

INDEX

- Abbeys: at disposal of crown before reformation, 37–9; appointments to, after 1560, 155–6; proposal to dissolve (1567), 159; arrangements for (1572), 171; after 1572, 194.
- Abell's Chronicle, cited, 9, 44, 105, 116.
- Aberdeen: burgh of, progress of reformation in, 30; diocese of, reform in, 34–5.
- Adamson, Patrick, archbishop of St. Andrews: dilapidated see, 198; defended episcopacy, 201; submitted to general assembly, 217.
- Admonition to parliament*, the second, 189.
- A Lasco, John, cited, 109.
- Annexation, act of (1587), 217.
- Ante-Communion service, 83.
- Anti-clericalism: before reformation, 11; in reformed church, 84, 130–1.
- Appropriations, see Parishes.
- Argyll, reformed church in, 89.
- Augustinian canons regular, reform among, 3, 32.
- Aylmer, John, cited, 109.
- Ayr, reformation in, 50–1.
- Bailies of prelaties, 41–2.
- Baptism: administered by readers, 84; administered privately, 180.
- 'Barons' in general assembly, 141, 220; to be excluded, 204.
- Benefices: litigation over, 17; hereditary succession in, 17–18, 20, 39–40; admission to, before reformation, 18–19, 33; thirds of, see Thirds; remain in being after 1560, 72, 149; disposal of, after 1560, 73–4, 150; admission of reformed clergy to, 93, 164; secured to reformed church, 152–3; held by 'unqualified' men, 195; presentations to, 210, 217–19, 220–1.
- Betoun, James (II), archbishop of Glasgow: and reform, 34; in France from 1560, 55, 60.
- Beza, Theodore: views of, 187–8; condemned episcopacy, 187–8; his De Triplici Episcopatu, 191; Scottish correspondence with, 198.
- Bible in vernacular, 30.
- Bishoprics: appointments to, before reformation, 20, 26, 38–9; at disposal of crown, 37–9; revenues of, 64; appointments to, 1560–7, 155–6; pensions from, 38–9, 155; between 1567 and 1572, 159–60; after 1572, 172–3, 194; their temporalities annexed to crown, 217.
- Bishops: attitude of reformers to, 54–5, 102–11, 166–8; negotiations with, in 1560, 55–8; some support reformation, 58–60, 157–8; their powers after 1560, 72–4; to preach, 102, 109; 'false' and 'true', 103–11; 'godly' or reformed, 108–11, 115–16; their morals, before reformation, 104; arrangements for appointments (1572), 163–5, 228–31; their jurisdiction (1572), 164; relations with superintendents, after 1572, 173–5; functions of (1581), 207–8; receive presentations to benefices, 207, 210; their authority reaffirmed, as king's commissioners (1584), 211–13; to have particular congregations, 215–16; subject to general assembly, 216; to be permanent moderators, 216, 224–5; to act with advice of ministers, 216; decline of their powers after 1587, 217–19; their office not abolished in 1592, 220; abolished in 1638 and 1690, 223.

