

Cambridge University Press

978-0-521-10170-7 - Bolivia: Land, Location, and Politics since 1825

J. Valerie Fifer

Index

More information

INDEX

Physical features and place names, unless otherwise stated, lie wholly or partly in Bolivia

- Abaroa, Eduardo, 61, 90
- Abuná (river), 92, 152; during rubber boom, and in boundary settlement with Brazil (1903), 129, 130, 132, 140; error in delineation of course (1903), 132n.; Brazilian penetration across, 139n., 155
- Acre (river), 102; Brazilian penetration along, 101, 121, 128n., 139n.; crossed by boundary with Brazil (1867), 122, 122n.; Brazil's reservation upon its free navigation, 124n.; during rubber boom, 121–32 passim; part of boundary of independent State of Acre (1899), 125; part of boundary with Brazil (1903), 129–31; involved in boundary controversy, and later settlement, with Peru (1909–12), 145, 148–50; present-day activity along, 157–9
- Acre Concession (Acre District), granted (1901) to Bolivian Syndicate of New York (also known as Anglo-American Syndicate), 123–30, 132n., 142, 143
- Acre, Federal Territory of, later state of, Brazil, 128n., 155n. cont.
- Acre, independent State of, 125–8, 142
- Acre War (1902–3), 127–9
- Agrarian Reform, in Bolivia, 81–2, 235, 261; in Peru, 82
- Aguayrenda (Dept of Tarija), 199
- Aiquile (Dept of Cochabamba), 229
- altiplano* (see also Titicaca), Marshal Sucre's march across, 14, 15; easier movement within cordilleran system afforded by, 26–7; routes across, 22, 25, 27, 49, 112, 166, by rail, 66–71, 88, 185, 200; its isolation from Pacific, 36, 61, 255; crossed by frontier, later boundary, with Peru, 39–40, 79; Bolivian new towns on (in relation to borderland contrasts with Peru), 82; its isolation from Oriente (northern sector), 93, 127–8, (south-eastern sector), 213; inaugural flights over, 211–12; nature of southern portion of, 226; smuggling across, 258; as part of a future regionally integrated area involving Bolivia, Chile and Peru, 263
- Always Ready*, 218n.
- Amazon (river), Brazil, Portuguese/Brazilian expansion along, 31, 93–8, 130; problems of Bolivia's access to, 19–20, 28, 30, 100, 102–3; opened by Brazil to international navigation (1867), 103, 116, 137, 179; Brazil's reservation concerning free navigation on river Purus, 124n.; closed to Bolivian traffic (August 1902–February 1903, during Acre War) 126–9 (and during First World War) 139–40, 197; rights of navigation and transit for Bolivia confirmed by Brazil, 234
- American International Products Co. (Paraguay), 184n.
- Andean Group (Corporación Andina de Fomento), initiated by Bogotá Declaration (Aug. 1966); developed by Cartagena Agreement (May 1969): Acuerdo Regional Andino, Bolivia, Chile, Colombia, Ecuador, Peru, 262–3
- Antofagasta, Chile, founded on coast of Bolivia (1868), 57; proposed British consular representation in, 239; replaces Cobija as capital of Bolivia's Litoral Department, 57n.; occupied by Chilean forces (1879), 61, 69; during nitrate boom, 56–61 passim, 74; captures Bolivia's Pacific trade, 70–1; Bolivia guaranteed commercial transit through, 66; port agents in, 245; in competition with other Pacific ports, 85–8; linked by rail to Buenos Aires (via Uyuni), 191; linked by rail to Salta, Argentina, 190n.; Bolivia's call for return of, 73, 90
- Antofagasta (Chili) and Bolivia Railway Co. Ltd (see also Compañía de Salitres y Ferrocarril de Antofagasta), formation of company (1888) and extension of railway into Bolivia, 69, 247; its rumoured opposition to completion of Bolivia's rail link to Buenos Aires, 190–1; its association with the Bolivia Railway Co., 191, 248, 249n.; its strong controls over key sections of Bolivia's rail system, 248; thought to be pressing for British diplomatic representa-

Cambridge University Press

978-0-521-10170-7 - Bolivia: Land, Location, and Politics since 1825

J. Valerie Fifer

Index

More informationIndex

- Antofagasta (Chili) ... Railway Co. Ltd (cont.)
tion in Bolivia (1901), 243; nationalisation of Bolivian section, 85n.
- Apolo (Dept of La Paz), 100
- Apolobamba (province), alternative name for Caupolicán, q.v.
- Arani (Dept of Cochabamba), 247
- arbitration, by Argentina, on northern section of Bolivia-Peru boundary (1902-9), 142-6, 188; proposed, in Chaco Boreal (1907), 195; by Belgium, proposed, in Chaco Boreal (1887), 183; by U.S.A., the Hayes Award in Chaco Boreal (1876-8), 180-1, 182, 249; in Los Andes (1899), 65, 187n.; in provinces of Tacna and Arica (1921-9), 76-8, 91, 219, 249; by International Conference of American States, Commission of Investigation, Conciliation and Arbitration, on hostilities in Chaco Boreal (1928-9), 209; by Argentina, Brazil, Chile, Peru, Uruguay and U.S.A., in Chaco Boreal (1935-8), 217-18, 222, 249
- Arequipa, Peru, supply centre on colonial trail into Upper Peru, 23-4, 44; part of independent State of South Peru (Peru-Bolivia Confederation, 1836-9), 44; exports Peruvian bark, 109; during rubber boom, 151; on rail link from Mollendo to Puno (Lake Titicaca), 52n., 67, 241, from Matarani, 84, 159; responsible, with Lima, for British consular affairs in Bolivia, 241
- Arica, Chile, founded on coast of Peru (1535), 25; colonial port for Upper Peru, 10, 25, 44; remains principal port for Bolivia at independence, 23-5, 27, 37; British and U.S. assumption of its incorporation into Bolivia (1825-6), 24; serious long-term effects of failure to incorporate at independence, 253-5; U.S.A. encourages its cession to Bolivia, 49n., 249; its own desire for incorporation into Bolivia, 38, 47; Bolívar's attitude towards, 25, 37; President Sucre's attempts to acquire, 37-8; President Santa Cruz' request for, 39, and his later attitude towards, 39-40; experiences competition from Cobija early 1830s, 42; President Ballivián's occupation of, and request for, 47; its superior site advantages on desert coast, 44, 52, and in relation to La Paz and Cochabamba, 48-51; outlet for Peruvian bark, 109; linked by rail to Tacna (1856), 51; attacked and occupied by Chilean forces (1880), 60, 63, 69; reopened for Bolivian transit trade, 63; post-war proposals, and renewed demands by Bolivia for, 63-6 passim; linked by rail to Alto La Paz (1913), 66-7; Bolivia guaranteed commercial transit through, 66; problem of arms transit through, 210n., 214-15; its limited value as outlet for products of Norte and Oriente, 99, 104, 154; experiences competition from Mollendo, 69-71, from Antofagasta, 70-1, 85-8, from Matarani, 84-8 passim; proposed 'Arica corridor' to sea, based on President Woodrow Wilson's declaration (1917), 72-3; future ownership of province submitted, with Tacna, to U.S. arbitration, 76-8; rumoured Bolivian purchase of, 77; Chilean ownership confirmed (1929), 77; Peru's rights at, 78; new port construction at, 85-8, 89; its proposed new highway linkage to La Paz or Oruro, 88; Bolivian oil pipeline to, 85n., 228
- Asociación Latino-Americana de Libre Comercio, see Latin American Free Trade Association
- Astillero, Peru, 151
- Asunción, Paraguay (see also Paraguay river), departure point for Spanish colonial exploration of Oriente and Upper Peru, 21, 164, 193; foreign diplomatic representation at, 178; British residents evacuated from (1867), 240; on trans-Chaco, and projected transcontinental, highway, 218-19; free port zone at, 258
- Atacama desert, Chile, Bolivia's claims in (see also Litoral), 22, 32-6, 39; guano boom, 51-6 passim; nitrate boom, 56-60, 73-6, 189; increases Bolivia's isolation from Pacific, 36, 255
- Atocha (Dept of Potosí), rail links to, 190-1, 200, 226, 248
- audiencias* (see also Charcas, Audiencia of), 8-10
- Aymara Indians, 61, 81-4 passim, 213, 260-2
- Aymara language, 261, 261n.
- Bahía, alternative name for Cobija, Dept of Pando, q.v.
- Bahía (river), on Bolivia-Brazil boundary, 130
- Bahía Negra, confluence of rivers Negro and Paraguay, also port (now in Paraguay), 179, 179n., 196n.; declared a free port by

