

Cambridge University Press

978-0-521-10246-9 - The Demography of Inequality in Brazil

Charles H. Wood and Jose Alberto Magno Carvalho

Index

More information

Index

- abertura*, 69
ACAR, 225
Adelman, I. and C. T. Morris, on development and the distribution of income, 16, 184 age at marriage, effects of, on fertility, 29–30 agriculture, modernization of, 4, 209 (Table 9.2); commercialization of, and rural-urban migration, 207–9; mechanization of, in São Paulo, 210 (Table 9.3), 211
agrópolis, 225
agrovilas, 225
Ahluwalia, M., on the distribution of income, 16; on wage-squeeze policies, 105
Almeida, A. L. O. de, on productivity in the service sector, 114
Almeida, M. H., on trade unions, 110
Amazônia, frontier expansion in, 55–6, 221–2; development policy regarding, 222–31, 257; migration to, 231–6, 257–8
Ambercombe, K. C., on labor absorption and the mechanization of agricultural production, 210
Amin, S., on unequal exchange, 16–17; on migration, 203–4
ARENA, 68
Association of Amazonian Entrepreneurs, 229
Azevedo, T. de, on racial discrimination, 135
Bacha, E., on development policy, 62–3; on changes in real wages, 174
Baer, W., on urbanization, 53; on import substitution, 57; on industrialization, 62; on regional inequality, 71; on land concentration, 206; on credit policies for agricultural sector, 212
Baer, W. and A. Figueroa, on income distribution, 79
Baer, W. and C. Von Doellinger, on import substitution, 60; on development policy, 63
Balán, J., on migration, 204
Bartra, R., on the fate of the peasantry, 214
Belém-Brasília Highway, 55
Berg, A., on nutrition and infant mortality, 123
Berquó, E. and M. A. Gonçalves, on misreporting infant deaths in urban areas, 118
BNDE, 61
bóias-frias, 211
Bongaarts, J., on proximate determinants of fertility, 158
Bongaarts, J. and J. Menken, on economic models of fertility, 26; on nutrition effects on fertility, 189
Bongaarts, J. and R. G. Potter, on proximate determinants of fertility, 29
Booth, D., on dependent development, 18; on the sociology of development, 247
Boserup, E., on the effects of population growth, 32, 38
branqueamento, 141
Brass, W., on measuring child mortality, 9, 86–7; on measuring fertility, 155, 261
Browning, H. and J. Singelman, on the classification of industries, 33
Bunker, S., on colonization in Amazônia, 227 bureaucratic-authoritarianism, 43

