This authoritative new introductory text covers the key concepts, theories and issues involved in the study of comparative politics. Focussing on democratic government, it covers all important topics in the field. The authors draw on experiences and examples from around the world, and the book includes extensive supporting apparatus for students and teachers, including briefings, fact files, key terms, guides to further reading, and related websites. Each chapter ends with a section dealing with the major theoretical approaches to the subject.

- Accessible new introduction to comparative politics in the twenty-first century
- Extensive student-friendly features including briefings, fact files, key terms, guides to further reading and related websites
- Focuses on democratic governments with examples and experiences drawn from throughout the world

Ideal for the following courses:
- Introduction to Comparative Politics
- Comparative Politics and Government
- Comparative Politics of Western Europe
- European Politics

Publication: May 2005

Contents:

PART 1 ■ THE STATE: ORIGINS AND DEVELOPMENT
1: The Development of the Modern State
2: The Democratic State

PART 2 ■ THE POLITY: STRUCTURES AND INSTITUTIONS
3: Constitutions
4: Presidential and parliamentary government
5: Multi-level government: international, national and sub-national 6: Policy-making and legislating: executives and legislatures
7: Implementation: the public bureaucracy

PART 3 ■ POLITICS: CITIZENS, ELITES, AND INTEREST MEDIATION
8: Political attitudes and behaviour
9: Pressure groups and social movements
10: The mass media
11: Voters and elections
12: Parties and governments

PART 4 ■ POLICIES AND PERFORMANCES
13: Political ideologies: conservatism, liberalism, Christian democracy and socialism
14: Decision-making
15: Defence and security
16: Welfare

PART 5 ■ CONCLUSION
17: The future of the democratic state
The Contemporary Middle East, 4

Contents:

The Atlantic Alliance Under Stress

Relations after Iraq

Edited by David M. Andrews
Scorps College, California

Can the political institutions of the transatlantic alliance endure the demise of the Soviet enemy? Did the Iraq crisis of 2002–3 signal the final demise of the Atlantic partnership? If so, what are the likely consequences? In this book a distinguished group of political scientists and historians from Europe and the United States tackle these questions. The book examines the causes and consequences of the crisis in Atlantic relations that accompanied the invasion of Iraq in March 2003. The authors’ collective focus is not on the war itself, or how it was conducted, or even the situation in Iraq either before or after the conflict. Instead, the crisis over Iraq is the starting point for an examination of transatlantic relations and specifically the Atlantic alliance, an examination that is cross-national in scope and multi-disciplinary in approach.

References.

At War’s End

Building Peace after Civil Conflict

Roland Paris

University of Colorado, Boulder

This book explores the challenge of rehabilitating countries after civil wars. It finds that attempting to transform war-shattered states into liberal democracies with market economies can backfire badly. If democracy and capitalism are introduced too quickly, and in the absence of effective institutions, they can increase rather than decrease the danger of renewed fighting. A more effective approach to post-conflict peacebuilding would be to introduce political and economic reform in a more gradual and controlled manner.

‘At War’s End is the state of the art treatment of the dilemmas of reconstruction and peacebuilding after war, intervention and civil conflict.’

Michael Ignatieff, Director, Carr Center for Human Rights Policy, Harvard University

‘This is the best book yet written on peacebuilding operations, a must for both academics and practitioners.’

Peter Viggo Jakobsen, Associate Professor in International Relations, University of Copenhagen

Security and International Relations

Edward A. Kolodziej

University of Illinois, Urbana-Champaign

This new textbook presents security studies as a branch of international relations theory, providing readers with the critical conceptual tools to develop their expertise. The author evaluates the claims of rival theories to explain why international actors choose or eschew force and coercive threats in order to achieve their goals. Security and International Relations introduces students to the thought currently contesting paradigms and tools to develop their expertise in security studies.

• Presents students of international relations with the critical conceptual tools to develop their expertise in security studies

• Defines security broadly to encompass currently contesting paradigms and approaches, making the book of interest to all competing schools of thought
• Comprehensive and accessible, and includes essay questions and guides to further reading

‘This is a valuable resource for scholars as well as a text for students. It is the most comprehensive survey of alternative ways of thinking about international security available. Maintaining theoretical and methodological rigor while integrating security studies into the larger field of international relations is a monumental achievement.’

David A. Baldwin, Professor of World Order Studies and Political Science, Columbia University

‘Security and International Relations is a very welcome addition to the literature in both the field of international relations and that of security studies. Clear and forceful prose, balanced analysis, and comprehensive coverage make the volume a superb introduction for both advanced undergraduates and graduate students. Unlike so much of the recent literature in the field which begins with the assumption that the author has found ‘truth’ and proceeds to demonstrate the superiority of ‘this approach’ over all others, Kolodziej’s text guides the reader through the complexities of identifying the problems of concern in determining why and when state actors decide to use force, as well as to the strengths and weaknesses of the myriad theoretical approaches to IR and security studies.’

Roger E. Kanet, Professor of International Studies, Miami University

Themes in International Relations

- 2005 228 x 152 mm 340pp 2 tables 1 figure
- 0 521 80643 7 Hardback £40.00
- 0 521 00116 1 Paperback £17.99
- Publication August 2005

How Democracies Lose Small Wars
State, Society, and the Failures of France in Algeria, Israel in Lebanon, and the United States in Vietnam
Gil Merom
Tel-Aviv University

‘Anyone who thinks the recent victories in Afghanistan and Iraq show that America’s military machine is invincible should read Gil Merom’s terrific new book. It not only reminds us that powerful democracies sometimes lose wars against weaker foes, as happened with the United States in Vietnam and Israel in Lebanon, but it also provides a compelling explanation for these surprising outcomes.’

John J. Mearsheimer, University of Chicago

- 2003 228 x 152 mm 310pp 2 line diagrams 16 tables
- 0 521 80403 5 Hardback £48.00
- 0 521 00877 8 Paperback £18.00

Globalizing Democracy and Human Rights
Carol C. Gould
George Mason University, Virginia

In this book Carol Gould addresses the fundamental issue of democratizing globalization — of finding ways to open transnational institutions and communities to democratic participation by those widely affected by their decisions. Accessibly written with a minimum of technical jargon this is a major new contribution to political philosophy.

- 2004 228 x 152 mm 200pp
- 0 521 83354 X Hardback £40.00
- 0 521 54127 1 Paperback £16.99

The Rational Design of International Institutions
Edited by Barbara Koremenos
University of California, Los Angeles and Duncan Snidal
University of Chicago

International institutions vary widely in terms of key institutional features such as membership, scope, and flexibility. This book argues that this is so because international actors are goal-seeking agents who make specific institutional design choices to solve the particular cooperation problems they face in different issue-areas.

International Organization

- 2004 228 x 152 mm 364pp
- 0 521 53358 9 Paperback £21.99

The Role of Business in Fostering Peaceful Societies
Timothy L. Fort
University of Michigan, Ann Arbor
and Cindy A. Schipani
University of Michigan, Ann Arbor

A fresh approach to understanding business in its social context. In contrast to the assumptions behind anti-globalization protests, the book contends that businesses which embrace their role in the community, work across cultures, promote economic development and invite external evaluation of their affairs can in fact foster a peaceful society.

- 2004 228 x 152 mm 240pp 5 tables
- 0 521 83262 4 Hardback £40.00

NEW TEXTBOOK

Economic Policy in the Age of Globalization
Nicola Aocella
Università degli Studi di Roma ‘La Sapienza’, Italy

In this textbook, Professor Nicola Aocella analyses both the principles and techniques of public intervention in the global economy. A wide range of topics are covered, from market and government failures to the consequences of globalisation for economic policymaking.

- 2004 247 x 174 mm 537pp 33 tables 54 figures
- 0 521 83282 9 Hardback £50.00
- 0 521 34038 0 Paperback £24.99
- Publication February 2005

Cambridge Studies in International Relations

NEW

Power in Global Governance
Edited by Michael N. Barnett
University of Wisconsin, Madison
and Raymond Duvall
University of Minnesota

This contributory volume gathers together international scholars to reconsider the conceptualization of power in world politics. Arguing that the importance of power in international relations is underestimated, the book presents and employs a taxonomy of power that embraces agency, institutions, structure and discourse. It demonstrates how these different forms connect and intersect in a range of different issue areas and shows how

For monthly email alerts visit www.cambridge.org/eservices
such an expanded concept can enliven and enrich our understanding of global governance. This ambitious and wide-ranging volume will have a broad appeal.

Contributors: Michael Barnett, Raymond Duvall, Andrew Hurrell, Mark Laffey, Jutta Weldez, Ethan Kapstein, Lloyd Gruber, Greg Shaffer, Martha Finnemore, Ian Johnstone, Mark Rupert, Ronnie Lipschutz, Helen Kinsella, Himadeep Muppudi, Emanuel Adler, Steven Bernstein

---

The Realist Tradition and the Limits of International Relations

Michael C. Williams

University of Wales, Aberystwyth

The definition of realism is often debated by students of international politics. Thinkers such as Rousseau, Hobbes and Morgenthau are claimed as central to the realist tradition, but in this book Michael Williams re-evaluates their positions. He argues that such thinkers were not concerned with methodological issues of rationality and anarchy, as commonly interpreted by contemporary realist scholars. Rather, they wanted to establish political practices for leaders which would ensure order. This original interpretation of major thinkers will interest scholars of international relations and the history of ideas.

---

Cambridge Studies in International Relations, 98

- 2004 228 x 152 mm 390pp
- 0 521 84024 4 Hardback £40.00
- 0 521 54952 3 Paperback £17.99

---

The Politics of International Law

Edited by Christian Reus-Smit

Australian National University, Canberra

Politics and law appear deeply entwined in contemporary international politics. This volume advances a new perspective on the politics of international law, illustrated through case-studies of the use of force, climate change, landmines, migrant rights, the International Criminal Court, the Kosovo bombing campaign, international financial institutions, and global governance.

Contributors: Christian Reus-Smith, Dino Krisiotos, Robyn Eckerley, Richard Price, Amy Gurwitz, David Wippman, Nicholas Wheeler, Antony Anghie, Wayne Sandholtz, Alec Stone Sweet

---

Cambridge Studies in International Relations, 96

- 2004 228 x 152 mm 344pp
- 0 521 83766 9 Hardback £40.00
- 0 521 54671 0 Paperback £17.99

---

From International to World Society?

English School Theory and the Social Structure of Globalisation

Barry Buzan

London School of Economics and Political Science

This book represents an attempt to rethink and redevelop the English School project as a coherent research program. Although it builds on the basic assumptions and premises that underlie the English School framework, it greatly expands the scope of the project and rethinks many of the fundamental issues and tensions. It actively engages with much of American social science and sociological literatures, makes some very nice links to American constructivist scholarship, and offers some excellent ways to improve the Wendtian approach. I view the manuscript as the most important English School work in a generation.

---

Barry Buzan

London School of Economics and Political Science

and Ole Wæver

University of Copenhagen

'The empirical sweep of the study is monumental. This book is a major re-think of the problem of security in the post-Cold War world and successfully challenges conventional and competing approaches.'

Kalevi J. Holsti, University of British Columbia

'The book is heroic in its ambition and Herculean in its execution. A landmark study that displays a rare combination system, international society and world society. The result is a formidable work of grand theory. At last we have a work in the English School which is analytically rigorous enough to meet the high standards set by the best recent American IR theory while at the same time remaining faithful to the richness of the original sociological institutionalism.'

Tim Dunne, University of Essex

---

Cambridge Studies in International Relations, 99

- 2005 228 x 152 mm 240pp 2 tables 7 figures
- 0 521 83976 9 Hardback c. £40.00
- 0 521 54669 1 Paperback c. £14.99
- Publication June 2005

---

Regions and Powers

The Structure of International Security

Barry Buzan

London School of Economics and Political Science

and Ole Wæver

University of Copenhagen

'The empirical sweep of the study is monumental. This book is a major re-think of the problem of security in the post-Cold War world and successfully challenges conventional and competing approaches.'

Kalevi J. Holsti, University of British Columbia

'The book is heroic in its ambition and Herculean in its execution. A landmark study that displays a rare combination
Relations, 94

Cambridge Studies in International Relations, 91

- 2003  228 x 152 mm  372pp  1 figure 12 maps 3 0 521 81412 X  Hardback  £60.00
- 0 521 89111 6  Paperback  £21.99

Private Power and Global Authority
Transnational Merchant Law in the Global Political Economy
A. Claire Cutler
University of Victoria, British Columbia

Claire Cutler offers a critical analysis of the role that international economic law plays in the creation and maintenance of global power relations. By examining the evolution of merchant law she argues that private interests have governed global economic relations through a little understood evolving legal order.

Cambridge Studies in International Relations
- 2003  228 x 152 mm  326pp  0 521 82660 8  Hardback  £47.50
- 0 521 53397 X  Paperback  £17.99

Taming the Sovereigns
Institutional Change in International Politics
K. J. Holsti
University of British Columbia, Vancouver

Kalevi Holsti asks what do we mean by change in international politics? How do we identify it? How do we distinguish between significant and unimportant changes? Do we really live in a new era or do we see more continuity than transformation in the texture of international politics?

‘Holsti ... has made a major contribution in drawing attention to the need to understand how such institutions emerge, evolve and sometimes die; giving the histories of some of them; and setting out many of the tools needed to conduct such analysis.’

International Affairs
Cambridge Studies in International Relations, 94

- 2004  228 x 152 mm  372pp  3 tables  0 521 83403 1  Hardback  £45.00
- 0 521 54192 1  Paperback  £17.99

JOURNAL

International Organization
Editor-in-Chief:
Lisa L. Martin
Harvard University
Associate Editors: Thomas Risse
Free University of Berlin and Beth V. Yarbrough
Amherst College

Published on behalf of the International Organization Foundation

International Organization is a leading peer-reviewed journal that covers the entire field of international affairs. Subject areas include: foreign policies, international relations, international and comparative political economy, security policies, environmental disputes and resolutions, European integration, alliance patterns and war, bargaining and conflict resolution, economic development and adjustment, and international capital movements.

Subscriptions
- Volume 59 in 2005: Winter, Spring, Summer, Autumn
  Institutions print and electronic: £106/$170
  Institutions electronic only: £89/$141
  Institutions print only: £94/$148
  Individuals print plus electronic: £29/$45
  Students: £17/$27
  American Political Science Association, American Historical Association: £23/$36
  Electronic ISSN 1531-5088

Review of International Studies
Published for the British International Studies Association

Review of International Studies serves the needs of scholars in international relations and related fields such as politics, history, law, and sociology. The Review publishes a significant number of high quality research articles grouped according to key themes, review articles which survey new contributions to the field, a forum section to accommodate debates and replies, occasional interviews with leading scholars, and teaching articles.

JOURNAL

Subscriptions
- Volume 31 in 2005: January, April, July and October plus one supplement in December
  Institutions print and electronic: £163/$260
  Institutions electronic only: £136/$215
  Institutions print only: £153/$238
  Individuals print only: £49/$69
  American Political Science Association, International Studies Association, American Historical Association, Political Studies Association, Nordic International Studies Association: £36/$50
  Special arrangements exist for members of British International Studies Association.

Print ISSN 0260-2105
Electronic ISSN 1469-9044

Special issues are arranged through the British International Studies Association.

Visit our website at www.cambridge.org

International Law

HIGHLIGHT

The Humanitarians
The International Committee of the Red Cross
David P. Forsythe
University of Nebraska, Lincoln

The International Committee of the Red Cross (ICRC) coordinates the world’s largest private relief system for conflict situations. Its staff operates throughout the world, and in recent years the ICRC has mounted large operations in the Balkans and Somalia. Yet despite its very important role its internal workings are mysterious and often secretive. This book examines the ICRC from its origins in the mid-nineteenth century up to the present day, and provides a comprehensive overview of a unique private organisation, whose governing body remains all-Swiss, but which is recognized in international law as if it were an inter-governmental organization. David Forsythe focuses on the policy making and field work of the ICRC, while not ignoring international humanitarian law. He explores how it exercises its independence, impartiality, and neutrality to try to protect prisoners in Iraq, displaced and starving civilians in Somalia, and families separated by conflict in the Israeli-Palestinian conflict.

- Provides unrivalled information about personnel, policy making, and facts at the Geneva headquarters of the ICRC
- Focuses on concrete situations and dilemmas of humanitarian protection, with detailed case studies on ICRC efforts
- Very broad scope, ranging from 1859 to 2004

HIGHLIGHT

The Humanitarians
The International Committee of the Red Cross
David P. Forsythe
University of Nebraska, Lincoln

The International Committee of the Red Cross (ICRC) coordinates the world’s largest private relief system for conflict situations. Its staff operates throughout the world, and in recent years the ICRC has mounted large operations in the Balkans and Somalia. Yet despite its very important role its internal workings are mysterious and often secretive. This book examines the ICRC from its origins in the mid-nineteenth century up to the present day, and provides a comprehensive overview of a unique private organisation, whose governing body remains all-Swiss, but which is recognized in international law as if it were an inter-governmental organization. David Forsythe focuses on the policy making and field work of the ICRC, while not ignoring international humanitarian law. He explores how it exercises its independence, impartiality, and neutrality to try to protect prisoners in Iraq, displaced and starving civilians in Somalia, and families separated by conflict in the Israeli-Palestinian conflict.

- Provides unrivalled information about personnel, policy making, and facts at the Geneva headquarters of the ICRC
- Focuses on concrete situations and dilemmas of humanitarian protection, with detailed case studies on ICRC efforts
- Very broad scope, ranging from 1859 to 2004
International Law

'David Forsythe’s study unlocks many of the mysteries about the International Committee of the Red Cross. Based on previously unexploited sources, he provides a critical yet respectful analysis of this most important humanitarian organisation.’

William A. Schabas, Director, Irish Centre for Human Rights, National University of Ireland, Galway

Contents: Preface; Introduction; Part I. Historical Analysis: 1. The ICRC during its early years; 2. The ICRC during the Cold War; 3. The ICRC after the Cold War; 4. The ICRC and the US ‘war’ on terrorism; Part II. Policy Analysis: 5. ICRC principles and policies; 6. ICRC structure and management; 7. The ICRC and international humanitarian law; Part III. Conclusion: 8. The ICRC and Red Cross humanitarianism; Annex A: The ICRC and the Red Cross Movement; Annex B: The ICRC and Selected Private Relief Agencies; Annex C: The ICRC: One of the Big Four Relief Agencies; Annex D: The ICRC and Selected Advocacy Groups; Annex E: The ICRC Organizational Chart; Bibliography.

The United States and the Rule of Law in International Affairs
John F. Murphy
Villanova University, Pennsylvania

John Murphy offers an insightful analysis of why the United States does not always accept the rule of law in international affairs, even though it has made immense contributions to its creation, adoption, and implementation. Examining the reasons for this failure, John Murphy analyses a number of cases, not to make a case that the United States has been an international outlaw, but to illustrate the wide-ranging difficulties standing in the way of US adherence to the rule of law. He explains how the nature of the US legal system and the idiosyncrasies of the international legal process combine to compound problems for the United States, and he explores several alternative scenarios for the position of the United States vis-à-vis international law. This timely book offers a much needed examination of US attitudes and practices and makes a major contribution to the contemporary literature in international law and international relations.

- Advances our understanding of the relationship between the United States and international law – a relationship that is of central importance to the entire international system
- Offers a major contribution to the contemporary international law literature

'Professor Murphy has written a thoughtful, intellectually rigorous, readily accessible overview of the relationship between the United States and contemporary international law. This volume provides a superb starting point for those seeking to understanding the role of the sole superpower in today's global legal order.'

Michael Byers, University of British Columbia

‘Professor Murphy’s book will be essential reading for all who wish to understand the complex interaction between international law and US foreign policy. At a time when the US commitment to international law and cooperation is being widely questioned, his informed, insightful and balanced discussion is an important and much-needed contribution.’

Richard B. Bilder, Foley and Lardner Emeritus Professor of Law, University of Wisconsin Law School

'The US view of international law has been confused and inconsistent. Is it a tool in the conduct of foreign policy, or an encumbrance? Or is international law simply irrelevant for The Superpower? John Murphy’s book provides essential insight. Free of the polemic that usually infects this debate, it is comprehensive, exhaustively researched, eminently objective, and readable. This is a book that everyone interested in US foreign policy should read.’

Arthur T. Downey, former lawyer, State Department and former staff member, National Security Council

- 2004 228 x 152 mm 340pp
- 0 521 82256 4 Hardback £55.00
- 0 521 61281 0 Paperback £17.99
- Publication August 2005

Democratic Accountability and the Use of Force in International Law
Edited by Charlotte Ku
American Society of International Law, Washington DC, and Harold K. Jacobson

Nine democracies discussed (Canada, France, Germany, India, Japan, Norway, Russia, UK and US) contribute to military operations sanctioned by the UN and NATO. On whose authority, and with what oversight? This analysis of internationally-authorized armed interventions and democratic accountability raises concerns about the nation-state, international organizations, and democratic armed forces.

Comparative Law, examining this question and suggest two different approaches in environment and trade. Contributors in institutions have over the incentives of international norms and international law.

This book explores the influences and Moshe Hirsch
Tel-Aviv University
Edited by Eyal Benvenisti

Theoretical Perspectives

Cooperation

International

International Law on

Cambridge Studies in Philosophy and Law

2005   228 x 152 mm   538pp
0 521 84079 1 Hardback £40.00
2005   228 x 152 mm   326pp
0 521 00207 9 Paperback £17.99

Cambridge Studies in Philosophy and Law

NEW

NEW

NEW

NEW

International

Legal

Argument in the

Permanent Court of International Justice

The Rise of the International

Judiciary

Ole Spiermann

University of Copenhagen

The International Court of Justice is the principal judicial organ of the UN, and successor of the PCIJ, which was the first real permanent court of justice at the international level. Drawing on archival material, this book describes the ground-breaking contributions of the PCIJ to international law.

Cambridge Studies in International and Comparative Law, 34
– 2005  228 x 152 mm  538pp
– 0 521 83685 9 Hardback  £70.00

The Impact of International Law on International Cooperation

Theoretical Perspectives

Edited by Eyal Benvenisti
Tel-Aviv University
and Moshe Hirsch
Hebrew University of Jerusalem

This book explores the influences international norms and international institutions have over the incentives of states to cooperate on issues such as environment and trade. Contributors adopt two different approaches in examining this question and suggest ways for enhancing states’ incentives to cooperate through the design of norms and institutions.