Cambridge University Press

978-0-521-10170-7 - Bolivia: Land, Location, and Politics since 1825

J. Valerie Fifer

Index

More informationIndex

- Bahía Negra (cont.)
 Bolivia (1853), 177; attempted renewed investigation by Capt. Page, U.S.N. (1859), 178n.; Bolivia's riverine claims in relation to, 179, 182–3, 186; Bolivia acquires Paraguay river frontage above (1903), 194, 219
 Balcarce (Dept of Potosí), its proposed rail link to Tarija (1922), 192n.
 Ballivián, President José, 47
 Ballivián (Bolivian fort), Paraguay, 195, 216
 Balsemão (Portuguese trading post on river Madeira), Brazil, 95
bandeiras, Brazilian raiding or prospecting expeditions into the interior (mainly 17th cent.); bandeirantes, members of such expeditions, adventurers, 94
 Barranqueras, Argentina, 235
Beagle Survey, 34n., 35n., 55n.
 Belém do Pará (known as Belém, or Pará), Brazil, 135, 140, 154; official opening of Amazon at (1867), 103; rubber seeds smuggled through (1876), 137; North Americans in, 106n., 126; during rubber boom, 112, 119, 129; port improvement at, 139; Bolivian customs control at, 234
 Belzu, President Manuel Isidoro, 238–9, 242
 Beni (Dept), creation of (1842), 99; isolation of, 100, 160; during rubber boom, 113n., 157–8; ranching in, 119–20; proposed colonization in, 30, 99–100, 178, 182; depopulation of, 221; present-day rubber and Brazil nut production in, 152–4
 Beni (river) (see also Beni Dept), 20, 92, 94, 186; Portuguese penetration along, 95n.; explored by J. A. Palacios, 99; explored by E. R. Heath, 110–11, 119, 146n.; during rubber boom, 110–14 passim, 140; part of boundary of State of Acre (1899), 125; Suárez Hermanos headquarters on, 118–20; proposed rail extensions to, 133–4, 247; linked by highway to Guayaramerin, 156
 Bermejo (Dept of Tarija) (see also Bermejo river), highway link into Argentina, 225
 Bermejo (river), 163; with Teuco, divides Chaco Central and Chaco Austral, 161n.; limited colonial settlement at, 164; its navigation declared common to Argentina and Paraguay (1852, 1856), 176; Bolivian claims to, 161, 208n., 177, 179, disputed by Argentina, 186; oilfield at, 192, 222–4
 Bôa Viagem (Portuguese trading post on river Madeira), Brazil, 95
 Bogotá Declaration (1966), see Andean Group
 Bolívar, Simón José Antonio de la Santísima Trinidad, opposes independence of Upper Peru, 6, 14–17, 54, 174, 252; rejects incorporation of Arica into Bolivia, 25, 36–7, 38; confirms Cobija (Puerto La Mar) as Bolivia's port (1825), 37; stresses Tarija's tie with Argentina under uti possidetis de jure (1825–6), 169; his anxiety over Brazilian expansion, 16, 31, 54, 174n.
 Bolivia Colonization Association of Portland, Oregon, 201n.
 Bolivia Gulf Oil Co. (Pittsburgh), 227–8
 Bolivia Railway Co. (New York), 191, 248, 249n.
 Bolivian Oil and Land Syndicate (Bolivia Concessions Ltd), 202–4
 Bolivian Syndicate of New York (Anglo-American Syndicate), Acre Concession, q.v.
 Bolland, Captain Henry, 194
 Boquerón (fort), Paraguay, 209, 213
 Borbón (fort), Paraguay, alternative name for Olimpo, q.v.
 Borbón Point (river Paraguay), Paraguay, 177
 Boyuibe (Dept of Santa Cruz), 185; its proposed rail link to Sucre (1922), 192n.; during Chaco War, 217
 Brabo, Francisco J., 182
 Braden Copper Co. (Santiago, Chile and Los Angeles, Calif.), 247
 Braillard, see Seiler
 Brasilea, Brazil, 159
 Brasília, Brazil, 154n., 233
 Brazil nuts (castañas, almendras), 115, 154–5
 Britain, its recognition of Peru–Bolivia Confederation (1837), 47, 238; recognition of Bolivia (1840), 47n., 238; its early attitudes towards Bolivia, 18–19, 237–8; its later attitudes, particularly towards Bolivia's landlocked position, 239–43, 250–1; breaks diplomatic relations with Bolivia (1853), 239; restores diplomatic relations with Bolivia (1903), 239, 243, 138n.; its recognition of Paraguay (1852), 178
 Buenos Aires, Argentina, audiencia created at, 9n., 10; its political and trade links with Upper Peru (see also Viceroyalty of the Río de la Plata), 2, 10, 12–16 passim, 22–4, 165, 186; and the question of Tarija, 169; its negative attitude to proposed federation with Chile and Bolivia (1827), 38; handles Bolivia's mineral exports during Pacific

Cambridge University Press

978-0-521-10170-7 - Bolivia: Land, Location, and Politics since 1825

J. Valerie Fifer

Index

More informationIndex

- Buenos Aires (cont.)
 blockade (1879–82), 70, 189; Pan-American Congress at (1910), 188; its rail links with Bolivia, 190–2, 198–200, 207; its river traffic to eastern Bolivia, 197, 199
- Bulnes Prieto, President Manuel, of Chile, 53
- Busch, Major Germán, 216
- Cabrera, Ladislao, 61, 90
- Cáceres (lake), flood basin adjoining river Paraguay, divided by median line on Bolivia–Brazil boundary (1867), 179; Suárez Arana's concession at, and founding of Puerto Suárez (q.v.) (1880), 182; gain made by Bolivia at (1903), 192–4; declining importance of its link with river Paraguay, 230–1, 234–5
- Cachuela Esperanza (Dept of Beni) (see also Suárez, N.), 119–20, 133–4, 138n., 154, 157
- Cañiza (Caiza) falls, river Pilcomayo (Dept of Tarija), 175
- Calama, Chile, former Bolivian oasis and supply centre on Potosí–Cobija trail, 41, 43; attacked by Chilean forces (1879), 61, 90; dynamite works at, 87
- California: gold rush to, 50; Bolivian oil export to, 228
- California Colonization and Commercial Co. of Bolivia (San Francisco), 106n., 123n.
- Callao, Peru, 9, 35, 44, 63
- Camarones ravine, Chile, 64
- Camatindi (Dept of Chuquisaca), 185, 217
- Camiri (Dept of Santa Cruz), 216, 224
- Campo Durán refinery, Salta province, Argentina, 222
- Cañada Oruro (Strongest) (Bolivian fort), Paraguay, 218, 218n.
- caoutchouc*, 111n.
- Caquetá, Brazil, 122
- Caracoles, Chile, in former Bolivian Litoral, silver discoveries at, 58; occupied by Chilean forces (1879), 61; projected railway to, 61n.
- Caracoles Tin Co. of Bolivia (Guggenheim Bros.), 246
- Caranda oil and gas field (Dept of Santa Cruz), 222
- Carandaiti (Dept of Chuquisaca), 217
- Cartagena Agreement (1969), see Andean Group
- Casado Railroad, Paraguay, see under Puerto Casado
- Casani (Dept of La Paz), 83
- Castro, Plácido de, 127, 128n.
- Caupolicán (or Apolobamba) (province, Dept of La Paz), part of proposed territorial exchange with Peru (1826), 38, 109; Peruvian bark production in, 109–10
- Caupolicán Concession (1901), 124
- Cavinas (Dept of Beni), mission at, 100; rubber production at, 110–11
- Ceará, Brazil, emigration from into Bolivia, 121, 139n.
- Chaco (Gran Chaco) (see also divisions of Chaco), physical characteristics of, 161–3; colonial exploration of, 164; routeways across, 2, 21–2, 166, 219; rival claims to, 170, 180, 208–9n., 217n.; Bolivian Delegación of, 198n., 206; province of (Dept of Tarija), 187, 206
- Chaco Austral, Argentina, 181; delimited, 161n.
- Chaco Boreal, delimited, 161n., 162; Hayes Award in, 180–2, 249; rival claims to, 181–5, 208; economic development in, 184–5, 189–90, 208, 214, 220n. cont.; growth of forts in, 195–6, 207–9
- Chaco Central, Argentina, delimited, 161n., 162; Bolivian attempts to construct road through, 175; awarded to Argentina (1876–8), 180–1
- Chaco Commission (League of Nations), 215, 217
- Chaco War (1932–5), 212–21; effects of, 130, 220–1, 226, 235–6, 261
- Charagua (Dept of Santa Cruz), 165, 185; proposed colonization at, 201n.
- Charcas, Audiencia of, Presidency of (see also Upper Peru), 2–3, 6, 9–12, 15; geographical location and external communications, 19–24; problems of internal communications, 26–7; its Atacama boundary, 32; its north–west boundary, 142; its south–east boundary, 164, 221; its responsibility for economic affairs in Mojos and Chiquitos provinces, 186
- Chávez, Ñuño de, 164, 193
- Chililaya (Cachilaya), see Puerto Pérez
- Chincha Islands, Peru: guano deposits on, 52, 54; attacked by Spain, 52, 55
- Chipamanu (river), 129n.
- Chiquito Indians (Jesuit Mission-Reserve Province of), 21, 94, 164, 186
- Chiquitos (province, Dept of Santa Cruz), 170–1, 174nn., 182; proposed Dept of, 198

Cambridge University Press

978-0-521-10170-7 - Bolivia: Land, Location, and Politics since 1825

J. Valerie Fifer

Index

More informationIndex

- Chiriguano Indians, 164, 166
- Chorrillos Pass, Argentina, 190n.
- Chovoreca (Bolivia–Paraguay boundary point), 218n.
- Chuquicamata, Chile, 75–6
- Chuquisaca (city) (Sucre; known also as Charcas, or La Plata), seat of Audiencia of Charcas, 2, 8–16; capital of newly independent Bolivia, 16–18, 163; its isolation, 22–3, 26–7, 46, 48, and limited development, 27, 236, 240; its rivalry with La Paz, 46, 48, 238, 252; its links with Tarija, 168–9, 225; dispatches troops to Acre region (1903), 127; proposed rail links to, 66n., 192n.; railway extended to (1936), 247; British diplomatic representation withdrawn from (1853), 239; British consular representation restored at (1903), 243
- Chuquisaca (Dept), oil concession in, 200; its seasonal labour movement into Argentina, 224
- Church, Colonel George Earl, and the Madeira–Mamoré Railway project (1868–74), 103–8, 114, 244; his proposed Great Central Railway, 105, 222; comments on Caupolicán, 124, and on the Acre region, 122n.; his association with the Royal Geographical Society, 104n., 237n.
- Cinchona*, see Peruvian bark
- Cobija (Bahía) (Dept of Pando), Suárez company town during rubber boom, 120, 129n.; Brazilian penetration around, 139n., 159; capital of Pando, 151n., 157–8; present-day activity in, 157–9; declared free port, 258
- Cobija (Puerto La Mar), Chile, founded (1587), 36; confirmed by Bolívar as Bolivia's Pacific port (1825), 36–7; unable to compete economically with Arica, 25, 37–44 passim, 48–51, 57n.; President Santa Cruz' efforts to improve, 40–2, 45, 47–8; an impractical outlet for the Oriente, 99, 104; captured by Peruvian forces (1841), 47; Chilean support for, 48; consular representation at, 50, 51n., 55n., 57n., 178n.; benefits temporarily from ban on Arica (1854), 50, 51n.; during guano boom, 53–6; its decline, 50n., 57n., 62; captured by Chilean forces (1879), 61
- coca, 69n.; export, 83, 84, 225
- Cochabamba (city and Dept), part of Upper Peru, 11, 13, 14, 16, 26, 186; growth and comparatively favourable situation, 8, 18n., 27; its trail links to Mamoré and Paraguay rivers, 19–22; mountainous environment, 26, 240; most economically served by port of Arica, 23, 25, 48, 50; proposed as the capital of Bolivia (1826), 27; advantages of an improved road link to Arica (1826), 37; Peruvian troublemakers removed to, 39; periodic seat of Government, 46; Henry Meiggs' interests in, 67; during boom in Peruvian bark, 109; dispatches troops to Acre region (1900–1 and 1903), 125, 127; dispatches troops to Santa Cruz and Yacuiba (1924), 206; dispatches troops during Chaco War (1932–5), 213; as a source of labour for rubber forests, 139; as an internal market for Bolivian rubber, 153; proposed rail links to, 66n., 105, 133, 192, 227; railway extended to (1917), 247; railway extended beyond, 229, 247; air communication inaugurated (1925), 211–12; improved highway link to Santa Cruz (1954), 229, 236
- Coimbra (Portuguese fort), Brazil, 170–1, 176
- Cojata, Peru, 83n.
- Collins Co., Philip and Thomas (Philadelphia), 108, 110, 244
- Colombia, its troops remain in Bolivia at close of wars of independence, 39, 169; during rubber boom, 115; member of American Commission of Investigation, Conciliation and Arbitration on hostilities in Chaco Boreal (1928–9), 209n.; its proposed 'edge-of-the-Selva-Highway' link, 159; its membership of Andean Group, 262
- colonization schemes, Bolivia's encouragement of, 30–1, 177–8; proposed or attempted: by Bolivia Colonization Association of Portland, Oregon, 201n.; by Bolivian Oil and Land Syndicate (Bolivia Concessions Ltd), 202–4; by F. J. Brabo, 182; by California Colonization and Commercial Co. of Bolivia, 106n., 123n.; by Franco-Bolivian Co. of the Mamoré, 99–100, 178; by Madeira and Mamoré Railway Co., 105, 107n. cont.; by Mennonites (in Bolivia), 208n., (in Paraguay), 208; by W. H. Murray, 198–202; by Manuel Luis de Oliden, 170–1, 178; by Suárez Arana, 182–3; Britain warns against, 30, 202–3; United States warns against,