Cambridge University Press

978-0-521-10246-9 - The Demography of Inequality in Brazil

Charles H. Wood and Jose Alberto Magno Carvalho

Index

More information

294

Index

- Caldwell, J., on the effects of education on child mortality, 89–90; on intergenerational wealth flows and fertility, 167–8; on the demographic transition, 169
- Camargo, C. P. F. de, on Catholic Community Organizations, 129–30
- Cardoso, F. H., on dependent development, 16–18; on political repression, 62, 67; on racial inequality, 138; on employment and dependency, 239
- Cardoso, F. H. and G. Müller, on frontier expansion in Amazônia, 227
- Cardoso, R., on grass-roots political action, 129–30; on feminism and fertility, 163
- Carneiro, R. L., on effects of population growth, 38
- Carnoy, M., on theories of the state, 43
- Carvalho, J. A. M. de and P. de T. A. Paiva, on fertility differentials by income, 157
- Carvalho, J. A. M. de, P. de T. A. Paiva and D. Sawyer, on family planning policy, 160; on urbanization and fertility, 173; on relative deprivation and fertility, 176; on proletarianization and fertility, 178
- Carvalho, L. de, on minimum wage policy, 113–14
- Cassen, R. H., on population and development, 20, 184
- Castells, M., on urban economy, 106
- Castro, M., on female labor force participation, 174
- Catholic Church, and neighborhood organizations, 128–30; and family planning, 160–3
- Central Único dos Trabalhadores (CUT)*, 111
- Chayanov, A. V., 32
- Chen, L., on the proximate determinants of child mortality, 29
- Chenery, H., on development and income distribution, 184
- CIBRAZEM, 225–6
- class structure, definition of, 35–7; differences between, and social strata, 40–1, 253; changes in, 84–5
- Coale, A., on the demographic transition, 166, 168
- Coale, A., and E. M. Hoover, on population and development, 13, 38, 248
- COBAL, 225
- Cochrane, S., on education effects on fertility, 170
- coffee, production of, 54–5, 57, 250
- colonization, projects in Amazônia, 221, 225–36, 257–8
- Commission on Population and Development in Latin America (CLACSO), 13
- Comunidades Eclesiais de Base*, 128–30
- conceptual framework, for analyzing population and development, 21–46; 248–9; purpose of, 46–9, 249–50
- Confederação Nacional das Classes Trabalhadoras (CONCLAT)*, 111
- consumer price index, 113–14
- contraception, policies regarding, 160–3; use of, 164 (Table 7.4), 165 (Table 7.5)
- corporatism, 106–11
- Correa do Lago, L. A., on wage policy, 113
- cotton, production of, 53, 83
- Cravioto J. and E. R. de Lizardie, on income effects on child mortality, 89
- credit, policies regarding, and urban fertility, 176–7; policies regarding, and rural–urban migration, 212–13
- Cuibá-Santarém Highway, 55
- culture, definition of, 43–4
- Davis, K., on the mortality decline, 88, 97–8
- Davis, K. and J. Blake, on the determinants of fertility, 29, 158–9
- Davis, S., on Indians in Amazônia, 235
- Dean, W., on industrialization, 55
- debt crisis, 64–7, 259
- Deere, C. D., on the division of labor by sex, 32
- Deere, C. D. and A. de Janvry, on household sustenance strategies, 32
- Degler, C. N., on racial inequality, 136, 140
- democracy, return to, 67–70, 259–60
- demographic transition, and modernization theory, 15; and fertility decline, 163, 166–7
- Denslow, D. and W. Tyler, on the distribution of income, 76 (Table 3.5), 77 (Table 3.6), 208
- Departamento Intersindical de Estatística e Estudos Sócioeconômicos (DIEESE)*, 109, 113, 123
- dependency ratio, effect of population

Cambridge University Press

978-0-521-10246-9 - The Demography of Inequality in Brazil

Charles H. Wood and Jose Alberto Magno Carvalho

Index

More information

Index

295

- growth on, 242, 243 (Table 11.1);
relationship with aggregate savings rate, 242
- Depression, the Great, 57–8, 85
- developmentalism, 68
- Development Decade, 16
- development economics, crisis in, 246–7
- development theory, critique of, 19–21
- diretas já*, 69
- division of labor, the new international,
45–6
- Duque, J. and E. Pastrama, on household survival strategies, 126
- Easterlin, Richard A., on economic models of fertility, 26, 168; on urbanization and fertility, 173; on access to land and fertility, 179
- ECLA, 60, 240
- eco-demographic infrastructure, definition of, 21 (Figure 2.1), 23, 22
(Figure 2.2), 249; relationship between production and reproduction within, 37–9; racial inequality and, 152; and levels of analysis, 248
- economic structure, definition of, 23–34
- education, effects of, on child mortality,
89–90; effects of, on fertility, 170,
172; changes in, 170 (Table 7.6), 171
(Table 7.7)
- Emmanuel, A., on unequal exchange, 17
- employment, in modern sector, 237–8, 244–5; use of labor-saving technology and, 238–40; relationship with Gross Domestic Product, 243, 258; see also labor supply
- ENDEF, 6
- Erickson, K. P. and K. J. Middlebrook, on trade unions, 108
- Esman, M. on consequences of commercialization of agriculture, 208
- Estado Novo*, 58, 107
- Evans, P., on the role of the state, 43; on dependency and employment creation, 239
- Evans, P., D. Rueschmeyer and T.
Skocpol, on the role of the state, 43
- export cycles, the history of, 50–6, 250
- family planning, policies concerning, 160–3
- Feder, E., on the peasantry, 214
- feminism, effects of, on fertility decline, 163
- Fernandes, F., on racial inequality, 138
- fertility, neoclassical models of, 13, 28–9, 167–8, 248; natural, 28; decline in,
154–5, 156 (Table 7.1), 157 (Table
7.2), 254–5, 271n.1; proximate
determinants of, 12–3, 28–31, 157–8, 159 (Table 7.3), 160; and population policy, 160–3; socioeconomic
determinants of, 169–77, 255–6;
effects of education on, 170 (Table 7.6), 171 (Table 7.7), 172; effects of urbanization on, 172–4; effects of women's labor force participation on, 174; effects of changes in agrarian structure on, 177–80, 256;
measurement of, 260–3
- Fishlow, A., on income distribution, 16, 20
- Fordyce, J. E., on infant mortality as a measure of socioeconomic standing, 124
- formal sector, 240, 244–5
- Foster-Carter, A., on the articulation of modes of production, 215
- Foweraker, J., on stages of frontier expansion, 230
- Frank, A. G., on underdevelopment, 17
- Free Trade Zone, 224
- Freyre, G., on racial inequality, 137
- frontier, expansion of, in contemporary Brazil, 55–6; expansion of, in Amazônia, 221–36; perception of, in development policy, 235–6
- Furtado, C., on colonial Brazil, 51–3; on coffee production, 57; on effects of the Great Depression, 58; on economic growth and employment
creation, 239, 243
- García, N. E., on formal and informal sectors in Latin America, 240–1
- GETAT, 231
- Ghai, D. P., on effects of population growth on income distribution, 184
- gold, mining of, 52–3, 83
- Gonzales, E. N. and M. I. Bastos, on employment effects of the Statute of Rural Workers, 211
- Goodman, D. and M. Redclift, on bóiasfrias, 211; on Marx's view of the peasantry, 214
- Goulart, J., 59, 60–1
- Graham, D. and S. B. de Holanda, on migration to São Paulo, 120

