

Cambridge University Press

978-0-521-04226-0 - Husserl and Heidegger on Human Experience

Pierre Keller

Index

More informationIndex

- absolute time-consciousness, 80–82
- abstract objects, 91
- anthropologism and anthropomorphism, 108–111
- Aristotle
 - life and the soul, 93
 - on authenticity, and truth, 103
 - on memory, 74 and 74n
 - on noetic and practical insight, 94
 - on time 30, 66–68
 - on truth 94
 - the scholastic interpretation of, 84–85
- Augustine
 - on time, 30
- authenticity and inauthenticity, 230–238, 241–242
- Beaufret, Jean
 - Heidegger and the phenomenological reduction, 145n
- being, 88, 91
- being-in-the-world, 127–128, 152–153
- Bernet, Rudolf
 - phenomenological reduction, 145n
 - time-consciousness, 66n, 89n
- Binswanger, Ludwig
 - self-loss, 219n
- Blattner, William
 - sequentiality, 225n
- Brand, Gerd
 - punctual moment, 66n
- Brandom, Robert
 - social objects, 150n
- Brentano, Franz
 - and descriptive psychology, 86
 - and Heidegger, 84, 84n, 85
 - time 64–68, 70
- Broad, C. D.
 - on McTaggart's paradox, 81n
- Brough, John
 - time-consciousness, 65n, 74n, 83n
- care, structure of, 174–177, 187–188
- Carman, Taylor
 - being social, 160, 165–166
- Carr, David
 - horizontal character of intentionality, 116n
- Cartesianism, 128, 170n, 173, 218
- categories, 89, 91
- categorial intuition, 88–91
- Chisholm, Roderick
 - temporal identity, 224
- Clarke, Samuel
 - on space and time, 63
- commissurotomy, 214–215
- Cramer, Konrad
 - on experience, 88n
- Dasein*
 - and Existenz, 99
 - and indexical expressions, 100
 - as a distinctive mode of being, 121–123
- Dastur, Françoise
 - on temporal transcendence, 188–189n
 - on time, 88–89
- deconstruction, 107
- demonstratives, 193–197
- Derrida, Jacques
 - presence, 65n
 - vulgar time, 205n
- Descartes, René
 - and world, 218
 - unity of mind and body, 218
- Dewey, John
 - pragmatism, 156–157
- Diemer, Alwin
 - Husserl, 108n
- Dilthey, Wilhelm
 - descriptive psychology, 86
 - life, 85
- disclosure, 92
 - truth, 97
 - and intelligibility, 174

Cambridge University Press

978-0-521-04226-0 - Husserl and Heidegger on Human Experience

Pierre Keller

Index

More information

Index

259

- discourse, 134–139 attunement and know-how, 179 dispositions, 122–123 Dostal, Robert intelligibility, 150n Dreyfus, Hubert and Rubin on Kierkegaard, 236–237n intelligibility, 159–167
 meaning, 167–174
 Dun Scotus, 85
 duration, 63
 Edwards, Paul temporal stretch, 189 eidos, 122
 eidetic reduction, 119 embodiment, 213–214 essence, 118 and existence, 121 of consciousness, 121 existence, 86 experiences, 59–60, 86, 88, 186 explanation, 150–153 Evidenz and Heidegger, 98–99, 104
 and truth, 92
 of temporal succession, 62 Fell, Joseph on groundlessness, 170n on nature, 147n
 Findlay, John N. retention, 71
 Føllesdal, Dagfinn antifoundationalism, 115
 Frede, Dorothea
 intelligibility, 152
 Frege, Gottfried logic, 113n Friedman, Michael pure consciousness, 121
 Gadamer, Hans Georg
 Husserl, Heidegger and historicity, 107n Geertz, Clifford social roles, 239
 Gibbs, J. Willard probabilities, 192 Gödel, Kurt circular time, 200n Guignon, Charles
 das Man, 158–159
 discourse and intelligibility, 136–138 Haar, Michael
 animality and language use, 240 Harries, Karsten
 worldless things, 204n Hartmann, Klaus definitive and eminent modes, 161n Haugeland, John self as institution, 209–211 Hawking, Stephen models of the universe, 200n Held, Klaus retention, 121n Hopkins, Burt
 horizontal intentionality, 116n Horwich, Paul temporal asymmetries, 191 Hume, David bundle theory, 222 Husserl, Edmund
 personalistic psychology, 87
 Philosophy of Arithmetic, 89–90 image in memory, 74–75
 intelligibility
 and das Man, 158–174 and discourse, 136–138
 and temporality, 174–181
 intentionality, 84
 and temporality, 179–183
 externalist conception of, 100 horizontal, 60, 72, 114 referential 60, 72, 98 intuition and truth, 99 James, William primary and secondary memory, 73
 specious present, 63
 Jaspers, Karl existence 86, 99
 Kant, Immanuel, 61
 Anticipations of Perceptions, 63 conception of a person, 87–88, 122 on Schematism, 90
 Refutation of Idealism, 101, 218 things in themselves, 76 Transcendental Aesthetic, 63
 Transcendental Deduction, 76
 Kaser, M.
 Roman notion of a person, 227n Kierkegaard, Søren, 86 critique of pure consciousness, 118 life as anxious confrontation with death, 236–237 on Aristotle on the process of life, 93 truth, subjectivist notion of, 95