Cambridge University Press

978-0-521-10170-7 - Bolivia: Land, Location, and Politics since 1825

J. Valerie Fifer

Index

More informationIndex

- colonization schemes (cont.)
106n., 198–9, 201, 203n.; developed in Santa Cruz region, 236; developed by Chile in provinces of Tacna and Arica, 67; developed, principally in Peru (for Japanese immigrants), during rubber boom, 139, 151
- Colorado (river) (Dept of La Paz), 147
- Colpa oil and gas field (Dept of Santa Cruz), 222
- Compagnie Aramayo de Mines en Bolivie, 246
- Companhia do Amazonas, Brazil, 103
- Compañía de Salitres y Ferrocarril de Antofagasta (see also Antofagasta (Chili) and Bolivia Railway Co. Ltd), formation of company (1872), 58; conflict with Bolivian authorities, 60; railway extensions, 57n., 61n., 69; changes hands (1887 and 1888), 247
- Compañía Huanchaca de Bolivia, 247
- Conceição (Nossa Senhora da Conceição, later Bragança) (Portuguese fort on river Guaporé), Brazil, 95
- Concepción (Dept of Santa Cruz), 197
- confederation, see federation
- Conquista (Dept of Pando), 153
- conquistadores*, 8, 43, 112n. cont., 163–4
- Conway, Sir William Martin (Conway of Allington, 1st Baron, created 1931), and Caupolicán Concession (1901), 124; his membership of Bolivian Syndicate of New York (Anglo-American Syndicate), Acre District, 124; his rumoured protest against Brazil's closure of Amazon, 126–7; Director of Bolivian Oil and Land Syndicate (Bolivia Concessions Ltd), Gaíba area, 202–3
- Copacabana (peninsula), part of proposed territorial exchange with Peru (1826), 38; crossed by frontier, later boundary with Peru, 79–83
- Copacabana (town, Dept of La Paz), 79–80
- Copiapó valley, Chile, 32
- Córdoba, Argentina, on Potosí–Buenos Aires trail, 165; its pastures, 166, 168n.
- Corredor Man Césped (opens on to river Paraguay), 231
- Corumbá, Brazil, colonial crossing point, river port, and trail head on river Paraguay, 22; reached by Lieut. Page's first expedition, 178n.; its commercial importance, river traffic, and site advantages compared with Puerto Suárez, 194, 196–8, 231; its road link with Puerto Suárez, 230n.; supply point for Bolivian army during Chaco War, 209, 215; confirmed as transit port for Bolivia, 234n.; its rail link with Santos–São Paulo, 227, and with Santa Cruz, Bolivia, 227, 229–31; projected highway links with Uberaba (Minas Gerais), and Santa Cruz, 229; ore-handling port, 234; Bolivian customs control at, 234, 258
- Crato (Roscenia de Crato), Brazil, 95n.
- Cuba, 209n.
- Cuenca del Plata development project, see Plate Basin Project
- Cuevo (Dept of Santa Cruz), 165, 185
- Cuiabá (river), Brazil, 170, 174n.
- Cuiabá (town), Brazil, 154n.
- Cuzco, Peru, rejected as seat of viceroyalty, 1, 44; audiencia of, 9n., 10, 12, 142; on colonial trail into upper Peru, 23; eastward penetration from, 100; part of State of South Peru (Peru–Bolivia Confederation, 1836–9), 44; boundary extension beyond, 101n.; collection centre for Peruvian bark, 109n.
- Dates and Hunt Co. (Buenos Aires), 191, 248
- Daza, President Hilarión, 238
- Delegación Nacional*: of Noroeste, 113n., 198n.; of Gran Chaco, 198n., 206; of Oriente, 198n.
- Desaguadero (river), its source part of boundary between Upper and Lower Peru, 13, 14, 34, 83, and later between Peru and Bolivia, 39, 47; proposed canalisation of, 43n., 71, 71n.; crossed by new bridge on projected highway to Ilo, 83
- Desaguadero (towns), Bolivia and Peru, 71n., 82–4
- Duguid, Julian, 204–5
- Dunlop, John Boyd, 121
- earthquake damage, 57n., 62
- Ecuador, in Pacific defensive alliance (1866), 55; Peruvian bark exploitation in, 109; contrasted urban growth of Guayaquil and Quito, 254; its membership of Andean Group, 262
- 'Edge-of-the-Selva Highway' project (Carretera Marginal de la Selva), 159
- El Carmen (Bolivian fort), Paraguay, 216

Cambridge University Press

978-0-521-10170-7 - Bolivia: Land, Location, and Politics since 1825

J. Valerie Fifer

Index

More informationIndex

- El Palmar (Palmar) (Dept of Tarija), proposed rail link to Tarija (1922), 192n.; centre of W. H. Murray's modified colonization project (1922–5), 201; during Chaco War, 217
- Embarcación, Argentina, reached by rail (1912), 191; terminus for cattle-drives crossing Oriente and Chaco, 191, 226; rail extended beyond, 200, 201
- Esmeralda, triple boundary point, Argentina/Bolivia/Paraguay, 218, 218n.
- Esteros de Patiño (swamps on river Pilcomayo), Argentina/Paraguay, 162, 175, 182
- Estigarribia, Marshal José Félix, of Paraguay, Chaco War leader, 214, 217n.; his guerrilla tactics, 217; notes lack of air support, 217n.
- Estique ravine, Peru, part of proposed boundary between Bolivia and Peru (1826), 37
- Farquhar, Percival, 134, 244
- Fawcett, Colonel Percy Harrison, surveys northern section (Acre–Abuná) of Bolivia–Brazil boundary (1906–7), 131n.; meets Col. Plácido de Castro in Acre Federal Territory, 128n.; explores Verde river, on north-eastern section of Bolivia–Brazil boundary (1908–9), 131–2; explores river Heath on Bolivia–Peru boundary survey (1910), 146n., 147n.; assists in survey of high Andean section of Bolivia–Peru boundary (1911–12), 147n.
- federation, as proposed by Bolívar, 6, 16–17, 25, 39; unacceptable to Bolivia, 16–19, 25; as proposed by President Sucre (1827), Argentina–Bolivia–Chile, 38; Peru–Bolivia Confederation (1836–9), 39, 44–7, 238; federalist movements in Bolivia, 158, 252
- Filadelfia (Dept of Pando), 158
- Fitscarrald, Carlos Fermín, 141
- Fortaleza (Dept of Pando), 153
- Franco-Bolivian Company of the Mamoré, 99–100, 178
- French Guiana, 100, 112n. cont.; Company of, 99
- Fresneau, François, 111n.
- Fuerza Naval, 159
- Gaíba (lake), navigation and trail head adjoining river Paraguay, 22, 164; divided by median line on Bolivia–Brazil boundary (1867), 179, 182; investigated by Capt. Bolland (1900), 194; proposed port at, 194, 202; gain made by Bolivia at (1903), 192–4; proposed colonization at, 198, 202–5, 207, 212
- Galpón (Paraguayan fort), Paraguay, 209
- German influence in Bolivia, as affected by First World War, 72–3, 140, 197; its commercial importance in Depts of Beni and Santa Cruz, 140, 197–8, 245; in general trade, 243, 245–6, 251; in technical assistance, 227n.; in military matters (see also Kundt), 205–7, 213n.; in development of air communication, 211–12; as largest foreign-born resident element in Bolivia's population (excluding contiguous States), 254n.
- Gibbon, Lieutenant Lardner, U.S.N., commissioned to explore navigable outlets to Amazon for future U.S.–Bolivia trade (1851–3), 98n., 244; proposes construction of mule-road to bypass Madeira–Mamoré falls, 103n.; records failure of Oliden's expedition down river Paraguay, 171n.
- Gibbon (river), Peru, discovered and named by Col. Pando, 141
- Goodrich, B. F., Co. (Akron, Ohio), 121
- Goodyear, Charles, 111
- Gran Chaco, see Chaco
- Grande (river), located second temporary site of Santa Cruz de la Sierra, 164; proposed rail link to its navigation head at Higueroles (1879), 182; bridged by Yacuiba–Santa Cruz railway, 223; bridged by Corumbá–Santa Cruz railway, 227; oil and gas field at, 222
- Grether, Hans, President of Commission to investigate routes for Cochabamba–Santa Cruz railway (1920–4), 227n.
- Guachalla (Bolivian fort), Paraguay, 195
- Guajará Mirim, Brazil, authorised by Brazil as terminus of proposed Madeira and Mamoré Railway (1870), 105; confirmed as terminus (or bridging-point) of projected Madeira–Mamoré Railway (1903), 132–3; reached by railway (1912), 135; highway replaces railway at (1970–1), 154; present-day activity in, 155–7
- guano, its use by indigenous societies, 51–2; its import into Upper Peru, 2; boom period, 29, 51–6; among Henry Meiggs' South American interests, 67
- Guaporé (Itenes) (river), 92; controlled by Portuguese colonial movement, 94, 95,

