

CONTENTS

|                                                                                                        |         |
|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|---------|
| List of Illustrations                                                                           | page xi |
| List of Tables                                                                                  | xiii    |
| List of Abbreviations                                                                           | xiv     |
| Acknowledgements                                                                                | xvi     |
| Author's Note                                                                                   | xvii    |
| 33 ALCHEMY AND CHEMISTRY                                                                               | page i  |
| (a) Introduction; the historical literature, p. i                                               |         |
| (1) Primary sources, p. i                                                                       |         |
| (2) Secondary sources, p. 2                                                                     |         |
| (b) Concepts, terminology and definitions, p. 8                                                 |         |
| (1) Aurifiction and aurifaction in the West, p. 15                                              |         |
| (i) The theory of chrysopoia , p. 21                                                     |         |
| (ii) The persistence of the aurifactive dream, p. 30                                            |         |
| (2) The artisans' cupel and the enigma of aurifactive philosophy, p. 36                         |         |
| (3) Gold and silver in ancient China, p. 47                                                     |         |
| (4) Cupellation and cementation in ancient China, p. 55                                         |         |
| (5) Aurifaction in the Pao Phu Tzu book, p. 62                                           |         |
| (6) The drug of deathlessness; macrobiotics and immortality-theoryin East and West, p. 71   |         |
| (i) Hellenistic metaphor and Chinese reality, p. 72                                             |         |
| (ii) Ideas about the after-life in East and West, p. 77                                         |         |
| (iii) The hun and pho souls, p. 85                                                |         |
| (iv) Material immortality; the hsien and the celestialbureaucracy, p. 93             |         |
| (v) Macrobiotics and the origin of alchemy in ancient China, p. 114                             |         |
| (7) The missing element; liturgy and the origins of Chinese alchemy, p. 128                     |         |
| (i) Incense, prototypal reactant, p. 134                                                        |         |
| (ii) Fumigation, expellant and inductant, p. 148                                                |         |
| (8) Nomenclature of chemical substances, p. 154                                                 |         |
| (c) The metallurgical-chemical background; identifications of alchemical pro-cesses, p. 188 |         |
| (1) The availability of metallic elements, p. 189                                               |         |
| (2) Golden uniform-substrate alloys, p. 193                                                     |         |
| (i) The origin of the brasses, p. 195                                                           |         |
| (ii) The origins of zinc, p. 212                                                                |         |
| (iii) Other golden alloys, p. 221                                                               |         |

- (3) Arsenical copper, p. 223
- (4) Silvery uniform-substrate alloys, p. 225
  - (i) Paktong ('Tanyang copper', cupro-nickel), p. 225
  - (ii) Chinese nickel in Greek Bactria?, p. 237
  - (iii) Other silvery alloys, p. 242
- (5) Amalgams, p. 242
- (6) The treatment of metal and alloy surfaces, p. 245
  - (i) Superficial enrichment; the addition of a layer of precious metal (gilding and silvering), p. 246
  - (ii) Superficial enrichment; the withdrawal of a layer of base metal (cementation), p. 250
  - (iii) The deposition of coloured surface-films ('tingeing', bronzing, pickling, dipping), p. 251
  - (iv) 'Purple sheen gold' and shakudō, p. 257
- (7) Violet alloys, 'purple of Cassius', ruby glass, mosaic gold, and the panacea antimonialis, p. 267
- (8) Thang lists of 'golds' and 'silvers', artificial and genuine, p. 273
- (d) The physiological background; verifications of the efficacy of elixirs, p. 282
  - (1) Initial exhilaration, p. 282
  - (2) Terminal incorruptibility, p. 294

|                                                                               |     |
|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----|
| BIBLIOGRAPHIES . . . . .                                                      | 305 |
| Abbreviations, p. 306                                                  |     |
| A. Chinese books before +1800, p. 314                                  |     |
| Concordance for Tao Tsang books and tractates, p. 365           |     |
| B. Chinese and Japanese books and journal articles since +1800, p. 368 |     |
| C. Books and journal articles in Western languages, p. 387             |     |
| GENERAL INDEX . . . . .                                                       | 470 |
| Table of Chinese Dynasties . . . . .                                   | 508 |
| Romanisation conversion tables . . . . .                               | 509 |