Contents

Preface v

1 French education in the period immediately preceding the Revolution 1

2 Eighteenth-century criticisms of education under the Ancien Régime 16

3 Pre-Revolution projects for a national system of education 29

4 The States-General. The cahiers. Mirabeau’s educational project 54

5 Talleyrand’s report 68

6 The Legislative Assembly. Condorcet’s report. The education of women 80

7 The Convention. The reports of Lanthenas and Romme 97

8 The Siyès–Daunou–Lakanal report. National festivals. Lepelletier’s project 111

9 Romme’s report of 1793. The cult of the Supreme Being 124

10 L’École Polytechnique. L’École des Armes. L’École de Mars 136

11 Écoles de santé. The Museum. L’École Normale. Other écoles spéciales 149
CONTENTS

12 Lakanal’s law on primary education. The central schools. The Daunou law of 1795
13 Independent schools under the Directory. Development of the central schools
14 The Consulate. The Chaptal report of 1800. The Fourcroy law of 1802
15 Educational influence of the Revolution. Napoleon and the Imperial University
16 Subsequent influence in France, England, the United States and Germany

- A summary of Revolutionary educational projects and laws
- Chronological Appendix
- Bibliographical Appendix
- Index