Cambridge University Press

978-0-521-10170-7 - Bolivia: Land, Location, and Politics since 1825

J. Valerie Fifer

Index

More informationIndex

- Guaporé (Itenes) (river) (cont.)
98, 163; part of San Ildefonso colonial boundary line between Spanish and Portuguese claims (1777), 29, 95, 177; remains part of boundary between Bolivia and Brazil (1867 and 1903), 131; an area of increased rubber exploitation by Bolivia after 1867 loss of Madeira claims, 110; Brazilian penetration across, 155
- Guaqui (Titicaca lake port, Dept of La Paz), Argentine force defeated by Royalists at (1811), 13; linked by rail to La Paz (1905), replacing Puerto Pérez as principal lake port for Peruvian trade, 69, 82; on projected La Paz–Desaguadero–Ilo highway, 83; linked by road to Puno, 84; its proposed rail link to Puno rejected, 71, 71n., 84
- Guayaramerin (Puerto Sucre) (Dept of Beni), Mamoré river port, and Suárez company town during rubber boom, 120; its failure to acquire rail link on proposed Madeira–Mamoré Railway extension to Riberalta, 133–4; linked by new highway to Riberalta (1968), 156; present-day activity in, 153, 154, 155–7, 159
- Guggenheim Brothers (Philadelphia and New York), their copper interests at Chuquicamata (1910–11), 76; Bolivian tin interests (1922), 246; nitrate interests and new processing methods (1926), 75
- hacia el mar (salida al mar)*, Bolivia's call for an independent outlet to Pacific, 90–1
- Hancock, Thomas, 111n.
- Harris, Richard Reader (Chief Engineer to Bolivian Government, 1872–9), 163n.
- Hayes Award, see arbitration
- Heath, Dr Edwin R., his exploration of river Beni (1880), 110–11, 146, 152; his contact (as a corresponding Fellow) with the Royal Geographical Society, 111n., 146n.
- Heath, Ivon D., 111
- Heath (river), 140; discovered and named by Col. J. M. Pando, 141; selected as part of Bolivia–Peru boundary (1909), 145–6, 147; explored by Col. P. H. Fawcett, 146n., 147n.
- Herdon, Lieutenant William Lewis, U.S.N., 95n., 98n.
- highways, internal: Cochabamba–Santa Cruz, 229, 236; under construction to link Andean centres and Mamoré navigation heads (initially Chapare and Ichilo rivers), 222; Guayaramerin–Riberalta, 156; their competition with rail transport, 71, 84, 88, 222–3, 229, 247; external: (major link with Argentina), La Paz–Oruro–Potosí–Tarija–Bermejo–Orán, 225; (major links with Brazil, dependent on ferries), Brasília–Rio Branco, 159; Guajará Mirim–Pôrto Velho (with connexion to Rio Branco, Manaus, Brasília and Rio de Janeiro), 154–5n.; through-road, Puerto Suárez–Corumbá, 230n.; (proposed links with Chile), La Paz–Arica, Oruro–Arica; (under construction), Oruro–Iquique, 88; (links with Peru), La Paz–Desaguadero, proposed link to Ilo, 83–5; Guaqui–Puno, 84; La Paz–Matarani, 84; projected 'Edge-of-the-Selva Highway' 159; trans-Chaco, 218–19; Uberaba (Minas Gerais)–Corumbá 229; Rio de Janeiro–Lima, 155n. cont.
- Higuerones (Dept of Santa Cruz), navigation head on river Grande, proposed rail link to (1879), 182
- Huancavelica, Peru, 44
- Huari (Dept of Oruro), 168
- Huarina (Dept of La Paz), 46
- Hueso Parado, Chile, early boundary point on Pacific coast, Bolivia–Chile, 32, 34n.
- Huíñamarca (lake), southern part of Lake Titicaca, q.v.
- Humahuaca (town and pass), Argentina, 165, 169, 190
- Iberia, Peru, 159
- Ibibobo (Dept of Tarija), 216
- Ichilo (river), boundary of petroleum concession (exploratory) to Brazil (1938), 227; a navigation head on Mamoré system, 222
- Illampu (rubber barraca on river Manuripi, Dept of Pando), 148–9
- Ilo, Peru, 83–5
- immigration, Bolivia's general failure to encourage successfully (see also colonization schemes), 4–5, 30–1, 254; by Brazilians into northern Bolivia, 139n., 254n.
- Imperial Chemical Industries Ltd (London), 215
- Ina (river), Brazil, 129n.
- Inambari (river), Peru, 140; explored by Col. J. M. Pando, 121n., 141, 143n.
- Inca Mining and Inca Rubber Co. (Pennsylvania), 151

Cambridge University Press

978-0-521-10170-7 - Bolivia: Land, Location, and Politics since 1825

J. Valerie Fifer

Index

More informationIndex

- Incas, their pattern of overland communications, 1; their use of guano, 52–3; settlement in the region of Lake Titicaca, 79, 81; a penetration road into the Yungas (for coca, bark, feathers, etc.), 100; their hunting expeditions in the western Chaco, 161n.; central plains Indians not incorporated into empire, 2
- Ingavi, battle of (1841), 47, 49
- Ingavi (Villa Ingavi or Caiza) (Dept of Tarija), 217
- International Conference of American States (Pan-American Conference), 4th Conference (at Buenos Aires, 1910), 188; 6th Conference (at Havana, 1928), 210; 7th Conference (at Montevideo, 1933), 89; its Commission of Investigation, Conciliation and Arbitration. on hostilities in Chaco Boreal between Bolivia and Paraguay (at Washington, D.C., 1928–9), 209
- Iquique, Chile, during guano boom, 53; during nitrate boom, 57, 74–5; blockaded by Chile during War of Pacific, 62–3; its proposed rail-and-canal linkage to Bolivian altiplano (1860–1), 43n.; its projected highway linkage to Oruro, 88
- Inquiry (river), Brazil, 130, 131n.
- Irindagüe (Bolivian fort), Paraguay, 216
- irredentism (reivindicación, reivindicacionismo), 73, 90
- Isla Suárez, river Mamoré, 155–6
- Islay, Peru, colonial port for Upper Peru, 24, 44; exporting Peruvian bark, 109
- Itaú (Dept of Tarija), 199
- Itaú (river), 187
- Itenes (river), see Guaporé
- Ixiamas, see Ysiamá
- Izozog swamps (Abapó–Izozog swamps), 209n. cont.; 233
- Jackson, Sir John, 66, 198
- Jaurú (Jaura) (river), Brazil, its confluence with river Paraguay a point on the Spanish–Portuguese colonial boundary (1750 and 1777), 94–5, 161, 177
- Javari (river), Brazil/Peru, 92, 99, 115; part of San Ildefonso colonial boundary between Spanish and Portuguese claims (1777), 95, 101; its source remains part of boundary between Bolivia and Brazil (1867), 101, 122n., 127; attempts to locate source, 101–2
- Jujuy (town and province), Argentina, on Potosí–Buenos Aires trail, 165–6; railway extended to, 190, 200; seasonal movement of Bolivian labour into, 224; Bolivian resident population in, 224; new oil and gas discoveries in, 223n.
- Juliaca, Peru, 47, 71n.
- Juruá (river), Brazil, 92, 99, 115; crossed by Bolivia–Brazil boundary (1867), and Brazilian penetration along, 101; part of boundary of independent State of Acre (1899), 125; steamer navigation on, 139
- Keller (Keller-Leuzinger), Josef and Franz, 106n., 116n.
- Kundt, Major, later General Hans, heads German Military Mission to Bolivia, later Bolivian Army Chief of Staff, 205–7; reorganises Bolivian Army Air Force, 211; dismissed and recalled, 212–13; dismissed again, 215
- La Condamine, Charles Marie de, 111n.
- Ladario, Brazil, 234
- Lagunillas (Dept of Santa Cruz), its proposed rail link to Santa Cruz and river Paraguay (1879), 182; its proposed road link to Santiago de Chiquitos, and Lake Cáceres (1880), 182; oil exploration around (1920s), 199–200
- La Noria, Chile, 57
- Lanza (river), 147
- La Oroya, Peru, 52n.
- La Paz (city and Dept), city and province of Upper Peru, 10, 14–16, 44, 186; shows support for union with Lower Peru, 16, 22, 39; largest city in Upper Peru/Bolivia, 18n., 27; its rivalry with, and advantages over, Chuquisaca (Sucre), 26–7, 46, 48, 238, 252, 262; confirmed as de facto national capital (1898), 252; most economically served by port of Arica, 23, 25, 48–51, 57n.; projected rail link to Arica via Tacna (1850s), 51, (1870s), 67; as the major Bolivian market for Peruvian bark (1840s–1870s), 49n., 109; its remoteness from Oriente, 126, 130, 206; its proposed rail link to Ríberalta, 133; its proposed rail link to river Paraguay (at Puerto Pacheco), 183; its proposed rail link to river Beni, 66n., 247; reached by rail from Guaqui (1905), 69, from Arica (to El Alto) (1913), 66–7, from Antofagasta via Oruro

Cambridge University Press

978-0-521-10170-7 - Bolivia: Land, Location, and Politics since 1825

J. Valerie Fifer

Index

More informationIndex

- La Paz (city and Dept) (cont.)
(1917), 69, 85; linked by rail to Cochabamba (1917), 247; linked by rail to Buenos Aires (1925), 191; linked by air to Cochabamba and Santa Cruz (1925), 211–12; its air links with northern Bolivian centres, 154–6; its improved highway link to Santa Cruz via Cochabamba (1954), 236; its proposed highway links to Ilo, 83–4, to Arica or Iquique (via Oruro), 88, to Asunción and Paranaguá (Brazil), 218–19; no apparent necessity for British consular representation at (19th cent.), 239–41; British consular representation established at (1903), 243; British diplomatic representation in Bolivia fully restored at (1910), 138n., 239; U.S. consular representation at (1869), 243
- La Quiaca, Argentina, on Potosí–Buenos Aires trail, 165; railway extended to, 190; eventual rail extension into Bolivia, 190–1, 250; rail traffic through, 226
- La Quiaca (ravine), 187
- Latin American Free Trade Association (Asociación Latino-Americana de Libre Comercio), established by Treaty of Montevideo (Feb. 1960), 262–3
- Lauca river dispute, 89–91
- League of Nations, 72–3, 215–17
- Leticia, Colombia, 258
- Levering, Richmond (New York), 247
- Lilloe–Fangan, Christian, 202
- Lima, Peru, audiencia created at, 9n.; its political and trade links with Upper Peru (see also Viceroyalty of Peru), 9–16 passim, 25, 44, 164, 169; displays no opposition to independence of Bolivia, 253; refuses to cede port of Arica to Bolivia, 25, 38–9, 47; occupied by Chilean forces (1881), 63; responsible for British diplomatic representation in Bolivia (1903–10), 239
- Litoral (Bolivian province, later Department of) (see also Atacama, and Cobija), 42–3; Antofagasta replaces Cobija as capital of (1875), 57n.; its major centres occupied by Chilean forces (1879), 62; its greater part confirmed as Chilean territory, 64–6, 91, 187n.; becomes Chilean province of Antofagasta after War of Pacific, 73, 76n.; Chilean development of, 73–6; popular modern usage of name in Bolivia, 90
- Llanos de Mojos (see also Mojos Indians), 160
- Lloyd Aereo Boliviano, founded, 211–12; its internal services, 154–6, 224–5, 230
- Lluta (river), Chile, 78
- Loa (river), Chile, former boundary between Bolivia and Peru in Atacama desert, 34, 36–7, 43, 53; investigated (1825) as possible site of new port for Bolivia, 36
- Lobos Islands, Peru, 52
- Loma Suárez (Dept of Beni), 119
- Madeira (Madera) (river) (see also Madeira–Mamoré falls), 20, 99; controlled by Portuguese colonial movement, 94–5, 98, 163; part of San Ildefonso colonial boundary line between Spanish and Portuguese claims (1777), 29, 95, 98, 177; ceded to Brazil (1867), 101, 127n.; part of left bank, and six of its islands (confirmed 1928), regained by Bolivia (1903), 132, 156n.; Peruvian claims to, 101; rubber production along, 110–14, 152; steamer navigation on, 139, 155; Brazilian penetration across, 155
- Madeira–Mamoré falls, 19, 92, 102–3, 121, 141, 155; investigated and mapped by J. A. Palacios, 99; Maldonado drowned in, 100; proposals and attempts to by-pass (see also Madeira–Mamoré Railway), 103–8, 113–15, 116n., 120, 127, 132–3
- Madeira–Mamoré Railway, Brazil, proposed, 103; company founded by G. E. Church, with concession from Brazil (1870), 105; fails (1874 and 1879), 106–8, 244; proposals for, revived (1903), 132–3; construction of (1909–12), 134–6, 185; projected extensions not constructed, 133, 135, 227; its decline, 137–9, 154–5, 249n.; replaced by highway, 154
- Madidi (river), 140; explored by Col. J. M. Pando, 141; Peruvian claims to (at 1902–9 Bolivia–Peru boundary arbitration), 143
- Madre de Dios (river), 92, 111, 133; Peruvian exploration along, 100, 101n., 141, 143n.; Col. J. M. Pando's exploration along, 121n., 141, 143n., 146n.; its proposed rail or canal links with Urubamba–Ucayali basins during rubber boom, 112, 141; involved in conflicting claims by Bolivia and Peru (1902–12), 143–9 passim; Japanese immigrant labour along during rubber boom, 151; present-day activity along, 150, 153, 159
- Madrejonas (Dept of Tarija), oilfield, 192, 222–3

