

Cambridge University Press

978-0-521-04005-1 - The Abandoned Narcotic: Kava and Cultural Instability in Melanesia

Ron Brunton

Frontmatter

More information

Cambridge Studies in Social Anthropology

General Editor: Jack Goody

69

THE ABANDONED NARCOTIC

Cambridge University Press

978-0-521-04005-1 - The Abandoned Narcotic: Kava and Cultural Instability in Melanesia

Ron Brunton

Frontmatter

More information

A list of books in the series will be found at the end of the volume.

Cambridge University Press

978-0-521-04005-1 - The Abandoned Narcotic: Kava and Cultural Instability in Melanesia

Ron Brunton

Frontmatter

More information

The abandoned narcotic

Kava and cultural instability in Melanesia

RON BRUNTON

CAMBRIDGE UNIVERSITY PRESS

Cambridge

New York Port Chester

Melbourne Sydney

Cambridge University Press

978-0-521-04005-1 - The Abandoned Narcotic: Kava and Cultural Instability in Melanesia
Ron Brunton

Frontmatter

More information

CAMBRIDGE UNIVERSITY PRESS

Cambridge, New York, Melbourne, Madrid, Cape Town, Singapore, São Paulo

Cambridge University Press

The Edinburgh Building, Cambridge CB2 8RU, UK

Published in the United States of America by Cambridge University Press, New York

www.cambridge.org

Information on this title: www.cambridge.org/9780521373753

© Cambridge University Press 1989

This publication is in copyright. Subject to statutory exception and to the provisions of relevant collective licensing agreements, no reproduction of any part may take place without the written permission of Cambridge University Press.

First published 1989

This digitally printed version 2007

A catalogue record for this publication is available from the British Library

Library of Congress Cataloguing in Publication data

Brunton, R. (Ron).

The abandoned narcotic: kava and cultural instability
in Melanesia / Ron Brunton.

p. cm. – (Cambridge studies in social anthropology: 69).

Revision of thesis (Ph.D.) – La Trobe University, 1988.

Bibliography.

ISBN 0 521 37375 1

1. Tanna (Vanuatu people) – Drug use. 2. Kava (Beverage) – Vanuatu.

3. Kava ceremony – Vanuatu. 4. Rivers, W. H. R. (William Halse Rivers), 1864–1922. 5. Tanna (Vanuatu people) – Social conditions.

I. Title. II. Series: Cambridge studies in social anthropology: no. 69.

DU760.B84 1989

394.1'4 – dc20 89–31240 CIP

ISBN 978-0-521-37375-3 hardback

ISBN 978-0-521-04005-1 paperback

Contents

List of illustrations and tables	page vi
Acknowledgements	vii
1 Introduction: W.H.R. Rivers and kava	1
2 The traditional distribution of kava drinking	7
3 Reconsidering Rivers' argument: the evidence	27
4 Reconsidering Rivers' argument: assessment and implications	75
5 Kava on Tanna: traditional ritual and contemporary modifications	95
6 Kava on Tanna: the development of secular patterns of consumption	114
7 The problems of Tannese society	129
8 Conclusion	168
List of references	179
Glossary of Tannese words	204
Index	206

Illustrations and tables

Plates

- 1 and 2 Entry of the kueria during the nikoviaa page 147

Diagram

- 1 Relationship between suatu and nukulu 136

Maps

- 1 Traditional distribution of kava in the Pacific 4
 2 Traditional distribution of kava in Madang 9
 3 Traditional distribution of kava in southern New Guinea 13
 4 Traditional distribution of kava in Vanuatu 19
 5 Kava cognates, Set 1: Pacific 40
 6 Kava cognates, Set 1: Papua New Guinea and Solomon Islands 41
 7 Kava cognates, Set 1a: New Guinea 43
 8 Kava cognates, Set 1b: New Guinea 45
 9 Kava cognates, Set 1c: New Guinea 48
 10 Kava cognates, Set 2: Papua New Guinea and Solomon Islands 50
 11 Kava cognates, Set 3: Papua New Guinea and Solomon Islands 52
 12 Kava cognates, Set 4: New Guinea 54
 13 Traditional method of preparing kava 73
 14 Suggested transmission routes for kava 84
 15 Tanna, showing the major places referred to in the text 99
 16 Suatu passing through Irakik 134

Tables

- 1 Kava cognates, Set 1 37
 2 Kava cognates, Set 1a 42
 3 Kava cognates, Set 1b 44
 4 Kava cognates, Set 1c 46
 5 Kava cognates, Set 2 49
 6 Kava cognates, Set 3 51
 7 Kava cognates, Set 4 53