– 2004  228 x 152 mm  330pp  6 figures
– 0 521 85554 2 Hardback  £55.00

NEW

NEW

NEW

NEW

Customary International Humanitarian Law

Volume I: Rules

Jean-Marie Henckaerts
International Committee of the Red Cross
and Louise Doswald-Beck
Université de Genève

Volume I: Rules is a comprehensive analysis of the customary rules of international humanitarian law applicable in international and non-international armed conflicts. Without ratifications of important treaties in this area, this is a publication of major importance, identifying the common core of international humanitarian law binding on all parties to armed conflicts.

– 2005  247 x 174 mm  674pp
– 0 521 90899 5 Hardback  £55.00
– 0 521 00528 0 Paperback  £27.99
– Publication March 2005

Volume II: Practice contains, for each aspect of international humanitarian law, a summary of the relevant treaty law and relevant state practice including legislation, military manuals, case-law and official statements, as well as practice of international organisations, conferences and judicial and quasi-judicial bodies.

– 2005  2429pp
– 0 521 83937 8 Parts 1 and 2  £280.00
– Publication March 2005

2 Boxed Set available
Edited by Jean-Marie Henckaerts
and Louise Doswald-Beck

– 2005  506pp
– 0 521 53925 0 Boxed Set of 2 Hardback

– Volume I: Rules
– Volume II: Practice

Contents:

For monthly email alerts visit www.cambridge.org/eservices
Environmental Law. It comprises a subject. It will be of use to practitioners of the treaties and other instruments make it an invaluable resource for students and basic principles of each topic covered. Provides an explanation of the European law in its international context. Provides an explanation of the basic principles of each topic covered. Inclusion of cases and extracts from EC treaties and other instruments make it an invaluable resource for students and it will be of use to practitioners of the subject. 2. Atmosphere; 3. Oceans and sea; A. Global; B. Regional; 4. Freshwater resources; 5. Biological diversity; 6. Hazardous substances and activities: A. Nuclear; B. Pesticides and chemicals; C. Waste; 7. Human rights and the environment; 8. Environmental protection and war; 9. Trade and the environment; 10. Environmental impact assessment and access to Information; 11. Liability for environmental damage and breaches of environmental obligations; 12. The Antarctic.

— 2004 247 x 174 mm 1396pp
— 0 521 83266 7 Hardback £140.00
— 0 521 54030 5 Paperback £70.00

NEW TEXTBOOK

European Union Law in a Global Context

Text, Cases and Materials

Trevor C. Hartley
London School of Economics and Political Science

A comprehensive introduction to European law in its international context. Provides an explanation of the basic principles of each topic covered. Inclusion of cases and extracts from EC treaties and other instruments make it an invaluable resource for students and it will be of use to practitioners of the subject.

— 2004 247 x 174 mm 482pp
— 0 521 82030 8 Hardback £110.00
— 0 521 52736 8 Paperback £40.00

NEW TEXTBOOK

Doha and Beyond
The Future of the Multilateral Trading System

Edited by Mike Moore
World Trade Organization

Brings together members of the former WTO Director General's advisory group which was formed to provide him with expert advice before and after the Doha Ministerial Conference in 2001. Nine experts explore issues which are pertinent to the ongoing progress in trade negotiations in 2003/4, together with an introduction.

— 2004 228 x 152 mm 204pp
— 0 521 83343 4 Hardback £40.00

The Conduct of Hostilities under the Law of International Armed Conflict

Yoram Dinstein
Depaul University, Chicago

— 2004 228 x 152 mm 296pp
— 0 521 83436 8 Hardback £65.00
— 0 521 54227 8 Paperback £22.99

NEW TEXTBOOK

Refugee Protection in International Law
UNHCR's Global Consultations on International Protection

Edited by Erika Feller
UNHCR, Geneva

And Frances Nicholson
UNHCR, Geneva

Millions of people are today forced to flee persecution. This book examines key challenges the 1951 Convention Relating to the Status of Refugees faces, on the basis of nine papers by eminent international refugee lawyers, which were then discussed at an expert roundtable meeting in 2001 as part of UNHCR's Global Consultations on International Protection.

— 2003 228 x 152 mm 778pp
— 0 521 82574 1 Hardback £80.00
— 0 521 52827 1 Paperback £30.00

NEW TEXTBOOK

Documents in International Environmental Law

Edited by Philippe Sands
University College London

and Paolo Galizzi
University of London

Documents in International Environmental Law is the companion volume to the second edition of Philippe Sands’ Principles of International Environmental Law. It comprises a representative selection of international environmental treaties and documents essential for anyone interested in international law in the field of environmental protection. This edition represents an up-to-date collection of the most important documents and aims to make the text and the key information on the legal status of the various acts, including its parties where a treaty is concerned, easily accessible to students, academics and practitioners.

— 2004 228 x 152 mm 414pp
— 0 521 83055 9 Hardback £50.00
— 0 521 53756 8 Paperback £22.99

NEW EDITION

An Introduction to the International Criminal Court

Second edition

William A. Schabas
National University of Ireland, Galway

The ICC prosecutes genocide, crimes against humanity and war crimes when national justice systems are either unwilling or unable to do so themselves. This revised edition considers the Court’s start up preparations as well as the issue of US opposition. Indispensable for students and practitioners.

— 2004 228 x 152 mm 494pp
— 0 521 83035 5 Hardback £65.00
— 0 521 53409 9 Paperback £22.99

International Law

Cambridge Studies in International and Comparative Law, 32

NEW EDITION

Philippe Sands
University College London

Revised edition includes all new developments since 1994, including all international case-law and international legislation. ’Philippe Sands has gone beyond his stated aim. The book provides not only a comprehensive overview of present-day international environmental law as well as that of the European Union. The book also systematises and conceptualises this relatively young branch of public international law. ’

Prof. Jost Deubruck, German Yearbook of International Law

— 2003 247 x 174 mm 1246pp
— 0 521 81794 3 Hardback £110.00
— 0 521 52106 8 Paperback £40.00
United States
Hegemony and the Foundations of International Law
Edited by Michael Byers
Duke University, North Carolina
and Georg Nolte
Georg-August-Universität, Göttingen, Germany

Leading scholars consider the effects of US hegemony on the international legal system. This book demonstrates that the effects of US predominance on the foundations of international law are real, but also intensely complex. Of interest to scholars of international law and international relations, government officials and international organisations.

Contributors: Michael Byers, Georg Nolte, Edward Kwakwa, Andreas Paulus, Martti Koskenniemi, Volker Rittberger, Steven Ratner, Michel Cosnard, Nicu Krisch, Pierre-Marie Dupuy, Matthias Herdegen, Gregory Fox, Marcelo Kohan, Brad Roth, Thomas Franck, Jochen Frowein, Daniel Thuerer, V. Stephen Toope, Achille斯 Skordas, Rainer Hofmann, Andrew Hurrell, Rüdiger Wolfrum, Pierre Klein, Catherine Redgwell, Jost Delbrueck, Alain Pellet, Bruno Simma, Peter-Tobias Stoll, Shirley Scott, Vaughan Lowe, David Malone, Christian Tomuschat

- 2003 228 x 152 mm 550pp
- 0 521 81949 0 Hardback £70.00

Terrorism and the Military International Legal Implications
Edited by Wybo P. Heere
Universiteit Utrecht, The Netherlands

In November 2002, legal experts from the academic world, defence ministries and the military, gathered in The Hague for a two-day conference entitled “Terrorism and the Military: International Legal Implications”. This volume contains the proceedings of this highly informative conference, including the discussions, syntheses and an overall conclusion.

- 2003 245 x 157 mm 226pp
- 9 067 04161 0 Hardback £50.00

World and International History

HIGHLIGHT
The Killing Trap
Genocide in the Twentieth Century
Manus I. Midlarsky
Rutgers University, New Jersey

The Killing Trap offers a comparative analysis of the genocides, politicides and ethnic cleansings of the twentieth century, which claimed over 40 million victims and ethnic cleansings of the twentieth century, which claimed over 40 million lives. The book seeks to understand both the occurrence and magnitude of genocide, based on the conviction that such comparative analysis may contribute towards prevention of genocide in the future. Manus Midlarsky compares socio-economic circumstances and international contexts and includes in his analysis the Jews of Europe, Armenians in the Ottoman Empire, Tutsi in Rwanda, black Africans in Darfur, Cambodians, Bosnians, and the victims of conflict in Ireland. The occurrence of genocide is explained by means of a framework that gives equal emphasis to the non-occurrence of genocide, a critical element not found in other comparisons, and victims are given a prominence equal to that of perpetrators in understanding the magnitude of genocide.

• Offers a comparative analysis of the genocides, politicides and ethnic cleansings of the twentieth century, which claimed over 40 million victims
• Unique – seeks to explain cases where genocide did not occur, as well as cases where it did not
• Examines the Holocaust, Rwanda and Armenia, and comes up-to-date with Darfur and Bosnia

‘Manus Midlarsky, a leading scholar of war, has written a book of monumental significance. He emerges here as the pioneering thinker who has produced the first truly rigorous and comparative theory of genocide. As must be true of any ground-breaking effort to understand such a fundamental and horrific phenomenon, his book will elicit much deserved praise and will provoke counter arguments and intelligent debate. However the field of genocide studies will evolve, this book will be the benchmark against which all future work will be compared. Not only is his theory highly original and compelling, but it is also written with a depth of feeling and beauty of language that recommends it to any reader concerned to improve the world and to save even one human life.’
Bruce Bueno de Mesquita, Silver Professor and Chair, Department of Politics, New York University, and Senior Fellow, Hoover Institution, Stanford University

‘The Killing Trap is a major contribution to the field of genocide studies and deserves to be widely read. I am impressed by the combination of analytic rigor and richness of empirical data, by the breadth of historical dimensions incorporated into the discussion, by the author’s erudition and the elegant parsimony of his comparative frame.’
Rene Lemarchand, Emeritus Professor, University of Florida

The absence of loss; 17. Dogs that didn’t bark: II: affinity and vulnerability reduction; Part VI. Conclusion: 18. Findings, consequences, and prevention.

— 2005 228 x 152 mm 400pp
— 0 521 81545 2 Hardback c. £40.00
— 0 521 89469 7 Paperback c. £17.99
— Publication July 2005

HIGHLIGHT

The Eastern Origins of Western Civilisation

John M. Hobson
University of Sheffield

John Hobson challenges the ethnocentric bias of mainstream accounts of the Rise of the West. He describes the rise of the ‘Oriental West’, arguing that Europe assimilated Eastern inventions and appropriated Eastern resources through imperialism. Hobson’s book places Eastern peoples at the forefront of the story of world history.

— Provides a fresh non-racist account of the Rise of the West
— Rethinks the essential categories, concepts and assumptions of world history
— This is the first book to explore the role of identity in world historical development
— ‘This is an important book of comparative and historical sociology. It is both a punchy polemic against Eurocentrism and an impressive gathering of evidence on the historical development of Europe and Asia.’
— Michael Mann, author of Sources of Social Power (2 volumes)

‘John Hobson has written an immensely ambitious book which seeks, literally and metaphorically, to redraw the historical map. Drawing on an impressive range of economic and cultural historiography, he proposes a new ‘meta-narrative’ for a millennium of global history, which is perhaps best summed up as ‘The Oriental Contribution to the Rise of the West’. Hobson argues that Western industrialization was based in large measure on the adoption of Arab and Chinese knowledge, the enslavement of African labour and the imposition of asymmetric trading arrangements on Asian economies. As a polemic against European triumphalism, The Eastern Origins of Western Civilization recalls the hugely influential work of the author’s great grandfather, the radical anti-imperialist J. A. Hobson.’
— Niall Ferguson, author of Empire

‘Evidence that Asia’s primacy was crucial to the Rise of the West has been accumulating for twenty years. Dr Hobson has now pulled the pieces together in a compellingly written and most challenging scheme. His grand conception will open a whole new order of debate.’
— Eric Jones, author of The European Miracle and Growth Recurring

Contents:

— 2004 228 x 152 mm 392pp 9 tables 1 map
— 0 521 83835 5 Hardback £45.00
— 0 521 54724 5 Paperback £17.99

NEW

Constructing the U.S. Rapprochement with China, 1961–1974 From ‘Red Menace’ to ‘Tacit Ally’

Evelyn Goh
Nanyang Technological University, Singapore

This book is about US policy towards China from 1961–1974, covering the Kennedy, Johnson and Nixon presidencies. It looks at how American policy-makers saw China during this time, and it argues that important groups in policy-making circles were already arguing for a change in China policy from the 1960s onwards. The book also studies Nixon’s important decision to visit China and to begin talks. It shows how Nixon and Kissinger ‘sold’ the idea to different groups, and how they persuaded the Chinese leaders to accept the new policy.

— 2005 228 x 152 mm 316pp
— 0 521 83986 6 Hardback £45.00
— 0 521 89469 7 Paperback c. £17.99
conditions and are now re-appearing, though mainly in different parts of the world.

NEW

National Cleansing
Retribution against Nazi Collaborators in Postwar Czechoslovakia
Benjamin Frommer
Northwestern University, Illinois
National Cleansing examines the prosecution of over one hundred thousand suspected war criminals and collaborators by Czech courts and tribunals after the Second World War. The book illustrates that the prosecution of collaborators and war criminals represented a genuine attempt to confront the crimes of the past.

Studies in the Social and Cultural History of Modern Warfare, 19
– 2005 228 x 152 mm 400pp 3 line diagrams 8 half-tones 6 tables 1 map
– 0 521 81067 1 Hardback £50.00
– 0 521 00896 4 Paperback £15.99
– Publication February 2005

NEW

Jews in Post-Holocaust Germany, 1945–1953
Jay Howard Geller
University of Tulsa
This is the story of the reemergence of the Jewish community in Germany after its near total destruction during the Holocaust. Using archival materials from Jewish communities as well as governmental records, Geller elucidates the reestablishment of organized Jewish life in Germany and the Jews’ critical ties to political leaders.

Visions of Victory explores the views of eight war leaders of the major powers of World War II - Hitler, Mussolini, Tojo, Chiang Kai-shek, Stalin, Churchill, de Gaulle, and Roosevelt – and compares their visions of the future assuming their side had emerged victorious. While the leaders primarily focused their attention on the strategy for winning the war, these very decisions were often shaped by their aspirations for the future.

Weinberg assesses how events were impacted by these decisions and examines how these visions for the future evolved throughout the war.

A global history of the origins and course of the Third World revolutions and of the US and Soviet interventions which shaped them

Examines US and Soviet interventions in Cuba, Vietnam, Iran, Afghanistan, and Nicaragua

Sheds new light on the origins of the ideologies, movements and states which increasingly dominate international affairs today

– 2005 228 x 152 mm 500pp
– 0 521 80704 3 Hardback c. £25.00
– Publication June 2005

FORTHCOMING

The Global Cold War
Third World Interventions and the Making of Our Times
O. Arne Westad
London School of Economics and Political Science
Arne Westad offers a compelling and panoramic new history of the global conflict waged by the United States and Soviet Union during the Cold War and the part it played in fuelling the ideologies, movements and states which increasingly dominate international affairs today.

Defending the Rights of Others
The Great Powers, the Jews, and International Minority Protection, 1878–1938
Carole Fink
Ohio State University
International minority protection, which began in the late nineteenth century, was aimed at bringing stability to
World and International History

Eastern Europe. This first historical study of the sixty-year period between 1878 and 1938 examines the policies of the great powers, the fledgling Eastern European governments, and the League of Nations.

- 2004 228 x 152 mm 448pp 13 half-tones 6 maps
- 0 521 83837 1 Hardback £95.00

NEW

The Russian Roots of Nazism
White Emigrés and the Making of National Socialism, 1917–1945
Michael Kellogg
This book analyzes the political, financial, military, and ideological contributions of many ‘White emigrés’, anti-Bolshevik Russian exiles, to Nazism. It demonstrates that Nazism did not develop as a peculiarly German phenomenon and examines Aufbau (Reconstruction), a far right German-White emigré organization which collaborated with Nazis from 1920–1923.

New Studies in European History
- 2005 228 x 152 mm 344pp
- 0 521 84512 2 Hardback £45.00

FORTHCOMING

The Global Economy in the 1990s
A Long Run Perspective
Edited by Paul Rhode
University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill and Gianni Toniolo
Università degli Studi di Roma 'Tor Vergata'

Some of the most eminent economic historians of our times place the 1990s in their historical context in this thought-provoking volume. They address key issues in this fascinating and contradictory period of economic development, helping us to understand what lies ahead for the world economy in the twenty-first century.

- 2005 228 x 152 mm 280pp
- 0 521 85263 3 Hardback c. £45.00
- 0 521 61790 1 Paperback c. £20.99
- Publication September 2005

NEW

Thailand’s Secret War
The Free Thai, OSS, and SOE during World War II
E. Bruce Reynolds
San José State University

This book is an absorbing account of secret operations and political intrigue in wartime Thailand. It sheds new light on Thailand’s clandestine relations with Britain, the United States and China, each of which had ambitions for postwar influence in Bangkok, and on the rivalry between the SOE and the OSS.

Cambridge Military Histories
- 2005 228 x 152 mm 482pp 21 half-tones 3 maps
- 0 521 83601 8 Hardback £50.00

NOW IN PAPERBACK

War and Gender
How Gender Shapes the War System and Vice Versa
Joshua S. Goldstein
American University, Washington DC

‘... this book is a decisive contribution to the history of war and the military.’
The Independent

‘What a marvelous book! Readers will be captured by Goldstein’s clear, trenchant writing style, remarkable interdisciplinary breadth, and the wealth of fascinating new details and ideas on every page. Some of his conclusions will undoubtedly be controversial. So much the better. This is definitely a “must read” book.’
Eleanor Macnair, Stanford University

- 2003 228 x 152 mm 540pp 4 line diagrams 40 half-tones 8 tables 19 graphs
- 0 521 00180 3 Paperback £19.99

Trauma and the Memory of Politics
Jenny Edkins
University of Wales, Aberystwyth

‘This is a path-breaking work. It moves the discussion of traumatic memory away from a concentration on paralysis and towards political action. It offers a theoretically sophisticated and powerful reading of the repercussions of traumatic events, as fields of force in which memories of catastrophe are rewritten as forms of resistance. Narratives which encircle terrible events like wars and terrorism can and do challenge political and social conventions in such a way as to create a space in which political commitments can be renegotiated and reconstructed. Essential reading for all students of history and memory.’
Jay Winter, Yale University

- 2003 228 x 152 mm 284pp 27 half-tones
- 0 521 82636 9 Hardback £47.50
- 0 521 54035 6 Paperback £16.99

TEXTBOOK

Explaining the History of American Foreign Relations
Second edition
Edited by Michael J. Hogan
Ohio State University
and Thomas G. Paterson
University of Connecticut

This is an indispensable volume for teachers, students and general readers seeking an introduction to American diplomatic history. A second edition with substantially revised essays and new material, the book seeks to encourage cross-disciplinary thinking in an increasingly transnational, globalizing world.

- 2004 228 x 152 mm 380pp 2 tables
- 0 521 83279 9 Hardback £40.00
- 0 521 54035 6 Paperback £17.99

FORTHCOMING

A Concise History of France
Second edition
Roger Price
University of Wales, Aberystwyth

This book provides a clear and up-to-date guide to French history from the early Middle Ages to the present - from Charlemagne to Chirac. This second edition, substantially re-written to take account of recent research, includes a new chapter on contemporary France.

‘... coherent and eminently readable. It is a major – indeed unique – achievement.’
The Times Higher Education Supplement

Cambridge Concise Histories
- 2005 216 x 138 mm 410pp 73 half-tones 14 maps
- 0 521 84480 0 Hardback c. £40.00
- 0 521 60656 9 Paperback c. £16.99
- Publication June 2005

A History of Modern Palestine
One Land, Two Peoples
Ilan Pappe
University of Haifa, Israel

Ilan Pappe writes the history of Palestine, one land inhabited by two peoples. While he explains the construction of Zionist and Palestinian nationalism and the resulting conflicts, in essence it is a story of coexistence. The account is lucid and forthright, a unique contribution to Middle East history.

- 2003 228 x 152 mm 284pp 27 half-tones
- 0 521 82636 9 Hardback £47.50
- 0 521 54035 6 Paperback £16.99
A HISTORY OF NEPAL

John Whelpton

A single-volume history of Nepal. Early chapters are devoted to the origins of the kingdom, while the focus of the subsequent process of state-building, concluding with the years since 1987, when a new regime came to power. His informed and comprehensive introduction is designed for students and anyone interested in Nepal.

- 2005 228 x 152 mm 356pp 14 half-tones 6 maps
- 0 521 55406 4 Hardback £45.00
- 0 521 55632 5 Paperback £15.99

FORTHCOMING

A HISTORY OF MODERN INDONESIA

Adrian Vickers

University of Wollongong, New South Wales

Adrian Vickers takes the reader on a journey across the social and political landscape of modern Indonesia, a relatively unfamiliar and understudied country. He starts with Indonesia’s origins under the Dutch in the early twentieth-century, and concludes with the fall of Suharto’s New Order after thirty two years in power.

- 2005 228 x 152 mm 280pp 20 half-tones 7 maps
- 0 521 83493 7 Hardback c. £40.00
- 0 521 54062 6 Paperback c. £14.99
- Publication October 2005

A HISTORY OF JORDAN

Philip Robins

University of Oxford

Philip Robins traces Jordan’s political history from pre-Independence to the present day. Despite a succession of wars and economic uncertainty, the 1970s and 1980s were relatively prosperous years. However, the death of Hussein and recent tensions in the region have renewed uncertainty. This is an incisive account, compellingly told.

- 2004 228 x 152 mm 270pp 22 half-tones 5 maps
- 0 521 81124 8 Hardback £40.00
- 0 521 00972 3 Paperback £15.99

A HISTORY OF THAILAND

Christopher Baker and Pasuk Phongpaichit

Chulalongkorn University Bangkok

This book covers the past three centuries of Thai history. Over this period, a landscape of sparsely populated forest and jungle was transformed into villages and paddy fields. Through the twentieth century, Thailand has been drawn into the international system and the forces of globalization.

- 2005 228 x 152 mm 280pp 24 half-tones 2 graphs 6 maps
- 0 521 81615 7 Hardback c. £37.50
- 0 521 01647 9 Paperback c. £13.99
- Publication April 2005

NEW IN PAPERBACK

CONTAGION AND THE STATE IN EUROPE, 1830–1930

Peter Baldwin

University of California, Los Angeles

This is a highly original study of public health policies adopted in Britain, France, Germany and Sweden – with particular regard to cholera, smallpox and syphilis. Its use of medical history illuminates important questions of the development of statutory intervention and the evolution of the modern state in Europe.

