Mbembe's discussion of, 179–180 visibility of, 187–191
 negative critique
   discourse on, 94–97
   philosophical discourse on, 92–93
   of right-wing populism, limits of, 51–52

- negative emotions, right-wing populism and, 44–45
- Nelson, D., 145
- neoliberalism
- health education and, 80–82
  - rise of populism and, 1–2
- new prudentialism, health education and, 80–82
- Nicolazzo, Z., 64–65
- non-representational theory (NRT), complicity and, 200–203
- nostalgia, Trump pedagogy and, 45–48
- Nussbaum, Martha, 120, 149
- oppression
- historicization of, 32–33
  - legitimization of, 45–48
- origins of danger, nativist ideology and, 44–45
- Osuri, G., 188
- Ott, B., 24
- Palestinian occupation, necropower and, 179–180
- Papailias, P., 188, 190–191
- parrhesia*, Foucault's concept of, 100n.5
- passions
- Mouffe's critique of rationalist politics and, 115–116
  - taming of, 117–118
- pedagogic practice
- affective counterpolitics pedagogy, 49–53
  - affect theory and, 22–24
  - affirmative critique and, 103–107
  - agonistic emotion and, 118–122
  - anti-complicity pedagogy, 192–194, 203–207
  - complicity issues and, 194–197
  - counter-extremist pedagogy, 111–112
  - dead bodies in classrooms, dilemma of, 184–187
  - empathy and solidarity development and, 65–66
  - Freire's discussion of, 211–212
  - guilt phenomenon as risk in, 160–163
  - limits of shame and shaming in, 28–31
  - necropower visibility and, 187–191
  - political emotion and, 153–156
  - post-truth and, 55–56
  - sentimentality in, 176–187
  - shared responsibility, 169–173
  - tagging of atmosphere and, 132–135
  - strategic restructuring of, 31–35
  - unmaking microfascist subjectivity with, 84–88
- pedagogies of shame, invocation of, 33–34
- Pelinka, A., 42–43
- people, populists as exclusive representatives of, 39
- performativity of affect, 61–63
- critique and, 101
- Peters, C. H., 44, 46–48
- Peters, M., 103–104
- Petrie, M., 4, 48
- Philippopoulos-Mihalopoulos, A., 132–135
- Pilkington, H., 111–112
- pity
- political consequences of, 147–150
  - visibility of necropower and, 187–191
- police violence, democratic education and impact of, 209–214
- political emotions. See also emotion
- agonistic pluralism and, 118–122
  - classroom nurturing of, 141–143
  - cognitivist framework for, 120
  - consequences of compassion and pity and, 147–150
  - dead bodies in classrooms, dilemma of, 184–187
  - definition of, 141–142
  - pedagogy and, 153–156
- Political Emotions* (Nussbaum), 120
- politics
- affective atmospheres and, 136
  - affect theory and, 8–10, 22–24, 113
  - Arendt on emotion and, 143–147
  - complicity as act and concept of, 197–200
  - democratic education and, 14
  - limits of shame and shaming in, 28–31
  - post-truth and, 58–59
  - sentimental structures of, 182
  - shame as, 25–26
  - shared responsibility and, 169–173
- politics of shame
- Trump's affective rhetoric and, 24–28
  - Trump's impact on, 19–22
- populism
- core attributes of, 38–41
  - current scholarship on rise of, 1–7
  - in democratic education, 48
  - Laclau's theory of, 40–41
- post-critical philosophy, 94
- pedagogy and, 103–105
- post-truth politics
- affective grounding of, 56–61
  - affirmative critique of, 93–94, 103–107
  - context for, 69
  - critique theory and, 102–103
  - definitions of, 54–56
  - in educational settings, 63–66
  - Foucault on critique and, 100
  - governmentality and affect in, 61–63