Cambridge University Press

978-0-521-04005-1 - The Abandoned Narcotic: Kava and Cultural Instability in Melanesia
Ron Brunton

Frontmatter

More information

Acknowledgements

Part of this book is based on ten months' fieldwork in Vanuatu, mainly in Irakik and surrounding areas of Tanna, but also among Tannese living and working in Efate. This fieldwork was undertaken during a number of visits between 1972 and 1980, with an additional brief visit in 1986. I am truly grateful to the many Tannese who made my research possible, but especially to three men, all of whom sadly are now dead: David Nasu, who was willing to take the risk of allowing me to stay at Irakik, and argued my case in the face of some opposition to my research; Jake Yasu who was perhaps my closest friend on Tanna and a highly intelligent informant; and Jake Yahoi, whose knowledge of traditional culture was unrivalled in the area in which I worked. I would also like to thank Jimmy Rauh, Pelpel, Wara, Lemai, Mary Tangap, Yawilum and Mouk of Irakik, Mowiagin, Yasgapel, Yewus and Poita of Lomtihekel, Yewus, Nasei and Yemakse of Inapukil, Nias of Laruanu, Matua, Napwat and Nuknow of Loutahiko, Kumei, Sotei and Nasei of Lounapkaulanges, and Nakau of Lounekeuk, for the generosity of their assistance and hospitality. While what I have written may be very different to what they desired, I hope they will accept that I have tried to remain true to what they told me.

A number of expatriates helped me in various ways. I would particularly like to thank Keith Woodward, Gordon and Liz Norris, David and Socorro Browning, Tessa Fowler, Bob, Kath and Russell Paul, and Pere Sacco, who at different times did much to make my visits both successful and enjoyable.

As will be clear from the numerous references to personal communications, especially in the first half of this book, I have been very dependent on the goodwill of a large number of people. I would particularly like to thank those who went to the trouble of providing me with written answers to questions or access to their unpublished papers and/or material, or who allowed themselves to be subjected to lengthy interviews: Michael Allen, Wal Ambrose, Byron Bender, Joel Bonnemaïson, Nancy Bowers, Mark Busse, Wee-Lek Chew, Geoff Dennis, Bob Depew, Tom Dutton, R. N. Duve, Don Gardner, Jacques Guy, Gerard Haberkorn, Allan Hanson, Terry Hayes, Alan Healey, E. E. Henty, Robin Hide, Kirk Huffman, Ian

Cambridge University Press

978-0-521-04005-1 - The Abandoned Narcotic: Kava and Cultural Instability in Melanesia
Ron Brunton

Frontmatter

More informationAcknowledgements

Hughes, Alan Jones, David Kausimae, Roger Keesing, Jack Keitade, Raymond Kelly, Mait Kilil, Bruce Knauft, Peter Lawrence, Don Laycock, Monty Lindstrom, Tom Ludvigson, John Lynch, Holly McEldowney, Romola McSwain, Mac Marshall, Louise Morauta, Nigel Oram, Malcolm Ross, Bob Rubinstein, Buck Schieffelin, Graham Scott, Daniel Shaw, Christopher Smith, Matthew Spriggs, Robert Theodoratus, Darrell Tryon, Roy Wagner, David Walsh, Pamela Watson, James Weiner, Fred Westbrook, Geoff White, Mike Wood, Doug Yen, and Michael Young. I would also like to thank the staff of the Rijksherbarium in Leiden, the Botany Division of the Department of Scientific and Industrial Research, New Zealand, the Queensland Herbarium, the Australian National Herbarium and the National Herbarium of Victoria. My father-in-law, Emile Rod, kindly offered to translate a number of French texts, and some of the more difficult German ones. He did an excellent job, and I am deeply appreciative of all the time that he spent on it.

Of all the researchers who assisted me, there is one whom I must single out for special mention. In a lengthy correspondence that began in 1984, Vincent Lebot was extraordinarily generous in sharing his knowledge about the botany of kava. I had the pleasure of meeting him during my visit to Vanuatu in 1986, when he spent many hours showing me the results of his work, providing me with additional information, and commenting on my ideas.

This book is a revised version of my Ph.D. thesis, presented to the Department of Sociology at La Trobe University in 1988. I am very grateful to my supervisor, Martha Macintyre, for the warmth of her encouragement and the intelligence and good sense of her advice and comments. I would also like to thank my examiners, Michael Allen, Terry Hays and Michael Young, for their generous and constructive criticisms and suggestions.

My wife Tess, my mother and my step-father were unstinting in their support and forbearance during the course of my research. They know how much it was appreciated.