

Cambridge University Press

978-0-521-02922-3 - Summa Theologiae: Volume 14 - Divine Government, (1a2ae. 103-9)

T. C. O'Brien

Table of Contents

More information

CONTENTS

xiii Editorial Notes

xv Introduction

QUESTION 103. GOD'S GOVERNMENT TAKEN AS A WHOLE

- 3 Article 1. whether the world is governed by anyone at all
 9 Article 2. whether the goal of the world's being governed is something existing beyond the world
 13 Article 3. whether the world has one rule
 17 Article 4. whether God's rule has only one effect or many 19 Article 5. whether all things are subject to God's government
 25 Article 6. whether all things are governed by God immediately
 27 Article 7. whether it is possible for anything to happen outside the order of God's governance
 31 Article 8. whether anything can resist the order of God's government

QUESTION 104. SUSTAINING CREATION

- 35 Article 1. whether creatures need God to keep them in existence
 45 Article 2. whether God keeps every creature in being without intermediaries
 47 Article 3. whether God has the power to annihilate anything
 51 Article 4. whether anything is in fact annihilated

QUESTION 105. GOD'S BETTERING OF CREATURES

- 57 Article 1. whether God has the power to move matter towards form without an intermediary
 61 Article 2. whether God can move any body without an intermediary
 67 Article 3. whether God acts immediately upon the created intellect 71 Article 4. whether God can move the creature's will 75 Article 5. whether God is active in every agent cause
 79 Article 6. whether God has the power to do anything outside the order inherent in creation

Cambridge University Press

978-0-521-02922-3 - Summa Theologiae: Volume 14 - Divine Government, (1a2ae. 103-9)

T. C. O'Brien

Table of Contents

More information

CONTENTS

- 83 Article 7. whether everything that God does outside the normal pattern is a miracle
- 85 Article 8. whether one miracle is greater than another
- QUESTION 106. ANGELIC ILLUMINATION
- 89 Article 1. whether one angel illumines another
- 95 Article 2. whether one angel can move another's will
- 99 Article 3. whether a lower angel can enlighten a higher
- 103 Article 4. whether a higher angel teaches all that he knows to a lower angel
- QUESTION 107. THE SPEECH OF THE ANGELS
- 107 Article 1. whether one angel talks to another
- 111 Article 2. whether a lower angel speaks to a higher one
- 113 Article 3. whether an angel talks to God
- 115 Article 4. whether distance has any effect on the angel's speech
- 117 Article 5. whether all the angels know what one says to another
- QUESTION 108. THE ARRAY OF ANGELS
- 121 Article 1. whether all angels belong to the one hierarchy
- 125 Article 2. whether there are several orders within the one hierarchy
- 129 Article 3. whether there are many angels within one order
- 131 Article 4. whether with angels their nature is the source of the distinction of hierarchies and orders
- 133 Article 5. whether the angelic orders have been given appropriate names
- 143 Article 6. whether the gradation of the orders is correct
- 151 Article 7. whether the angelic orders will continue after judgment day
- 153 Article 8. whether men are taken up into the angelic orders
- QUESTION 109. THE ARRAY OF DEVILS
- 159 Article 1. whether orders exist among the devils
- 161 Article 2. whether among them there is any power to rule
- 163 Article 3. whether there is enlightening among them

Cambridge University Press

978-0-521-02922-3 - Summa Theologiae: Volume 14 - Divine Government, (1a2ae. 103-9)

T. C. O'Brien

Table of Contents

More information

CONTENTS

- 165 Article 4. whether the good angels have ruling power over the bad angels

APPENDICES

169 1. Esse, the Proper Effect of God Alone

176 2. An Example of the Use of Aristotle

182 3. The Dionysian Corpus

194 Glossary

203 Index