- 2005 228 x 152 mm 581pp
- 0 521 61628 X Paperback c. £18.99
- Publication May 2005

NEW

A HISTORY OF MODERN TUNISIA

Kenneth Perkins

University of South Carolina

Perkins traces the history of modern Tunisia through the French colonial years to independence. He then describes the subsequent process of state-building, concluding with the years since 1987, when a new regime came to power. His informed and comprehensive introduction is designed for students and anyone interested in North Africa.

- 2004 228 x 152 mm 262pp 15 half-tones 6 maps
- 0 521 59117 1 Hardback £45.00
- 0 521 59895 8 Paperback £15.99

A HISTORY OF CHILE, 1808–2002

Simon Collier

Vanderbilt University, Tennessee

and William F. Sater

California State University, Long Beach

Second edition

A History of Chile provides an overview of Chilean history which will appeal to the general reader as well as the specialist. Employing primary and secondary materials, it analyses the experiences of Iran, Pakistan, Afghanistan, Syria, Saudi Arabia and Libya are detailed here, alongside the histories of radical groups such as al-Qaida, Hizbullah and Hamas. In conclusion, the book assesses the difficulties of forcing sponsors to cut ties with terrorist groups.

- Hard hitting, articulate analysis of the phenomenon of state-sponsored terrorism
- Focus on the Middle East and South Asia, alongside histories of radical groups such as al-Qaida, Hizbullah, and Hamas

NEW

VISIT OUR WEBSITE AT WWW.CAMBRIDGE.ORG

'Using the concept of existential security, Norris and Inglehart recast the debate on secularization. Their interdisciplinary approach successfully overcomes previous pitfalls to produce a nuanced and thought-provoking treatment of contemporary relations between religion and economic development.'

Rachel M. McCleary, Harvard University

Cambridge Studies in Social Theory, Religion and Politics

-- 2004 228 x 152 mm 348pp 33 line diagrams 43 tables
-- 0 521 83984 X Hardback £45.00
-- 0 521 54872 1 Paperback £17.99

Muslims and the State in Britain, France, and Germany
Joel S. Fetzer
Pepperdine University, Malibu

And J. Christopher Soper
Pepperdine University, Malibu

With so many Muslims living in Western Europe, governments have struggled with how to make these religious newcomers part of life in their country. This question has become all the more urgent in the aftermath of the terrorist attacks of September 11, 2001. Britain, France, and Germany have all dealt with Muslims’ religious practices differently. This book explains why these policies differ and proposes ways to ensure the successful incorporation of practicing Muslims into liberal democracies.

Cambridge Studies in Social Theory, Religion and Politics

-- 2004 228 x 152 mm 224pp 2 tables
-- 0 521 82830 9 Hardback £35.00
-- 0 521 53539 5 Paperback £14.99

HIGHLIGHT
Sacred and Secular
Religion and Politics Worldwide

Pippa Norris
Harvard University, Massachusetts
and Ronald Inglehart
University of Michigan, Ann Arbor

Seminal thinkers of the nineteenth century—Auguste Comte, Herbert Spencer, Émile Durkheim, Max Weber, Karl Marx, and Sigmund Freud—all predicted that religion would gradually fade in importance and cease to be significant with the emergence of industrial society. The belief that religion was dying became the conventional wisdom in the social sciences during most of the twentieth century. During the last decade, however, the secularization thesis has experienced the most sustained challenge in its long history. The traditional secularization thesis needs updating. Religion has not disappeared and is unlikely to do so. Nevertheless, the concept of secularization captures an important part of what is going on. This book develops a theory of secularization and existential security. Sacred and Secular is essential reading for anyone interested in comparative religion, sociology, public opinion, political behavior, political development, social psychology, international relations, and cultural change.

- Articulates and develops a controversial new theory seeking to explain patterns of secularization and religiosity that is certain to arouse debate among social scientists
- New evidence about the causes and consequences of secularization from the World Values Survey, conducted in almost 80 societies, along with other sources of data
- ‘This is the antidote to fact-free speculation. Instead of grandiose speculation about the impact of globalization and economic development on religion worldwide, Norris and Inglehart give us gold standard social science: sound reasoning based on the vast body of evidence in the accumulated World Values Survey data sets.’
  Steve Bruce, University of Aberdeen

‘This book, by two skilled and prolific political scientists, will be widely read by scholars and students interested in gender politics, political culture, political change and modernization, and comparative public opinion and political participation.’

Virginia Sapiro, University of Wisconsin, Madison

• The first book of its kind by a scholar in the field, and long-time analyst for Rand Corporation in Washington DC

‘This is a truly excellent, informative and well-written book. As far as I know, there is no other current book on the same topic. I learned a tremendous amount by reading it ... I think it will be of interest to the lay public, to students of terrorism and international relations (at both the undergraduate and graduate levels), and policy makers.’

Karin von Hippel, London School of Economics

‘Dan Byman has written what will likely become the standard text on state-sponsored terrorism. Deadly Connections is an important book that not only fills a long-standing gap in the field of terrorism studies, but significantly advances our understanding of this particularly opaque and complex phenomenon.’

Bruce Hoffman, author of Inside Terrorism and former Director of RAND Corporation, Washington DC

‘In Deadly Connections, Daniel Byman has produced the most comprehensive and rigorous treatment to date of the role states play in international terrorism. Too often the subject of state sponsorship is treated as a simple ‘do they or don’t they?’ question. Byman’s meticulous scholarship reveals how complex this important issue really is. In well-documented case studies combined with synthesizing analysis, he explores the full range of how states help terrorist groups and why they help them. This book is a valuable addition to the literature on international terrorism and a useful input to policy toward some of the world’s most troublesome regimes.’

Paul Pillar, National Intelligence Office for the Near East and South Asia (author of Terrorism and U.S. Foreign Policy)

-- 2005 228 x 152 mm 280pp 1 map
-- 0 521 83973 4 Hardback c. £15.00
-- Publication July 2005
Modernization, Cultural Change, and Democracy
The Human Development Sequence
Ronald Inglehart
University of Michigan, Ann Arbor
and Christian Welzel
Universität Bremen

What people want out of life is changing – their political goals, religious values, sexual norms, and economic motivations are being changed in roughly predictable ways. This book presents evidence of these changes from eighty nations, and explains the forces that are driving them.

– 2005 234 x 156 mm 372pp 57 line diagrams 28 tables
– 0 521 84695 1 Hardback £40.00
– 0 521 60971 2 Paperback £16.99
– Publication August 2005

The Gender of Constitutional Jurisprudence
Edited by Beverley Baines
Queen’s University, Ontario
and Ruth Rubio-Marín
Universidad de Sevilla

The contributors to this book draw on a wide range of legal cases to describe the constitutional rights of women in twelve countries. Its comparative perspective is unique, providing readers with the basis for extrapolating from other national experiences to pursue constitutional equality for women in their own country.

– 2004 228 x 152 mm 358pp
– 0 521 82336 6 Hardback £45.00
– 0 521 53027 X Paperback £19.99

Closing the Books
Transitional Justice in Historical Perspective
Jon Elster
Columbia University, New York

After a change of political system one usually observes a process of transitional justice in which wrongdoers from the previous regime are held to account and its victims compensated. In addition to the numerous transitions after 1945 in Western Europe and after 1989 in Eastern Europe, transitional justice has taken place in classical Greece, the English and French restorations, and more recently in Latin America and South Africa. The book describes the universe of cases, and proposes a framework for explaining the variations among them.

– 2004 228 x 152 mm 310pp
– 0 521 83969 6 Hardback £40.00
– 0 521 54854 3 Paperback £17.99

State-Directed Development
Political Power and Industrialization in the Global Periphery
Atul Kohli
Princeton University, New Jersey

Why have some developing countries industrialized and become more prosperous rapidly while others have not? The main reason is more or less effective states. Focusing on South Korea, Brazil, India, and Nigeria, this study describes the characteristics of more or less effective states and explains why states in some parts of the developing world are more effective. The study takes a long historical approach, emphasizing the role of colonialism, and the relationship of these states with business and labor in helping explain more or less success in promoting economic progress.

– 2004 228 x 152 mm 478pp 1 line diagram 5 tables
– 0 521 83670 0 Hardback £60.00
– 0 521 54525 0 Paperback £21.99

FORTHCOMING
Contesting Citizenship in Latin America
The Rise of Indigenous Movements and the Postliberal Challenge
Deborah J. Yashar
Princeton University, New Jersey

In Latin America, indigenous people have mobilized in unprecedented ways - demanding recognition, equal protection, and subnational autonomy. By the end of the twentieth century indigenous activists and elected officials have increasingly shaped national political deliberations about a new set of agendas that seek both to advance and reform democracy. Deborah Yashar explains the contemporary and uneven emergence of Latin American indigenous movements – addressing both why indigenous identities have become politically salient now and why they have become significant political organizations in some places and not others.

– 2005 228 x 152 mm 392pp 21 tables
– 0 521 82746 9 Hardback £50.00
– 0 521 53480 1 Paperback £24.99
– Publication May 2005

Spatial Models of Parliamentary Voting
Keith T. Poole
University of Houston

This book presents a geometric voting model for analyzing parliamentary roll call data. Each legislator is represented by one point and each roll call is represented by two points that correspond to the policy consequences of voting Yea or Nay. On every roll call each legislator votes for the closer outcome point, at least probabilistically. These points form a spatial map that summarizes the roll calls. These maps can be used to study a wide variety of topics related to legislative voting.

Analytical Methods for Social Research
– 2005 228 x 152 mm 225pp 62 line diagrams 8 tables
– 0 521 85194 7 Hardback £40.00
– 0 521 61747 2 Paperback £14.99
– Publication June 2005
Comparative Politics

FORTHCOMING

A Unified Theory of Party Competition
A Cross-National Analysis Integrating Spatial and Behavioral Factors
James Adams
University of California, Santa Barbara
Samuel Merrill III
Wilkes University, Pennsylvania and Bernard Grofman
University of California, Irvine

This book explains how parties and candidates locate themselves on the Left-Right ideological dimension and other issue dimensions. It offers a unified theoretical approach to voter behavior and party strategies that takes into account voter preferences, voter’s partisan attachments, expected turnout, and the location of the political status quo. This approach is tested using extensive cross-national analyses.

Elections studied include the plurality-based two-party contests in the US and multiple-party competition in France, Britain, and Norway using a variety of election rules. Broad support is found for this general model.

— 2005 228 x 152 mm 336pp 44 tables
— 0 521 83644 1 Hardback c. £40.00
— 0 521 54493 9 Paperback c. £16.99
— Publication May 2005

FORTHCOMING

Federalism and the Market
Intergovernmental Conflict and Economic Reform in the Developing World
Erik Wibbels
University of Washington

This book explores the conflict between national and subnational politicians over the formulation of economic policy. It argues that the coherence of economic policy declines as the incentives of national and subnational politicians diverge. Using diverse research methods, the book shows that the degree of intergovernmental conflict over economic policy is a function of electoral interests, intergovernmental fiscal systems, the manner in which subnational interests are represented in national policy making, and partisan relations.

— 2005 228 x 152 mm 288pp 7 line diagrams 21 tables
— 0 521 84381 2 Hardback £50.00
— Publication June 2005

Electoral Engineering
Voting Rules and Political Behavior
Pippa Norris
Harvard University, Massachusetts

The book illustrates that formal rules do matter, with the social cleavages and partisan identities of voters, and the diversity and behavior of elected representatives, shaped by the incentives generated by majoritarian, combined, and proportional electoral systems.

— 2004 228 x 152 mm 390pp 24 line diagrams 24 tables
— 0 521 82977 1 Hardback £45.00
— 0 521 53671 5 Paperback £17.99

Designing Federalism
A Theory of Self-Sustainable Federal Institutions
Mikhail Filippov
Washington University, St Louis
Peter C. Ordeshook
California Institute of Technology and Olga Shvetsova
Duke University, North Carolina

The authors argue that rather than any carefully delineated allocation of policy jurisdictions, a number of institutional variables not normally associated with federal design (the content of regional charters and the extent to which public offices are filled by election rather than appointment) can be critical to determining federal success.

— 2004 228 x 152 mm 396pp 10 line diagrams 4 tables
— 0 521 82977 1 Hardback £45.00
— 0 521 53540 9 Paperback £18.99

Boundaries and Belonging
States and Societies in the Struggle to Shape Identities and Local Practices
Edited by Joel S. Migdal
University of Washington

This interdisciplinary volume maintains the importance of a spatial understanding of society and history, but it suggests a way of conceiving of borders and space that goes beyond a school map of states. Its subject is the struggle among differing spatial logics, or mental maps.
— 2004 228 x 152 mm 374pp
— 0 521 83566 6 Hardback £45.00

Comparing Political Communication
Theories, Cases, and Challenges
Edited by Frank Esser
University of Missouri, Columbia
and Barbara Pfeitsch
Universität Hohenheim, Stuttgart

The volume aims at providing a comprehensive understanding of comparative political communication. The first of its kind, it discusses current changes in media systems of Europe and America, whether election campaigns around the world become ‘Americanized’, how news journalists around the world understand their job differently and produce different forms of television news programs, or how governmental media relations and news management efforts evolve in different political systems. The book tries to explain transnational similarities and dissimilarities with especially designed theories, and discusses their potential effects for society and democracy.

— 2004 228 x 152 mm 436pp 2 tables
— 0 521 82831 7 Hardback £40.00
— 0 521 53540 9 Paperback £18.99

Comparing Media Systems
Three Models of Media and Politics
Daniel C. Hallin
University of California, San Diego
and Paolo Mancini
Università degli Studi di Perugia, Italy

An answer to the question first raised in the classic, ‘Why is the press as it is?’, examining the development of media systems in eighteen Western countries, and explaining why media systems evolved differently, and how their evolution can be understood within their political and historical context.

— 2004 228 x 152 mm 358pp 3 line diagrams 18 tables
— 0 521 83535 6 Hardback £45.00
— 0 521 54308 8 Paperback £19.99

Communication, Society and Politics
Three Models of Media and Politics
Daniel C. Hallin
University of California, San Diego
and Paolo Mancini
Università degli Studi di Perugia, Italy

An answer to the question first raised in the classic, ‘Why is the press as it is?’, examining the development of media systems in eighteen Western countries, and explaining why media systems evolved differently, and how their evolution can be understood within their political and historical context.

— 2004 228 x 152 mm 358pp 3 line diagrams 18 tables
— 0 521 83535 6 Hardback £45.00
— 0 521 54308 8 Paperback £19.99

Comparing Media Systems
Three Models of Media and Politics
Daniel C. Hallin
University of California, San Diego
and Paolo Mancini
Università degli Studi di Perugia, Italy

An answer to the question first raised in the classic, ‘Why is the press as it is?’, examining the development of media systems in eighteen Western countries, and explaining why media systems evolved differently, and how their evolution can be understood within their political and historical context.

— 2004 228 x 152 mm 358pp 3 line diagrams 18 tables
— 0 521 83535 6 Hardback £45.00
— 0 521 54308 8 Paperback £19.99

Comparing Political Communication
Theories, Cases, and Challenges
Edited by Frank Esser
University of Missouri, Columbia
and Barbara Pfeitsch
Universität Hohenheim, Stuttgart

The volume aims at providing a comprehensive understanding of comparative political communication. The first of its kind, it discusses current changes in media systems of Europe and America, whether election campaigns around the world become ‘Americanized’, how news journalists around the world understand their job differently and produce different forms of television news programs, or how governmental media relations and news management efforts evolve in different political systems. The book tries to explain transnational similarities and dissimilarities with especially designed theories, and discusses their potential effects for society and democracy.

— 2004 228 x 152 mm 436pp 2 tables
— 0 521 82831 7 Hardback £40.00
— 0 521 53540 9 Paperback £18.99

Comparing Media Systems
Three Models of Media and Politics
Daniel C. Hallin
University of California, San Diego
and Paolo Mancini
Università degli Studi di Perugia, Italy

An answer to the question first raised in the classic, ‘Why is the press as it is?’, examining the development of media systems in eighteen Western countries, and explaining why media systems evolved differently, and how their evolution can be understood within their political and historical context.

— 2004 228 x 152 mm 358pp 3 line diagrams 18 tables
— 0 521 83535 6 Hardback £45.00
— 0 521 54308 8 Paperback £19.99
Discipline and Development
Middle Classes and Prosperity in East Asia and Latin America
Diane E. Davis
Massachusetts Institute of Technology

South Korea’s and Taiwan’s economic successes and Argentina’s and Mexico’s relative ‘failures’ are compared through examination of their rural middle classes and disciplinary capacities. Can disciplining continue in a context where globalization squeezes middle classes and frees capitalists from state and social contracts?

- 2004 228 x 152 mm 436pp 6 tables
- 0 521 80748 4 Hardback £55.00
- 0 521 00208 7 Paperback £19.95

NEW
Ethnicity, Social Mobility, and Public Policy
Comparing the US and UK
Edited by Glenn C. Loury
Boston University
Tarig Modood
University of Bristol
and Steven M. Teles
Brandeis University, Massachusetts

The causes and consequences of social mobility are a central area of study within social sciences, and the differing levels of economic development between ethnic groups is an issue of concern for policy-makers. This book provides a comparative analysis of these related issues within the US and the UK.

- 2005 228 x 152 mm 654pp 67 tables 25 figures
- 0 521 82399 4 Hardback £50.00
- 0 521 52576 4 Paperback c. £17.50
- Publication August 2005

The Science and Politics of Global Climate Change
A Guide to the Debate
Andrew E. Dessler
University of Maryland, College Park
and Edward A. Parson
University of Michigan, Ann Arbor

Combining their expertise in atmospheric science and public policy, the authors present an accessible description of the scientific and political issues involved in the climate change debate. This introductory primer will help students and the general public to sort through the conflicting claims made by scientists, politicians and the media.

- 2005 228 x 152 mm 250pp 4 tables 22 figures
- 0 521 83941 2 Paperback c. £22.99
- Publication August 2005

NEW
Adaptation Policy Frameworks for Climate Change
Developing Strategies, Policies and Measures
Edited by Bo Lin
and Erika Spanger-Siegrfied
Ian Burton
Elizabeth Malone
and Saleemul Huq

The Adaptation Policy Framework provides the rapidly evolving process of adaptation policy-making with a much-needed roadmap. The APF supports adaptation processes to protect - and enhance - human well-being in the face of climate change. This volume will be invaluable for everyone working on climate change and policy-making.

- 2005 279 x 215 mm 266pp 75 line diagrams 25 tables
- 0 521 61760 X Paperback £35.00

Cambridge Studies in Comparative Politics

FORTHCOMING
Capitalism, Democracy, and Welfare
Torben Iversen
Harvard University, Massachusetts

Based on the key idea that social protection, both inside and outside the state, can be understood as protection of specific investments in human capital, the book offers a systematic explanation of popular preferences for redistributive spending, the economic role of political parties and electoral systems, and labor market stratification.

Cambridge Studies in Comparative Politics
- 2005 228 x 152 mm 320pp 29 line diagrams 45 tables
- 0 521 84861 X Hardback c. £40.00
- 0 521 63078 8 Paperback c. £17.99
- Publication August 2005

NEW
Imagined Economies
The Sources of Russian Regionalism
Yoshiko M. Herrera
Harvard University, Massachusetts

This book analyzes the economic bases of regional sovereignty movements in the Russian Federation from 1990–1993. The analysis is based on an original data set of Russian sovereignty movements, and also includes two case studies on Sverdlovsk and Samara oblasts. The author employs a variety of methods including quantitative statistical analysis and systematic qualitative content analysis of local newspapers. The book addresses the literature on both nationalism and political economy and provides a novel analytic framework for explaining the origin of economic interests and the development of sovereignty movements.

Cambridge Studies in Comparative Politics
- 2005 228 x 152 mm 320pp 29 line diagrams 45 tables
- 0 521 84861 X Hardback c. £40.00
- 0 521 63078 8 Paperback c. £17.99
- Publication August 2005

Visit our website at www.cambridge.org
party performance in ‘patronage India, this book builds a theory of ethnic performance of four ethnic parties in on a study of variation in the ethnic group while others fail? Drawing attracting the support of their target Why do some ethnic parties succeed in Kanchan Chandra Patro...
Contention and Democracy in Europe, 1650–2000
Charles Tilly
Columbia University, New York

This book is an analysis of the relationship between democratization and contentious politics that builds upon the model set forth in the pathbreaking book, Dynamics of Contention. The book shows how similar recurrent casual mechanisms in different combinations, sequences, and initial conditions produced contrasting trajectories toward and away from democracy.

Cambridge Studies in Contentious Politics

FORTHCOMING

The Authoritarian Dynamic
Karen Stenner
Princeton University, New Jersey

What is the basis for intolerance? This book addresses that question by developing a universal theory about what causes intolerance of difference in general, which includes racism, political intolerance (e.g. restriction of free speech), moral intolerance (e.g. homophobia, supporting censorship, opposing abortion) and punitiveness. It demonstrates that all these seemingly disparate attitudes are principally caused by just two factors: individuals’ innate psychological predispositions to intolerance (‘authoritarianism’) interacting with changing conditions of societal threat. The threatening conditions, resonant particularly in the present political climate, that exacerbate authoritarian attitudes include national economic downturn, rapidly rising crime rates, civil dissent and unrest, loss of confidence in social institutions, presidential unpopularity, divisive presidential campaigns, and internal or external crises that undermine national pride or confidence. Using purpose-built experimental manipulations, cross-national survey data and in-depth personal interviews with extreme authoritarians, the book shows that this simple model provides the most complete account of intolerance.

Cambridge Studies in Public Opinion and Political Psychology

FORTHCOMING

Political Disagreement
Gadi Wolfsfeld
Hebrew University of Jerusalem

This book examines the role the news media plays in peace processes, arguing that it is often destructive. Wolfsfeld examines three major cases: the Oslo peace process between Israel and the Palestinians; the peace process between Israel and Jordan; and the process surrounding the Good Friday Agreement in Northern Ireland.

Communication, Society and Politics

Media and the Path to Peace
Gadi Wolfsfeld
Hebrew University of Jerusalem

This book examines the role the news media plays in peace processes, arguing that it is often destructive. Wolfsfeld examines three major cases: the Oslo peace process between Israel and the Palestinians; the peace process between Israel and Jordan; and the process surrounding the Good Friday Agreement in Northern Ireland.
The first serious attempt to grapple with the difficult trade-offs involved in controlling private security in the global market.

The legitimate use of force is generally acknowledged as a necessary mechanism and the diffusion of control over force; 7. Conclusion; Bibliography.