Cambridge University Press

978-0-521-04226-0 - Husserl and Heidegger on Human Experience

Pierre Keller

Index

More information

260

Kiesel, Theodor indexicals, 194 life and Dasein, 86n

Kraus, Oskar
 Brentano, 68

Kretzmann, Norman and Eleanore Stump eternity, 202n

Landgrebe, Ludwig theoretical, 129n

Lange, Friedrich Ernst number, 89

language, 134, 144
 and communication, 148–149

Lehmann, Karl Paul, 236n

Leibniz, Gottfried Wilhelm Friedrich, 63 level metaphysics (Schichtenmetaphysik), 126

life
 Aristotle, 93
 Aristotle and Dilthey, 86
 Marcuse and Hegel, 86n

Locke, John memory, 220–221
 perpetual perishing, 229 person, 216–219

Luria, Alexander mnemonics, 220

Luther, Martin
 human existence, 236n

Man, das, 157–167

Marcuse, Herbert life in Hegel, 86n

McInerney, Peter passage, 197

McTaggart, J. Ellis alternative time-series, 198 unreality of time, 76–79, 81

Meinong, Alexius
 duration, 68–69

memory factual, 76 personal, 76 primary, 73–76
 realist theory of, 74 representative theory of, 74–75 secondary, 73–76

Merleau-Ponty, Maurice perceptual presence, 130, 130n

Miller, Izchak present, 65, 69 and 69n, 70 moment, punctual, 63 monothetic acts, 99

Index

mood, 134 of anxiety, 152

narrow and wide content, 111–113

natural attitude, 124

naturalistic attitude, 125

noema, 94–95

normativity, 154

Okrent, Mark, 134

objectivity
 and truth, 104

Olafson, Frederick being as presence, 205 perceptual presence, 130 social, 160–162, 171n world, 241n

ontology, 88

Parfit, Derek self, 207

passage, 81
 myth of, 193

perception
 and truth, 130–131

personalistic psychology, 87

persons as annexes, 124–126 identity of, 224–226, 240–241

phenomenological reduction 61, 129, 144–154

Picht, Georg
 Cicero, 228n

Platonism, 91, 113, 119

Pöggeler, Otto historical phenomenology, 107n

pragmatism, 134

presence, 103

protention, 72, 80

proteraisthesis, 68n

Price, Hew
 temporal asymmetry, 191n

Putnam, Hilary externalism, 111 special relativity and becoming, 198n relativity general theory of, 199–200 special theory of, 197–199

retention, 72, 80

Ricoeur, Paul historical time, 203 real time, 83, 83n

Scheler, Max
 Husserl as Platonist, 119

Cambridge University Press

978-0-521-04226-0 - Husserl and Heidegger on Human Experience

Pierre Keller

Index

More informationIndex

261

- personalistic psychology, 87–88
- Schematism, 90n
- Schmitz, Hermann, 87n
- Shoemaker, Sidney
 - quasi-memories, 217
- Sklar, Lawrence
 - becoming and relativity, 198n
- Stein, Howard
 - relativity and becoming, 198n
- Searle, John R.
 - intentionality, 112n
- sensations, 59–62
 - of zero durations, 71
 - original sensations, 71
 - sensation and the lived body, 124
- significance, 132
 - breakdown of context of, 144–154
 - holistic context of, 141–144
- Sigwart, Heinrich
 - on anthropocentric truth, 104–105
- specious present, 65
- Stenzel, Julius
 - and Husserl's purported Platonism, 119
- Ströker, Elizabeth
 - sensations, 124
- Taminiaux, Jacques
 - categorical intuition, 90n
- thermodynamics, second law of, 190–191
- time
 - A-series, 76–79
 - absolute and relational, 199–200
 - B-series, 76–79
 - direction of, 190–193
 - sequential, 225
 - source of intelligibility, 174–183
 - vulgar conception of, 184, 193–197
- Thomas Aquinas, 85
- Thomas of Erfurt, 85
- tools
 - in Husserl, 127
 - their use and breakdown, 153
- Trendelenburg, Adolf
 - and Aristotelianism, 86
 - importance of process, 93
- transcendence, and truth, 98
- transcendental idealism, 80, 153–154
- truth, 88, 91, 93
 - and pragmatism, 134
 - as correspondence, 149–150
 - as disclosure 100–103
 - as discovery, 104–107
 - contextualization of, 106–108
 - eternal truths, 105
- Tugendhat, Ernst
 - on truth, 97
 - on being human, 122n
- Velleman, J. D.
 - well-being, 233
- von Weizsäcker, Carl Friedrich Freiherr
 - second law and tenses, 192
- Weberman, David
 - das Man*, 156
- Wilkes, Kathleen
 - brain bisection, 215
- Wittgenstein, Ludwig
 - everyday practices, 156
 - Robinson Crusoe, 157n