

The Australian Educational and Developmental Psychologist

<http://journals.cambridge.org/edp>

The Australian Educational and Developmental Psychologist (EDP) is an Australian based journal which is now in its 30th year of publication. It is the official journal of the Australian Psychological Society's College of Educational and Developmental Psychologists. It publishes quality peer-reviewed articles that add value to educational and/or developmental psychology practice or theory, in Australia or elsewhere. The editorial process is rigorous and usually requires at least two double-blind reviews of submitted manuscripts by respected peers. Published manuscripts in EDP include empirical work that advances the practice and theoretical base as well as systematic reviews of areas of relevance to the readership.

Special issues of the journal are published, and suggestions are always welcomed. As this journal is Australian based, submissions from Australia are welcomed and expected; however, submissions from international authors are encouraged.

Digital submission guidelines

Manuscripts should be submitted online via our manuscript submission and tracking site <http://mc.manuscriptcentral.com/aedp>

Full instructions for electronic submission are available directly from this site. To facilitate rapid reviewing, communications for peer review will be electronic and authors will need to supply a current email address when registering to use the system.

Submission of a manuscript will be taken to imply that all listed authors have seen the final version and approved it.

The receipt of all submitted papers will be acknowledged. Authors who do not receive an acknowledgement of receipt of their paper within three weeks of submission should assume that their paper has not been received and should contact the journal administrators.

Review process

The journal operates a policy of anonymous, expert peer review. Papers will be subject to an initial review by the Editor and usually a minimum of two independent reviewers. Authors are able to follow the progress of their submission through the online system. Authors will be notified of the outcome of their submission within the shortest time possible and the journal aims for a one to three month turnaround. Of course, the journal is reliant upon its volunteer reviewers and these times may vary.

Instructions to authors

- Submissions are expected to be theoretically grounded and methodologically sound.
- Authors are expected to prepare their manuscript (including references) in line with the APA 6th Edition style guide.
- One main article should be submitted with a separate file with full contact details.
- Manuscripts must be typed in double spacing with margins of a minimum of two centimetres.
- All manuscripts should begin with an Abstract of not more than 250 words, describing the salient information about Background, Aims, Sample, Methods, Results, Conclusions
- Tables and figures should be placed at the end of the manuscript, one per page and an indication of where they are to be inserted (e.g. 'Insert Table 1 here') should be present in the manuscript's text, close to where the table/figure is referred to.
- Wherever possible and where relevant, an effect size should be indicated.
- Authors are expected to write in an inclusive manner in reference to gender, and ability/disability.
- Authors are responsible for acquiring written permission to publish lengthy quotations, illustrations etc. for which they do not own copyright.
- Authors are responsible for ensuring the research described has been gathered, analysed and presented in the most ethically and scientifically respectful and rigorous manner. Authors must include all required statements (outlined below), which should be placed at the end of the text (before the References section).
- Authors must ensure that there are no means of establishing authorship from the text.

Manuscript length

Papers should normally be no more than 6,000 words, although the Editor retains discretion to publish papers beyond this length in cases where the clear and concise expression of the scientific content requires greater length.

Brief reports (less than 3,500 words) are also welcome. Please indicate at submission which type of paper is being submitted.

Book Reviews (up to 500 words) are also welcomed. Please contact the Book Reviews Editor before submission.

Copyright

It is the policy of the Australian Psychological Society to own the copyright to its publications, and to the contributions contained therein, in order to protect the interests of the Society and its authors, and at the same time to facilitate the appropriate reuse of this material by others. Therefore, upon acceptance of their manuscript for publication, authors will be asked to fill in a copyright transfer form (http://journals.cambridge.org/images/fileUpload/documents/EDP_ctf.pdf) and return to the email address at the top of the form. Publication of the manuscript will be contingent upon receipt of this form. Publications of the Society are distributed to various other publications for review and abstracting purposes. In addition, the Society has contractual agreements with various secondary publishers for the republication, in hard copy, microfilm, or digital form, of individual articles and journal issues as a whole. It is the Society's position that the abstracts that are published with its journal articles are indicative of and not a substitute for, the work as a whole; therefore, access services are allowed free use of these abstracts without securing the permission of the Society. Enquiries about policy and procedures relating to permission to reproduce material published in the journal should be directed to the Australian Psychological Society.

'The publication of an advertisement by the Australian Psychological Society is not an endorsement of the advertiser nor of the products and services advertised. Only those professional development activities carrying the APS logo and an appropriate endorsement statement can be considered to be specifically approved by the APS. Advertisers may not incorporate in a subsequent advertisement or promotional piece the fact that a product or service has been advertised in any publication of the Society.'

Required Statements

The author is required to make a statement on each of 'Financial Support', 'Conflict of Interest' and 'Ethical Standards', under those exact headings, at the end of their paper (just before the Reference section). This is a requirement for publication, and your paper will not be published until your statements have been received.