Cambridge University Press

978-0-521-10246-9 - The Demography of Inequality in Brazil

Charles H. Wood and Jose Alberto Magno Carvalho

Index

More information

296

Graham, R., on the abolition of slavery, 152

Gross Domestic Product, yearly growth rates, 63 (Table 3.1), 66–7

Gross, D. R. and A. B. Underwood, on nutrition, 32

Guimarães, A. P., on land distribution, 80

Gwatkin, D., on the morality decline, 133

Harris, J. R. and M. Todaro, on migration, 31, 203

Harris, M., on population and the economic base, 38

Harris, M. and E. Ross, on fertility regulation, 167

Hasenbalg, C., on racial inequality, 138–9

Heynig, K., on Marxist perspectives on the peasantry, 214–15

Hirschman, A. O., on development economics, 246 household economy, decision environment of, 26, 30

household sustenance strategies, 31–2, 266n.4; migration and, 31–2; urban underdevelopment and, 126–8; fertility and, 168–9

Ianni, O., on racial inequality, 138 ideology, definition of, 44–5; racial inequality and, 152

immigration, during the coffee boom, 54, 268n.1

import substitution industrialization, 2, 17, 60, 85, 251; labor saving technology and the policy of, 238

income, distribution of, 3, 75, 76 (Table 3.5), 77 (Table 3.6), 78–9, 268n.2, 269n.2; effects of, on life expectancy at birth, 95–6; distribution of, and effects on infant mortality rate, 120; development and distribution of, 184–5; effects of population growth on the distribution of, 185–6, 187 (Table 8.1), 188–9, 190 (Table 8.2), 191, 270n.1

INCRA, 225–9, 230, 232

Indians, early trade with, 50; enslavement of, 140; miscegenation with, 141; impact of Amazon colonization projects on, 235 inequality, demographic behavior and, 7–11; definition of, 10; relative, 11; absolute, 11; see also income; land infant mortality, see mortality

Index

informal sector, 240, 244–5

Institutional Act Number 5, 67

interest group, 41–2

intrinsic rate of natural increase, see population growth

Jagger, A. M., on production and reproduction, 39

Janvry, A. de., on capitalist and peasant forms of production, 216; on economic structure in the periphery, 240

Katzman, M., on stages of frontier expansion, 230

King, T. et al., on population growth and income distribution, 184

Kocher, J. E., on income distribution and fertility, 185

Kohl, B. A., on seasonal wage workers in agriculture, 178; on agricultural production, 208; on credit policies for agricultural sector, 213

Kubitschek, J., 59

Kuczynski, P., on the debt crisis, 65

Kuznets, S., on income distribution, 15–16; 78

labor absorption, see employment labor supply, effects of population growth on, 241–3, 258; estimates of future, 243 (Table 11.1)