INDEX

- 'Black Acts' (1584): provisions of, 211-14; attitude of ministers to, 214; modified, 219-20.
- Book of Common Order: introduced to Scotland, 83; translated into Gaelic, 89; its character, 180.
- Book of Common Prayer, in use in Scotland, 49, 83, 180-1.
- Book of Discipline, first: compilation of, 53-4, 61-3; financial proposals of, 63-4, 90, 95; approved by convention (1561), 65; its financial proposals rejected, 75; on polity generally, 78; on discipline, 79; on elders and deacons, 84; on church buildings, 97; largely fulfilled under Charles I, 100-1; on office of superintendent, 111-16; on appointment of ministers, 119; on the synod, 124; a report to the council, 136; and the general assembly, 137, 139-40; proposed abolition of benefices and patronage, 149; abandoned by general assembly, 151, 158; Knox's views on, 169-70; on 'exercises', 204.
- Book of Discipline, second: concerned with practical abuses, 198-9; adopted by general assembly, 203; rejected by parliament, 207.
- 'Book of reformation', 53-4, 61-2, 226.
- Borders, churches in, 23.
- Bothwell, Adam, bishop of Orkney: terms of his appointment, 39; supported reformation, 59, 157-8.
- Bucer, Martin, cited, 109-10.
- Buildings, monastic: condition of, 4; attitude of reformers to, 98.
- Bullinger, Henry, cited, 132.
- Burgesses: attitude of, to reformation, 46; in general assembly, 142, 220; to be excluded from assembly, 204.
- Burgh churches, enrichment of, 11.
- Burghs, gifts to, of ecclesiastical property, 152.
- Calderwood, David, cited, 61.
- Calvin, John: cited, 77, 78; his views on episcopacy, 110, 178.
- Calvinist views on church-state relations, 135.
- Campbell, John, bishop-elect of the Isles, joined reformers, 59.
- Canons regular, attitude of, to reformation, 6-7; see also Augustinian, Premonstratensian.
- Carswell, John: appointed superintendent of Argyll, 66; his work, 89; status of, 127-8; appointed bishop of the Isles, 156-7.
- Carthusian monks, standards of, 3, 7; see also Charterhouse.
- Cartwright, Thomas, founder of English presbyterianism, 189.
- Catechism* of John Hamilton, see Hamilton, John.
- Cathedrals: endowment of, 11; in Highlands, 25; revenues of, 64; views of reformers on, 81; after reformation, 97-8; restored in seventeenth century, 100; dignities of: condemned by presbyterians, 198, survive after 1592, 220.
- Chaplainries, to go to students, 155.
- Chapters of abbeys and cathedrals, condemned by presbyterians, 198.
- Charles I, settlement of ecclesiastical property by, 95.
- Charterhouse, protection to, 31.
- Chisholm, William, bishop of Dunblane, attitude of, to reformers, 57-8.
- Church attendance, 24.
- Church, marks or notes of, 77-8.
- Churches: condition of, 20-3, 26; in Borders, 23; distribution of, 24; in burghs, see Burgh churches; behaviour in, 24-5; attacks on, 30-1; attitude of reformers to, 96-100; damage to, at reformation, 96-9; repair of, by reformers, 99-100; see also Buildings.
- Church lands, feuing of, 21, 40-3, 46-7, 194.

Cambridge University Press
 978-0-521-07284-7 - The Scottish Reformation
 Gordon Donaldson
 Index
More information