Cambridge University Press

978-0-521-10170-7 - Bolivia: Land, Location, and Politics since 1825

J. Valerie Fifer

Index

More informationIndex

- Magdalena (Dept of Beni), 156
- Maldonado, Faustino, 100, 101n., 141
- Maldonado, Peru, 159
- Mamoré (river) (see also Madeira–Mamoré falls, and Madeira–Mamoré Railway, Brazil), 99; its lower reaches part of San Ildefonso colonial boundary line between Spanish and Portuguese claims (1777), and later between Bolivia and Brazil, 177; principal navigable waterway across lowland Bolivia, 19–20, 110, 157; Portuguese and Brazilian penetration along, 94, 95n., 101; an area of increased rubber exploitation by Bolivia after 1867 loss of Madeira claims, 110; its proposed rail linkage to Cochabamba (G. E. Church), 105; proposed rail linkage of its navigation heads to Cochabamba and Santa Cruz (Hans Grether's preferred route), 227n.; its rail linkage to Santa Cruz (under construction), 222; highway linkage to navigation heads, 222; Peruvian claims to (at 1902–9 Bolivia–Peru boundary arbitration), 143; present-day activity along, 152–7 passim
- Manaos (formerly Manaos), São José da Barra do Rio Negro, Brazil, during rubber boom, 112, 115–17, 119, 123n., 124, 136; Bolivian customs control at, 234; free port zone at, 258
- Mandioré (lake), divided by median line on Bolivia–Brazil boundary (1867), 179, 182; gain made by Bolivia at (1903), 192–4
- Manso, Captain Andrés, 164
- Manú (river), Peru, 140, 141
- Manuripi (river), 139n., 140; involved in conflicting claims and border dispute between Bolivia and Peru (1902–12), 144–5, 148–50
- María Elena, Chile, nitrate and iodine plant, 75
- Markham, Sir Clements Robert, his explorations in Peru, 100, 146n.; takes Peruvian bark (Cinchona) seeds from Peru to India, 109n.; Hon. Sec. Royal Geographical Society (1864–1888), President (1893–1905), 146, 146n.
- Matarani, Peru, assumes most of port functions of Mollendo, 84; principal Peruvian port for Bolivian trade, 84–8, 154, 159
- Matoco Indians, 166
- Mato Grosso (formerly Matto Grosso) (province, later state), Brazil, Portuguese routes to, 95; its population's encroachment upon Bolivian territory, 174–5; counter-claims of Bolivian apportionment of land in, 174n.; advantages to be gained there from easing movement around Madeira–Mamoré falls, 104–5; supplies labour for eastern Bolivia, 203; increase of ranching in, 132
- Matto Grosso (town), see Villa Bella, Brazil
- Mauri (river), also canal, 77–8
- Mauripalca, on Bolivia–Peru boundary, 78n.
- Mavila ravine, Peru, 148
- Meiggs, Henry, his railway construction in Peru, 52n., 244, in Bolivian Litoral, 61n.; his wide range of investment interests, 67, 69
- Mejillones, Chile, investigated as possible site of new port for Bolivia (1825), 36; major centre of guano exploitation, 53–6, 87; Chile permitted to establish Custom House and Consulate at (1866), 55, 57–8; proposed British consular representation at, 239; proposed rail link to Caracoles, 57n., 61n.; linked by rail to Antofagasta (1907), becoming port for dangerous cargo not handled by Antofagasta, 87
- Melgarejo, President Mariano, 56, 106, 239, 243
- Mennonites, in Paraguay, 208, 215, 218; in Bolivia, 208n.
- Mexico, 188, 208n., 209n.
- Miami, Florida, 258
- Minchin, John B. (Engineer to Bolivian Government, 1874–80), 163n., 182
- mission settlement: in Amazonia, 94, 102, 159; in Yungas and middle Beni river region, 100, 110; in plains of east Beni, 20, 94; around Chaco fringe, 94, 164, 165, 185, 199, 201; in Chaco, 184n., 208
- Mizque (Dept of Cochabamba), 229
- Mojo Indians (Jesuit Mission-Reserve Province of), 20, 94, 99, 186
- Mollendo, Peru, linked by rail to Puno (1874), 52n., 69; successfully challenges Arica for Bolivian trade, 69, 241; attacked and occupied by Chilean forces (1879, 1880), 62, 69; successfully challenged for Bolivian trade by Antofagasta, and again by Arica, 69–71; Bolivia guaranteed commercial transit through, 83n.; exports rubber from Bolivia and Peru during boom period, 112, 114, 151; port of entry for Japanese immigrant labour to rubber forests, 151n.; arms shipments through, 209–10, 215; port agents in, 245; largely superseded by Matarani, 84

Cambridge University Press

978-0-521-10170-7 - Bolivia: Land, Location, and Politics since 1825

J. Valerie Fifer

Index

More informationIndex

- Mond, Henry Ludwig (becomes 2nd Lord Melchett, 1930), 202
- Monteagudo (Dept of Chuquisaca), 224
- Montero (Dept of Santa Cruz), 236
- Montevideo, Uruguay, 182, 186, 197; Resolution on International Rivers, 89; Treaty of, see Latin American Free Trade Association
- Moquegua, Peru, 44, 47, 83–4
- mule trade/transport, between Argentine pampas and Peruvian mining centres, 3, 166–8; in Atacama desert, 43, 49, and during nitrate boom, 57, 75, 189; increases on Buenos Aires trail during War of Pacific, 189; on Tacna–La Paz trail, 51, 109; between Amazonia and Pacific ports, 104, 112, 150, 151; declines with growth of rail communication, 189
- Muñoz (Bolivian fort), Paraguay, 196
- Murray, William Henry ('Alfalfa Bill' Murray), his colonization projects in south-east Bolivia (1919–25), 198–202
- Mutún–Uruçúm mineral deposits, Bolivia/Brazil, 233–4
- Nanawa (Paraguayan fort), Paraguay, 213
- National Bolivian Navigation Co., 104–8
- natural gas, see petroleum and natural gas deposits
- Negro (river) (see also Bahía Negra), 179n., 218
- Negro (river), Brazil, 94, 115, 117
- nitrate, first major discovery in Bolivian desert (1866), 56, 57; boom period, 29, 56–60, 73–5; collapse of boom, 75–6
- Noroeste (Delegación), 113n., 198n.
- North, John Thomas, 74
- 27 de Noviembre (Bolivian fort), subsequently Bolivia–Paraguay boundary point, 216
- Nueva Palmira, Uruguay, 182
- O'Connor, Burdett, 36–7, 169, 170n.
- Oliden, José León de, 170–1, 171n.
- Oliden, Manuel Luis de, 170, 171n., 233, 234n.
- Olimpo (Spanish fort), Paraguay, formerly known as Borbón, 171, 183
- Ollagüe (mt and pass), on Bolivia–Chile boundary, 64, 76n., 190n.
- Orán, Argentina, at railroad, 225; linked by highway to Bermejo and Tarija, 225n.
- d'Orbigny, Alcide, 43n., 234n.
- Orellana, Francisco de, 112n. cont.
- Oriente (Delegación), 198n.
- Orton, James, 111
- Orton (river), during rubber boom, 111–13, 118n., 133, 140; Bolivian re-occupation of, and ownership of, confirmed (1903), 129, 129n.; Brazilian penetration along, 139n.
- Orton (Bolivia) Rubber Co. Ltd, founded (1897) by Antonio Vaca Diez, q.v., 118n.
- Oruro (city and Dept), 15, 18n., 63; its economic links with port of Arica, 23, 50n.; reached by railway from Antofagasta (1892), 69–70, 85; railway extended to Viacha (1906–8), 191, 248; railway extended again to reach La Paz (1917), 69; railway reaches Cochabamba (1906–17), 247; British residents in, 239; British consular representation established at (1903), 243
- Otuquis (river), within Otuquis Concession granted to Manuel Luis de Oliden, q.v. (1832), 170–5, 233; its attempted exploration by Capt. T. J. Page, q.v. (1859), 178 n.; claimed by Paraguay to form part of 'natural limits' of Chaco Boreal, 209n. cont.; new proposals for its canalisation and development (Otuquis Project), 233
- Pacheco, President Gregorio, 183
- Pacific Steam Navigation Co. (London), 62, 244
- Page, Lieutenant, later Captain Thomas J., U.S.N., 178n., 244
- Palacios, José Agustín, 99, 103n.
- Palomani (mts), on Bolivia–Peru boundary, 79, 147
- Pampa del Tamarugal, Chile, 56
- Pampa sin Nombre, Chile, 44
- pampas*, Argentina, 2, 3, 161, 165n., 166–8, 190
- Panamá (city), 50, 258; audiencia created at, 9n.
- Panama Canal, 207, 210
- Pan-American Conference, see International Conference of American States
- Pando, Colonel, later General and President José Manuel, his explorations in northern Bolivia and borderland areas (1892–8), 121, 141, 143n., 146n.; his expedition to the Acre (1903) 127–8; attempts to modify Dept of Beni boundary (1903), 157–8
- Pando (Dept) 113n., 120, 150–60 passim, 254n., 258