Laclau, E., on capitalist and noncapitalist modes of production, 18, 215 land, distribution of, 79–82, 83 (Table 3.7), 205, 206 (Table 9.1), 207; distribution of, and rural-urban migration, 205–7; conflicts over, in Amazônia, 228–31, 254; concentration of, in Amazônia, 231

Land Law of, 1850, 80–1

Langoni, C., on income distribution, 20, 78

latifúndio, 206–7

Latin American Demographic Center (CELADE), 13

Latin American Faculty of Social Sciences (FLACSO), 13

Laurenti, R., on errors in measuring infant mortality, 117

Leff, N., 38

Leibenstein, H., on fertility, 28, 167

Leontief, W., on economic development, 237, 239

Leser, W., on migration and infant

Cambridge University Press

978-0-521-10246-9 - The Demography of Inequality in Brazil

Charles H. Wood and Jose Alberto Magno Carvalho

Index

More information

Index

297

- mortality in São Paulo, 119
- Lewis, W. A., on labor absorption, 15, 201, 237–8
- life expectancy at birth, (see also mortality) increases in, 87 (Table 4.1), 88–9, 251; regional differences in, 92, 93 (Table 4.2), 251–2; differences in, by household income, 93–4, 95 (Table 4.3), 252; relationship with distribution of income, 95–6, 252; relationship with geographic distribution of population, 96–7, 252; rural–urban differences in, 97, 98 (Table 4.4), 99, 100 (Table 4.5), 101; changes in, by household income, 101, 102 (Table 4.6), 103; and racial inequality, 144 (Table 6.2), 145 (Table 6.3)
- lifetime income, 31
- Lluch, C., on formal sector employment creation in Brazil, 244–5
- Long, N., on household sustenance strategies, 32
- Lopes, J. B., on the mechanization of agriculture in São Paulo, 211
- Macedo, R., on the minimum wage, 144
- McKeown, T., on the determinants of mortality decline in England and Wales, 88
- McKintosh, M., on reproduction, 26
- Mahar, D., on land price inflation, 212
- Mandel, E., on world capitalism, 19
- Margolis, M., on coffee, 54; on Paraná, 82, 179–80
- Martine, G., on migration, 83–4; on frontier expansion in Amazônia, 234
- Martine, G. and J. C. P. Peliano, on migrant-native income differences in São Paulo, 121
- Martins, J. de S., on stages of frontier expansion, 230
- MDB, 67–8
- Merrick, T. W., on fertility decline, 32; on the effects of piped water on child mortality, 90–2; on access to land and fertility, 180
- Merrick, T. W. and D. H. Graham, on population growth, 20; on coffee production, 57; on Central West, 219
- Merrick, T. W. and E. Berquó, on proximate determinants of fertility, 159–60; on relative income effects on fertility, 177
- migration, neoclassical economic models of, 31–2, 202–24, 256; economic cycles and change in the direction of, 50–6, 83–4, 250; development and rural–urban, 201–2; effects of land concentration on rural–urban, 205–7, 257; effects of commercialization of agriculture on rural–urban, 207–9, 257; effects of mechanization of agriculture on rural–urban, 209–11, 257; effects of inflation on rural–urban, 212, 257; effects of credit policy on rural–urban, 212–13, 257; effects of the articulation of modes of production on rural–urban, 213–16; estimates of rural–urban, 216, 217 (Table 9.4), 218, 219 (Table 9.5), 256, 272n.1, 272n.2, 272n.3; to Amazônia, 221–4, 231–2, 233 (Table 10.1), 234–6; see also household sustenance strategies
- minifúndio*, 206–7
- Mintz, S. W., on sugar in the New World, 51
- Miró, C. and J. Potter, on theories of fertility, 169
- mobility, effects of social, on population growth, 191, 192 (Table 8.3), 193
- modernization theory, on development policy, 6; on inequality, 6, 14–16; on fertility, 15; on racial inequality, 136–7; on rural–urban migration, 201–2
- modes of production, definition of, 21 (Figure 2.1), 22 (Figure 2.2), 34–7, 249, 266–7n.5; articulation of, 35; relationship to modes of reproduction, 37–9, 250; changes in rural, and fertility, 84, 182
- modes of reproduction, definition of, 21, 23, 25–31, 249; relationship to modes of production, 37–9, 250
- Moisés, J. A., on decline in real wages, 109
- Moisés, J. A. and V. Martinez-Alier, on urban violence, 130–1
- Monteiro, C. A., on infant mortality, 121
- Moran, E., on colonists in Amazônia, 226, 229
- mortality, (see also life expectancy at birth), decline in, 3, 268–9n.1; effects of income on child, 89, 252–3; effects of education on child, 89–90; effects of environment on child, 90–1; relative impact of determinants of

