

Contents

Foreword	page	vii
Acknowledgements		xi
Abbreviations		xiii
Jesus in early Christian interpretation		1
1 Fulfilment-words in the New Testament: use and abuse		3
2 Jesus in New Testament kerygma		37
3 The use of parables and sayings as illustrative material in early Christian catechesis		50
4 The Ascension - Acts i.9		54
Studies in the Gospels		65
5 St Matthew: some neglected features		67
6 Neglected features in the problem of 'the Son of Man'		75
7 The individualism of the Fourth Gospel		91
Two studies in the Epistles		111
8 The problem of the Pastoral Epistles: a reappraisal		113
9 The nature and purpose of I Peter		133
Two linguistic studies		147
10 Death 'to sin', 'to law' and 'to the world': a note on certain datives		149
11 Peculiarities in the language of II Corinthians		158
Studies exegetical, doctrinal and ethical		163
12 The influence of circumstances on the use of christological terms		165
13 The influence of circumstances on the use of eschatological terms		184

Cambridge University Press

978-0-521-09025-4 - Essays in New Testament Interpretation

C. F. D. Moule

Table of Contents

More informationContents

14	St Paul and 'dualism': the Pauline conception of resurrection	200
15	A reconsideration of the context of maranatha	222
16	II Cor. iii.18b, καθάπερ ἀπὸ κυρίου πνεύματος	227
17	Punishment and retribution: an attempt to delimit their scope in New Testament thought	235
18	The theology of forgiveness	250
19	Obligation in the ethic of Paul	261
20	'... As we forgive ...': a note on the distinction between deserts and capacity in the understanding of forgiveness	278
21	The sacrifice of the People of God	287
	Index	299