- material-affective infrastructure of, 61–63
 populism and, 11–12
 risks in pedagogy for, 67–69
 Trump's claims as, 57
- power
 affectiveness of, 44–45
 complicity invisibility and, 199–200
 far-right rhetoric and, 113
 microfascism, affect and biopower and, 77–80 right-wing populism and resonance of, 44
- power-affect, defined, 8–10 prescriptive aspects of shame, 28
 preventing violent extremism (PVE) pedagogy, 111–112
- Prevent strategy (UK), 112n.10
- Probyn, E., 25–26, 28
- progressive politics, shame in, 26–27
- propaganda, affective atmosphere and risk of, 134–135
- Protevi, J., 44, 46–48
- provocative politics, far-right rhetoric and, 111
- psychology, affective ideology and, 46–48
- Puar, J., 180–181
- public feelings, affect theory and, 23–24
- public intimacy, death images and, 189–190
- public performances, Trump's mobilization of support through, 42–43
- queer necropolitics, 180–181
- The Question of the German Quilt* (Jaspers), 163–164
- racial capitalism
 necropolitics and, 180
 Trump's politics and, 29
 white shame and, 21
- racialized assemblages theory, 180–181
- racism
 affect theory and, 23–24
 Arendt on segregation and, 150–153
 atmospheres and, 131–132
 complicity and, 192
 degrees culpability and, 171–172
 historicization of, 32–33
 intimacy and, 182–184
 necropolitics and, 180
 populism and, 39–40
 post-truth as symptom of, 63–64
 sentimentality and, 182–184
 Trump pedagogy and, 45–48
 white shame and, 19–22
- rage, shame and, 26–27
- Rasmussen, M. L., 106–107
- rationalist politics, Mouffe on passions and, 115–116
- reason, Arendt on emotion and, 145–147
- Rebughini, P., 51–52, 95–97
- redemption
 in anti-racist theory, 28
 Trump pedagogy and, 45–48
- Reflections on Little Rock* (Arendt), 150–153
- Reich, Wilhelm, 74–76
- Reid, J., 73–77, 83–85
- relational aspects of affect, 61–63
- relief and redemption, right-wing populism as relief from, 44
- reparative pedagogy
 microfascism and, 87–88
 white shame and, 32–33
- resentment (ressentiment), right wing populism and, 41–45
- residual tendency, Trump pedagogy and, 45–48
- resistance, to complicity, 200
- response-able pedagogy, 103–105
- responsibility
 Arendt on role of, 151–152
 collective guilt and, 165–166
- Retzinger, S. M., 26–27
- Reynolds, P., 198–199
- right-wing populism affective atmospheres as challenge to, 135–138
 affect theory and, 1–7, 41–45
 affirmative critique of, 51–52
 alternative belongings as counterpolitics to, 52–53 cruel optimism and, 50
 current rise of, 1
 global emergence of, 109–110
 post-truth as catalyst for, 54–56
- Roman law, guilt in, 163–166
- Ruitenbergh, C. W., 118–122, 141–142
- Runciman, David, 1
- Rydgren, J., 110–114
- Salmela, M., 1–2, 41–42
- Samayoa, A. C., 64–65
- Sanders, M., 198–199
- Sandy, N. G., 150–153
- Schaap, A., 163–164
- Schaefer, D., 26–28
- Scheff, T. J., 26–27
- Schlink, B., 164–165
- Schuller, K., 181–184
- Schutz, A., 150–153
- Scott, D., 205
- Sedgwick-Kosofsky, E., 24–28, 32–33
- Seigworth, G., 136
- self-management, affect and, 62–63
- self-transformation, critique as, 102
- sensationalism, pedagogy of, 45–48