Cambridge University Press

978-0-521-10246-9 - The Demography of Inequality in Brazil

Charles H. Wood and Jose Alberto Magno Carvalho

Index

More information

298

Index

- child, 91; effects of changes in real wages on infant, 115 (Table 5.1), 116–17, 252–3; quality of statistics on infant, 117–18; effects of migration on infant, 118–20; effects of distribution of income on infant, 120; effects of water and sewage services on infant, 121; effects of nutrition on infant, 123–4; programs to reduce infant and child, 125, 253; racial differences in, 144 (Table 6.2), 145 (Table 6.3), 150 (Table 6.6), 151; measurement of, 263–5, 272n.2
- Moser, C. and K. Young, on the “family wage”, 126
- Movimento de Custo de Vida*, 129–30
- National Academy of Sciences, 38, 248
- Neighborhood organizations, 128–30, 254; see also urban underdevelopment
- Neves, T., 70, 111
- Notestein, F. W., on fertility, 12, 39, 166, 173, 247
- nutrition, levels of, 6; effects on child mortality, 89; relationship with income, 114, 123–4; effects on fertility, 189
- O’Donnell, G., on the bureaucratic authoritarian state, 43
- Offe, C., on the state, 43
- Oliveira, L. E. G., R. M. Porcaro and T. C. N. de Araújo Costa, on census classification of races, 143
- Paraíba Valley, 54
- Party Reform Law of 1979, 68
- PDS, 68–70
- PDT, 68
- peasants, perspectives on, 213–16
- pelegos*, 108–9
- Pierson, D., on racial discrimination, 135
- PIN, 221, 224, 232
- Piven, F. F. and R. A. Cloward, on civil disorder, 132
- PMDB, 68, 70
- POLAMAZÔNIA, 227
- political parties, 67–70
- politico-ideological superstructure, definition of, 21 (Figure 2.1), 22 (Figure 2.2), 23, 24, 42–5, 249; changes in, and fertility, 182; levels of analysis and, 248
- Pomper Mayer, M., on the Association of Amazonian Entrepreneurs, 229
- population growth, effects of, on the distribution of income, 184–93, 271n.1; effects of the distribution of income on, 193–9; intrinsic rate of natural increase, 195 (Table 8.4), 197 (Figure 8.3), 198–9, 272n.3; effects of, on labor supply, 241–2, 243 (Table 11.1)
- population structure, definition of, 22, (Figure 2.2), 24, 25, 249; effects on modes of production, 37–9, 250
- Portes, A., on social classes, 36–7; on urban underdevelopment, 125; on migration, 204; on the articulation of modes of production, 215
- Portes, A. and R. Benton, on formal and informal sectors in Latin America, 240
- Portes, A. and J. Walton, on modernization theory, 15; on dependency theory, 18; on the world-system perspective, 19–20; on development ideologies, 68; on households and urban underdevelopment, 127
- posseiros*, 230–1
- post-partum infecundity, effects of, on fertility, 29–30
- postwar development, 59–60
- Poulantzas, N., on social classes, 36; on the state, 42
- Prebisch, R., on the terms of trade, 17, 60; on wage squeeze policies, 105
- Preston, S., on the mortality decline, 88
- proletarianization, effects of, on rural fertility, 177–80; causes of, in São Paulo, 210–11; effects of, on rural-urban migration, 209–11; perspectives on, in rural areas, 213–16
- proximate determinants, of fertility, 12–13, 28–31, 157–8, 159 (Table 7.3), 160, 163, 248; of child mortality, 29–31, 248
- PT, 68
- Puffer, R. R. and C. V. Serrano, on malnutrition and infant mortality, 123
- Quadros, Jânio, 59–60
- race, definitions of, 141–3, 269–70n.2; composition of the population by, 140, 141 (Table 6.1)