Cambridge University Press

978-0-521-10170-7 - Bolivia: Land, Location, and Politics since 1825

J. Valerie Fifer

Index

More informationIndex

- Paposo, Chile, conflicting claims to, Bolivia and Chile, 32, 36, 53–4
- Pará, see Belém do Pará
- Paradero (Quijarro) (Dept of Santa Cruz), 231
- Paraguay (river), problems of Bolivia's access to, and navigation of, 19–22, 30, 170–81, 218–20, 226, 229–36; part of San Ildefonso colonial boundary line between Spanish and Portuguese claims (1777), 28–9, 161–2, 174n., 176–8; Portuguese, later Brazilian penetration across, 163, 174–5; opened to international navigation by Paraguay (1852), 178; Bolivia relinquishes claims to right bank of upper Paraguay (1867), 127, 179, 182; Bolivia's attempts to consolidate claims to middle and upper Paraguay routeway, 182–3, 196, 198–9, 202–4, 219–21; rights of navigation and commercial transit for Bolivia guaranteed by Argentina (1868), 180n., 214; reservations by Argentina and Paraguay concerning navigation of Plate river system (1876), 214n.; Bolivia regains limited access to upper Paraguay's right bank (1903), 192–4, 231; rights of navigation and transit for Bolivia guaranteed by Brazil (1867, 1903, 1910, 1958), 179, 234–5; rights of transit and customs control for Bolivia at Puerto Casado guaranteed by Paraguay (1938), 218–19
- Paraguay Land and Cattle Co. (Paraguay), 184n.
- Paraná (river), Argentina/Brazil/Paraguay (see also Paraguay river), 30, 176–7, 214n., 222, 235
- Paranaguá, Brazil, 218
- Parapanema (river), Brazil, 94
- Parapetí (river), 164, 217; claimed by Paraguay to form part of 'natural limits' of Chaco Boreal, 209n. cont., 217n.; boundary of petroleum concession (exploratory) to Brazil, (1938), 227; bridged by Yacuiba–Santa Cruz railway, 223
- Patillos, Chile, 62
- Patiño, Father Gabriel, 175
- Patiño Mines and Enterprises Consolidated Inc. (Delaware), 246
- Pedro de Valdivia, Chile, nitrate and iodine plant, 75
- Peñaranda, Colonel Enrique, 216
- Pentland, Joseph Barclay, 18–19, 47n., 48n., 166, 238
- peruleiros*, 94
- Peruvian bark (Cinchona), 49n., 104, 108–11, 118n., 142
- Peruvian Corporation Ltd (London; nationalised by Peruvian Government, 1971), incorporating the Southern Peruvian Railway Co., 69–71, 84, 88
- petroleum and natural gas deposits, early evidence of, 199–200; exploration for/exploitation of: (by Standard Oil Co. of New Jersey/Standard Oil Co. of Bolivia), 199–202 passim, 222, 247; (by Argentina) 192, 222–3, 225n.; (by Brazil), 227; (by Bolivia Gulf Oil Co.), 227–8; production centres (Y.P.F.B.), 222–4, 227–9; as part of Chaco Boreal dispute, 210–11, 217, 219–20; pipelines, existing or proposed: (trans-Chaco), 200, 202, 219–20; (to Argentina), 222, 228, 236; (to Ilo), 85n.; (to Arica), 85n., 227–8
- Pilcomayo (river), 161–3; attempted navigation of, 162n., 175–6, 177; Argentina's and Paraguay's claims to, 176, 180–1; rumoured proposal by Argentina for Bolivian port on, 188n.; extension of forts down, 195–6, 207; its bridging-point successfully held by Bolivia during Chaco War, 217; bridged by Yacuiba–Santa Cruz railway, 223; triple boundary point on (Argentina–Bolivia–Paraguay), 188n., 218, 218n.
- Pinasco Railroad, Paraguay, see under Puerto Pinasco
- pipelines, oil and gas, see under petroleum and natural gas deposits
- Piper, A. D., 106–7n., 123n.
- Piray (river), 164
- Pisagua, Chile, 61, 62, 74
- Pisco, Peru, 24
- Pitiantuta (Paraguayan fort), Paraguay, 212
- Pizarro, Francisco, 1, 8, 9
- Plate Basin Project, formalised by Tratado de la Cuenca del Plata (April 1969), Argentina/Bolivia/Brazil/Paraguay/Uruguay, 231–4, 263
- plebiscite, proposed for solution of Tacna–Arica dispute, 64, 77
- Pocitos, Bolivia and Argentina: boundary gully, 188; towns, 223–4, 258
- Porongal (mt and river), Argentina, 187
- Portachuelo (Dept of Santa Cruz), 236
- Pôrto Acre, Brazil, see Puerto Alonso
- Pôrto Esperança, Brazil, 209, 227
- Pôrto Velho, Brazil, 134–5, 138n., 154n., 155, 234n.

Cambridge University Press

978-0-521-10170-7 - Bolivia: Land, Location, and Politics since 1825

J. Valerie Fifer

Index

More informationIndex

- Porvenir (Dept of Pando), Suárez company town during rubber boom, 120, 128, 129n., 139n.; highway improvements from (existing and proposed), 152, 158–9
- Potosí (city and Dept), city and Intendancy during colonial period, 1, 3, 6–11 passim, 13–16 passim, 18n., 22–3, 32n., 164–5; its links with port of Cobija, 36–7, 48; its links with Tarija and southern Andean centres, 169, 225; its improved highway link with Argentina, 225n.; its seasonal labour movement into Argentina, 224; railway extended to (1906–11), 66n., 248; railway extended beyond, 247
- Príncipe da Beira (Portuguese fort on river Guaporé), Brazil, 95, 98n.
- Public Works Construction Co. (London), 107–8
- Puerto Acosta (Lake Titicaca, Dept of La Paz), 71n.
- Puerto Alonso (Pôrto Acre), Brazil, founded by Bolivia (1899), 122; during Acre War, 122–8
- Puerto Busch (proposed port on river Paraguay, Dept of Santa Cruz), 231–4
- Puerto Casado, Paraguay, 208, 218–19, 226; Casado Railroad, 215, 218
- Puerto Grether (river Ichilo, Dept of Santa Cruz), 222
- Puerto Heath (confluence rivers Heath and Madre de Dios, Dept of La Paz), 141, 152, 159
- Puerto Irigoyen (river Pilcomayo), Argentina, 214
- Puerto Magariños (river Pilcomayo), Paraguay, founded by Bolivia (1843), 175, 177
- Puerto Maldonado (confluence rivers Tambopata and Madre de Dios), Peru, 159
- Puerto Pacheco (river Paraguay), Paraguay (see also Bahía Negra), founded by Bolivia (1885), 183; attacked by Paraguayan forces, 183, 194; Bolivia renews attempts to regain, 196–7
- Puerto Pérez (formerly known as Chililaya or Cachilaya, Lake Titicaca, Dept of La Paz), 69–70
- Puerto Pinasco, Paraguay, 184n.; Pinasco Railroad, 184n., 215
- Puerto Quijarro (Lake Gaíba, Dept of Santa Cruz), 194
- Puerto Rico (river Orton, Dept of Pando), 158; (U.S.A.), 66
- Puerto Suárez (Lake Cáceres, Dept of Santa Cruz), founded (1880), 182; its development, 194, 196–8, 206; during Chaco Boreal conflict, 207, 209; its decline, 230–1
- Puerto Sucre, see Guayaramerin
- Puerto Villarroel (river Ichilo, Dept of Cochabamba), 222
- Puna de Atacama, Argentina/Chile, 187, 190
- Puno (Titicaca lake port), Peru, on colonial trail into Upper Peru, 44; part of independent State of South Peru (Peru-Bolivia Confederation, 1836–9), 44; occupied by Bolivian forces, 47; reached by railway from Mollendo (1874), 52n., 69, 241; its proposed rail extension to Guaqui and La Paz rejected, 71, 84; present-day activity in, 82–4
- Purus (river), Brazil, 92, 158; crossed by Bolivia–Brazil boundary (1867), 101, 122n.; Brazilian penetration along, 101; A. D. Piper's attempt to colonize, 123n.; included in Bolivia's Delegación of Noroeste (1890–3), 113n., 198n.; during rubber boom, 112–15 passim; part of boundary of independent State of Acre (1899), 125; steamer navigation on, 139
- Putumayo (river), Colombia/Peru, 115, 119 138n.
- quebracho*, 161, 184, 213, 220n. cont.
- Quechua language, 261, 261n.
- railways, major period of growth in Bolivia, 247–8; Antofagasta–Oruro–La Paz (see Antofagasta (Chili) and Bolivia Railway Co. Ltd); Arica–Alto La Paz, 66–7, 69–71, 77, 198, improvements to, 86, 89; Arica–Tacna (Chile/Peru), 51, 63, 67, 78; Callao–Lima–Oroya (Peru), 52n.; Casado Railroad (Paraguay), 215, 218; Corumbá–Santa Cruz, 227, 229–31 passim; Guaqui–La Paz, 69, 249n.; La Quiaca–Villazón–Tupiza–Atocha, 190–1, 226, 250; Madeira–Mamoré Railway (Brazil), q.v.; Mollendo (later Matarani)–Arequipa–Puno (Peru), 52n., 67–71 passim, 84, 241; Pinasco Railroad (Paraguay), 184n., 215; Santa Cruz–Mamoré, 222; transcontinental, 3–4, 191, 227; Uyuni–Atocha, 248; Yacuiba–Santa Cruz, 223; proposed Andean centre links and extensions, 66n., 192n.; proposed Cochabamba–Santa Cruz, 66n., 133, 192, 227; proposed ‘Great Central Railway’, 105, 222; proposed Guayaramerin–

*Index*railways (cont.)

Riberalta, 133; other proposed links in Amazonia during rubber boom, 112, 141; proposed Mejillones–Caracoles, 57n., 61n.; proposed Otuquis rail spur, 233; proposed link along Lake Titicaca shore (east), 71n., (west), 71, 84

Rapirrán (river), part of boundary with Brazil (1903), 130, 131n.; Brazilian penetration across, 139n.

Ratzel, Friedrich, see ‘State-Idea’

República Bolívar, original name of independent Upper Peru (11 August–3 October 1825), 6, 16, 237

Reyes (Dept of Beni), mission at, 100; Peruvian bark trade at, 110, 118, 152; rubber production at, 110–11, 118

Riberalta (Dept of Beni), officially founded (1894), 152; Suárez company town, and regional centre, during rubber boom, 120, 140, 158, 243; Britain’s refusal to place Vice-Consul at, 243; fails to acquire projected rail links, 133–4; loses administrative functions in Territorio de Colonias, 113n., 158; linked by improved highway to Guayaramerin (1968), 156; present-day activity in, 152–9 passim

Rio-Branco, José Maria da Silva Paranhos, Barão do, 128n. cont., 132

Rio Branco, Brazil, 155n. cont., 159

Riosinho, Brazil, 125

Ritter, Carl, 251, 251n.