In this book Deborah Avant examines the privatization of security and its impact on the control of force. She describes the growth of private security companies, explains how the industry works, and describes its range of customers – including states, non-government organisations and commercial transnational corporations. She charts the inevitable trade-offs that the market for force imposes on the states, firms and people wishing to control it, suggests a new way to think about the control of force, and offers a model of institutional analysis that draws on both economic and sociological reasoning. The book contains case studies drawn from the US and Europe as well as Africa and the Middle East.

- The first serious attempt to grapple with the difficult trade-offs involved in controlling private security in the global market.
- Suggests a new way to think about the control of force that makes a significant contribution to civil-military relations.
- Offers an institutional model that bridges the ‘rationalist/constructivist’ divide.

Contents:

- 2005. 228 x 152 mm. 320pp. 7 tables. 1 figure.
- 0 521 85026 6 Hardback. £40.00
- 0 521 61535 6 Paperback. £16.99
- Publication May 2005

HIGHLIGHT

The Market for Force

The Consequences of Privatizing Security

Deborah D. Avant
George Washington University, Washington DC

The legitimate use of force is generally presumed to be the realm of the state. However, the flourishing role of the private sector in security over the last twenty years has brought this into question. In this book Deborah Avant examines the privatization of security and its impact on the control of force. She describes the growth of private security companies, explains how the industry works, and describes its range of customers – including states, non-government organisations and commercial transnational corporations. She charts the inevitable trade-offs that the market for force imposes on the states, firms and people wishing to control it, suggests a new way to think about the control of force, and offers a model of institutional analysis that draws on both economic and sociological reasoning. The book contains case studies drawn from the US and Europe as well as Africa and the Middle East.

- The first serious attempt to grapple with the difficult trade-offs involved in controlling private security in the global market.
- Suggests a new way to think about the control of force that makes a significant contribution to civil-military relations.
- Offers an institutional model that bridges the ‘rationalist/constructivist’ divide.

Contents:

- 2005. 228 x 152 mm. 320pp. 7 tables. 1 figure.
- 0 521 85026 6 Hardback. £40.00
- 0 521 61535 6 Paperback. £16.99
- Publication May 2005

HIGHLIGHT

Global Crises, Global Solutions

Edited by Bjørn Lomborg
Aarhus University, Denmark

A unique publication exploring the opportunities for addressing ten of the most serious challenges facing the world today: Climate Change, Communicable Diseases, Conflicts, Education, Financial Instability, Corruption, Migration, Malnutrition and Hunger, Trade Barriers, Access to Water. In a world fraught with problems and challenges, we need to gauge how to achieve the greatest good with our money. Global Crises, Global Solutions provides a rich set of arguments and data for prioritising our response most effectively. Each problem is introduced by a world-renowned expert defining the scale of the problem and describing the costs and benefits of a range of policy options to improve the situation. Each challenge is evaluated by economists from North America, Europe and China who attempt a ranking of the most promising options. Whether you agree or disagree with the analysis or conclusions, Global Crises, Global Solutions provides a serious, yet accessible, springboard for debate and discussion.

- Tackles ten of the world’s biggest problems.
- Innovative approach attempts to provide a non-partisan analysis.
- Exceptionally high calibre of contributing authors.

Contents:
- List of figures; List of tables; List of abbreviations and acronyms; Introduction Bjørn Lomborg; Part I. The Challenges: 1. Climate change William Cline; Alternative perspectives 1.1 Robert Mendelsohn
- 2004. 247 x 174 mm. 670pp. 80 tables. 60 graphs
- 0 521 84446 0 Hardback. £45.00
- 0 521 60614 4 Paperback. £19.99

NEW

Federalism and the Welfare State

Edited by Herbert Obinger
Universität Bremen

and Francis G. Castles
University of Edinburgh

In this unique and provocative contribution to the literatures of political science and social policy, ten leading experts question the prevailing view that federalism always inhibits the growth of social solidarity. Their comparative study of the evolution of political institutions and welfare states in the six oldest federal states - Australia, Austria, Canada, Germany, Switzerland and the US - reveals that federalism impedes and facilitates social policy development and also suggests that federalism may actually protect the welfare state, and welfare states may enhance national integration.

‘Social science is at its best when it questions conceived wisdom with rigorous empirical analysis. This is exactly what Federalism and the Welfare State does, and it does it very well, indeed, showing that decentralized polities do not necessarily imply weaker welfare states. Written by some of the World’s leading authorities, this book is a must for students of federalism and of the welfare state—an exceedingly important scientific contribution.’

Goesta Esping-Andersen, Universitat Pompeu Fabra, Barcelona

‘Federalism and the Welfare State is compulsory reading, not only for scholars who want to understand the history and dynamics of social programmes in existing federal states, but for policy makers who are struggling with the issue of social policy in the European Union—what role should the EU play in social policy—and in decentralizing welfare states within Europe.’

Frank Vandenbroucke, Minister of Employment and Pensions, Belgium

— 2005 228 x 152 mm 320pp 30 tables 13 figures
— 0 521 84389 9 Hardback £ 40.00
— 0 521 60507 5 Paperback £16.99
— Publication May 2005

FORTHCOMING

Poverty, Work and Freedom

Political Economy and the Moral Order

David P. Levine
University of Denver

and S. Abu Turab Rizvi
University of Vermont

The poor seem easy to identify: those who do not have enough money or enough of the things money can buy. This book explores a different approach to poverty, one suggested by the notion of capabilities emphasized by Amartya Sen and Martha Nussbaum. The book argues that poverty refers not to a lack of things but to the lack of the ability to live life in a particular way and focuses attention on the capability for creative living.

— 2005 228 x 152 mm 180pp
— 0 521 84826 1 Hardback £ 35.00
— Publication June 2005

NEW

Globalization and the International Financial System

What’s Wrong, and What Can Be Done

Peter Isard
International Monetary Fund

This book provides perspectives on various aspects of the international financial system that contribute to financial crises and growth failures, and discusses the remedies that economists have proposed. It also sheds light on a central feature of the international financial system: the activities and effectiveness of the International Monetary Fund.

— 2005 228 x 152 mm 384pp 15 line diagrams 5 tables
— 0 521 84389 8 Hardback £40.00
— 0 521 60507 5 Paperback £16.99

NEW

Social Security Reform

Financial and Political Issues in International Perspective

Edited by Robin Brooks and Assaf Razin
Tel-Aviv University

As population aging has become increasingly acute in many countries, the debate over how to reform often creaking public pension systems has gathered momentum. This volume focuses on the underlying economic issues of the debate. It begins by examining the rationale behind why public pension systems were introduced originally, then systematically examines different aspects of reforming these systems.

— 2005 228 x 152 mm 384pp 43 line diagrams 73 tables
— 0 521 84495 9 Hardback £55.00
— Publication May 2005

NEW

Corporate Environmentalism and Public Policy

Thomas P. Lyon
Indiana University

and John W. Maxwell
Indiana University

This is the first book to provide a hard-headed economic view of voluntary approaches to environmental issues. Both corporate and government initiatives are viewed within a political framework where special interest groups have powerful influence. It will appeal to business strategists and policy practitioners, as well as scholars and researchers.

— 2004 228 x 152 mm 306pp 6 tables 18 graphs
— 0 521 81947 4 Hardback £45.00
— 0 521 60376 5 Paperback £19.99

NEW

Economic Policy in the Age of Globalization

Nicola Accocella
Università degli Studi di Roma ‘La Sapienza’, Italy

In this textbook, Professor Nicola Accocella analyses both the principles and techniques of public intervention in the global economy. A wide range of topics are covered, from market and government failures to the consequences of globalisation for economic policymaking.

— 2005 247 x 174 mm 537pp 33 tables 54 figures
— 0 521 77066 1 Hardback c. £30.00
— 0 521 84495 9 Hardback £40.00
— 0 521 60376 5 Paperback £19.99

NEW

Conflicts of Interest

Challenges and Solutions in Business, Law, Medicine, and Public Policy

Edited by Don A. Moore
Carnegie Mellon University, Pennsylvania

Daylian M. Cain
Carnegie Mellon University, Pennsylvania

George Loewenstein
Carnegie Mellon University, Pennsylvania

and Max Bazerman
Harvard University, Massachusetts

This collection explores the subject of conflicts of interest. It investigates how to manage conflicts of interest, how they can affect well-meaning professionals, and how they can limit the effectiveness of corporate boards, undermine professional ethics, and corrupt expert opinion. The results offer a sobering prognosis for professional ethics and for anyone who relies on professionals who have conflicts of interest.

— 2005 228 x 152 mm 312pp 10 line diagrams 12 tables
— 0 521 84439 8 Hardback £40.00
— Publication May 2005

Visit our website at www.cambridge.org
Global Collective Action
Todd Sandler
University of Southern California
This book explains why the global community has been successful in correcting some recent large-scale problems, but has failed in addressing others. The analysis reaches from antibiotic-resistant microbes to greenhouse gases, from civil wars to international terrorism, and from the polluted atmospheres of cities to the depths of outer space.

2004 228 x 152 mm 314pp 20 line diagrams 22 tables
0 521 83477 5 Hardback £40.00
0 521 54254 5 Paperback £17.99

Public Choice III
Third edition
Dennis C. Mueller
Universität Wien, Austria
This book represents a revision and expansion of Public Choice II (1989). Six new chapters have been added, and several chapters from the previous edition have been revised. The discussion of empirical work in public choice has been greatly expanded. All of the major topics of public choice are covered.

‘Like all the others, this volume will become the first point of reference – the ‘bible’ – for all scholars in the field, both the experts and the more casual samplers. It represents an amazing effort, even more extraordinary than the earlier versions. The profession is deeply in Mueller’s debt.’

Geoffrey Brennan, Australian National University

‘This is a grandaddy of a book! Or rather a grand-son of one. For over a quarter of a century, Mueller has been providing us with successive surveys of the field of public choice, with each version more extensive, detailed and impressive than its predecessor. This is the third book in that series. And almost certainly the final one. No one could reasonably be expected to master the field in quite this masterful way ever again. The original 1979 book ran to almost three hundred sparsely typed pages. The 1989 successor extended to more than five hundred and was rather more densely spaced. The current version is over seven hundred, and includes almost seventy pages of references. Compiling such a survey – single-handedly – is a gargantuan effort, and has been accomplished here with amazing completeness and elegance.’

Russell Hardin, Stanford University

‘As a teacher of public choice I have found Mueller’s works invaluable. He is not only an original scholar but he succeeds in putting the existing knowledge into a form that makes it easy for students to follow. In addition to summarizing the existing knowledge, he always puts into them a number of new points with the results that teacher like myself finds a book interesting as a contribution to knowledge as well as a summary of previous knowledge. Public Choice III continues the tradition and will be invaluable as a text while the same time contributing to the knowledge of the teacher.’

Gordon Tullock, George Mason University

‘Mueller’s Public Choice III is a colossal achievement. Anyone curious about what public choice scholars have to say about myriad subjects in political economy can find the answers here, but even members of the public choice fraternity will find much that is new and insightful in this compilation.’

Morris P. Fiorina, Hoover Institution, Stanford University

2003 228 x 152 mm 788pp 120 line diagrams 75 tables
0 521 81546 0 Hardback £90.00
0 521 88474 5 Paperback £33.00

The Dynamics of Socio-Economic Development
An Introduction
Adam Szirmai
Technische Universität Eindhoven, Holland
A modern, non-technical introduction to contemporary debates within development economics within a framework which emphasises the historical and political context. As it assumes no prior knowledge of economics the book is well suited for use in inter-disciplinary development studies programmes as well as in economics courses.

‘This monumental study is historically grounded, balanced, nuanced, rigorous, eclectic, and reader-friendly. All serious scholars and practitioners of economic development will want to have a copy on their shelves. The volume is ideally suited as a text for a development economics course.’

Hal Hill, H. W. Arndt, Professor of Southeast Asian Economies, Australian National University

2005 247 x 174 mm 745pp 75 tables 20 graphs
0 521 81763 3 Hardback £60.00
0 521 52086 4 Paperback £30.00

The Regional Multinationals
MNEs and ‘Global’ Strategic Management
Alan M. Rugman
Indiana University
Alan M. Rugman explores alternatives to the popular model of increasingly globalized business, and explores the widespread evidence of regionalized business practice among the world’s top 500 companies. Detailed case studies and real-life examples flesh out the theory and practice of regionalisation in multinationals.

2005 247 x 174 mm 512pp 5 line diagrams 20 graphs
18 figures
0 521 83903 8 Hardback £70.00
Publication February 2005

MACROJUSTICE
The Political Economy of Fairness
Serge-Christophe Kolm
Ecole des Hautes Etudes en Sciences Sociales, Paris
In the just society, individuals’ freedom is fully respected, and redistribution amounts to an equal sharing of individuals’ different earnings obtained by the same limited ‘equalization labour’. The concept of equalization labour is determined by a number of methods presented in this volume.

2005 228 x 152 mm 512pp 5 line diagrams
0 521 85953 8 Hardback £70.00

Political Economy and Public Policy
The Costs of Living Happily Ever After

Steven A. Nyce
Watson Wyatt Worldwide, Washington DC

It describes current trends in birth rates, longevity and labor force participation and productivity, the cross-border flow of capital, the globalization of labor markets, the financial viability of social insurance programs, and the ways economic output is shared between working-age and retiree populations.

— 2005 228 x 152 mm 408pp 33 line diagrams 33 tables
— 0 521 85153 X Hardback £45.00
— 0 521 61724 3 Paperback £18.99
— Publication March 2005

FORTHCOMING

Natural Resources and Economic Development
Edward B. Barbier
University of Wyoming

Natural Resources and Economic Development is the first comprehensive analysis of natural resource use and economic development in poor countries. It explores the reasons why natural resource exploitation is not yielding greater benefits to the economies of Africa, Asia and Latin America, and proposes institutional and policy reforms.

— 2005 228 x 152 mm 300pp 30 tables 25 figures
— 0 521 82313 7 Hardback c. £45.00
— Publication August 2005

Rethinking Pension Reform
Franco Modigliani
Massachusetts Institute of Technology and Arun Muralidhar
Mcube Investment Technologies

This book is unique as it presents an academic and a practical aspect on managing pension funds to clarify the global debate on social security. The authors establish the basic choices in designing any system to help policy makers develop the system that achieves their many objectives.

• Senior author awarded Nobel prize for saving behavior
• Comparative perspectives cover US, Spain, Latin America
• Financially rigorous yet narrative; highly accessible, covering a hot topic
— 2004 228 x 152 mm 266pp 45 line diagrams 39 tables
— 0 521 83411 2 Hardback £45.00

NEW

The Economic Implications of Aging Societies

The Costs of Living Happily Ever After

Steven A. Nyce
Watson Wyatt Worldwide, Washington DC
and Sylvester J. Schieber
Watson Wyatt Worldwide, Washington DC

This book provides the first dedicated study of major cities in countries outside the industrialized West. The contributors compare their histories, their present positions in the world, and the problems they face. This book provides an original perspective on world cities and the impact of globalization upon them.

— 2005 228 x 152 mm 360pp 36 line diagrams 17 tables
— 0 521 83398 1 Hardback £40.00
— 0 521 54179 4 Paperback £17.99
— Publication June 2005

Political Economy of Institutions and Decisions

The Political Economy of Poland’s Transition

New Firms and Reform Governments

John E. Jackson
University of Michigan, Ann Arbor
Jacek Klich
Jagiellonian University, Krakow
and Krystyna Poznanska
Warsaw School of Economics

In the time span of a two-term US presidency, Poland went from an authoritarian one-party state with a faltering centrally planned economy to

FORTHCOMING

Institutions and Ethnic Politics in Africa

Daniel N. Posner
University of California, Los Angeles

This book presents a theory to account for why and when politics revolves around one axis of social cleavage instead of another. It does so by examining the case of Zambia, where people identify themselves either as members of one of the country’s seventy-three tribes or as members of one of its four principal language groups. The book accounts for the conditions under which Zambian political competition revolves around tribal differences and under which it revolves around language group differences. Drawing on a simple model of identity choice, it shows that the answer depends on whether the country operates under single-party or multi-party rule. During periods of single-party rule, tribal identities serve as the axis of electoral mobilization and self-identification; during periods of multi-party rule, broader language group identities play this role. The book thus demonstrates how formal institutional rules determine the kinds of social cleavages that matter in politics.

— 2004 228 x 152 mm 412pp 29 tables 12 figures 23 maps
— 0 521 83003 6 Hardback £45.00
— 0 521 53685 5 Paperback £19.99

For monthly email alerts visit www.cambridge.org/eservices
Decisions permits economic growth. It explains a theory about how rent seeking detailed economic history of Mexico and foundations of growth. It offers a scientists interested in the political economic development, and political Latin America, scholars interested in

Political Economy of Institutions and Decisions

- 2005 228 x 152 mm 272pp 14 line diagrams 69 tables
- 0 521 83895 9 Hardback £45.00
- Publication July 2005

NEW

The Politics of Constitutional Review in Germany

Georg Vanberg
University of Wisconsin, Milwaukee

Courts that can strike down legislation as unconstitutional are confronted by a compliance problem: What will induce legislative majorities to comply with the court’s decisions? This book investigates how public support for an independent judiciary can function as an enforcement mechanism. The book shows that if public support is a central mechanism that provides support for constitutional courts, courts are limited in their ability to enforce constitutional provisions. This finding is significant because it implies that courts cannot consistently protect political minorities, a function often associated with courts.

Political Economy of Institutions and Decisions

- 2005 228 x 152 mm 208pp
- 0 521 83647 6 Hardback £40.00
- Publication February 2005

NEW IN PAPERBACK

The Politics of Property Rights

Political Instability, Credible Commitments, and Economic Growth in Mexico, 1876–1929

Stephen Haber
Stanford University, California

Armando Razo
Stanford University, California

and Noel Maurer
Instituto Tecnológico Autónomo de Mexico

This book is intended for historians of Latin America, scholars interested in economic development, and political scientists interested in the political foundations of growth. It offers a detailed economic history of Mexico and a theory about how rent seeking permits economic growth. It explains why political instability is not necessarily correlated with economic stagnation. The result is an analytic economic history of Mexico under both stability and instability, and a generalizable framework about the interaction of political and economic institutions.

Political Economy of Institutions and Decisions

- 2004 228 x 152 mm 406pp 5 line diagrams 64 tables 1 map
- 0 521 60354 4 Paperback £16.99

Election Timing

Alastair Smith
New York University

Most parliamentary systems have endogenous election timing, a system where the Prime Minister is free to call elections when he or she thinks the time is right. Despite the huge advantage one might expect this creates, Prime Ministers frequently lose. The author proposes an informational theory that explains when leaders call for elections and the consequences of their decisions. The author explains why leaders find it difficult to profit from their ability to call elections when they are popular and the opposition is weak.

Political Economy of Institutions and Decisions

- 2004 228 x 152 mm 286pp 35 line diagrams 21 tables
- 0 521 83363 9 Hardback £45.00

Individuals, Institutions, and Markets

C. Mantzavinos
University of Freiburg and University of Bayreuth

Individuals, Institutions, and Markets offers a theory of how the institutional framework of a society emerges and how markets within institutions work. The book shows that both social institutions, defined as the rules of the game, and exchange processes can be analyzed along a common theoretical structure. Mantzavinos’ proposal is that a problem solving model of individual behavior inspired by the cognitive sciences provides such a unifying theoretical structure. Integrating the latest scholarship in economics, sociology, political science, law, and anthropology, Mantzavinos offers a genuine political economy showing how social institutions affect economic outcomes.

Political Economy of Institutions and Decisions

- 2004 228 x 152 mm 332pp
- 0 521 54833 0 Paperback £17.99

World Trade Review

Editor: Douglas A. Irwin
Dartmouth College, Hanover

The World Trade Review was established at the initiative of the Secretariat of the World Trade Organization (WTO) in close cooperation with Cambridge University Press. It is an independent journal — the Editor and all but one member of the Editorial Board are drawn from university faculties — that includes articles written from economic, legal, political and inter-disciplinary perspectives on issues of relevance to the multilateral trading system. Priority is given to papers that, along with being academically rigorous, are also accessible to government policy officials and the wider public. The journal also includes shorter articles seeking to rebut or challenge published papers.

Journal of Public Policy

Editor: Richard Rose
University of Strathclyde

Journal of Public Policy publishes research that applies social scientific theories and concepts to significant political, economic and social issues and to the ways in which public policies are made. Its articles thus deal with topics of relevance to social scientists and policy-makers in America, Europe, Japan and other advanced industrial nations. Journal of Public Policy gives particular emphasis to articles that cut across disciplines, such as studies in national and international political economy, and politics and policy-making in the European Union. Its peer reviewers come from more than half a dozen social science disciplines and are drawn from a dozen countries across three continents, thus ensuring both analytic rigour and accuracy in reference to national and policy context.
Laws of Fear Beyond the Precautionary Principle
Cass R. Sunstein
University of Chicago

What is the relationship between fear, danger, and the law? Cass Sunstein attacks the increasingly influential Precautionary Principle - the idea that regulators should take steps to protect against potential harms, even if causal chains are uncertain and even if we do not know that harms are likely to come to fruition. Focusing on such problems as global warming, terrorism, DDT, and genetic engineering, Professor Sunstein argues that the Precautionary Principle is incoherent. Risks exist on all sides of social situations, and precautionary steps create dangers of their own. Diverse cultures focus on very different risks, often because social influences and peer pressures accentuate some fears and reduce others. Instead of adopting the Precautionary Principle, Professor Sunstein argues for three steps: a narrow Anti-Catastrophe Principle, designed for the most serious risks; close attention to costs and benefits; and an approach called ‘libertarian paternalism’, designed to respect freedom of choice while also moving people in directions that will make their lives go better. He also shows how free societies can protect liberty amidst fears about terrorism and national security. Laws of Fear represents a major statement from one of the most influential political and legal theorists writing today.

- A major statement on a very resonant theme from one of the most important and influential legal philosophers in the world today
- Indicates close links between environmentalist rhetoric about global warming and the war in Iraq, even the war on terror

The Seeley Lectures, 6
- 2005 216 x 138 mm 258pp
- 0 521 84823 7 Hardback £45.00
- 0 521 61512 7 Paperback £15.99
- Publication April 2005

Violent Democracy
Daniel Ross
Monash University, Victoria

This fascinating and provocative book will change the way you think about democracy. Challenging conventional wisdom, Daniel Ross shows how from its origins and into its globalized future, violence is an integral part of the democratic system. He draws on the examples of global terrorism and security, the wars in Iraq and Afghanistan, the relation of colonial powers to indigenous populations, and the treatment of asylum seekers. His analysis of these controversial issues moves beyond the comfortable stances of both left and right to show that democracy is violent, from its beginning and at its heart.