INDEX

- Cistercian monks, reform among, 3, 32.
 Clergy: education of (before reformation), 15, 33; relations of reformers with, 85; accepted into reformed church, 152–3; non-conforming, deprived, 176, 231–3; see also Ministers, Exhorters, Readers.
 Colleges, see University colleges.
 Collegiate churches: endowment of, 11, 13, 32–3; in Highlands, 25; views of reformers on, 81; dignities of, provision for (1572), 171; see also Prebends.
 Commendators, 39–40.
 Commissary court of Edinburgh, established, 123.
 Commissioners: distinguished from superintendents, 128–9; after 1572, 173; in 1581, 207–8; after 1586, 217–18; after 1592, 220–1; after 1600, 224.
 ‘Common kirks’, to go to ministers, 154.
 ‘Common prayers’, reading of, 82.
 Compromise between presbyterian and episcopalian politics, attempted, 215–16.
 Confession of Faith of 1560, on discipline, 78.
 Congregational organization, emphasis of reformers on, 81–2.
 Congregations: election of ministers by, 119, 154; not in operation after 1592, 222–3; not authorized in 1690, 224.
 Consecration of bishops (1572), 163–4.
 Consistorial jurisdiction after reformation, 73, 122–3.
 Craig, John, supported episcopacy in 1584, 214.
 Crichton, Robert, bishop of Dunkeld, attitude of, to reformed church, 56–8.
 Crown: powers of, in appointments to benefices (before reformation), 18–19, (after reformation), 150, 165; concessions to, by papacy, 18–19; control by, over church property, 37–9, 44; shares thirds of benefices, 70–1, 91; relations of reformed church with, before 1567, 128, 131–5, after 1567, 144–5, in 1584, 212–13; reformers’ views on supremacy of, in church, 131–5; attitude of, to reform, 133.
 ‘Cursing’, see Excommunication.
 Deacons: appointment of, in ‘privy kirks’, 50; annual election of, 63, 84; advocated by presbyterians, 197; to administer all church property, 199; their limited powers in practice, 222.
 Deprivation of non-conforming clergy, 176, 231–3.
 Dilapidation of church property, 194.
 Dioceses: size of, and their boundaries, 111, 165, 168; dignities of, condemned by presbyterians, 198, survive after 1592, 220.
 Discipline: defective before reformation, 20; a mark of the church, 78; meaning of, to presbyterians, 185.
 Dispensations for irregularities, 20.
 Douglas, James, earl of Morton: administration of, 92; and general assembly, 146; his negotiations with England, 177–8; opposed to presbyterianism, 192; his overthrow, 208.
 Douglas, John, rector of St. Andrews university: negotiated with Archbishop Hamilton in 1560, 57; appointed archbishop of St. Andrews, 160–3; consecrated, 163; his appointment opposed, 168–9.
 Dundee, reformation in, 51.
 East Lothian, reformed clergy in, 88.
 Edinburgh, treaty of, 53.
 Elders: appointed in ‘privy kirks’, 50; annual election of, 63, 84, 222; for discipline, 80–1; in presbyterian system, 185; to be appointed for life, 186, 204; their power reduced,

INDEX

- 186–7; to attend general assembly, 204.
 Elizabeth, queen of England, views of, on disposal of Scottish bishoprics, 178.
 Endowments, redistribution of, 36–7.
 England: influence of, on Scotland, 19, 30, 37, 40; opinions in, on discipline, 78, 80, on episcopacy, 78, 106–8, 201–2, on church–state relations, 132, 135; extent of dioceses in, 111; origins of presbyterianism in, and arguments of presbyterians, 189, 198; ‘exercises’ in, 206.
 English and Scottish reformations compared: in polity, 74–5, 176–81, 193, 228–33; in worship, 179–81.
 Episcopacy: divine right of, 78, 201–2; views of reformers on, 81; repudiated by presbyterians, 184–5; financial reasons against, 196; first challenged in Scotland in 1575, 199; condemned by general assembly, 200, 203; arguments in favour of, 200–1; maintained by statute, 207.
 Episcopal appointments, formulae for, in Scotland and England, 177, 228–31.
 Episcopal succession, repudiated in 1560, 58; see also Succession.
 Episcopate: depressed before reformation, 20; in the Highlands, 26; to be strengthened (before reformation), 33; in 1560, 54–5; position of, after 1560, 60, 72–4; reformers’ views on, 105–6; reformed, characteristics of, 109–10, 165; between 1560 and 1567, 155–6; character of, after 1572, 171–2; depression of, after 1587, 217–19; position of, after 1592, 220–1; revived, after 1600, 224; character of, in seventeenth century, 225.
 Erastus, views of, 185.
 Erskine, John, of Dun: appointed superintendent of Angus, 65; cited, 125; status of, 127; letter of, regarding episcopacy, 161–2, 167; supported episcopacy (1584), 214; accepted a ‘particular charge’, 216. ‘Establishment’ of reformed church, 68.
 Estates of the realm, in general assembly, 140–4.
 Excommunication, abuse of, 41.
 ‘Exercises’: advocated by first Book of Discipline, 204; in operation, 204–5; expanded their functions, 205; to serve as presbyteries, 205; in England, 206–7; sanctioned (1584), 211.
 Exhorter, office of, 83.
 Feuing of church lands, 21, 40–3, 46–7, 194.
 Financial proposals of reformers, 63–4.
 ‘First Band’, 136.
 Francis II, king of France, 53; death of, 64, 138.
 Frankfurt, order of English congregation at, 107.
 Friaries: attacks on, 7, 10, 30; condition of, 9–10, 33; in Highlands, 25.
 Friars: attitude of, to reformation, 9; morals of, 9–10; popular attitude to, 48.
 Friars, Black, protection to, 31.
 Friars, Franciscan Observant, standards of, 9–10.
 Galloway, development of reformed church in, 87–8.
 General assembly: first and second meetings of, 65, 138; resolution of (December 1560), 68; origins of, 135–8; composition of, 140–4, 204, 220; contrast between original and later character of, 142–3; an anomaly after 1567, 144–6; and Regent Morton, 146; abandoned first Book of Discipline, 150–1; acknowledged patronage, 151; accepted existing clergy, 152; gave commission to bishops, 157; its