Cambridge University Press

978-0-521-10246-9 - The Demography of Inequality in Brazil

Charles H. Wood and Jose Alberto Magno Carvalho

Index

More information

Index

299

- racial democracy, 135–7
- racial inequality, the racial democracy thesis on, 135–6; Marxist perspectives on, 136; modernization theory and, 136–7; modern capitalism and, 138; social mobility and, 139; wage discrimination and, 139–40; and life expectancy at birth, 140, 141 (Table 6.2), 145 (Table 6.3), 146, 255, 270n.3; measures of, 146, 147 (Table 6.4); and individual-level measures of child mortality, 148–9, 150 (Table 6.6), 151
- regions, classification of, 4 (Table 1.1), 5 (Map 1.1)
- relative deprivation, theory of, and fertility, 176–7
- repetto, R. G., on measures of the distribution of income, 94; on effects of the distribution of income on fertility, 185
- repression, political, 6, 62, 67
- reproduction, definition of, 26–7; see also modes of reproduction
- Revolution of 1930, 58
- Rich, W., on effects of income distribution on fertility, 185
- Rodgers, G. B., on effects of population growth on the distribution of income, 185
- Roosevelt, T., 135
- Rosenbaum, H. J. and W. G. Tyler, on policies to develop Amazônia, 228
- Rostow, W. W., on development, 19
- Rothenberg, J., on economic models of migration, 31, 203–4
- rubber, production of, 53, 83, 222–3; production of, in the Orient, 223
- rural–urban residence, differences in life expectancy by, 97, 98 (Table 4.4), 99, 100 (Table 4.5), 101–2; definition of, 98–9
- rurópolis*, 225
- Russell, L. B. and C. S. Burke, on income and child mortality, 89
- Sanders, T. G., on World Population Conference, 161; on colonization in Amazônia, 226
- Santos, T. dos, on dependent development, 16–17
- São Paulo, development in, 54–5, 71–2, 80–1, 250; relationship between wages and infant mortality in, 115–25, 252–3; responses to urban underdevelopment in, 125–34, 253–4
- Sarney, J., 70, 259
- Sawyer, D. O. and I. S. Soares, on rural–urban mortality differentials, 99
- Sawyer, D. R., on stages of frontier expansion, 230, 234; on number of migrants to Amazônia, 232
- Schmink, M., on household sustenance strategies, 32, 126, 169, 174; on crisis colonization in Amazônia, 231
- Schmink, M. and C. H. Wood, on policies to colonize Amazônia, 235
- Schultz, T. P., on economic models of fertility, 28
- Schutjer, W. and S. Stokes, on land ownership and fertility, 179
- Scrimshaw, S., on child mortality, 32
- Seccombe, W., 48
- Serra, J., on the debt crisis, 66
- sesmarias*, 79–80
- SESP, 225
- Shaw, P., on rural–urban migration, 203
- Silva, L. I. da, 68
- Silva, N. do V., on racial discrimination, 139
- Simon, J., on population growth, 38
- Simonsen, M. H., on income distribution, 68
- Simonsen, R. C., on colonial Brazil, 50; on industrialization, 57
- Singleman, J., on sectors of industry, 33
- Singer, P., on neighborhood organizations, 128, 130; on rural migration, 204
- Sjaastad, L. A., on economic models of migration, 31
- Skidmore, T. E., on political repression, 62; on trade unions, 107; on racial inequality, 137, 141
- slavery, 51–2, 54, 84; and contemporary racial inequality, 136–8; and racial composition of the population, 140; population scarcity and the rise of, 38–9, 250
- Smith, N., on colonization in Amazônia, 226–7, 229
- Smith, T. L., on immigration, 54
- Soares, G., on political repression, 62, 67; on political parties, 68–9
- social mobility, effects on fertility and mortality, 191, 192 (Table 8.3), 193
- social strata, 40–1
- Sociedade Civil Bem-Estar Familiar no Brasil* (BEMFAM), 156–7, 62–3
- Sociedades Amigos do Bairro*, 128