- sentimentality
  - Arendt on dangers of, 155
  - biopower and, 181–184
  - cultural practices of, 182
  - defined, 177
  - pedagogical practice and, 176–187
  - populism and, 15
  - reclamation of, 187–191
- settler colonialism
  - complicity and, 192
  - historicization of, 32–33
  - land dispossession and, 21
  - necropower and, 179–180
  - shared responsibility pedagogy and, 173
- sexism
  - atmospheres and, 131–132
  - post-truth as symptom of, 63–64
  - Trump pedagogy and, 45–48
- shame and shaming
  - affect and, 10–11
  - ambivalence of, 31–35
  - defined, 24–28
  - pedagogies of shame, 33–34
  - political and pedagogical limits of, 28–31
  - political aspects of, 25–26
  - resentment (ressentiment) and, 41–42
  - Trump's weaponization of, 19–22
  - unlearning affects of, 34–35
- shame-anger loops, as political strategy, 26–27
- shamelessness, Trump's use of, 19–22
- shared responsibility
  - collective guilt and, 158–159
  - degrees of culpability and, 171–172
  - pedagogy of, 14–15, 169–173
- Shotwell, Alexis, 212–213
- Simonsen, K., 124–133, 138
- slavery, necropower and, 179–180
- Social Connection Model of Responsibility,
  - complicity and, 194–197
- social control, affective relations and, 46
- social identities, right-wing populism distancing from, 41–42
- social justice
  - anti-complicity pedagogy and, 192–194
  - complicity and, 202–203
  - critical engagement with, 30
- social media
  - counterpolitical response and resource and, 49–50
  - post-truth and, 54–56
  - Trump's mobilization of support through, 42–43
- social sciences
  - affirmative critique in, 95–97
  - collective guilt in, 163
  - complicity scholarship and, 192
- social-transformative practices, post-truth pedagogy and, 69
- sociopolitical affect
  - complicity and, 198–199
  - emotions and, 149
  - migrant crisis and, 176–187
  - post-truth and, 59–61
  - shame and, 31–35
- sociopolitical context, affect and, 8–10
- solidarity
  - collective affect and, 64–65
  - promotion of, 65–66
- Spinoza, affect theory and, 117–118
- Staunæs, D.
  - on affect and self-management, 62–63
  - on affirmative critique, 51–52, 96–97
- Stephens, Closs, 131
- Steyaert, C., 137
- Stoler, A., 184
- Straker, G., 33–34
- Strangers in Their Own Land* (Hoschild), 42–43, 59–61
- strategic criticism and critical praxis, anti-complicity pedagogy and, 205
- strategic empathy, backfire effect and, 67–69
- Strick, S., 181, 183–184
- structural racism, minimization of, 19–22
- subjectivity
  - affect and, 62–63
  - Butler on critique and, 101
  - complicity and, 198–199
  - microfascism and, 73
  - unmaking of, in microfascism, 84–88
- suffering
  - Arendt on emotions of, 145–147
  - guilt in education on, 158–160
  - necropower and, 179–180
  - pedagogy on, 170–172
- Sullivan, C., 92–93
- Sullivan, S., 30
- sympathy fatigue, post-truth pedagogy and, 67–69
- Tarnopolsky, C., 28
- Tea Party movement, 42–43
  - post-truth and, 59–61, 105–106
- technologies of death, necropower and, 179–180
- Tesich, Steve, 54n.4
- third way politics, 116
- A Thousand Plateaus* (Deleuze & Guattari), 12, 71–73, 77–80
- Thrift, N., 64–65, 137, 200–203
- Tinning, R., 80–82

- Todd, S., 158–163, 170–172
 Tomkins, Silvan, 24–28
 Tooze, A., 213–214
 totalitarianism, Arendt on emotion and, 144–145
 transpersonal affect, 61–63
 Trump, Donald
   affective rhetoric of, 24, 35–36
   politics of shame and rise of, 19–22 post-truth in claims by, 57
   racist rhetoric of, 10–11
 Trump Pedagogy, 11
   affective ideology of, 45–48
   affect theory and, 37–38
   affirmative critique of, 51–52
   cruel optimism in, 50
   democratic education as response to, 48
   micropolitics and, 49–50
 truthiness, affective grounding of, 56–61 truth-telling practices
   context and, 69
   pedagogical promotion of, 66
   post-truth in relation to, 57–58
 Tryggvason, A., 41, 48, 119, 138
 Twitter, affect analysis of Trump's responses on, 24

 unwieldy knowledge, response-able pedagogy and, 106
 'Us-the-Good-People vs. Them-the-Evil' people division, Trump pedagogy and, 45–48 virtue, critique and, 100–103

 Vlieghe, J., 94, 101–104, 106
 Vogelmann, F., 106–107
 von Scheve, C., 1–2, 41–42

 Wächter, C., 192
 Wahl-Jorgensen, K., 42–43
Washington Post, Fact Checker website of, 57
 Watkins, Megan, 24

 Weheliye, A., 180–181
 welfare chauvinism, populism and, 39–40
 Wetherell, M., 136
 "What is Critique?" (Foucault), 92–93
 "What is Critique? An Essay on Foucault's Virtue" (Butler), 92–93, 100–103 white complicity, denial of, 194–197
 white fragility, 24
 white guilt
   anti-racist education and, 162
   shared responsibility and, 170
 white multiculturalism, shame and, 31–32 whiteness, critical engagement with, 30
 white privilege
   critical engagement with, 30
   shame and, 31–35
 white shame, 19–22
   Trump's politics and, 29
 white supremacy
   affective ideology and, 46–48
   critical engagement with, 30
   historicization of, 32–33
   shame and, 19–22
   Trump's politics and, 29
 Whitt, M., 196–197
 working-class and poor whites pedagogies of shame about, 33–34
   politics of shame and, 19–22
   post-truth and, 59–61
   shame felt by, 31–35
   Trump's influence on, 27–28
 wrongdoing, complicity and, 192

 xenophobia
   populism and, 39–40
   post-truth as symptom of, 63–64

 Young, Iris Marion, 166–169, 194–197
   on shared responsibility, 14–15, 169–170

 Zamojski, P., 94, 103–104, 106