Cambridge University Press
 978-0-521-07284-7 - The Scottish Reformation
 Gordon Donaldson
 Index
More information

INDEX

- General assembly (cont.)
 views on the bishoprics, 159;
 bishops subject to, 164; approved appointment of bishops, 165–7; to be modified in presbyterian system, 187, 204; its concern for ecclesiastical property, 198; its debates on episcopacy, 199–200;
 condemned episcopacy, 200, 203;
 adopted second Book of Discipline, 203; planned presbyteries, 209; its position under ‘Black Acts’, 212;
 its attitude to compromise of 1586, 217; commissioners to, appointed by presbyteries, 218; authorized (1592), 219; continued with epis-copacy after 1600, 225.
 ‘General kirk’, in burghs, 204–5.
 Geneva, order of English congregation at, 107–8.
 Glasgow, archbishopric of, appointments to, 160, 161, 208.
 ‘Godly prince’, place of, in reformed church, 144, 213.
 Gordon, Alexander, bishop of Galloway, supported reformation, 58–9, 157–8.
 Gordon, William, bishop of Aberdeen: ‘in need of reform’, 34; terms of his appointment, 39; his attitude to reformed church, 56, 60, 66.
 ‘Great council of the church’, 63,
 139–40.
 ‘Great council of the realm’: assumed authority, 53, 137; its relation to general assembly, 143.
 Gualter, Rudolph, cited, 110.
Gude and godlie ballates, cited, 5.
 Haddington, nunnery of, 8, 40.
 Hamilton, James, bishop of Argyll, joined reformers, 59.
 Hamilton, James, duke of Châtel-herault: consulted with Archbishop Hamilton in 1560, 57; president of ‘great council’, 137.
 Hamilton, James, earl of Arran, a possible ‘godly prince’, 138.
 Hamilton, John, archbishop of St.
 Andrews: policy of, 33–7, 55–6;
 his Catechism, 15, 25, 33, 35, 54;
 legate a latere, 43–4; his attitude to reformed church, 56, 58; his jurisdiction after 1560, 73; hanged, 160.
 Henry VIII, influence of his proceedings, 19.
 Hepburn, Patrick, bishop of Moray, attitude of, to reformed church,
 56–7, 66.
 Hereditary succession in benefices,
 17–18, 20, 39–40.
 Highlands: conditions in, before reformation, 25–6; reformed church
 in, 88–9.
 Holy Communion: views of reformers on, 82–3, 130; infrequency of,
 82–3; arrangements for, 180.
 Homilies, read by readers, 83.
 Images, breaking of, 29–30.
 Imposition of hands, 117, 164.
 Isles, bishopric of, 156.
 James I, and reform, 3.
 James V: and reform, 1; his natural sons, 18–19, 37.
 James VI, accession of, 144.
 Jewel, John, bishop of Salisbury, cited, 78, 97, 132.
 Kalendar, in use after reformation,
 180.
 Kennedy, Quintin, cited, 45.
 Kirk sessions: expansion of, 95;
 jurisdiction of, 122–3; sanctioned in 1584, 212; after 1592, 222; after 1600, 225; see also Elders.
 Knox, John: cited, 6, 55, 68, 75, 103, 108, 111, 132–4, 138; attitude of, to bishops, in 1560, 58; chronology of his History criticized, 61; his views on episcopacy, 167–70.
 Laids: attitude of, to reformation,
 46–7; in general assembly, see
 Barons.