Cambridge University Press

978-0-521-10246-9 - The Demography of Inequality in Brazil

Charles H. Wood and Jose Alberto Magno Carvalho

Index

More information

300

Souza, A. and P. E. Baltar, on the importance of the minimum wage, 115

Souza, A. and B. Lamounier, on trade union strikes, 109–10

Spengler, J. and G. Myers, on migration, 202–3

SPVEA, 224

Standing, G., on effects of female labor force participation on fertility, 175

state, conceptualization of, 42–3; role of, and the distribution of land, 80–2; role of, in managing violence in Amazônia, 229–31

state enterprises, and the distribution of income, 79

Stavrianos, L. S., on the world economic system, 19

Stepan, A., on bureaucratic-authoritarian regimes, 43

Stolcke, V., on proletarianization and rural fertility, 178–80

Stolnitz, G., on the mortality decline, 88, 133

stratification system, definition of, 21 (Figure 2.1), 23 (Figure 2.2), 24, 40–2, 249; and racial inequality, 152 strikes, by trade unions, 109–10, 254; see also urban underdevelopment structural limitation, definition of, 23, 254

SUCAM, 225

SUDAM, 224, 228

SUDENE, 71

sugar, production of, 50–2, 83, 250

Sunkel, O., on the world-system perspective, 18–20

superstructure, see politico-ideological superstructure

Todaro, M. R., on development theory, 16; on rural–urban migration, 201; on fertility and labor supply, 242; on employment creation, 242

Tokman, V., on formal and informal sectors in Latin America, 240

Toplin, R. B., on racial inequality, 138, 152

Torrado, S., on household strategies, 32, 169

trade unions, under the Estado Novo, 58, 106–8, 253; the “new labor movement”, 110; see also strikes

Transamazon Highway, 55–6, 221, 224–5, 232, 257

Index

transformation, definition of, 23

treaty, of Tordesillas, 222; of Petrópolis, 223

Trussell, J. and S. Preston, on individual-level measures of child mortality, 148–9 urban underdevelopment, responses to, in São Paulo, 126–32, 253–4

Vargas, G., 58–9, 107–8

Vetter, D. and C. Simões, on sewage facilities and mortality, 91

Violence, urban, 130–2; over land in Amazônia, 228–31

vital statistics, quality of, and infant mortality rate, 117–18

wages, development policy and decline in real, 104–6; method of determining minimum, 111–15; decline in real, 115 (Table 5.1), 116–17, 122, 253; changes in real, and infant mortality, 115 (Table 5.1), 116–25, 253

Wagley, C., on racial inequality, 137, 140

Wakefield, G., on the emigration of labor from England, 81

Wallerstein, I., on the world-system perspective, 18–9, 266n.2

Walton, J., on the state, 42; on the world economic system, 45

Washington Accords, 223

water, piped, and effects on child mortality, 90–2, 121

Weisskoff, R. and A. Figueroa, on income distribution, 75, 184

Williams, E., on population scarcity and slavery, 28

wolf, E., on the world economic system, 19; on social classes, 37; on ideology, 44

Wolpe, H., on the articulation of modes of production, 35, 215 women, participation of, in neighborhood organizations, 129–30; changing attitudes of, 163, 254; labor force participation of, and fertility, 174–5; changes in labor force participation, 175 (Table 7.8)

Wood, C. H., on economic models of migration, 31, 202; on household sustenance strategies and migration, 32, 216; on household strategies and fertility, 169

Cambridge University Press

978-0-521-10246-9 - The Demography of Inequality in Brazil

Charles H. Wood and Jose Alberto Magno Carvalho

Index

More informationIndex

301

- Wood, C. H., and J. A. M. de Carvalho, on the income elasticity of fertility, 198
- Wood, C. H. and S. D. McCracken, on migrants to São Paulo, 119
- Wood, C. H. and M. Schmink, on colonization projects in Amazônia, 226, 229
- Woortman, K., on households and the urban economy, 127–8
- World Population Conference, in 1973, 161
- world system, conceptualization of, 18–19, 45–6
- Worsley, P., on dependent development, 18; on the world-system perspective, 20
- Wright, E. O., on models of determination, 23, 49; on social classes, 36–7; on interest groups, 41–2; on method, 47
- Yone, P. and J. A. F. Barreira, on urban violence, 132
- Yunes, J. and V. S. Ronchezel, on infant mortality, 115 (Table 5.1), 117
- Zona da Mata*, 51