- Written with a rigorous, yet accessible, style which rejects specialist jargon and lengthy references to political and philosophical theory
- Posits the controversial theory that there is violence inherent in democracy
- Challenges the views of those on both the left and right of the political spectrum about issues from refugee policy to global terrorism

This highly-topical book examines how democracies are trying to cope with the potentially endless war on terrorism. The author argues that the origin and heart of democracy is essentially violent and that the threat of terrorist attack is not only exposing new forms of ‘democratic violence’ but could transform the very character of the democracies we seek to defend. Do we have the right, for example, to bring democracy to others by force? A revealing and disturbing work that every democratic leader should study while there is still time.”

Phillip Knightley, author of The Second Oldest Profession, a history of war correspondents and propaganda

- 2004 215 x 137 mm 192pp
- 0 521 60310 2 Paperback £15.99

The Ethics and Politics of Asylum
Liberal Democracy and the Response to Refugees
Matthew J. Gibney
University of Oxford

‘This is the only book length study available of the ethics of asylum. Gibney’s book weaves together theory and practice, combining a detailed empirical account of asylum policies in four countries with a sophisticated normative analysis. It is intelligent, perceptive, and lucidly written. Anyone interested in questions about refugees should read this book.’

Joseph H. Carens, University of Toronto

‘In this courageous work, Gibney undertakes a lucid critique of prescriptive theories regarding the obligations of liberal democracies to asylum-seekers and subjects their current practices to an unsparing examination. Far from academic exercises, these are the elements of a compelling this-worldly humanitarian approach that imposes itself to the attention of policy-makers and concerned activists.’

Arthur R. Zolberg, Walter P. Eberstadt Professor of Political Science, New School University

Contents:
- Sorry we killed you
- The great debate
- Border protection and alien friends
- Enemy combatants

Arts and Sciences
- 2004 228 x 152 mm 298pp
- 0 521 80417 5 Hardback £40.00
- 0 521 00937 5 Paperback £15.99

FORTHCOMING
Social Traps and the Problem of Trust
Bo Rothstein
Göteborgs Universitet, Sweden

A ‘social trap’ is a situation where individuals, groups or organisations are unable to cooperate owing to mutual distrust and lack of social capital, even where cooperation would benefit all. Examples include civil strife, pervasive corruption, ethnic discrimination, depletion of natural resources and misuse of social insurance systems. Much has been written attempting to explain the problem, but rather less material is available on how to escape it. In this book, Bo Rothstein explores how social capital and social trust are generated and what governments can do about it. He argues that it is the existence of universal and impartial political institutions together with public policies which enhance social and economic equality that creates social capital. By introducing the theory of collective memory into the discussion, Rothstein makes an empirical and theoretical claim for how universal institutions can be established.

- Explores the variation in corruption, civil strife, welfare and social trust among countries
- Examines how social capital and social trust are generated and what governments are doing about it
- Presents a theory on how the causal mechanisms between trust in political institutions and trust in other people work

Theories of Institutional Design
- 2005 228 x 152 mm 250pp 6 tables 5 figures
- 0 521 84829 6 Hardback c. £40.00
- 0 521 61282 9 Paperback c. £16.99
- Publication July 2005

NEW

Deliberative Politics in Action
Analyzing Parliamentary Discourse
Jürg Steiner
University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill
André Bächtiger
European University Institute, Florence
Markus Spöndli
Universität Bern, Switzerland
and Marco R. Steenbergen
University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill

This book provides the first extended empirical study of the role of conversation and arguments in politics, addressing in particular questions of the preconditions and consequences of high level deliberation. Using parliamentary debates in Germany, Switzerland, the United Kingdom and the United States as an empirical base, the authors measure the level of deliberation by constructing a ‘Discourse Quality Index’. As deliberative politics moves to the forefront of political theory, this book makes an important contribution to deliberative democracy.

Theories of Institutional Design
- 2005 228 x 152 mm 206pp 1 line diagram 15 tables
- 0 521 82871 6 Hardback £45.00
- 0 521 53564 6 Paperback £17.99

NEW

Minorities within Minorities
Equality, Rights and Diversity
Edited by Avigail Eisenberg
University of Victoria, British Columbia and Jeff Spinner-Halev
University of Nebraska, Lincoln

Groups around the world are increasingly successful in maintaining or winning autonomy. In light of this trend, a crucial question emerges: what happens to individuals within the groups who find that their group discriminates against them? This volume brings together distinguished scholars who examine the balance between group autonomy and individual rights in relation to conflicts involving gender, religion, culture, and indigenous rights in the national and international sphere. It is a valuable contribution on a topic of critical importance.

Contributors: Avigail Eisenberg, Jeff Spinner-Halev, Melissa S. Williams, Lucas Swaine, Susan Moller Okin, Gurpreet Mahajan, Anne Phillips, Alan Patten, Jacob T. Levy, Onaaghi Reitman, Rob Reich, Daniel M. Weinstock, Margaret Moore, Cindy Holder, Veit Bader, Monique Deveaux
- 2005 228 x 152 mm 402pp
- 0 521 84314 6 Hardback £40.00
- 0 521 60394 3 Paperback £17.99

NEW

Ethnicity, Nationalism, and Minority Rights
Edited by Stephen May University of Waikato, New Zealand
Tarig Modood
University of Bristol
and Judith Squires
University of Bristol

This interdisciplinary collection addresses the position of minorities in democratic societies, with a particular focus on minority rights and recognition. For the first time, it brings together leading international authorities on ethnicity, nationalism and minority rights from both social and political theory, with the aim of fostering further interdisciplinary debate. Topics addressed include the constructed nature of ethnicity, class and the ‘new racism’, different forms of nationalism, self determination and indigenous politics, the politics of recognition versus the politics of redistribution, and the re-emergence of cosmopolitanism.

Contributors: Stephen May, Tarig Modood, Judith Squires, Jan Nederveen Pieterse, Rogers Brubaker, Thomas Hylland Eriksen, Patricia Hill Collins, T. K. Oommen, Will Kymlicka, Iris Marion Young, Bikhru Parekh, Nita Yuval-Davis, Craig Calhoun
- 2004 228 x 152 mm 274pp 5 tables 1 figure
- 0 521 84249 8 Hardback £45.00
- 0 521 60317 X Paperback £19.99

FORTHCOMING

Approaches to Class Analysis
Edited by Erik Olin Wright
University of Wisconsin, Madison

The idea of class is hotly debated both in academic sociology and in popular culture. Some people believe that classes have largely dissolved in contemporary societies; others believe class remains one of the fundamental forms of social inequality and social power. Some see class as a narrow economic phenomenon whilst others adopt an expansive conception that includes cultural dimensions as well as economic conditions. This book surveys six different approaches to the analysis of class, exploring the range of views on this important topic.

electoral constituency itself, based on contemporary democratic theory and the history of political thought.

– 2005  234 x 156 mm  280pp  8 tables
– 0 521 84984 5 Hardback  £40.00
– Publication July 2005

NEW

Autonomy and the Challenges to Liberalism
Edited by John Christman
Pennsylvania State University and Joel Anderson
Washington University, St Louis

Autonomy and the Challenges to Liberalism contains for the first time new essays devoted to foundational questions regarding both the notion of the autonomous self and the nature and justification of liberalism.

– 2005  228 x 152 mm  400pp
– 0 521 83951 3 Hardback  £50.00
– Publication March 2005

NEW

The Practice of Liberal Pluralism
William Galston
University of Maryland, College Park

This book defends a theory, liberal pluralism, which is based on three core concepts – value pluralism, political pluralism, and expressive liberty – and explores the implications of this theory for politics. It helps clarify some of the complexities of real-world political action and points towards a distinctive conception of public philosophy and public policy.

– 2005  228 x 152 mm  216pp
– 0 521 84034 1 Hardback  £45.00
– 0 521 54963 9 Paperback  £17.99

NEW

Politics as a Christian Vocation
Faith and Democracy Today
Franklin I. Gamwell
University of Chicago

Politics as a Christian Vocation argues that Christian faith belongs in politics because it shares with democracy a full commitment to rational pursuit of the common good. The book also develops ideals of justice, and the tasks of political science in the 21st century. 4. Political science as a

– 2004  228 x 152 mm  432pp  1 figure
– 0 521 83317 4 Hardback  £45.00
– 0 521 53943 9 Paperback  £19.99

For monthly email alerts visit www.cambridge.org/eservices
• Presents a substantial argument, drawing on political philosophy, to provoke a broader and deeper response to this subject.

Contents: Introduction; 1. On hospitality: rereading Kant's cosmopolitan doctrine; 2. 'The right to have rights': Hannah Arendt and the contradictions of the nation-state; 3. The law of peoples, distributive justice and migrations; 4. Transformations of citizenship: the case of the European Union; 5. Democratic iterations: the local, the national and the global; Conclusion; References; Index.

On The Rule of Law
History, Politics, Theory
Brian Z. Tamanaha
St. John’s University School of Law, Jamaica
This book explores the history, politics, and theory surrounding the rule of law ideal. It examines the rules of law on a global level, and concludes by answering the question of whether the rule of law is a universal human good.

Justice and Democracy
Edited by Keith Dowding
London School of Economics and Political Science
Robert E. Goodin
Australian National University, Canberra
Carole Pateman
University of California, Los Angeles
Much has been written about social justice. Even more has been written about democracy. Rarely is the relationship between social justice and democracy carefully considered. Does justice require democracy? Will democracy bring justice? This volume brings together leading authors to consider the relationship of democracy and justice.

Confucian Ethics
A Comparative Study of Self, Autonomy, and Community
Edited by Kwong-Loi Shun
University of California, Berkeley
and David B. Wong
Duke University, North Carolina
The Chinese ethical tradition has often been thought to oppose Western views of the self as autonomous and possessed of individual rights with views that emphasize the centrality of relationship and community to the self. The essays in this collection discuss the validity of that contrast as it concerns Confucianism.

Condorcet and Modernity
David Williams
University of Sheffield
The Marquis de Condorcet was one of the few Enlightenment thinkers to witness, and indeed participate in, the French Revolution. Condorcet and Modernity is the first full treatment of Condorcet’s politics to appear in English for a generation, and a major contribution to Enlightenment studies from a senior scholar.

On The Rule of Law
History, Politics, Theory
Brian Z. Tamanaha
St. John’s University School of Law, Jamaica
This book explores the history, politics, and theory surrounding the rule of law ideal. It examines the rules of law on a global level, and concludes by answering the question of whether the rule of law is a universal human good.

The Politics of Liberty in England and Revolutionary America
Lee Ward
Kenyon College, Ohio
This study examines the philosophical origins of the Anglo-American political and constitutional tradition in seventeenth-century England, tracing the development of these ideas from the Glorious Revolution of 1688 and exploring the philosophical debate between British and Americans that lay at the root of the American Revolution.

Confucian Ethics
A Comparative Study of Self, Autonomy, and Community
Edited by Kwong-Loi Shun
University of California, Berkeley
and David B. Wong
Duke University, North Carolina
The Chinese ethical tradition has often been thought to oppose Western views of the self as autonomous and possessed of individual rights with views that emphasize the centrality of relationship and community to the self. The essays in this collection discuss the validity of that contrast as it concerns Confucianism.

Condorcet and Modernity
David Williams
University of Sheffield
The Marquis de Condorcet was one of the few Enlightenment thinkers to witness, and indeed participate in, the French Revolution. Condorcet and Modernity is the first full treatment of Condorcet’s politics to appear in English for a generation, and a major contribution to Enlightenment studies from a senior scholar.

On The Rule of Law
History, Politics, Theory
Brian Z. Tamanaha
St. John’s University School of Law, Jamaica
This book explores the history, politics, and theory surrounding the rule of law ideal. It examines the rules of law on a global level, and concludes by answering the question of whether the rule of law is a universal human good.

The Politics of Liberty in England and Revolutionary America
Lee Ward
Kenyon College, Ohio
This study examines the philosophical origins of the Anglo-American political and constitutional tradition in seventeenth-century England, tracing the development of these ideas from the Glorious Revolution of 1688 and exploring the philosophical debate between British and Americans that lay at the root of the American Revolution.

Confucian Ethics
A Comparative Study of Self, Autonomy, and Community
Edited by Kwong-Loi Shun
University of California, Berkeley
and David B. Wong
Duke University, North Carolina
The Chinese ethical tradition has often been thought to oppose Western views of the self as autonomous and possessed of individual rights with views that emphasize the centrality of relationship and community to the self. The essays in this collection discuss the validity of that contrast as it concerns Confucianism.

Condorcet and Modernity
David Williams
University of Sheffield
The Marquis de Condorcet was one of the few Enlightenment thinkers to witness, and indeed participate in, the French Revolution. Condorcet and Modernity is the first full treatment of Condorcet’s politics to appear in English for a generation, and a major contribution to Enlightenment studies from a senior scholar.

Satisficing and Maximizing
Moral Theorists on Practical Reason
Edited by Michael Byron
Kent State University, Ohio

How do we think about what we plan to do? One dominant answer is that we select the best possible option available. However, since we are not equipped to maximize we often choose the next best alternative, one that is no more than satisfactory. This strategy choice is called satisficing.

— 2004 228 x 152 mm 256pp 3 line diagrams
— 0 521 81149 X Hardback £40.00
— 0 521 01005 5 Paperback £16.99

NEW EDITION

Chomsky
Ideas and Ideals
Second edition
Neil Smith
University College London

Noam Chomsky is one of the leading intellectual figures of modern times. In this rigorous yet accessible account, Neil Smith analyses Chomsky’s contributions to the study of language and mind. This thoroughly revised second edition discusses Chomsky’s most recent work on linguistics, evolution, and the events of September 11th, 2001.

— 2004 228 x 152 mm 296pp
— 0 521 83788 X Hardback £45.00
— 0 521 54688 5 Paperback £16.99

NEW TEXTBOOK

Vickie B. Sullivan
Tufts University, Massachusetts

This book argues that some English writers of the seventeenth and early eighteenth centuries were not adherents to classical republicanism and hostile to liberalism, but contributed to a synthesis of the two. The synthesis they provide offers a politically engaged citizenry as well as the protection of individual rights.

— 2004 228 x 152 mm 294pp
— 0 521 83661 2 Hardback £45.00

Max Weber’s Politics of Civil Society
Sung Ho Kim
Yonsei University, Seoul

Kim’s new interpretation effectively highlights the relevance of Weber’s political thought for our time, in which civil society has once again become the dominant issue for a robust liberal democratic regime.

— 2004 228 x 152 mm 224pp
— 0 521 82057 X Hardback £40.00

The Ethics of Assistance
Morality and the Distant Needy
Edited by Deen K. Chatterjee
University of Utah

As globalization has deepened worldwide economic integration, moral and political philosophers have become increasingly concerned to assess duties to help needy people in foreign countries. The essays in this volume present the latest ideas on this important topic by authors who are leading figures in these debates.

Cambridge Studies in Philosophy and Public Policy

— 2004 228 x 152 mm 304pp
— 0 521 82042 1 Hardback £45.00
— 0 521 52742 2 Paperback £16.99

The Impact of the French Revolution
Iain Hampsher-Monk
University of Exeter

This book is an edited collection of the major writings of British political thinkers and activists responding to the French Revolution: the latter provoked a more fundamental debate on politics than anything since the Civil War. Often identified as the defining event of political modernity, the French Revolution set the terms for political debate and ideals for the following centuries. Not only ideals but more pervasive political principles emerged in this turbulent period. A full student introduction is followed by excerpts from Price, Burke, Wollstonecraft, Paine, Thelwall, Godwin and others.

Cambridge Readings in the History of Political Thought, 2

— 2005 247 x 174 mm 352pp 9 half-tones
— 0 521 57005 0 Hardback c. £45.00
— 0 521 57911 2 Paperback c. £19.99
— Publication June 2005

NEW

John Locke’s Politics of Moral Consensus
Greg Forster

The aim of this highly original book is twofold: to explain the reconciliation of religion and politics in the work of John Locke, and to explore the relevance of that reconciliation for politics in our own time. Confronted with deep social divisions over ultimate beliefs Locke sought to unite society in a single liberal community. Greg Forster demonstrates that Locke’s theory is liberal and rational but also moral and religious, providing an alternative to the two extremes of religious fanaticism and moral relativism.

— 2005 228 x 152 mm 336pp
— 0 521 84218 2 Hardback £45.00
— Publication March 2005

Contemporary Political Theory

Justice without Borders
Cosmopolitanism, Nationalism, and Patriotism
Kok-Chor Tan
University of Pennsylvania

Kok-Chor Tan argues that the cosmopolitan idea of global justice may be understood in such a way that it can accept some forms of nationalist and patriotic commitments without having to abandon its ideal of global equal concern. He argues that cosmopolitan justice need not deny the worth of the ordinary non-impartial values that matter to people even as it defends a vision of global egalitarianism. Properly understood, it can set the limits for the ordinary non-impartial values that matter to people even as it defends a vision of global egalitarianism. Properly understood, it can set the limits for nationalism and patriotic pursuits without denying the moral independence of these partial pursuits.

Contemporary Political Theory

— 2004 228 x 152 mm 234pp
— 0 521 83454 6 Hardback £40.00
— 0 521 54252 4 Paperback £15.99

NEW

The Idea of the State
Peter J. Steinberger
Reed College, Oregon

For a half-century or more, political theory has been characterized by a pronounced distrust of metaphysical or ontological speculation. Such a disposition has been sharply at odds with influential currents in post-war philosophy where metaphysical issues have become a central preoccupation. The Idea of the State seeks to reaffirm the importance of systematic philosophical inquiry into the foundations of political life, and to show how such an approach can cast a new and instructive light on a variety of controversial, seemingly intractable problems of tolerance, civil disobedience, democracy and consent.

Contemporary Political Theory
-- 2005 228 x 152 mm 320pp
-- 0 521 84214 X Hardcover £45.00

Violence and Democracy
John Keane
University of Westminster

'Keane's is a learned, at times almost magisterial, book. He writes easily and with grace about a variety of relevant topics from liberal political theory to contemporary apocalyptic terrorism, from Sorel to Muslim fundamentalism. At every turn the reader is taken on a gambit into a relevant literature and comes away braced by the journey. It is descriptively ambitious yet energized by a normative argument. It is as current as today's politics yet in touch with classic traditions in political theory and sociology. As a result, Violence and Democracy is impressive indeed.'

Austin D. Sarat, Amherst College, Massachusetts

Contemporary Political Theory
-- 2004 228 x 152 mm 226pp
-- 0 521 83699 9 Hardcover £40.00
-- 0 521 54544 7 Paperback £14.99

Global Civil Society?
John Keane
University of Westminster

The most learned, erudite, and encompassing book on the global civil society of this century.

Amitai Etzioni, author of The New Golden Rule

'John Keane's book is an imaginative and productive experiment in contemporary democratic thinking. It is challenging and provocative, and it provides structured orientation in a wide, confusing and unsettled field.'

Hans-Jürgen Pathe, University of Frankfurt

'John Keane has applied his sharp intellect and moral commitments to a topic of political importance but persistent conceptual confusion to produce a book of forceful clarity and coherence. A sparkling contribution to contemporary political thought.'

Bryan Turner, University of Cambridge

Contemporary Political Theory
-- 2003 228 x 152 mm 234pp 2 line diagrams
-- 0 521 81543 6 Hardcover £40.00
-- 0 521 89462 X Paperback £14.99

APSA PRIZE WINNER

Democracy Defended
Gerry Mackie
University of Notre Dame, Indiana

'This brilliant counterrevolutionary book makes a frontal attack on the widely accepted claim that Kenneth Arrow's impossibility theorem for social choice shows democracy to be impossible, arbitrary, and meaningless. In delightfully direct and jargon-free language, Mackie demolishes the theoretical and empirical bases for this claim, notably in the strong version defended by William Riker and his students. His careful and exhaustive re-examination of all the instances on which Riker based his arguments is particularly valuable. At the same time, he puts up a strong defence -- two cheers at least -- for the institutions of representative democracy. After this vigorous and rigorous attack, social choice theory will never be the same again.'

Jon Elster, Columbia University

'It is democracy desirable? Is it even feasible? Much of the work in formal political analysis comes to a negative conclusion on both questions, leading researchers to believe that democracy is incoherent. In this remarkable book, Gerry Mackie has taken a position that contradicts most of the received results of the past fifty years. But he has done more than simply critique the existing work. He weaves together the notes of a paean to democracy, as it is actually practiced in the political world... The book is well-written, both in its scholarly and polemical voices. Some readers will be informed, and others will be outraged, by the arguments marshalled here. But anyone who is seriously interested in democracy or democratisation simply must give this book a close and thoughtful read.'

Michael Manzer, Duke University

Contemporary Political Theory
-- 2003 228 x 152 mm 500pp 5 line diagrams 90 tables
-- 0 521 82708 6 Hardcover £60.00
-- 0 521 53431 3 Paperback £21.99

Moses Hess: The Holy History of Mankind and Other Writings
Edited and translated by Shlomo Avineri
Hebrew University of Jerusalem

Moses Hess is a major figure in the development of both early communist and Zionist thought. The Holy History of Mankind appeared in 1837, and was the first book-length socialist tract to appear in Germany, representing an unusual synthesis of Judaism and Christianity. The distinguished political scientist Shlomo Avineri provides the first full English translation of this classic text, along with new renditions of Sozialismus and Kommunismus and Ein Kommunistisches Bekenntnis. All of the usual student-friendly series features of historical depth and theoretical acuity that have made Smith one of the most respected and influential political scientists of his generation.'

David A. Hollinger, University of California, Berkeley, author of Postethnic America

'Rogers M. Smith is the most original political scientist of his generation. His previous scholarship has transformed understanding of the American political tradition. In Stories of Peoplehood: The Politics and Morals of Political Membership, Professor Smith achieves a comparable revision of the idea of nationalist sentiment. In a book of formidable erudition and learning, Smith succeeds brilliantly in reviewing the vast literature on nationalism, reformulating it into a highly innovative and important thesis about peoplehood and demonstrating the analytical purchase of the derived 'ethically constitutive stories' as an approach to building better societies. Written in elegant prose, Smith's argument is illustrated with a dazzling array of examples, historical and contemporary, imagined and real. Many social scientists decry the need for scholarship engaged with real political and social problems but few succeed as impressively as Rogers Smith does here. This is political science for our times, applying rigorous analysis to compelling moral challenges. I cannot recommend the book too strongly to social scientists, political theorists and historians.'

Desmond S. King, Andrew W. Mellon Professor of American Government, University of Oxford

Contemporary Political Theory
-- 2003 228 x 152 mm 248pp
-- 0 521 81303 4 Hardcover £45.00
-- 0 521 52003 7 Paperback £16.99

Cambridge Texts in the History of Political Thought

Stories of Peoplehood
The Politics and Morals of Political Membership
Rogers M. Smith
University of Pennsylvania

'Rogers Smith's fresh and incisive intervention in debates about national solidarity exemplifies the combination..."
are provided, including a chronology, concise introduction and notes for further reading.