INDEX

- Latimer, Hugh, cited, 102–4.
 Legatine power of Scottish archbishops, 43–4.
 Legitimations of children of clergy, 7–8, 15–16.
 Leith, convention at (1572), 162–3.
 Lindsay, Sir David, cited, 1, 5, 8, 9, 14, 16, 48, 54, 104, 133.
 Lindsay, David, minister of Leith: a consecrator of archbishop of St. Andrews (1572), 163; approved of episcopal system, 167, 214.
 Litigation over benefices, 17.
 Lords of the congregation, 53, 136.
 Lutheran reformation, influence of, on Scotland, 29, 148.
 Magistracy: relations of reformed church with, 80–1; powers of, in reformed church, 131–5, 207, 212–14.
 Marian exiles, church system of, 107–8.
 Marriage: celebrated by readers, 84; celebrated privately, 180.
 Mary, queen of Scots: in France, 53, 137–8; returned to Scotland, 69; her proclamation acknowledging reformed church, 67; took reformed church under her protection, 68; her attitude to reformation, 139; her relations with reformed church, 144, 151–2; her disposal of the prelaties, 155–6.
 Mary of Guise, regent of Scotland, 53; suspended, 53, 137; her death, 53; her attitude to reform, 133.
 Melville, Andrew: claimed ecclesiastical independence, 146; at Geneva, 190; associated with English presbyterians, 190–1; his character and influence, 191–3; his interest in financial questions, 198; fled to England (1584), 214; returned, 216.
 Ministers: education of, 64; stipends of, 64, 68, 71, 93–5, 151–2; to have manse and glebes, 67; functions of, 82–3; authorization of, 118; election of, 119, 222; examination and admission of, 116–20, 196–7; to be examined by superintendents, 119–20; in general assembly, 142, 204; ordination of, 164; shortage of, 195.
 Ministry of reformed church: composition and recruitment of, 85–8; expansion of, 87–95.
 Monasteries: condition of, 2–8; attacks on, 7; in Highlands, 25; revenues of, 64; after 1560, 74–5; views of reformers on, 81; after 1572, 171; see also Buildings, monastic, Canons regular and Monks.
 Monastic churches, after reformation, 98.
 Monks: attitude of, to reformation, 6–7; their morals, 5–8; their numbers, 4.
 Monks' portions, 3–4, 6, 194.
 Negative Confession (1581), 209.
 Nepotism, 17–18.
 Nobles, in general assembly, 140–1.
 Nunneries, condition of, 8.
 Oath of obedience to ordinary (1572), 179, (1584), 213, 219.
 Oath of supremacy (1572), 144, 177.
 Offerings: exaction of, 14, 47; abolished, 90.
 Ordination: by bishops, reformers' views on, 104; not regarded as necessary, 106–8; in reformed church, 116–20.
 Orkney, diocese of, 'heresy' in, 31; reforms of Bishop Reid in, 34; development of reformed church in, 87–8.
 Papacy: policy of, in appointments to benefices, 18–19; concessions by, to Scottish crown, 18–19; an obstacle to discipline, 20, 44; Scottish relations with, 35, 37–8, 40–2;

Cambridge University Press
 978-0-521-07284-7 - The Scottish Reformation
 Gordon Donaldson
 Index
More information

