

Cambridge University Press

978-0-521-10898-0 - The China-Hong Kong Connection: The Key to China's
Open-Door Policy

Yun-Wing Sung

Table of Contents

More information

Contents

	page
List of tables	ix
Preface	xi
Abbreviations	xiii
Symbols	xiv
Introduction	1
1. The open-door policy	5
Antecedents of the open-door policy	5
Characteristics of the open-door policy	6
Evolution of the open-door policy	7
The regional orientation of the open-door policy	11
The open-door policy in historical perspective	13
2. The pivotal role of Hong Kong	15
Hong Kong as financier	16
Hong Kong as trading partner	17
Hong Kong as middleman	25
Hong Kong as facilitator	26
The theory of international trade in intermediary services	28
The efficiency of large trading centres	33
Product heterogeneity and intermediation	39
Intermediation and decentralization	40
The prospects for Hong Kong as middleman	42
3. The institutional setting	44
The first reform drive and retrenchment (1979–81)	44
The second reform drive and retrenchment (1983–85)	46
The third reform drive and retrenchment (1988)	49
Incentives to promote trade	50
Organization and incentives for foreign investment	54
The three-tier structure of open areas	57
The impact of Hong Kong on the decentralization of China's external sector	58

Cambridge University Press

978-0-521-10898-0 - The China-Hong Kong Connection: The Key to China's
Open-Door Policy

Yun-Wing Sung

Table of Contents

More information

viii	Contents
4.	Evaluation of the open-door policy	61
	The rapid increase in trade	61
	Import liberalization and bias reduction	65
	Open-door policy and economic decentralization	68
	Problems with China's foreign trade	70
	Foreign loans and investment	80
	Problems of and prospects for the open-door policy	91
5.	Hong Kong as financier	94
	Foreign loans	94
	Financial expertise and development of financial markets	98
	Foreign investment	99
6.	Hong Kong as trading partner	104
	Hong Kong's share in Chinese trade by commodity	104
	Circumventing barriers to trade	110
	Hong Kong as consumer of Chinese goods	113
	Hong Kong as supplier to China	118
	The prospects for direct trade between Hong Kong and China	119
7.	Hong Kong as middleman	123
	Entrepôt trade	123
	The theory of pure re-exports and processed re-exports	125
	Historical and cultural factors	128
	The significance of monopoly power	129
	The effect of distortion	130
	The significance of distortions	134
	Singapore and China trade	135
	China's dependence on the entrepôt of Hong Kong	136
	The market and commodity composition of China's indirect trade	141
	Hong Kong as a centre of trans-shipment	152
	Prospects for trans-shipment	158
	Triangular trade	161
	The multi-faceted middleman functions of Hong Kong	163
8.	Summary and conclusions	164
	Summary of Hong Kong's roles	165
	The benefits and costs to China of the Hong Kong connection	172
	The impact of the Tiananmen incident	173
Appendix	Estimates of retained imports from China by commodity	176
References		177
Index		181