Contents: Introduction; Note on the text; Chronology; Bibliographical note; The Holy History of Mankind; Socialism and Communism; A Communist Credo; Consequences of a Future Revolution of the Proletariat; Appendix: Christ and Spinoza (from Rome and Jerusalem: The Last Nationality Question); Index.

Cambridge Texts in the History of Political Thought
- 2004 216 x 138 mm 192pp
- 0 521 38347 1 Hardback £40.00
- 0 521 38756 6 Paperback £15.99

Margaret Cavendish: Political Writings
Edited by Susan James
Birkbeck College, University of London
This major contribution to the series of Cambridge Texts includes the first ever modern edition of the Divers Orations of Margaret Cavendish, together with a new rendition of her classic imaginary voyage, A New World called the Blazing World. Susan James provides all of the usual student-friendly editorial features.

Contents: Preface; Introduction; Chronology of Margaret Cavendish; Further Reading; The Description of a New World, Called The Blazing World; Orations of Divers Sorts, Accommodated to Divers Places; Index.

Cambridge Texts in the History of Political Thought
- 2003 216 x 138 mm 344pp
- 0 521 63348 4 Hardback £47.50
- 0 521 63350 8 Paperback £17.99

Franklin: The Autobiography and other Writings on Politics, Economics, and Virtue
Edited by Alan Houston
University of California, San Diego

Alan Houston seeks to bring clarity to our understanding of Benjamin Franklin’s political thought by making available, for the first time, a full and representative selection of his most important political writings. The entire text of the Autobiography is included alongside letters, essays, pamphlets, and manuscript notes.

Cambridge Texts in the History of Political Thought
- 2004 216 x 138 mm 442pp
- 0 521 83496 1 Hardback £40.00
- 0 521 84265 0 Paperback £17.99

Maitland: State, Trust and Corporation
Edited by David Runciman
University of Cambridge and Magnus Ryan
University of London

F.W. Maitland (1850–1906) is perhaps the most celebrated English historian since Gibbon. This book is a collection of his later essays about the historical origins of the state, and is designed to bring them to the attention of political theorists and political scientists, as well as historians.

Contents: Editors’ introduction; Note on the text; Bibliographical notes; Biographical notes; Glossary of technical terms; Preface; The Essays. 1. The corporation sole; 2. The Crown as corporation; 3. The unincorporate body; 4. Moral personality and legal personality; 5. Trust and corporation; Index.

Cambridge Texts in the History of Political Thought
- 2003 216 x 138 mm 200pp
- 0 521 82010 3 Hardback £45.00
- 0 521 52630 2 Paperback £15.99

Freedom of Speech in Early Stuart England
David Colclough
Queen Mary, University of London

Describing a central episode in the history of free speech, David Colclough shows that in early seventeenth-century England people had a highly developed language in which to claim freedom of speech as both a right and duty, uncovering an alternative tradition to the one that dominates much modern political theory. Dr Colclough assesses a wide range of literary and non-literary texts, and his differs from other studies of the history of rights in its concentration on both the local conditions and the long traditions in which free speech was debated.

Ideas in Context
- NEW

The Greek Tradition in Republican Thought
Eric Nelson
Trinity College, Cambridge

The Greek Tradition in Republican Thought traces the influence of ancient Greek sources on the development of republican theory in Europe and America. It argues that an important tradition of republican thought, derived from the central texts of Greek moral and political philosophy, emerged in sixteenth century England, and contributed significantly to the ideological framework both of the English Civil Wars and the American Founding. Dr Nelson offers significant reinterpretations of several central texts of European political theory, as well as a radical reappraisal of ancient Roman historiography.

Jesuit Political Thought
The Society of Jesus and the State, c.1540–1630

Harro Hopfl
University of Lancaster

Despite the significance of the Society of Jesus in Counter-Reformation Europe and beyond, important issues relating to this society’s collective history are little understood, leading to unfounded myths. How far did the Society of Jesus develop and maintain a distinctive position on key questions of political thought such as ruler authority, the character and scope of positive law, the limits of obedience and the right to resist? Harro Hopfl presents here the first full-length study of Jesuit thinking about the secular world, analysed in its proper historical context.

Ideas in Context
- 2004 228 x 152 mm 320pp
- 0 521 83945 9 Hardback £45.00

Machiavelli and Empire
Mikael Hörmqvist
Uppsala Universitet, Sweden

Mikael Hörmqvist’s study of the political theory of Machiavelli offers an original and challenging reading of a number of celebrated texts. Exploring the political and intellectual contexts within which Machiavelli’s political vision was formed, it establishes the importance of empire in Machiavelli’s thought and situates his work in a tradition of Florentine imperialist republicanism dating back to the late thirteenth-century. The result is a revealing account of Machiavelli’s characteristic preoccupations and how they came to be formed. This is a distinctive and important work.

Ideas in Context
- 2004 228 x 152 mm 426pp
- 0 521 83779 0 Hardback £45.00
- 0 521 83545 3 Hardback £40.00

For monthly email alerts visit www.cambridge.org/eservices
authors provide a sophisticated well as presenting new data, the voluntary activities, and of the beliefs surveys of political participation and presents the first major empirical study mean to be a British citizen in the early conceptions of citizenship. What does it changes in society and the economy which are undermining the effectiveness of democracy and weakening traditional understandings of civic attitudes in Britain today and will appeal to students, researchers and policy-makers.

- Citizenship is a very hot topic at the moment (apathy, low voter turnouts etc.)
- This book presents the first comprehensive survey of citizenship in Britain, both of participations and beliefs
- Seyd and Whiteley’s work on UK political parties has been discussed frequently in the UK press

'A marvelous book; so well-written that it cannot be put down. It covers all you might want to know about British citizenship, from attitudes to behaviour, from participation in politics to what people do about their neighbourhood and about the causes they support. And when one closes the volume on finds that one is, as the authors are, cautiously optimistic.' Professor Jean Blondel, European University Institute and University of Siena

'It is challenging conclusion to an impressive and important book that should be required reading for everyone in public service, elected and non-elected, wanting to understand how society ticks today.'

www.publicservice.co.uk

- 2004 228 x 152 mm 364pp 93 tables 30 figures
- 0 521 82732 9 Hardback £45.00
- 0 521 82769 8 Hardback £60.00

British Journal of Political Science

Editors: Sarah Birch
University of Essex
David Sanders
University of Essex
and Hugh Ward
University of Essex

British Journal of Political Science is a broadly based journal aiming to cover developments across a wide range of countries and specialisms. Contributions are drawn from all fields of political science (including political theory, political behaviour, public policy and international relations), and articles from scholars in related disciplines (sociology, social psychology, economics and philosophy) appear frequently. With a reputation established over 30 years of publication, British Journal of Political Science is widely recognised as one of the premier journals in its field.
trenchant and illuminating response, which reaffirms the central themes of his earlier analysis. There are few questions in European politics as important as the future development of Germany, and this book makes a timely and valuable contribution to our understanding of Germany’s problems as well as Germany’s potential.”

Andrew Gamble, University of Sheffield

‘This book gives an in-depth and authoritative assessment of the problems and challenges Europe’s largest country is facing today and in the years to come.’

Prof. Dr. Joachim Glaessner, Humboldt-University Berlin

‘With perfect timing, Green and Paterson, together with their all-star contributors, address the critical governance issues now confronting the unified German polity. This book adds a new dimension to our understanding of political development in Germany and elsewhere.’

David P. Connad, author of The German Polity, East Carolina University

‘... Peter Katzenstein provided a classic analysis of the political and institutional factors which underpinned West Germany’s remarkable post-war Renaissance and created a distinctive polity and society... These essays present an authoritative, penetrating and wide-ranging exploration of Modell Deutschland and its prospects, and Peter Katzenstein supplies a

FORTHCOMING

Europe and the Recognition of New States in Yugoslavia
Richard Caplan
University of Oxford

Europe’s recognition of new states in Yugoslavia remains one of the most controversial episodes in the Yugoslav crisis. Richard Caplan offers a detailed narrative of events, examining the strategic logic and consequences of the EC’s actions. The book also explores the wider implications, offering insights into European security policy at the end of the Cold War, the relationship of international law to international relations and the management of ethnic conflict.

— 2005 228 x 152 mm 250pp 2 maps
— 0 521 82176 2 Hardback c. £40.00
— Publication September 2005

NEW

Solidarity in Europe
The History of an Idea
Steinar Stjørne
Universitetet i Oslo

Solidarity in Europe is a comprehensive study of the idea of solidarity. It covers social and political theory, Protestant and Catholic social ethics, and the development of the concept of solidarity in eight European nations — Germany, United Kingdom, France, Italy, Spain, Sweden, Norway and Denmark. How has solidarity been defined, and how has it changed from the early 19th century until today? This unique book systematically compares the many different conceptions of this central political idea held by Europeans over the past two centuries.

— 2005 228 x 152 mm 406pp 29 tables
— 0 521 84394 4 Hardback £48.00
— Publication February 2005

The Enlargement of the European Union and NATO
Ordering from the Menu in Central Europe
Wade Jacoby
Brigham Young University, Utah

In 2004 the European Union and NATO will each add ten new member states, most from the post-communist countries of Eastern and Central Europe. In order to qualify for membership, these countries had to make thousands of changes. They often emulated practices common in Western Europe, sometimes resulting in more effective and efficient institutions, sometimes resulting in a fiasco. Professor Jacoby examines empirical cases in agriculture, regional policy, consumer protection, health care, civilian control of the military, and military professionalism from Hungary, the Czech Republic, Poland, Bulgaria, and the Ukraine.

- Up-to-date summary of EU and NATO expansion (through Thessalonica European Council and war in Iraq)
- Only book focused on Central Europe’s efforts to emulate institutions, rules, and practices in Western Europe
- Links Central Europe’s emulation to the three most popular strands of institutionalist theory (rational, historical, and sociological)

- 2004 228 x 152 mm 300pp 3 line diagrams 14 tables
- 0 521 83559 0 Hardback £45.00

NEW

Europe and the Politics of Capabilities
Edited by Robert Salais and Robert Willeneuve

Focusing on the building of social Europe, this book breaks with the sterile debate between advocates of market-based solutions and their opponents (the supporters of traditional welfare states) and develops another political framework, ‘the capability approach’. Taking inspiration from the work of Amartya Sen, this book focuses on the effective freedom people need to achieve their goals in life and work. The result of ongoing collaboration between researchers and social actors, it will be appealing to social scientists, students, policy makers and all those concerned with the building of Europe.

- 2005 228 x 152 mm 328pp 10 tables 3 figures
- 0 521 83604 2 Hardback £50.00

Euros and Europeans
Monetary Integration and the European Model of Society
Edited by Andrew Martin
Harvard University, Massachusetts
and George Ross
Brandeis University, Massachusetts

This book analyzes the tensions between monetary integration, culminating in Economic and Monetary Union (EMU), and the social and employment policies which define the ‘European social model’. Through the policies of the European Central Bank, EMU has led to pressure to make Europe’s labor markets as ‘flexible’ as America’s. In this book, leading scholars ask whether this will erode the European social model or whether domestic political forces committed to national variants of the model can maintain the greater protection it provides against economic insecurity, inequality, and employer power.

Contributors: Andrew Martin, George Ross, Alberta Sbragia, Nico A. Siegel, Vincent Dellia Sala, Sofia A. Pérez, Jos De Beus, Philippe Pochet, Kevin Featherstone, Anton Hemerijck, Maurizio Ferrera, Jon Erik Dohl

- 2004 228 x 152 mm 398pp 10 tables 3 figures
- 0 521 83570 4 Hardback £40.00
- 0 521 54363 0 Paperback £18.99

FORTHCOMING

The Internationalisation of Asset Ownership in Europe
Edited by Harry Huizinga
Universiteit van Tilburg and Lars Junong
European Commission, Brussels

Financial markets in Europe are increasingly integrated, leading to a rise in foreign ownership of assets. This volume provides an authoritative analysis of the evolution and implications of this process in Europe today. The collected studies present new data on the extent of foreign ownership in Europe and analyse some of the major challenges it creates for policymakers at both European and national level. This thorough investigation of financial market integration in Europe will be of great interest to economists and policy institutions alike.

- 2005 228 x 152 mm 331pp 56 tables 53 figures
- 0 521 85295 1 Hardback c. £50.00
- Publication September 2005

Building a Dynamic Europe
The Key Policy Debates
Edited by Jordi Gual
IESE Business School, Barcelona

This volume offers a timely and authoritative analysis of the key economic policy challenges facing the EU today. Written by leading thinkers in the field, it examines policy reforms in areas such as energy, financial services, macroeconomic policy co-ordination, labour markets and welfare state institutions.

- 2005 228 x 152 mm 180pp 10 line diagrams 7 tables
- 0 521 82734 5 Hardback £25.00

European Integration, 1950–2003
Superstate or New Market Economy?
John Gillingham
University of Missouri, St Louis

‘John Gillingham has produced an excellent, up-to-date history of the EU which overturns many preconceived ideas and challenges the views of Eurofanatics and Eurosceptics alike. It is a dazzling performance, full of paradoxes and ironies and some very funny lines. If anyone wants to know what little actually works in the EU and why, this is the book to read. It is acridly critical yet economically rational. It leaves the usual hagiographical histories of European bureaucracy way behind. Every student of post-war Europe will have to come to terms with it. It is an astounding achievement.’

Alan Sked, Department of International History, London School of Economics, formerly Convener of European Studies

- 2003 228 x 152 mm 608pp
- 0 521 81317 4 Hardback £47.50

FORTHCOMING

From Elections to Democracy
Building Accountable Government in Hungary and Poland
Susan Rose-Ackerman
Yale University, Connecticut

This study documents the weaknesses of public oversight and participation in policymaking in Hungary and Poland. It discusses five alternative routes to accountability including European Union oversight, constitutional institutions such as presidents and courts, devolution to lower-level governments, the use of neo-corporatist bodies, and open-ended participation rights.

- 2005 228 x 152 mm 272pp 15 tables
- 0 521 84383 9 Hardback c. £35.00
- Publication May 2005
Restructuring Territoriality
Europe and the United States Compared
Edited by Christopher K. Ansell
University of California, Berkeley
and Giuseppe Di Palma
University of California, Berkeley
Are globalization, internationalization, and Europeanization conspiring to unbundle territoriality? If so, are sovereignty, citizenship, the welfare state, and democracy unraveling as well? Is a new post-national, non-territorial form of political organization, heralded by the EU, being born? Focusing on Europe, this volume explores these issues from substantive and theoretical perspectives.

— 2004 228 x 152 mm 316pp 17 tables
— 0 521 82555 5 Hardback £40.00
— 0 521 52362 0 Paperback £16.99

France in Crisis
Welfare, Inequality, and Globalization since 1980
Timothy B. Smith
Queen’s University, Ontario
France is in crisis. In this provocative new book, Timothy Smith argues that the French economic and social model is collapsing inward on itself, the result of globalization, bad policies, and vested interests who employ the rhetoric of ‘solidarity’ and the specter of globalization to prevent change.

‘This is a remarkable and wonderful book. It should be read by those interested in all aspects of French culture and in the welfare state across the globe.’

Peter Baldwin, University of California

— 2004 228 x 152 mm 308pp 25 tables
— 0 521 84414 2 Hardback £40.00
— 0 521 60520 2 Paperback £15.99

Hitler, the Allies, and the Jews
Shlomo Aronson
Hebrew University of Jerusalem
Based on known and new records now available, this book explains when and why Hitler decided to destroy the Jews of Europe, the Allied refusal to deal with things Jewish in order to be able to fight Hitler, and the dilemmas of the Jewish leadership abroad.

— 2004 228 x 152 mm 406pp
— 0 521 83877 0 Hardback £48.00

NEW
How Russia is Not Ruled
Reflections on Russian Political Development
Allen C. Lynch
University of Virginia
How important is the state to Russia’s prospects, even as Russia tries to work out the contours of a stable and productive market-based economic system? What kind of political order corresponds to the challenges that Russia faces in the post-Soviet period? We argue that geography matters a great deal in the answer to these questions. The state remains central in compensating for the austere implications of economic geography for Russia’s economic prospects under market circumstances. Putin’s attempt to consolidate centralized state power may be interpreted usefully from this perspective.

— 2005 228 x 152 mm 288pp
— 0 521 84060 0 Hardback £40.00
— 0 521 54992 2 Paperback £15.99
— Publication March 2005

Russia in the 21st Century
The Prodigal Superpower
Steven Rosefielde
University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill
This book demonstrates Russia’s intention to re-emerge as a full-fledged superpower before 2010 that would challenge America and China and potentially threaten a new arms race. Contrary to conventional wisdom, this goal is easily within the Kremlin’s grasp, but the cost to the Russian people and global security would be immense. A sophisticated strategy is proposed to dissuade President Vladimir Putin from pursuing this destabilizing course. The cold war image of the Soviet Union is exposed as a statistical illusion. A critique of American foreign policymaking is also provided.

— 2005 228 x 152 mm 272pp 7 line diagrams 19 tables
— 0 521 83678 6 Hardback £40.00
— 0 521 54529 3 Paperback £16.99
— Publication February 2005

Restructuring Post-Communist Russia
Edited by Yitzhak Brudny
Hebrew University of Jerusalem
Jonathan Frankel
Hebrew University of Jerusalem
and Stefani Hoffman
Hebrew University of Jerusalem
The end of the Soviet Union was a world defining moment of the twentieth century, but what comes after Socialism? This collection of original essays is a general overview of political change in Russia since 1991. Topics covered include: national identity, demographic change, and the characteristics of Russian democracy.

— 2004 228 x 152 mm 300pp 4 line diagrams 3 tables
— 0 521 84027 9 Hardback £40.00

After the Collapse of Communism
Comparative Lessons of Transition
Edited by Michael McFaul
Stanford University, California
and Kathryn Stoner-Weiss
Stanford University, California
This book identifies in what ways the post-communist experience with transition has confirmed or confounded conventional theories of political and economic development. It is a rich array of essays examining vital aspects of the transitional decade following the Soviet collapse and the comparative lessons learned.

— 2004 228 x 152 mm 272pp 2 tables
— 0 521 83484 8 Hardback £45.00

Themes in European Governance
FORTHCOMING
Complying with Europe
EU Harmonisation and Soft Law in the Member States
Gerda Falkner
Institut für Höhere Studien, Wien
Oliver Treib
Institut für Höhere Studien, Wien
Miriam Hartlapp
Max-Planck-Institut für Gesellschaftsforschung, Cologne and Simone Leiber
Wirtschafts- und Sozialwissenschaftliches Institut in der Hans-Böckler-Stiftung, Düsseldorf
What does EU law truly mean for the member states? This book presents the first encompassing and in-depth empirical study of the effects of ‘voluntaristic’ and (partly) ‘soft’ EU policies in all 15 member states. The authors examine 90 case studies across a range of EU Directives and shed light on burning contemporary issues in political science, integration theory, and social policy. They reveal that there are major implementation failures and that, to date, the European Commission has not been able adequately to perform its control function.

Themes in European Governance
- 2004 228 x 152 mm 334pp 29 tables 66 graphs
- 0 521 82814 7 Hardback £45.00
- 0 521 53530 1 Paperback £17.99
- Publication May 2005

NEW

Law and Governance in Postnational Europe: Compliance Beyond the Nation-State
Edited by Michael Zürn
Wissenschaftszentrum Berlin für Sozialforschung and Christian Joerges
European University Institute, Florence

Arguing that legal rules can be implemented beyond national boundaries, this volume asks what accounts for compliance beyond the nation-state. The authors tackle this question by comparing compliance with regulations that have been formulated in a very similar way at different levels of governance. They demonstrate that nation states do not necessarily display the best compliance records and that a high degree of legalisation, verification and sanctioning systems seem to be more important than the presence of an agent that is able to enforce rules.

Themes in European Governance
- 2005 228 x 152 mm 312pp 23 tables
- 0 521 84135 6 Hardback £45.00
- 0 521 61513 5 Paperback £19.99

Immigration and Politics in the New Europe
Reinventing Borders
Gallya Lahav
State University of New York, Stony Brook

Immigration is a central issue in European politics. Gallya Lahav’s book places the issue in the context of a Europe where the logic of the single market clashes with national policymaking. The book shows how restrictive immigration policies have been adopted, despite the requirements of open borders.

‘...very detailed and empirically supported examination ... she provides a formidable explanation for attaining increased EU integration with a growing national level of influence in the immigration policy field ... Lahav’s contribution to the academic study of immigration unquestionably provides a landmark for further research.’
Journal of European Affairs

Themes in European Governance
- 2004 228 x 152 mm 334pp 29 tables 66 graphs
- 0 521 82814 7 Hardback £45.00
- 0 521 53530 1 Paperback £17.99

European Integration and Political Conflict
Edited by Gary Marks
University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill
and Marco R. Steenbergen
University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill

Over the past half-century, Europe has experienced the most radical reallocation of authority that has ever taken place in peace-time. This volume brings together a formidable group of scholars of European and comparative politics to investigate the new patterns of political conflict that are arising in the European Union.

‘... unlike many collections of this type, they do not read like a set of conference proceedings. The contributions come together successfully in order to form a coherent whole ... formidable theoretical and empirical combination ... this collection will be very useful to both students and researchers. Not only does it provide valuable insights into the relationship between European integration and political conflict, it also sets an agenda for future work in this area ... the text poses problems as often as it answers questions.’
Journal of European Affairs

Contributors: Marco R. Steenbergen, Gary Marks, Christopher J. Anderson, Matthew J. Gabel, Cees Van Der Eljik, Mark N. Franklin, Leonard Ray, Adam P. Brinegar, Seth K. Jolly, Herbert Kitschelt, Matthew J. Gabel, Simon Hix, Liesbet Hooghe, Carole J. Wilson, Jacques J. A. Thomassen, Abdul G. Nouy, Erik Voeten, David Scott, Bernhard Wessels, Doug Imig

Themes in European Governance
- 2003 228 x 152 mm 308pp 13 tables 1 figure
- 0 521 83135 0 Hardback £50.00
- 0 521 53861 0 Paperback £18.99

Europe’s Foreign and Security Policy
The Institutionalization of Cooperation
Michael E. Smith
Georgia State University

Michael Smith analyses the growth of foreign and security policy cooperation between member states of the EU and examines the dynamics that have produced the current policy process. This perceptive, well-informed analysis draws on extensive empirical evidence, including interviews and official documents.