INDEX

- Papacy (cont.)
 English relations with, 37–8, 40–1;
 dwindling authority of, 43–4; attitude of Scots to, before reformation, 44–6; authority of, abrogated, 60, 67.
- Parish churches: preserved at reformation, 99–100; maintenance and repair of, 99–100, 226–7.
- Parish clergy: under-payment of,
 12–13; intellectual and moral standards of, 15–16.
- Parishes: appropriation of, 12, 22, 195; endowment of, 36, 63–4, 90;
 neglect of, before reformation, 12– 16; emphasis of reformation on, 81.
- Parity: origins of belief in, 187;
 asserted by second Book of Discipline, 203.
- Parker, Matthew, archbishop of Canterbury, cited, 74, 106.
- Parliament: legislation of (1525), 29,
 (1541), 1, (1543), 30, (1560), 54, (1563), 67, (April 1567), 68, (December 1567), 68, (1584), 211–14, (1587), 217, (1592), 219–20, (1690), 223–4; rejected second Book of Discipline, 207; authority of, reaffirmed (1584), 212; representation of church in (1572), 145, (after 1592), 219, 223–4; ‘the Reformation’, composition and constitutional status of, 66–8.
- Patronage: abolition of, proposed by first Book of Discipline, 149; acknowledged by general assembly, 151; presbyterians opposed to,
 196–7; after 1592, 222–3; abolished
 in 1690, 224.
- Paupers, attitude of, to reformation, 48.
- Perthshire, development of reformed church in, 87–8.
- Pilkington, James, bishop of Durham,
 cited, 109.
- Pluralism, 13–14, 16.
- Preaching: demand of reformers for,
 77; emphasis on, 82, 85, 184.
- Prebends of collegiate churches, to go to students, 155, 171.
- Prelacies, see Abbacies, Bishoprics.
- Premonstratensian canons regular, reform among, 3, 32.
- Presbyterian-episcopalian controversy, origin of, 214.
- Presbyterianism: principles of, 184–6;
 character of, 187; opposition to, 193–4, 199–202; offers remedy for abuses, 194–9; practical advantages of, 195–9; includes claim to church property, 199; reasons for support of, 199; proclamation favourable to (1582), 209; legislation against (1584), 211–12.
- Presbyteries: origins of, 185; not mentioned in second Book of Discipline, 203; erection of, advocated, 203; relation of, to ‘exercises’, 205; schemes for organization of, 207, 209, 216; not recognized by statute (1581), 208; development of, 209–10, 217–19;
 condemned (1584), 211–12; recognized (1586), 216; appoint commissioners to general assembly,
 218; receive statutory authority (1592), 219–20; not general after 1592, 220–1; after 1690, 223–4; in conjunction with bishops after 1600, 225.
- Privy council: authorized superintendents, 137; mandate by, to superintendent of Lothian, 226–7.
- ‘Privy kirks’, development of, 49–51.
- Proprietary rights in benefices, 39– 40.
- Provincial councils of Scottish church:
 legislation of, 1, 7, 12, 14, 15, 23–5, 33–7, 49; and papal authority, 45.
- ‘Pseudo-bishops’, 103.
- Reader, office of, 83–4; proposed abolition of, 94.
- ‘Reader’s service,’ 83–4.
- ‘Reform from within’, policy of,
 32–7.

Cambridge University Press
 978-0-521-07284-7 - The Scottish Reformation
 Gordon Donaldson
 Index
More information