Roboré (Dept of Santa Cruz), 21, 197, 206, 229

Rosario, Argentina, 189, 211; Bolivian transit and free zone facilities at, 235

Royal Dutch/Shell Group (London and The Hague), 210–11

rubber, boom period, 29, 110–34, 140–2, 147–9, 151, 185; collapse of boom, 136–40, 149–50, 152, 185, 206; its labour demands and conditions, 138, 138n., 139, 151n., 153; present-day production in Bolivia, 150–4

Saavedra, President Bautista, 191, 205–6

Saavedra (Bolivian fort), Paraguay 196

St John, Spenser, heads Special Mission to Bolivia (1875), 239–40

Salado (river), Chile, 32

Salamanca, President Daniel, 216

Salta (city and province), Argentina, on Potosí–Buenos Aires trail, 22, 165–8, 189;

on trans-Andean trail to San Pedro de Atacama, 189–90; its late colonial administrative tie with Tarija, 169; railway extended to reach, and extended beyond into Bolivia, 190–2; linked by rail to Antofagasta, 190n.; its air link with Tarija, 225; oil and gas fields in, 222, 223n.; seasonal movement of Bolivian labour into, 224; Bolivian resident population in, 224–5

Sama (cape), Peru, 37

Sama (river), Peru, 37, 73

Sama Grande, Peru, 37

Sanandita (Dept of Tarija), 192, 198, 216

San Antonio, Brazil, at lowest fall on river Madeira, 102, 105, 114–15, 119, 132, 134

San Ignacio (Dept of Santa Cruz), 197

San Ildefonso line (1777), delimiting Spanish and Portuguese colonial claims, 14, 28–9, 95–8, 101, 131, 161, 174n., 176

San Joaquin (Dept of Beni), 156

San José de Chiquitos (Dept of Santa Cruz), 21, 164, 197, 202, 204, 229

San Juan (Dept of Santa Cruz), 202

San Lorenzo, Argentina, 222

San Lorenzo (Abaroa), Peru, former Bolivian rubber barraca on river Manuripi, 149

San Lorenzo (Dept of Santa Cruz), 205

San Pedro de Atacama, Chile, 42–3, 58, 62, 189

Santa Ana (Dept of Beni), 156

Santa Cruz, President Andrés de, rejects Bolivian offers for port of Arica on behalf of Peru, 38; requests port of Arica on behalf of Bolivia, 39; attempts to develop the Litoral, especially port of Cobija, 40–2; establishes Peru–Bolivia Confederation (1836–9), 38–9, 44–7; exiled, 45, 242–3

Santa Cruz de la Sierra (city and Dept), founded, 164; part of colonial Intendancy, province, of Cochabamba, 11n., 14, 186; regional centre of Bolivian Oriente, 18n., 21, 176, 197, 236; its economy stimulated by rubber boom, 119, 185, 206; dispatches troops to Acre region (1903), 127; its regional depopulation resulting from Chaco War, 221; its isolation from principal Andean towns, 16, 26, 46, 206, 247; separatist movements in, 192, 206, 216, 238; its successive proposed rail, or improved road, links to the river Paraguay, 133, 182, 193, 202; linked by rail to

Cambridge University Press

978-0-521-10170-7 - Bolivia: Land, Location, and Politics since 1825

J. Valerie Fifer

Index

More information*Index*Santa Cruz de la Sierra (cont.)

Corumbá (1956, finally completed 1964), 227, 229–31; its trail, later rail, link southward into Argentina (1957, finally completed 1967), 165, 185, 192, 199, 223, 225n.; its proposed rail link to Cochabamba, 66n., 133, 192, 227; linked by air to Cochabamba (1925), 211–12; its improved highway link to Cochabamba (1954), 229, 236; its improved highway link to Mamoré navigation heads (Puerto Grether, Puerto Villarroel) (1960s–70s), 222; its rail extension north to river Mamoré, 222; seasonal migrant labour to Argentina, 224; centre of petroleum and natural gas production, 200, 224, 227–9

Santa Fe, Argentina, 207, 209

Santarém, Brazil, 137, 137n.

Santa Rosa (Dept of Santa Cruz), 222

Santiago de Chiquitos (Dept of Santa Cruz), 182

Santiago de Huata (Dept of La Paz), 83n.

Santo Corazón (Dept of Santa Cruz), visited by Capt. T. J. Page (1859), 178n.; on proposed rail or road link between river Paraguay and Santa Cruz (1900–1), 194, (1922–8), 202–4

Santos, Brazil, 207, 209, 227; port facilities for Bolivia at, 234n.

São José (former Portuguese trading post and mission on river Guaporé) (Dept of Beni), 95

São Paulo, Brazil, 227, 229, 234n.

Sararé (river), Brazil, 95, 177

Seiler Co. (formerly Braillard), Riberalta, 137, 152–4

Sicasica (Dept of La Paz), 227–8

Siles, President Hernando, 212

Sipesipe (Dept of Cochabamba), 13

Skoda Works, Czechoslovakia, 210

Sorpresa (Bolivian fort), Paraguay, 208

South American Missionary Society, 184n.

Southern Peruvian Railway Co., see Peruvian Corporation Ltd

Spanish–Portuguese Union (1580–1640), 94

‘Speyer Contract’ (1906), 248

Standard Oil Company of New Jersey (also its subsidiary, est. 1921, The Standard Oil Co. of Bolivia), 200–2, 210, 219, 222, 247

‘State-Idea’, 27–8, 260–2

Strongest, The, see Cañada Oruro

Suárez, Nicolás (including Suárez Hermanos)

(see also Cachuela Esperanza), his rubber and ranching interests in lowland Bolivia, 118–20, 137, 138n., 139n., 158, 182n.; during Acre War, 128, 129n.; employs Japanese labour in rubber production (and for farming, fishing and construction work), 151n.; opposed to projected Guayaquerin–Riberalta railway, 133–4; introduces Brazil nut processing and export in northern Bolivia, 154; expands his rubber interests in Bolivia–Peru border country, 141, 145, 148–9

Suárez, Pedro, 237

Suárez Arana, Miguel, 182–3, 194

Suches (river), demarcates short section of Bolivia–Peru boundary, 79, 146–7

Sucre, Marshal, later President Antonio José de, defeats Royalists in, and supports independence of Upper Peru, 14–15, 17–18; urges acquisition of port of Arica from Peru 36–9, 109; supports self-determination for Tarija, 169

Sucre (city), see Chuquisaca

Tacna, Peru, oasis supply centre on colonial trail from Arica into Upper Peru, 23, 44, and subsequently into Bolivia, 25, 50–1, 109; President Sucre’s attempt to acquire, 38; temporarily occupied by Bolivian forces, 47; linked by rail to Arica (1856), 51, 63; its projected rail link to La Paz, 51, 67; attacked and occupied by Chile during War of Pacific, 62–3; post-war plebiscite proposals for, 64–5; future ownership of province submitted, with Arica, to U.S. arbitration, 76–8, 91, 219; returned to Peru (1929), 77

Tacna (Bolpebra), triple boundary point, Bolivia/Peru/Brazil, 149, 150

Tacora (mt), Chile, 37–8, 77–8

Tahuamanu (river), 128, 139n., 140, 150, 158

Taltal, Chile, 61, 74–5

Tamarineru, proposed port site for Bolivia on Tamengo Channel, q.v., 194

Tambopata (river), Peru, exploration of, and rival claims to, 140–1, 142, 146n.; demarcates short section of Bolivia–Peru boundary, 142, 147; Japanese immigrant labour along, 151

Tamengo Channel, links Lake Cáceres to river Paraguay, 194, 196–7, 230

Tapajós (river), Brazil, 94, 137

Cambridge University Press

978-0-521-10170-7 - Bolivia: Land, Location, and Politics since 1825

J. Valerie Fifer

Index

More informationIndex

- Tarapacá (town and province), Chile, President Sucre's attempt to acquire from Peru, 38; part of independent State of South Peru (Peru–Bolivia Confederation, 1836–9), 44; nitrate production in, 57, 62, 73; Chilean ownership confirmed after War of Pacific, 62, 64
- Tarairí (Dept of Tarija), 165
- Tarija (city and Dept), officially founded (1574), 163; southern centre of Upper Peru, 8, 26, 161; its administration transferred to Salta (1807), 169; declares itself part of Bolivia (1825–6), 168–70, 185–6; its interest in promoting navigation of Pilcomayo, 175; city fails to acquire proposed rail links, 191, 192n., 247; its petroleum concession area, and production, 200, 222–4; political unrest in, 206, 238; seasonal and permanent migration into Argentina, 224; its improved highway link to Orán, Argentina, 225n.; its air link with Salta, Argentina, 225; present-day activity in, 224–6, 236
- Tartagal, Argentina, on Salta–Santa Cruz foothill trail, 165, 185; its ownership contested by Argentina and Bolivia, 187–8; linked to Argentine rail system, 191, 201, 223; its commercial exchange with Bolivian border towns, 224
- Tarvo (Bolivia–Brazil boundary point), 131–2
- Territorio de Colonias, see Pando Dept
- Tietê (river), Brazil, 94
- Tiquina Strait (Lake Titicaca), 38, 83
- Tirapata, Peru, 151
- Titicaca (lake) (see also altiplano), 13; focus of settlement, communication and regional exchange between Upper and Lower Peru, 23, 26, 27, 44; subsequently forms part of frontier between Bolivia and Peru, 34, 38–9, 152, 226; reached by railway from Mollendo, 52n., 69; gunboats on, War of Pacific, 63; eventual delimitation of Bolivia–Peru boundary across, 78–81, 261; freedom of navigation by Bolivia and Peru on, 83n.; smuggling across, 258; present-day activity around, 81–2, 261; introduction of freight-train ferries on, 84
- Toba Indians, 164, 166, 175
- Tocopilla, Chile, port in former Bolivian Litoral, claimed by Peru, 34; occupied by Chilean forces (1879), 61–2; nitrate port, 74–5
- Todos Santos (Dept of Cochabamba), 19
- Tordesillas line (1494), delimiting Spanish and Portuguese colonial claims, 8, 31, 93
- Toro, Colonel, later President José David, 216
- Toro (Dept of Tarija), oilfield, 222
- transit agreements, general, 4–5, 210, 235, 255–8; on air traffic, 255n.
- Bolivia–Argentina*, 210, 214, 214n., 235
- Bolivia–Brazil*, 103n., 124n., 124–5, 179, 215, 234, 234n.
- Bolivia–Chile*, 66, 66n., 85n., 88, 209, 210, 214–15, 257
- Bolivia–Paraguay*, 218–19, 257
- Bolivia–Peru*, 49–50, 83n., 209–10
- Transmarítima Boliviana, 262–3
- Treaty, of Tordesillas (1494), Spain–Portugal (see also Tordesillas line), 93, 95; of Madrid (1750), Spain–Portugal, 94; of San Ildefonso (1777), Spain–Portugal (see also San Ildefonso line), 14, 28, 95, 98, 101, 161, 174n.; of Friendship, Commerce and Navigation (1837), Great Britain–Peru–Bolivia Confederation, 47, 238; of Friendship, Commerce and Navigation (1840), Great Britain–Bolivia, 47n., 238–9; of Boundaries, Commerce and Navigation (1852), Argentina–Paraguay, 176; of Friendship, Commerce and Navigation (1856), Argentina–Paraguay, 176; of Offensive and Defensive Alliance (1865), Argentina–Brazil–Uruguay (the Triple Alliance), 178–80; of Peace, Boundaries, Commerce and Navigation (1876), Argentina–Paraguay, 180, 214n.; of Peace and Friendship (Ancón, 1883), Chile–Peru, 64; of Peace between the Allied and Associated Powers and Germany (Versailles, 1919), 73, 205, 205n.; of Reciprocal Assistance (1947), Organization of American States, 89; of Montevideo, establishing Latin American Free Trade Association (1960), 262; of the River Plate Basin (Cuenca del Plata) (1969), Argentina–Bolivia–Brazil–Paraguay–Uruguay, 233, 263
- Treaty: Bilateral Treaties between Bolivia and Neighbouring States (see also transit agreements)
- Bolivia–Argentina*: of Peace, Friendship, Commerce and Navigation (1868), 180, 180n., 210, 214, 214n.; (as stipulated by Art. IX of 1868 treaty, Argentine Regulations respecting Goods in Transit from