Themes in European Governance
- 2003 228 x 152 mm 308pp 13 tables 1 figure
- 0 521 83135 0 Hardback £50.00
- 0 521 53861 0 Paperback £18.99

JOURNAL

European Business Organization Law Review (EBOR)
Editor-in-Chief: Rainer Kulms
Max Planck Institute, Hamburg
Marketed and distributed for T.M.C Asser Press

The European Business Organization Law Review (EBOR) is a leading European publication addressing all legal aspects of business organization. The journal serves as a platform for articles, case-notes and book reviews to stimulate scholarly debate and to reflect the speed of how developments in the field translate into substantive law. Relying on scholars and business people, lawyers, economists and other disciplines, and with an international editorial board, the journal looks at the whole range of problems relevant to business activities and the corresponding national, European Community and international legal rules. The journal will be of interest both to academia and practitioners in law and business, as well as political and social scientists.
American Politics

HIGHLIGHT

America Alone
The Neo-Conservatives and the Global Order
Stefan Halper
University of Cambridge and Jonathan Clarke
Cato Institute, Washington DC

America’s immense military power is of concern to all. Used wisely, it can preserve freedom; used unwisely, it will fracture global stability. So long as neo-conservative radicals dominate the American national security process, fracture is more likely. Hence, Americans will see increasing threats in the future. This important book identifies, clearly and for the first time, who these people are and what their agenda is. It offers an alternative approach based upon the mainstream principles that have successfully guided American diplomacy for half a century.

• Insider critique of the Bush Administration, featuring the first in-depth coverage of people controlling American foreign policy
• How the Iraq War cost America blood, money, and credibility abroad and reduced freedom at home — yet, beyond toppling Saddam Hussein, brought few benefits
• How neo-conservatives hijacked the war on terrorism for their own purposes
• Details what’s at stake for America internationally and why policy changes are necessary
• Unique, informative view of the presidential election and national political debate

‘An in-depth survey of the intellectual development of neo-conservative thought over the last quarter century. Whether or not you agree with the book’s conclusions, it is a must-read for anyone interested in the making of U.S. foreign policy in the 21st century.’

‘This book dissects the American neo-conservatives and their ideology. It traces their intellectual and political connections; their rise to influence and then to power in Washington and passes judgement on their effects on US domestic politics and US foreign policy. You do not need to agree with the authors’ every word to find this powerful critique of an important contemporary stream in American thinking enlightening and thought provoking.’
Dame Pauline Neville-Jones, Former Political Director of the British Foreign Office

‘Most critics of the war on Iraq belong to liberal, internationalist, American Democrat or European traditions. This book is a damning indictment by mainstream U.S. Republicans with long experience in government. It traces the rise of the neo-conservatives, their influence through think-tanks and the media, their obsession with Israel and the Middle East and their conversion of the Pentagon and President George W. Bush to a Manichean unilateralist foreign policy in which force is the preferred option. ‘Know your enemy’ is always good policy; ‘know your friends’ is also a good principle and there is much in this book that should give supporters of British and American policy in Iraq pause for thought.’
Sir Roger Tomkys, British Ambassador to Bahrain (1981–84) and Syria (1984–86)

constitutional interpretation is already and always structured. It makes this argument in terms of the first principle of the American political system: by their fidelity to the Constitution, Americans are a textual people in that they live in and through the terms of a fundamental text.

— 2005 228 x 152 mm 320pp 4 line diagrams
— 0 521 84558 8 Hardback £45.00
— 0 521 60779 5 Paperback £19.99
— Publication June 2005

FORTHCOMING

The Supreme Court and the American Legal System
Jeffrey A. Segal
Harold J. Spaeth
and Sara C. Benesh

This book examines the American legal system, including a comprehensive treatment of the U.S. Supreme Court. Despite this treatment, the “in” from the title deserves emphasis, for it extensively examines lower courts, providing separate chapters on state courts, the US District Courts, and the US Courts of Appeals. The book analyzes these courts from a legal/extralegal framework, drawing different conclusions about the relative influence of each based on institutional structures and empirical evidence. The book is also tied together through its attention to the relationship between lower courts and the Supreme Court. Additionally, Election 2000 litigation provides a common substantive topic linking many of the chapters. Finally, it provides extended coverage to the legal process, with separate chapters on civil procedure, evidence, and criminal procedure.

— 2005 234 x 156 mm 405pp 28 line diagrams 57 tables
— 0 521 78038 1 Hardback £35.00
— 0 521 78508 1 Paperback £19.99
— Publication July 2005

Cold War and in the lead up to and invasion of Iraq. It presents a portrait of the life and work of the original small group of neoconservatives including Irving Kristol, Norman Podhoretz, and Sidney Hook. This group has grown into a new generation who operate as columnists in conservative think-tanks like The Heritage and The American Enterprise Institute, in education, and in government including such figures as Paul Wolfowitz, Richard Perle and Elliot Abrams. The book suggests the neocons have been so significant in reshaping modern American conservatism and public policy that they constitute a neoconservative revolution.

— 2005 228 x 152 mm 312pp
— 0 521 83656 5 Hardback £20.00
— Publication June 2005

NEW

Housing Segregation in Suburban America since 1960
Presidential and Judicial Politics
Charles M. Lamb
State University of New York, Buffalo

This book examines national fair housing policy from 1960 through 2000 in the context of the American presidency and the country’s segregated suburban housing market. It argues that a principal reason for suburban housing segregation lies in Richard Nixon’s 1971 fair housing policy, which directed Federal agencies not to place pressure on suburbs to accept low-income housing. Nixon’s fair housing legacy is then traced through each presidential administration from Gerald Ford to Bill Clinton and detected in the decisions of Nixon’s Federal Court appointees.

— 2005 228 x 152 mm 320pp 9 half-tones 9 tables
— 0 521 83944 0 Hardback £45.00
— 0 521 54827 6 Paperback £18.99
— Publication March 2005

NEW

Term Limits and the Dismantling of State Legislative Professionalism
Thad Kousser
University of California, San Diego

This is the first book-length study of the effects that term limit laws - restrictions on the number of years for which legislators can serve - have had on politics and policy in American states. It combines interviews of Capitol insiders with archival records and statistical analyses. The final conclusion - that term limits have made professional legislatures more like citizen houses, turning back the clock on American state politics - bears relevance to the current debate over the wisdom of term limits.

— 2005 228 x 152 mm 288pp 29 line diagrams 32 tables 2 maps
— 0 521 83985 8 Hardback £45.00
— 0 521 54873 X Paperback £17.99

NEW

Restoring Free Speech and Liberty on Campus
Donald A. Downs

This book deals with the decline of respect for free speech, academic freedom, and civil liberty that has swept higher education in America over the last decade and a half and with what needs to be done to reverse this trend. Drawing on personal experience as well as research, Downs analyzes the origins and development of the problem, and shows how political organization of students and faculty can lead to constructive change. He presents four case studies that illustrate this thesis.

— 2005 228 x 152 mm 320pp 3 line diagrams
— 0 521 83987 4 Hardback £25.00
— Publication February 2005

Tides of Consent
How Public Opinion Shapes American Politics
James A. Stimson
University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill

This booktracks movement in American public opinion, examining moods for public policy that cycle over decades. It looks at shorter term movements as the public approves or disapproves of politicians, trusts or distrusts government. Distinctively, it focuses always on locating the unobserved true opinion that lies beneath, turning away from the superficial polls by which we come to know the real thing. It argues that public opinion is decisive in American politics and locates the citizens who produce this influential change as a quite small subset of the American electorate.

— 2004 228 x 152 mm 206pp 43 line diagrams 1 table
— 0 521 84134 8 Hardback £40.00
— 0 521 60117 7 Paperback £14.99

FORTHCOMING

The Neoconservative Revolution
Jewish Intellectuals and the Shaping of Public Policy
Murray Friedman
Temple University, Philadelphia

This book suggests that Jews and Jewish intellectuals have played a considerable role in the development of modern American conservatism. The focus is on the rise of a group of Jewish intellectuals and activists known as neoconservatives who began to impact on American public policy during the
The Dynamic Constitution
An Introduction to American Constitutional Law
Richard H. Fallon
Harvard University, Massachusetts

Harvard law professor Richard H. Fallon introduces non-lawyers to the workings of American Constitutional Law. He writes with clarity and rigor about leading constitutional doctrines and issues, including the freedom of speech, the freedom of religion, the guarantee of equal protection, rights to fair procedures, and rights to privacy and sexual autonomy. Along the way, Fallon describes many of the fascinating cases and personalities that have shaped constitutional law. He shows how historical, cultural, and other factors have influenced constitutional adjudication, making clear the dynamic nature of the Constitution.

– 2004 228 x 152 mm 358pp
– 0 521 84094 5 Hardback £25.00

NEW IN PAPERBACK
Natural Rights and the Right to Choose
Hadley Arkes
Amherst College, Massachusetts

The American political class has talked itself out of the doctrines of ‘natural rights’ that formed the main teaching of the American Founders. In the name of ‘privacy’, vast new liberties have been claimed, all of them bound up in some way with the notion of sexual freedom. Hadley Arkes argues that the ‘right to choose an abortion’ overturned the liberal jurisprudence of the New Deal, so that if there is a right to abortion, it has been detached from the logic of natural rights and stripped of moral substance.

– 2004 228 x 152 mm 330pp
– 0 521 60478 8 Paperback £16.99

Greasing the Wheels Using Pork Barrel Projects to Build Majority Coalitions in Congress
Diana Evans
Trinity College, Hartford, Connecticut

This book examines how Congressional leaders and the president give pork barrel projects to Congress members’ districts to buy votes for broad-based national legislation. Many political leaders are willing to pay the cost of this trade-off in order to enact the broader public policies that they favor.

– 2004 228 x 152 mm 280pp 26 tables
– 0 521 83681 6 Hardback £40.00
– 0 521 54323 2 Paperback £16.99

NEW
‘Stony the Road’ to Change
Black Mississippians and the Culture of Social Relations
Marilyn M. Thomas-Houston
University of Florida

An intra-group study examining the impact of history, memory, space, and the concept of belonging on the social structure of a Southern, small-town, Black community. It uses the 1960s Civil Rights Movement as the point from which it forms a critique of the culture of social relations among Blacks.

– 2005 228 x 152 mm 232pp
– 0 521 82909 7 Hardback £40.00
– 0 521 53598 0 Paperback £17.99
– Publication February 2005

FORTHCOMING
Constructing Civil Liberties
Discontinuities in the Development of American Constitutional Law
Ken I. Kersch
Princeton University, New Jersey

This book is a revisionist account of the development of the Supreme Court’s modern civil liberties and civil rights jurisprudence. It explains that jurisprudence is the outgrowth of a sequence of highly particular progressive-reformist ideological currents, that formed the modern American state.

– 2004 228 x 152 mm 400pp
– 0 521 81178 3 Hardback £40.00
– 0 521 01055 1 Paperback £18.99

From Widgets to Digits Employment Regulation for the Changing Workplace
Katherine V. W. Stone
Cornell University, New York

From Widgets to Digits focuses on several specific areas that require new policy directions - employment discrimination, post-employment restraints, employee representation, health and retirement benefits, and income distribution. In each area, the author proposes a framework for employment regulation that can redress the inequities and vulnerabilities created by the emerging workplace.

– 2004 228 x 152 mm 312pp
– 0 521 82910 0 Hardback £45.00
– 0 521 53599 9 Paperback £17.99

The 2000 Presidential Election and the Foundations of Party Politics
Richard Johnston
University of British Columbia, Vancouver
Michael G. Hagen
Rutgers University, New Jersey
and Kathleen Hall Jamieson
University of Pennsylvania

The US electoral process is examined as an integrated event spanning a full year, drawing upon a data set massive in scale and novel in execution: the Annenberg 2000 Election Study. Using candidate appearances, news coverage, and campaign advertising, this provides the first integrated account of any US campaign.

– 2004 228 x 152 mm 216pp
– 0 521 83389 1 Hardback £45.00
– 0 521 89078 0 Paperback £16.99

Good Citizenship in America
David M. Ricci
Hebrew University of Jerusalem

Good Citizenship in America describes a civic ideal of who enjoys membership in the state and what obligations that entails, and traces its history in America. It follows civic trends from pre 1865 republicanism to the development, in the late twentieth century, of the ‘economic conscience’.

– 2004 228 x 152 mm 320pp 5 tables
– 0 521 83580 1 Hardback £45.00
– 0 521 54370 3 Paperback £17.99

The Search for American Political Development
Karen Orren
University of California, Los Angeles
and Stephen Skowronek
Yale University, Connecticut

A justification for studying politics historically, not only for what it reveals about the roots of contemporary political affairs but what it teaches about politics as an ongoing activity in time, anytime. The authors survey past and current scholarship, attempting to outline a course of study for the future.

– 2004 228 x 152 mm 246pp
– 0 521 83894 0 Hardback £45.00
– 0 521 54764 4 Paperback £16.99
The American Ballot Box in the Mid-Nineteenth Century
Richard Franklin Bensel
Cornell University, New York

By carefully examining political activity in and around the polling place in the nineteenth century, this book suggests some important caveats which must attend this conclusion. These caveats help to bridge the interpretive chasm now separating ethno-cultural descriptions of popular politics from political economic analyses of state and national policy-making.

– 2004 228 x 152 mm 320pp 5 tables
– 0 521 83101 6 Hardback £42.50
– 0 521 53786 X Paperback £18.95

Creative Conflict in African American Thought
Wilson Jeremiah Moses
Pennsylvania State University

Professor Moses has here revised and brought together essays that focus on the complexity of, and contradictions in, the thought of five major African-American intellectuals: Frederick Douglass, Alexander Crummell, Booker T. Washington, W. E. B. DuBois, and Marcus M. Garvey, questioning both popular and scholarly conceptions of them as villains or heroes.

– 2004 228 x 152 mm 326pp
– 0 521 82826 0 Hardback £45.00
– 0 521 53537 9 Paperback £17.95

Federal Taxation in America
A Short History
Edited by W. Elliot Brownlee
University of California, Santa Barbara

In this comprehensive historical overview of the US federal tax systems, Brownlee describes the five principal stages of federal taxation and the crises that led to their adoption - the formation of the republic, the Civil War, World War I, the Great Depression, and World War II.

Woodrow Wilson Center Press
– 2004 228 x 152 mm 304pp
– 0 521 83088 9 Hardback c. £40.00
– 0 521 54278 2 Paperback c. £14.99

Think Tanks, Public Policy, and the Politics of Expertise
Andrew Rich
City College, City University of New York

Think tanks have come to undermine the credibility with which experts and expertise are generally viewed by public officials. The book’s analysis is based on 135 in-depth interviews with officials at think tanks and those in the policymaking and funding organizations that draw upon and support their work.

– 2004 228 x 152 mm 270pp 9 line diagrams 22 tables
– 0 521 83029 X Hardback £45.00

Congress, Progressive Reform, and the New American State
Robert Harrison
University of Wales, Aberystwyth

Using a series of case-studies of congressional reform legislation during the early twentieth century, Congress, Progressive Reform and the New American State explores the nature of progressivism and the processes of political change which resulted in the establishment of the modern American state.

– 2004 228 x 152 mm 310pp 24 tables
– 0 521 82789 2 Hardback £45.00

NEW IN PAPERBACK
The New White Nationalism in America
Carol M. Swain
Vanderbilt University, Tennessee

Over the past decade, a new white nationalist movement has risen in America, with the potential for disrupting fragile race relations; it courts white Americans aggrieved over perceived racial double standards. Swain’s study is a wake-up call to all who cherish the Civil Rights Era vision of an integrated America.

– 2004 228 x 152 mm 556pp
– 0 521 54558 7 Paperback £16.95
Also available
– 0 521 80886 3 Hardback £45.00

NEW IN PAPERBACK
Kennedy and the Promise of the Sixties
W. J. Rorabaugh
University of Washington

Explores life in America during that brief promising moment in the early Sixties when John F. Kennedy was president.

The early Sixties was a period of marked political, social and cultural change. The old was swept away, and the country that the United States became began to be born.

‘Using the persona of John F. Kennedy as a central reference point, W. J. Rorabaugh shrewdly explores a critical time of transition in American cultural and political history. Concise but inclusive, always perceptive, this absorbing volume belongs on a short list of essential works about the 1960s.’
Alonzo Hamby, Ohio University

‘A welcome addition to the literature on the fourth American president to be slain while in office. Its brevity and readability ensure that Rorabaugh’s study should appeal to both historians and the general reading public.’

Howard Schweber
University of Wisconsin, Madison

This book is a comparative study of the American legal development in the mid-nineteenth century. Focusing on Illinois and Virginia, supported by observations from six additional states, the book traces the crucial formative moment in the development of an American system of common law in northern and southern courts.

– 2004 228 x 152 mm 304pp
– 0 521 82462 1 Hardback £45.00

NEW IN PAPERBACK
America and the Armenian Genocide of 1915
Edited by Jay Winter
Yale University, Connecticut

Before Rwanda and Bosnia, and before the Holocaust, the first genocide of the twentieth century happened in Turkish Armenia in 1915. Jay Winter has brought together a team of experts to examine how Americans learned of this catastrophe and how they tried to help its victims.

investment (FDI) in China, and FDI in general... an outstanding contribution... good example to students in that if one is motivated to understand and explain the world around us, good questions and simple analytical tools can take us a long way.'

Economic and Political Weekly

'... excellent... a refreshing and provocative perspective...'.

Political Studies Review

'... a fascinating and comprehensive story... this is a hugely impressive volume and an important addition to the literature on China's reform strategy and its relations with the global economy. It has a multitude of strengths: a wealth of well-deployed statistics, serious case-studies of firms, a questionnaire survey organized by the author and a Beijing University research centre, and above all an intelligent, logical and innovative argument... this volume surely makes Huang one of the world's most authoritative political economists currently writing on China.'

International Affairs

Cambridge Modern China Series

– 2005 228 x 152 mm 408pp
– 0 521 60886 4 Paperback £16.99
– Publication February 2005

Globalization and State Transformation in China

Yongnian Zheng
National University of Singapore

Zheng explores how China's leaders have embraced globalization and market-oriented modernization. While they have been open to Western ideas in rebuilding the economic system, they have been reluctant to import Western concepts of democracy. The author argues that this selectivity will impede China's progress in becoming a modern nation state.

Cambridge Asia-Pacific Studies

– 2004 228 x 152 mm 266pp 37 tables 4 figures
– 0 521 83050 8 Hardback £45.00
– 0 521 53750 9 Paperback £17.99

JOURNAL

The China Quarterly

Editor: Julia Strauss
School of Oriental and African Studies

Published for the School of Oriental and African Studies

The China Quarterly is the leading scholarly journal in its field, covering all aspects of contemporary China including Taiwan. Its interdisciplinary approach covers a range of subjects including anthropology/sociology, literature and the arts, business/economics, geography, history, international affairs, law, and politics. Edited to rigorous standards the journal publishes high-quality, authoritative research, keeping readers up to date with events in China.

Subscriptions

– Volumes 181-184 in 2005: March, June, September and December
Institutions print and electronic: £99/$154
Institutions print only: £89/$147
Institutions electronic only: £69/$115
Individuals print only: £40/$69
Students: £20/$35
Print ISSN 0305-7410
Electronic ISSN 1468-2648

Japan

A Sociology of Work in Japan

Ross Mouer
Monash University, Victoria

and Hirosuke Kawanishi
Waseda University, Japan

A comprehensive survey of the relationship between work and society in Japan explores the context for individual choices about work. These include the structuring of labour markets, social policy and the influences of globalization. The book affords penetrating insights into Japanese society and challenges current thinking on the subject.

Contemporary Japanese Society

– 2005 228 x 152 mm 323pp 56 tables 7 figures
– 0 521 65120 4 Hardback £40.00
– 0 521 65845 4 Paperback £18.99
– Publication April 2005

JOURNAL

Japanese Journal of Political Science

Executive Editor: Takashi Inoguchi

University of Tokyo

Editors: Ikuo Kabashima
University of Tokyo

Junko Kato
University of Tokyo

Michio Muramatsu
Kyoto University

Hideo Otake
Kyoto University

and Steven R. Reed

Chuo University

The Japanese Journal of Political Science is a broadly based journal aiming to cover developments across a wide range of countries and specialisms. Its scope is wide-ranging both in terms of subject matter and method. The journal features articles in all fields of political science, especially where these have a conceptual thrust including political theory, comparative politics, political behavior, political institutions, public policy, and international relations. At the same time, the journal seeks to attract the best comparative articles featuring Japan and East Asia.

Subscriptions

– Volume 6 in 2005: April, August and December
Institutions print and electronic: £99/$154
Institutions print only: £89/$147
Individuals print only: £50/$85
Institutions electronic only: £35/$58
Individuals print and electronic: £47/$78

Print ISSN 1468-1099
Electronic ISSN 1474-0060

NEW Asia

FORTHCOMING

Seeing the State
Goverance and Governmentality in India
Stuart Corbridge
London School of Economics and Political Science

Glyn Williams
Keele University

Manoj Srivastava
London School of Economics and Political Science

and Rene Veron
University of Guelph, Ontario

How do poor people in India understand and make use of the state in their daily lives? Drawing on their fieldwork and broad range of expertise, the authors of Seeing the State consider key debates in development studies on participation and good governance to answer these questions. Their work analyses the extent to which poorer people are able to engage the political process as citizens. The book will be of interest to students of anthropology, politics and development, as well as to those studying India more specifically.

Contemporary South Asia, 10
– 2005 228 x 152 mm 320pp 16 tables 9 figures
– 0 521 83479 1 Hardback £40.00
– 0 521 54255 3 Paperback £18.99
– Publication August 2005

Resisting Dictatorship
Repression and Protest in Southeast Asia
Vincent Boudreau
City College, City University of New York

Vincent Boudreau’s book compares strategies of repression and protest in post-war Burma, Indonesia and the Philippines. These alternative strategies shaped the social bases and opposition cultures available to dissidents, and in turn influenced their effectiveness. The author balances first-hand research with the social movements literature to consider the interactions between the regimes and their societies in the wake of repression, and with the subsequent emergence of democracy. This is a thought-provoking book, which offers a genuinely comparative study of dictatorship and resistance in Southeast Asia.
– 2004 228 x 152 mm 306pp 1 map
– 0 521 83989 0 Hardback £45.00

Votes and Violence
Electoral Competition and Ethnic Riots in India
Steven I. Wilkinson
Duke University, North Carolina

Why do Hindu-Muslim riots in India break out when and where they do? Why do some state governments in India prevent Hindu-Muslim riots while others do not or even help to incite violence? Wilkinson shows that riots are fomented to help win elections, and that state governments decide whether to stop them depending on electoral calculations about whether doing so will win or lose them voters. He tests this general explanation for riots using a dataset on riots and their causes as well as case studies of several Indian states.

