CAMBRIDGE

Cambridge University Press
978-1-108-96998-7 — Teaching Secondary History
Heather Sharp , Jonathon Dallimore , Alison Bedford , Martin Kerby , James Goulding , Treesa Clare Heath ,

Darius von Guttner , Louise Zarmati
Table of Contents
More Information

CONTENTS

About the authors page ix
Acknowledgements xi
Guide to online resources xiv

Part 1 What is history? 1

1 History 3
Jonathon Dallimore

Introduction 3
What is history? 3
History as an academic discipline 4
Popular history and memory of the past 12
History in the secondary school curriculum 19
Conclusion 23
Bringing it together 24
References 24

2 Knowledge, historical thinking and skills 26
Darius von Güttner

Introduction 26
History as a discipline: What historians do and why it matters to teachers 27
Historical consciousness: What teachers need to know 28
Historical knowledge: Why and how the disciplinary nature of history impacts on the classroom 31
Australian Curriculum: History 38
Conclusion 45
Bringing it together 45
References 46

3 Teaching history in Years 7 to 12 48
Heather Sharp and Louise Zarmati

Introduction 48
Developing the Australian Curriculum: The role of history 49
Structure of the Australian Curriculum: History 53
Inquiry learning in the Australian Curriculum 59
History curriculum in Australia 61
Conclusion 73
Bringing it together 74
References 74

Part 2 Planning for history teaching 77

4 Approaches to historical thinking and learning 79
James Goulding

Introduction 79

© in this web service Cambridge University Press www.cambridge.org

CAMBRIDGE

Cambridge University Press
978-1-108-96998-7 — Teaching Secondary History
Heather Sharp , Jonathon Dallimore , Alison Bedford , Martin Kerby , James Goulding , Treesa Clare Heath ,

Darius von Guttner , Louise Zarmati
Table of Contents
More Information

Learning the facts of history 80
Constructing historical knowledge 82
Communities of historical inquiry 87
Growing historical understanding 91
Future directions in teaching and learning history 95
Conclusion 97
Bringing it together 97
References 98

5 Teaching and learning: History as inquiry 100
Alison Bedford and Martin Kerby

Introduction 100
What is inquiry? 101
Inquiry in the Australian Curriculum 103
Teaching through inquiry 109
Conclusion 120
Bringing it together 120
References 121

6 Planning for student learning and assessment 124
Alison Bedford and Martin Kerby

Introduction 124
Learning and assessment 126
Designing effective assessment tasks 130
Designing effective questions 141
Assessment rubrics 144
Preparing students for external assessments 148
Conclusion 149
Bringing it together 149
References 150

Part 3 History in the classroom 153

7 Teacher-centred practice 155
Heather Sharp

Introduction 155
Enactment of the curriculum 156
Classroom practices 158
Conclusion 175
Bringing it together 175
References 176

8 Student-centred practice 178
Heather Sharp

Introduction 178
Student-centred practice as inquiry 178
Classroom practices 180
Conclusion 196

© in this web service Cambridge University Press www.cambridge.org

CAMBRIDGE

Cambridge University Press
978-1-108-96998-7 — Teaching Secondary History
Heather Sharp , Jonathon Dallimore , Alison Bedford , Martin Kerby , James Goulding , Treesa Clare Heath ,

Darius von Guttner , Louise Zarmati
Table of Contents
More Information

Bringing it together 197
References 198

Part 4 Making connections 201

9 Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander histories and cultures 203
Treesa Heath

Introduction 203
Contextualising the cross-curriculum priority 204
Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander pedagogical tools and approaches in the history classroom 212
Creating and maintaining collegial community networks 215
Conclusion 221
Bringing it together 222
Acknowledgements 223
References 223

10 Asia and Australia's engagement with Asia 227
Jonathon Dallimore

Introduction 227
History and the cross-curriculum priority 228
Australia's connections with Asia 229
The cross-curriculum priority 232
Asia as a diverse space 235
Examining the achievements and contributions of Asia 239
Asia–Australia engagement 243
Conclusion 247
Bringing it together 248
References 248

11 Sustainability 251
Heather Sharp

Introduction 251
Contextualising the cross-curriculum priority 252
Practice-focused Sustainability in Australian schools and classrooms 254
Combining history and geography 258
Integrated learning in middle school contexts 259
Supporting Sustainability education with various tools, approaches and pedagogies 259
Conclusion 263
Bringing it together 264
Acknowledgements 264
References 264

12 Professional networks 266
Alison Bedford

Introduction 266
Your professional persona 267
Personal professional connections 268

© in this web service Cambridge University Press www.cambridge.org

CAMBRIDGE

Cambridge University Press
978-1-108-96998-7 — Teaching Secondary History
Heather Sharp , Jonathon Dallimore , Alison Bedford , Martin Kerby , James Goulding , Treesa Clare Heath ,

Darius von Guttner , Louise Zarmati
Table of Contents
More Information

Social media connections 273
Conclusion 277
Bringing it together 277
References 278

Index 279

© in this web service Cambridge University Press www.cambridge.org