Submission of manuscripts

INSTRUCTIONS FOR CONTRIBUTORS

1. Manuscripts should be submitted online via the website <http://mc.manuscriptcentral.com/ede>. Instructions can be found at the website by clicking the 'Instructions and Forms' link (under 'Resources') and then clicking the 'Online Submission Instructions for Authors' link. Manuscripts should be written in English. Preferred file formats are Word or pdf files for the text, eps files for the figures, and Excel files for any graphs or charts.

2. General guidelines – Manuscripts should have a 12 point font, 2.54 cm (1 inch) margins on all sides, and double spacing throughout. The first page of the manuscript should be a title page containing: the name and affiliation of all authors; a designated contact author and his/her complete correspondence address, including email address; and an abstract of not more than 150 words. The text, including footnotes, references and appendices but excluding the title page, should not exceed 8,000 words. Bearing in mind the difficulty in estimating the exact length of a printed article, due to the variations in equations, tables, figures and so forth, the entire manuscript, including tables and figures, should generally not exceed 35 pages.

Paragraphs should be indented, except following a section heading.

3. Tables should be kept short, and numbered sequentially through the text. Tables should be placed in the text of the manuscript, where they will appear. Titles and column headings should be brief and descriptive. Abbreviations of units of measurement should be added in parentheses. Explanations should be given in notes below the table. The text should include references to all tables.

4. Illustrations should be placed in the text of the manuscript, where they will appear. Quality should be high enough for direct reproduction, and designed to allow a reduction of 50%. Illustrations should be numbered sequentially through the text and each should have a caption. References should be made in the text to each illustration. The journal does not publish colour illustrations.

5. References - Full details of all publications cited in the text should be given in a list of references following the main text. Publications that are not cited in the text should not be included in the references.

In the main text refer to the author's name and year of publication, separated by a comma (Smith, 2003). If there are more than two authors, the name of the first author should be used followed by 'et al.' (Smith et al., 2004). If two or more references are cited together in the text, they should be arranged chronologically (Sorensen, 1997; Goring, 1999). Publications by the same author(s) in the same year should be listed as 1994a, 1994b, etc. Personal communications should be cited as e.g. '(G. McNeal, personal communication, 2006)' but not included in the list of references.

Use the following style for references:

Do not abbreviate the titles of periodicals. Titles of publications should not be translated, but those in non-Roman alphabets should be transliterated, and a notation such as '(in Russian)' should be added.

6. Equations should be clearly written, with the meaning of all symbols explained immediately after the equation in which they are first used. Number equations serially at the right-hand side in parentheses, but only equations referred to in the text need be numbered. Greek letters and mathematical symbols should be italicised.

7. Footnotes should only be used when essential, and kept as short as possible. In most cases they can be incorporated into the normal text. Footnotes should be numbered in superscript in the text, following any punctuation.
8. Copyright - Submission of an article or other item implies that it has not been published or accepted for publication elsewhere. Authors are responsible for obtaining written permission to reproduce any material (in both print and electronic media) for which they do not own copyright, and for ensuring that the appropriate acknowledgements are included in their manuscript. Authors of articles published in the journal assign copyright to Cambridge University Press (with certain rights reserved).
9. The designated author of each accepted article will receive, without charge, a pdf file of the published article.