Cambridge Studies in Comparative Politics
– 2004 228 x 152 mm 310pp 6 half-tones 5 maps
– 0 521 82916 X Hardback £45.00

Women and the State in Modern Indonesia
Susan Blackburn
Monash University, Victoria

Indonesian women have been organising themselves for about a century in a country that is renowned for its diversity, its recent change from authoritarian to democratic rule, and its selection of a woman president. What have women wanted the state to do for them, and, conversely, what interest has the Indonesian state had in women? This book is the first to examine such questions. It gives full weight to women’s voices by focussing on areas of greatest public controversy, such as polygamy, motherhood and violence.
– 2004 228 x 152 mm 268pp
– 0 521 84225 5 Hardback £45.00

Northeast Asia’s Stunted Regionalism
Bilateral Distrust in the Shadow of Globalization
Gilbert Rozman
Princeton University, New Jersey

A comprehensive picture of the pursuit of regionalism across Northeast Asia in the 15 years following the Cold War. In each of six periods, Rozman examines the evolving strategies of China, Japan, South Korea, and Russia, emphasizing the importance of bilateral relations while keeping in mind the globalizing US role.
– 2004 228 x 152 mm 412pp
– 0 521 83565 8 Hardback £65.00
– 0 521 54360 6 Paperback £21.99

Nationalism and Ethnic Conflict in Indonesia
Jacques Bertrand
University of Toronto

Bertrand explores religious and ethnic conflict in Indonesia, arguing that its increase in recent years is the result of Suharto’s long, authoritarian regime which left the country unprepared for change. The book is a major contribution to the understanding of conflict in an often misunderstood part of the world.

Cambridge Asia-Paciﬁc Studies
– 2004 228 x 152 mm 304pp
– 0 521 81889 3 Hardback £45.00
– 0 521 52444 6 Paperback £17.99

NEW

The Anglo-Maratha Campaigns and the Contest for India
The Struggle for Control of the South Asian Military Economy
Randolf G. S. Cooper
University of Cambridge

This book analyses the Anglo-Maratha Campaigns of 1803 which represented the last serious indigenous obstacle to the formation of the British Raj. It reexamines the campaigns and assumptions concerning ‘the Military Revolution’ and shows that British victory hinged on economics and military intelligence, not superior discipline, drill and technology.
– 2004 228 x 152 mm 456pp 11 maps
– 0 521 82444 3 Hardback £55.00

TEXTBOOK

Changing India
Bourgeois Revolution on the Subcontinent
Second edition
Robert W. Stern
Macquarie University, Sydney

Reviews of the first edition:
‘This small volume contains some of the most intelligent writing on contemporary India that one is likely to encounter ... Responsible for this success ... is a sustained narrative of the "bourgeois revolution" that (Stern) sees going on, and also an engaging register of language and argument.’
Burton Stein, South Asia Research

bourgeois revolution; Part II. Change from Above: 5. British imperialism, Indian nationalism and Muslim separatism; 6. Political and economic development in the Indian Union and its international politics.
- 2003 228 x 152 mm 268pp 4 tables 3 maps
- 0 521 81080 9 Hardback £47.50
- 0 521 00912 X Paperback £16.99

JOURNAL
International Journal of Asian Studies
Editor-in-Chief: Takeshi Hamashita
Kyoto University
Editors: Akinobu Kuroda
University of Tokyo
Gaynor Sekimori
University of Tokyo
Christian Daniels
Tokyo University of Foreign Studies
Linda Grove
Sophia University, Tokyo
and Yukio Ikemoto
University of Tokyo
Launched in 2004, The International Journal of Asian Studies (IJAS) is an interdisciplinary, English-language forum for research in the social sciences and humanities. IJAS examines Asia on a regional basis, emphasising patterns and tendencies that go beyond the borders of individual countries. While the Journal covers all regions of Asia, the primary focus is on eastern Asia, that is, Korea, China, Taiwan, Vietnam and Japan. As well as encouraging contributions from western scholars, IJAS focuses attention on the work of Asian scholars, in order to encourage multi-directional communication across the international Asian studies community. IJAS includes both themed and general issues.

Subscriptions
- Volume 2 in 2005: January and July
Institutions print and electronic: £84/£119
Institutions electronic only: £74/£104
Institutions print only: £79/£111
Individuals print only: £26/£39
Students: £15/£20
Print iSSN 1479-5914
Electronic iSSN 1479-5922

Middle East

NEW IN PAPERBACK
The Tragedy of the Middle East
Barry Rubin
Bar-Ilan University, Israel
The Middle East has changed clearly, substantially, and dramatically during the last decade. This book explains why the previous era came to end. Three interlinked themes are crucial to the book. First, a reinterpretation of the era of upheaval the Middle East has just passed through. Second, an evaluation of how the historical experience of the period between the 1940s and the 1990s undermined the old system. Third, an analysis of the region today that helps explain future developments as the Middle Eastern societies decide their relationships to the West.

‘Drawing on his decades of researching the region and his 18 earlier books, Rubin has produced a magisterial overview of the contemporary Middle East. Highly recommended.’

Choice

‘Powerfully persuasive. All academic libraries and large public libraries should quickly add this cogent, troubling and inexpensive monograph to their collections.’

Catholic Literary World

‘...an important, spirited, mature meditation on the historical baggage of the modern Middle East.’

Fouad Ajami, The Paul H. Nitze School of Advanced International Studies, The Johns Hopkins University

‘...brilliant...’

Middle East Quarterly

‘The Tragedy of the Middle East could be the political book most hated by Arabs since Rafael Patai’s The Arab Mind in 1973...the book is a powerful one.’

The Washington Post

- 2004 228 x 152 mm 296pp
- 0 521 60387 0 Paperback £15.99
- Also available 0 521 80203 2 Hardback £22.50

NEW
Structuring Conflict in the Arab World
Incumbents, Opponents and Institutions
Ellen Lust-Okar
Yale University, Connecticut
This book examines how ruling elites manipulate political opponents in the Middle East. In contrast to discussions of government-opposition relations that focus on how rulers either punish or co-opt opponents, this book focuses on the effect of institutional rules governing who is allowed to participate in the formal political system. Formal rules governing participation affect opponents’ willingness to challenge the state elites, and also the relationships between various opposition groups. The argument is presented with a formal model and in-depth studies of government-opposition relations in Egypt, Jordan and Morocco.

- 2005 228 x 152 mm 296pp 7 line diagrams 6 tables
- 0 521 83818 5 Hardback £45.00
- Publication February 2005

FORTHCOMING
Israel’s Holocaust and the Politics of Nationhood
Idith Zertal
Hebrew University of Jerusalem
The ghost of the Holocaust is ever present in Israel, in the lives and nightmares of the survivors and in the absence of the victims. In this compelling and disturbing analysis, Idith Zertal deals with the ways Israel has used the memory of the Holocaust to legitimise its existence and politics. Zertal argues that the centrality of the Holocaust has led to a culture of death and victimhood which permeates the Israeli society. This penetrating book offers an entirely new perspective on Israeli history and the construction of national identity.

Cambridge Middle East Studies, 21

- 2005 228 x 152 mm 280pp
- 0 521 85096 7 Paperback £19.00
- Publication July 2005

Contending Visions of the Middle East
The History and Politics of Orientalism
Zachary Lockman
New York University
Lockman’s book offers a broad survey of Western knowledge about Islam and the Middle East, beginning with Greek and Roman conceptions of the world, through the emergence of Islam, to the present. Along the way, it explores how scholars and others in Western societies, particularly in the United States over the last half century and in the wake of 9/11, have represented Islam and the Middle East. This book relates many of today’s critical issues, including terrorism and the ‘clash of civilizations’, to their broader historical and political contexts.

The Contemporary Middle East, 3

- 2004 228 x 152 mm 330pp 6 maps
- 0 521 62080 5 Hardback £40.00
- 0 521 62937 3 Paperback £16.99
The International Journal of Middle East Studies publishes original research on politics, society and culture in the Middle East from the seventh century to the present day. The journal also covers Spain, south-east Europe, Africa, and parts of South Asia and the former Soviet Union for subjects of relevance to Middle Eastern civilization. Particular attention is paid to the history, politics, economics, anthropology, sociology, literature, and cultural studies of the area and to comparative religion, theology, law, and philosophy. Each issue contains approximately 50 pages of detailed book reviews.

Subscriptions
- Volume 37 in 2005: February, May, August and November, plus MESA Bulletin in July and December
- Institutions print and electronic: £169/$264
- Institutions electronic only: £141/$220
- Individual print and electronic: £117/$185
- Special arrangements exist for full, student and corporate members of MESA.

Electronic ISSN 1471-6380
Print ISSN 0020-7438

Latin America

FORTHCOMING
Racial Politics in Post-Revolutionary Cuba
Mark Q. Sawyer
University of California, Los Angeles

This book analyzes the triumphs and failures of the Castro regime in the area of race relations. It places the Cuban revolution in a comparative and international framework and challenges arguments that the regime eliminated racial inequality or that it was profoundly racist. Through interviews, historical materials, and survey research, it provides a balanced view. The book demonstrates how much of Cuban racial ideology was unchanged by the revolution. Thus, the current implementation of market reforms and in particular tourism has exacerbated racial inequalities. Finally, it holds that despite these shortcomings, the regime remains popular among blacks because they perceive their alternatives of the US and the Miami Exile community to be far worse.
- 2005 216 x 138 mm 210pp 2 line diagrams 1 half-tone 28 tables
- 0 521 84807 5 Hardback c. £42.50
- 0 521 60970 4 Paperback c. £15.99
- Publication July 2005

Political Culture and Institutional Development in Costa Rica and Nicaragua
World-making in the Tropics
Consuelo Cruz
Tufts University, Massachusetts

Democracy’s checkered past and uncertain future in the developing world still puzzles and fascinates. In Latin America, attempts to construct resilient democracies have been as pervasive as reversals have been cruel. This book is based on a wealth of original historical documents and contemporary interviews with prominent political actors and analyses five centuries of political history in these paradigmatic cases of outstanding democratic success and abysmal failure. It shows that while factors highlighted by standard explanations matter, it is political culture that configures economic development, institutional choices and political pacts in ways that directly affect both democracy's chances and its quality. But it also claims that political culture is a dynamic combination of rational and normative imperatives that define actors' views of the permissible, shape their sense of realism, structure political struggles and legitimize the resulting distribution of power.

- 2005 234 x 156 mm 417pp
- 0 521 84203 4 Hardback c. £55.00
- Publication October 2005

FORThcomING

The Third Wave of Democratization in Latin America Advances and Setbacks since 1978
Edited by Frances Hagopian University of Notre Dame, Indiana and Scott Mainwaring University of Notre Dame, Indiana

This volume is perhaps the most ambitious and comprehensive overview to date of the post-1978 wave of democratization in Latin America. It seeks to explain the change from a region dominated by authoritarian regimes to one in which openly authoritarian regimes are the rare exception, as well as why some countries have achieved striking advances in democratization while others have experienced setbacks. The volume presents general arguments about the trends and causes of democratization as well as analyses prepared by leading experts of nine different, theoretically compelling country cases.
- 2005 234 x 156 mm 408pp 22 line diagrams 36 tables
- 0 521 82461 3 Hardback £45.00
- 0 521 61520 5 Paperback c. £18.99
- Publication July 2005

Business Politics and the State in Twentieth-Century Latin America
Ben Ross Schneider Northwestern University, Illinois

Schneider's book is the first systematically comparative and historical analysis of the incorporation of business into politics in Latin America, examining business organizing and political activity over the last century in five of the largest, most developed countries of the region. Why did business end up better organized in Chile, Colombia, and Mexico than in Argentina and Brazil? The explanation for the surprising cross-national variations lays neither in economic characteristics of business nor broader political parameters, but in the cumulative effect of actions of state actors.

- 2004 228 x 152 mm 336pp 6 tables
  - 0 521 83651 4 Hardback £45.00
  - 0 521 54500 5 Paperback £18.99

Free Market Democracy and the Chilean and Mexican Countryside
Marcus J. Kurtz Ohio State University

This book examines the relationship between free markets and democracy. It demonstrates how the implementation of even very painful free market economic reforms in Chile and Mexico have helped to consolidate democratic politics without at the same time engendering a backlash against either reform or democratization.

- 2004 228 x 152 mm 264pp 22 tables
- 0 521 82737 X Hardback £45.00

Patterns of Legislative Politics
Roll-Call Voting in Latin America and the United States
Scott Morgenstern Duke University, North Carolina

Using the United States as a basis of comparison, this book makes extensive use of roll call data to explore legislative politics in Argentina, Brazil, Chile, and Uruguay while focusing on the patterns of the role of candidate nominations, other aspects of the electoral system, and the legislators' ideological alignments.

- 2004 228 x 152 mm 238pp 10 line diagrams 46 tables
- 0 521 82056 1 Hardback £45.00

Courting Democracy in Mexico Party Strategies and Electoral Institutions
Todd A. Eisenstadt American University, Washington DC

Courting Democracy in Mexico is perhaps the most comprehensive explanation to date of Mexico's gradual transition to democracy, written from a novel perspective which pits opposition activists' post-electoral conflicts against their usage of regime-constructed electoral courts at the center of the democratization process.

- 2004 228 x 152 mm 372pp 14 tables
- 0 521 82001 4 Hardback £50.00

JOURNAL

Journal of Latin American Studies
Editors: Paul Cammack Manchester Metropolitan University James Dunkerley University of London and Rachel Sieder University of London

With over 30 years of continuous publication, Journal of Latin American Studies presents recent research in the field of Latin American studies in economics, geography, politics, international relations, sociology, social anthropology, economic history and cultural history. Regular features include articles on contemporary themes, specially commissioned commentaries and an extensive section of book reviews. There is no commitment to any political viewpoint or ideology.

Subscriptions

Publication 2005: February, May, August

Forthcoming in 2005

Africa

NEW TEXTBOOK

Fifth Edition

Africa since 1800
Roland Oliver
University of London
and Anthony Atmore

This book looks at the peoples of Africa at the turn of the eighteenth and nineteenth centuries, partition and colonisation, and the colonial rule up to 1960. The last third of the book is concerned with the history of independent Africa during the last years of the twentieth century.

Australia

Five Things to Know About the Australian Constitution
Helen Irving
University of Sydney

In this excellent new book, your questions about Australia's constitution are answered. Helen Irving, one of this country's foremost constitutional experts, presents a clear and thoughtful analysis of a representative group of peer experts. The book breaks down the issues to rest, and invites a general audience into an understanding of the issues that were once reserved for experts.

'In this book, Helen Irving provides a neat and innovative way of looking at Australia’s constitution. She simplifies difficult and complex issues that go to the heart of our system of government.'

Michelle Grattan
University of Sydney

How Australia Compares
Rodney Tiffen and Ross Gittins
University of Sydney

How Australia Compares is a reference work which assesses the nation with its broader group of peers. In an accessible format it compares and contrasts Australia over 17 core aspects of economic, political and social life with 18 leading first-world countries.

Five Things to Know About the Australian Constitution
Helen Irving
University of Sydney

This book presents some of the most significant and controversial landmark cases and controversies in the Australian constitutional landscape. Including the Free Speech cases and the 1975 Dismissal, it highlights those episodes that have marked turning points in the shaping of the Australian nation.

Australia

Five Things to Know About the Australian Constitution
Helen Irving
University of Sydney

How Australia Compares
Rodney Tiffen and Ross Gittins
University of Sydney

Australian Constitutional Landmarks
Edited by H. P. Lee
Monash University, Victoria

This book presents some of the most significant and controversial landmark cases and controversies in the Australian constitutional landscape. Including the Free Speech cases and the 1975 Dismissal, it highlights those episodes that have marked turning points in the shaping of the Australian nation.
Index

A

Acocella, Nicola ........................................................................ 3, 21
Adams, James ................................................................. 16
Adaptation Policy Frameworks for Climate Change ......................... 17
Africa since 1800 .................................................................. 46
After the Collapse of Communism ........................................... 35
Alexander, Larry ................................................................. 28
America Alone ................................................................. 37
America and the Armenian Genocide of 1915 ......................... 40
American Ballot Box in the Mid-Nineteenth Century, The .......... 40
American Constitution and the Debate over Originalism, The .......... 37
American Political Science Review ...................................... 41
Anderson, Joel ...................................................................... 27
Andrews, David M ............................................................. 2
Anglo-Maratha Campaigns and the Contest for India, The .......... 43
Ansell, Christopher K .......................................................... 35
Approaches to Class Analysis ...................................................... 26
Arkes, Hadley ....................................................................... 39
Aronson, Shlomo .................................................................... 35
Arreguin-Toft, Ivan .................................................................. 4
At War’s End ........................................................................... 2
Atlantic Alliance Under Stress, The ........................................ 2

Atmore, Anthony ..................................................................... 46
Australia’s Money Mandarins ...................................................... 23
Australian Constitutional Landmarks ........................................ 47
Authoritarian Dynamic, The ................................................... 19
Autonomy and the Challenges to Liberalism .............................. 27
Avant, Deborah D ................................................................. 20
Avineri, Shlomo ....................................................................... 30

B

Bächtiger, André ....................................................................... 26
Baines, Beverley ...................................................................... 15
Baker, Alan R. H. .................................................................... 32
Baker, Christopher ....................................................................
Baldivin, Peter .......................................................................... 13
Barbier, Edward B ...................................................................... 23
Barnett, Michael ...................................................................... 3
Barzun, Max .............................................................................. 21
Bell, Stephen ............................................................................ 23
Benesh, Sara C ........................................................................... 38
Benhabib, Seyla ......................................................................... 27
Bensel, Richard Franklin .......................................................... 40
Benveniste, Eyal .......................................................................... 7
Bertrand, Jacques ....................................................................... 43
Birch, Sarah ............................................................................... 32
Billinge, Mark ............................................................................ 32
Birth of the Palestinian Refugee Problem Revisited, The ............ 45
Blackburn, Susan ....................................................................... 43
Bob, Clifford .............................................................................. 18
Boudreau, Vincent ...................................................................... 43
Boundaries and Belonging ......................................................... 16
Bratton, Michael ....................................................................... 18
Brighouse, Harry ........................................................................
British Government and the City of London in the Twentieth Century, The............................................................... 32
British Journal of Political Science ............................................ 32
Brock, Gillian .............................................................................. 27
Brockett, Charles D .................................................................... 19
Brooks, Robin ............................................................................. 21
Brownlee, W. Elliot .................................................................... 40
Brudny, Vitzhak ......................................................................... 35
Building a Dynamic Europe ...................................................... 34
Buntman, Fran Lisa ................................................................. 47
Burton, Ian ................................................................................ 17
Business Politics and the State in Twentieth-Century Latin America .......................................................... 46
Buzan, Barry .............................................................................. 4
Byers, Michael .......................................................................... 9
Byman, Daniel ......................................................................... 13
Byron, Michael ......................................................................... 29

C

Cain, Daylian M ......................................................................... 21
Cammock, Paul .......................................................................... 46
Capitalism, Democracy, and Welfare ....................................... 17
Caplan, Richard ......................................................................... 33
Capper, Charles ......................................................................... 32
Caramani, Daniele ..................................................................... 18
Castles, Francis G. ..................................................................... 20
Cavendish, Margaret .................................................................. 31
Chandra, Kanchan ....................................................................... 18
Changing India ........................................................................ 43
Chatterjee, Deen K ..................................................................... 29
China Quarterly, The ............................................................... 42
Chomsky ................................................................................... 29
Christman, John ......................................................................... 27
Citizenship in Britain ............................................................... 32
Clapham, Christopher .............................................................. 47
Clarke, Jonathan ......................................................................... 37
Clavin, Patricia .......................................................................... 37
Climate Change and Africa ....................................................... 47
Closing the Books ...................................................................... 15
Colclough, David ....................................................................... 31
Collier, Simon ............................................................................ 13
Comparing Media Systems ......................................................... 16
Comparing Political Communication ........................................... 16
Complying with Europe ........................................................... 35
Concept of Constituency, The .................................................... 26
Concise History of France, A .................................................... 12
Condorcet and Modernity ........................................................... 28
Conduct of Hostilities under the Law of International Armed Conflict, The .............................................................. 8
Conflicts of Interest .................................................................. 21
Confiuncian Ethics ..................................................................... 28
Congress, Progressive Reform, and the New American State .. 40
Connelly, John ........................................................................... 37
Constructing Civil Liberties .......................................................... 39
Constructing the U.S. Rapprochement with China, 1961–1974 .......................................................... 10
Contagion and the State in Europe, 1830–1930 .............................. 13
Contemporary European History ............................................ 37
Contending Visions of the Middle East ........................................ 44
Contention and Democracy in Europe, 1650–2000 ....................... 19
Contesting Citizenship in Latin America .................................... 15
Cooper, Randolf G. S .................................................................. 43
Corbridge, Stuart ......................................................................... 43
Corporate Environmentalism and Public Policy ......................... 21
Courting Democracy in Mexico .................................................. 46
Courts under Constraints ........................................................... 18
Creation of American Common Law, 1850–1880, The ................. 40
Creative Conflict in African American Thought ............................ 40
Crimes against Humanity .......................................................... 7
Cruz, Consuelo ........................................................................... 45

D

Daniels, Christian ....................................................................... 44
Dark Side of Democracy, The ................................................... 10
Davis, Diane E .......................................................................... 17
Davis, Gerald ............................................................................. 19
Deadly Connections .................................................................. 13
Decentralizing the State ............................................................ 45
Defending the Rights of Others ................................................ 11
Deliberative Politics in Action ................................................... 26
Democracy Defended ............................................................... 30
Democracy from Above ........................................................... 15
Democratic Accountability and the Use of Force in International Law .......................................................... 6
Designing Federalism ............................................................... 16
Dessler, Andrew E ....................................................................... 17
Di Palma, Giuseppe ................................................................. 35
Dinstein, Yoram ........................................................................ 8
Discipline and Development ...................................................... 17
Documents in International Environmental Law ...................... 8
Doha and Beyond ...................................................................... 8
Doing Business in the Middle East ............................................. 45
Dosswald-Beck, Louise ............................................................. 7
Dowding, Keith .......................................................................... 28
Downs, Donald A ....................................................................... 38
Dratel, Joshua L .......................................................................... 7
Dunkerley, James ....................................................................... 46
Duvall, Raymond ....................................................................... 3
Dynamic Constitution, The ....................................................... 39
Dynamics of Socio-Economic Development, The ...................... 22