Cambridge University Press

978-0-521-10170-7 - Bolivia: Land, Location, and Politics since 1825

J. Valerie Fifer

Index

More information*Index*Treaty (cont.)

Bolivia to Foreign Countries were issued March, 1880; of Boundaries (1889), 65, 186–7; of modification of 1889 treaty (1891), 65, 187; of agreement on railway extension into Bolivia (treaties, conventions, protocols: 1894, 1902, 1907, 1922, 1929, 1937, 1938, 1940, 1941...1965), 190–2, 222–3; of Boundaries (1925), 188, 188n., 211, 218n.; of Commerce and Navigation (1964), 235

Bolivia–Brazil: of Friendship, Boundaries, Navigation and Commerce (1867), 100–1, 103, 122n., 131, 179, 182, 194, 234n.; of Boundaries and Payment of Compensation (Petrópolis, 1903), 129–33, 192–4, 218, 234n., 248; of Commerce and Navigation (1910), 234; of Boundaries and Railway Communications (1928), 129n., 131, 133, 156n., 226–7; of Railway Communication (1938), 227; of Bolivian Petroleum development and export (1938), 227

Bolivia–Chile: of Territorial Limits (1866), 55–9, 60, 65, 179; respecting Boundaries (1874), 59–60; of Agreement of Truce (1884), 64, 242n.; of Peace, Friendship and Commerce (1895), 64–5; of Transference of Territory (1895), 64–6; of Peace, Friendship and Commerce (1904), 66, 91, 227n., 248; of Economic Co-ordination (1955), 66n.

Bolivia–Paraguay: of Boundaries (1879), 181–2; of Boundaries and Arbitration (1887), 183; of Boundaries (1894), 183; of Peace, Friendship and Boundaries (1938), 188n., 218

Bolivia–Peru: of Boundaries (1826), 37–8, 109; of Peace and Friendship (1828), 39; of Peace (Aug. 1831), 39, 79; of Peace and Friendship (Nov. 1831), 39; proposing union between Bolivia and Peru (1835), 44; establishing Peru–Bolivia Confederation (1836), 44–5; dissolving Peru–Bolivia Confederation (1839), 45; of Peace and Boundaries (1842), 79; of Friendship, Boundaries and Commerce (1847), 49, 79; of Boundaries (1848), 79; of Peace, Friendship and Boundaries (1863), 79; of Defensive Alliance (1873), 59, 60; of Boundaries and Navigation (1886), 79; of Boundaries and Arbitration (1902), 79, 142; of Boundaries (1909), 145; of Boundaries,

Copacabana Peninsula (treaty, protocols: 1925, 1932, 1941), 80–1

Tres Estrellas (rubber barraca, Dept of Pando), 150

Trinidad (Dept of Beni), 118, 119, 156, 158, 197

Tucavaca (river) (see also Otuquis), 170

Tucumán (San Miguel de Tucumán) (city and province), Argentina, on Potosí–Buenos Aires trail, 22, 165, 166; railway extended to, 189; seasonal movement of Bolivian labour into, 224

Tumusla (Dept of Potosí), 15

Tupiza (Dept of Potosí), on Potosí–Buenos Aires trail, 70, 189; railway extended to, 190n., 191, 250; limited rail traffic through, 226

Uberaba, Brazil, 229

Uberaba (lake), explored by Capt. T. J. Page (1859), 178n.; divided by median line on Bolivia–Brazil boundary (1867), 179, 182; its approaches investigated by Capt. Bolland (1900), 194

Ucayali–Urubamba (rivers), Peru, 92, 99, 115, 140; Peruvian bark-producing region, 109n.; proposed rail or canal links with river Madre de Dios during rubber boom, 112, 141; explored by Col. J. M. Pando, and contested in part by Bolivia and Peru (1902–9), 121n., 140–3 passim

Uchusuma canal, Chile/Peru, 77–8

Ulen Corporation (New York), 191, 200

‘Ultimatum’, Chile to Bolivia (1900), 65–6

Ultimo Desnudo (mt), on Bolivia–Peru boundary, 147, 147n.

United States of America, its recognition of Peru–Bolivia Confederation (1838), 47n.; its recognition of Bolivia (1848), 47n., 243n.; its consular, commercial and political relations with Bolivia, 57n., 243–51; its recognition of Paraguay (1852), 178

Upper Peru (see also Charcas, Audiencia of, and Viceroyalties of Peru and the Río de la Plata), its location, composition and characteristics, 1–3, 6, 10–29, 163–5, 237; its frontier with Lower Peru, 34, 38, 44; Brazilian penetration into, 94; Tarija’s links with, 163–4, 169, 225; its eastern limits contested by Argentina, 186

Urriolagoitia, Mamerto, later President, 204–5, 212

Uruguay, 182, 209n., 217, 263

Cambridge University Press

978-0-521-10170-7 - Bolivia: Land, Location, and Politics since 1825

J. Valerie Fifer

Index

More informationIndex

- uti possidetis (de jure, de facto)*, its application de jure 1810 to boundaries of independent States, 6, 15, 19, 22, 32n., 54, 141, 169, 186, 253; its application de facto by Brazil, 98n., 101, 132; its application de facto to Bolivia–Peru boundary delimitation across Copacabana peninsula, 81; its application de facto to Bolivia–Paraguay boundary delimitation after Chaco War, 217–18
- Uyuni (Dept of Potosí), linked by rail to Antofagasta (1889), 69, 190n., 247–8; linked by rail to Oruro (1892), 69, 247; linked by rail to Atocha (1913), 191, 200, 248; its rail link to Buenos Aires completed (1925), 191; smuggling near, 258
- Vaca, Cabeza de, 193
- Vaca Diez, Antonio, founder of Orton (Bolivia) Rubber Co. Ltd, 118n.; his interests in Peru, and death, 141
- Vaca Diez (province, Dept of Beni), 139n.; proposed Dept of, 157–8
- Valle Grande (Dept of Santa Cruz), 229
- Valparaiso, Chile, 44; supplies Cobija, 41, 48, 50; bombarded by Spanish ships (1866), 55, 61
- Vanguardia (Bolivian fort), 209, 212
- Venecia (on river Manuripi), Peru, 149
- Venezuela, 262
- Verde (river), 92, 131–2; (in Paraguay), 180–1
- Viacha (Dept of La Paz), 71n., 191, 248
- Viceroyalty of Peru, 1, 6, 8, 10, 13, 142–3, 163, 253
- Viceroyalty of the Río de la Plata, 2, 6, 10, 15, 22–3, 142–3, 165, 186, 253
- Vickers Armstrong Co. Ltd (London), 207, 210, 215
- Victoria, Chile, nitrate plant, 75
- Villa Bella (Dept of Beni), 102; during rubber boom, 120, 157; its proposed rail connexion with Brazil, 127, 132–4
- Villa Bella (also known as Matto Grosso), Portuguese town and mission at navigation head on river Guaporé, Brazil, 95
- Villa Hayes (Nueva Bordeos/Villa Occidental), Paraguay, 181
- Villa Montes (Dept of Tarija), on Salta (Arg.)–Santa Cruz foothill trail, 165, 185, 188; supply base at Pilcomayo bridging-point for defence of Chaco Boreal, 196, 216–17; its road link to Paraguay border, 219, and to Tarija and Yacuiba, 224–5
- Villa Murтинho, Brazil, 127, 132–4, 156
- Villazón (Dept of Potosí), its rail link into Argentina, 190–1, 207, 225n., 226, 235, 248; road to Tarija, 225
- Vitor, Chile, 64
- War of the Pacific (1879–82), 60–3, 76, 121, 187n., 189
- War of the Triple Alliance (1865–70), 101, 179–80, 220, 240
- Warnes (Dept of Santa Cruz), 236
- Wickham, Henry Alexander, 137
- Wilson, U.S. President Thomas Woodrow, 72, 255
- Xarayes (lake), Brazil, early name for most northerly major flood basin on upper Paraguay river (c. 16° 50'S, 57° 35'W), 95
- Yacimientos Petrolíferos Fiscales Bolivianos, 222, 228
- Yaco (river), Brazil, 122n.
- Yacuiba (Dept of Tarija), on Salta (Arg.)–Santa Cruz foothill trail, 165, 185; its location in relation to early boundary delimitation with Argentina, 187–8; proposed Argentine rail extension to, 191–2, 199; proposed colonization at, 198–9; political unrest in, 206; during Chaco War, 216–17; reached by rail, with subsequent rail link north to Santa Cruz, 223, 229, 235; present-day activity in, 224–5, 258
- Yacuma (river), 110
- Yagua-Yagua (mt), on Bolivia–Peru boundary, 147, 147n.
- Yaverija (river), 149, 150
- Ysiama (Ixiamas) (Dept of La Paz), 100
- Yungas, 92; products from, 83, 108–11; supply troops for Acre campaign (1903); proposed rail extensions into, 191, 247
- Zapaleri (Zapalegui) (mt), triple boundary point, Argentina/Bolivia/Chile, 64, 187