

Publish your research in Theatre Survey

Theatre Survey is chartered by the American Society for Theatre Research (ASTR) as a theatre history journal. Its theatrical and historical orientations are both broadly conceived. Performance-centered and historiographic studies from all points across the historical, cultural, and methodological spectra are welcome. Dramatic literature studies not substantively related to actual performance are outside the journal's purview.

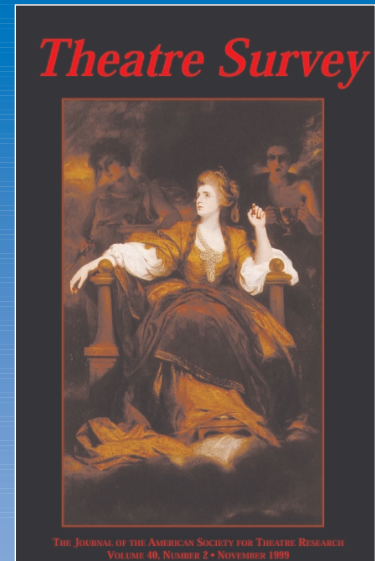

Please send all submissions in triplicate with a brief abstract to:

Professor Jody Enders

Department of French and Italian
5206 Phelps Hall
University of California, Santa Barbara
Santa Barbara, CA 93106
USA
Email: jenders@french-ital.ucsb.edu

Members of the ASTR receive Theatre Survey as a benefit of membership. Individuals wishing to receive the journal must join the ASTR. For information about institutional subscriptions, please visit http://journals.cambridge.org/jid_TSY.

CAMBRIDGE

Articles published recently in Theatre Survey include:

Become Less Provincial

Martin Carlson

Theatre History and Historiography: A Disciplinary Mandate

Thomas Postlewait

Dark Thoughts about [Theatre] History

Virginia Scott

Ibsen, Theatre, and the Ideology of Modernism

Toril Moi

Acting, Singing, Dancing, and So Forth: Theatre (Research) in the University

W. B. Worthen

Quo Vadis, Performance History?

Richard Schechner

CAMBRIDGE Journals

online

journals.cambridge.org