INDEX

- Reformatio legum ecclesiasticarum*, referred to in Scotland, 178.
- Reformation: modern attitudes towards, 27–8; results of, 28.
- Reformed church: ‘establishment’ of, 68, 72; endowment of, 68–71, 90, 196; relations of, with magistracy, 80–1, 131–5, 207, 212–14.
- Reformed ministry, expansion of, 93–5.
- Reforming movement, progress of, before 1560, 29–31.
- Regular clergy, see Canons regular, Friars and Monks.
- Reid, Robert, bishop of Orkney: policy of, 32, 34; terms of his appointment, 39.
- Richardson, Robert, cited, 6–7, 32.
- Row, John, cited, 61–2.
- Ruthven Raid, 209–11.
- Sacraments: administration of, a mark of the church, 77; views of reformers on, 82–3.
- St. Andrews, archbishopric of, appointment to (1571–2), 160–3.
- Schools: proposals of first Book of Discipline for, 64; provided in seventeenth century, 95–6.
- Secularisation of church property, 37–43, 194.
- Shire commissioners: in general assembly, 141; in parliament, 141.
- Sinclair, Henry, bishop of Ross, attitude of, to reformed church, 66.
- Social background of reformation, 46–9.
- Spottiswoode, John: appointed superintendent of Lothian, 65; jurisdiction of, 122–3; work of, 126; a consecrator of archbishop of St. Andrews (1572), 163; mandate to, as superintendent of Lothian, 226–7; circular letter by, 227–8.
- Stewart, Esmé, earl of Lennox, ascendancy of, 208–9.
- Stewart, Lord James, earl of Moray, a possible ‘godly prince’, 138.
- Stewart, James, earl of Arran, administration of, 211, 216.
- Stewart, Robert, bishop of Caithness: terms of his appointment, 38–9; supported reformation, 59, 157–8; a consecrator of archbishop of St. Andrews (1572), 163.
- Stipends: of vicars, 12; of ministers, 90, 195; of superintendents, 126–7, 175.
- Succession of clergy: repudiated by reformers, 104–5; in England, 108; preserved in practice in Scotland, 116–18; acknowledged in 1572, 164; see also Episcopal succession.
- Superintendent, or reformed bishop, 108–11, 115–16; office of, in first Book of Discipline, 111–16; term used on continent and in England, 115–16; identified with bishop, 115–16, 125; his office of divine right, 124–5.
- Superintendents: nomination of, 61; dioceses of, 63; appointment of, 65–6, 114, 226–8; functions of, 116–24, 226–8; to examine and admit ministers, 119–20; to supervise ministers, 120–1; to suspend and deprive ministers, 121; their judicial functions, 122–4; their courts, 122–3, 204; their status and stipends, 125–8, 175; only five appointed, 128; obstacles to further appointments, 128; distinguished from commissioners, 128–9; authorized by privy council, 137, 226–8; in general assembly, 142; empowered to give collation, 153, and to receive presentations, 154; after 1572, 173–5.
- Supremacy, oath of, see Oath of Supremacy.
- Synod: in reformed church, 124; to be modified in presbyterian system, 204; sanctioned in 1584, 211.
- Tacks of teinds, 40–2, 90, 194.
- Taxation of church, 41–2.

Cambridge University Press
 978-0-521-07284-7 - The Scottish Reformation
 Gordon Donaldson
 Index
More information

INDEX

- Teinds: tacks of, 40–2; exaction of, 40–2; proposals of first Book of Discipline for, 63–4; made available for reformed church, 90, 95.
- Tenants, attitude of, to reformation, 47–8.
- Thirds of benefices: assumption of, 69–71; administration of, 90–3, 151–2, 153–4.
- Travers, Walter, his opinions, 189, 197–8.
- Trent, council of, 35, 57.
- ‘Tulchan’ bishops: before reformation, 38–9; after reformation, 172.
- Universities: reformers’ proposals for endowment of, 64; presbyterian teaching in, 192.
- University colleges, endowment of, 11, 32–3.
- ‘Unqualified’ men in benefices, 195–7.
- Vicars, stipends of, 12, 36–7.
- Whitgift, John, archbishop of Canterbury, cited, 108, 185–6.
- Willock, John: appointed ‘bishop’ of Glasgow, 60; appointed superintendent of Glasgow, 65; status of, 126–7.
- Winram, John, subprior of St. Andrews, 6; negotiated with Archbishop Hamilton in 1560, 57; appointed superintendent of Fife, 65; status of, 126; attitude of, to appointment of bishops (1572), 163, 167.
- Winyet, Ninian, cited, 1, 7, 104.
- Wishart, George, mission of, 30.
- ‘Word’, preaching of: a mark of the church, 77; emphasis on, 82.
- Worship of reformed church, before 1560, 49; after 1560, 82–3, 130, 180–1.
- Zurich, church of, views of, 187–8; see also Bullinger, Gualter.