

Contents

Figures	page ix
Acknowledgments	xi
INTRODUCTION	I
CHAPTER 1: PRIMERS OF NAHUA SOCIAL MEMORY	10
Mesoamerican Tales of Migrations	10
The Subtextual and Supratextual Layers	15
“Time Leaps” in Mesoamerican Thought	26
CHAPTER 2: THE SOURCES AND THEIR APPLICATIONS	35
The Sources	35
Applications	86
CHAPTER 3: BINDING AND TRANSCENDENCE	94
The Memory Tale of the Rites of Quecholli	94
The Significance of Binding in Nahua and Mesoamerican Thought	101
Rites of Death	103
Death Knots (Miccaylhuitl)	109
The Essence of Transcendence	113
Death and Transcendence	117
Godly and Human Persons in Charge of Transcendence	124
Transcendental Actions and Objects	133
Wrapping	136
Rebirth and Foundational Types of Transcendence	139
On the Binding of the Sacred Geography	143
CHAPTER 4: IN SEARCH OF HARMONY	155
Shrines/Oratories/Altars as Replicas of Mountains	158

viii ❁ CONTENTS

Ameyalco (at the Spring)	164
Walking the Boundaries	179
CHAPTER 5: DISPERSAL AND FRAGMENTATION	184
Things that Unite and Things that Divide	184
CHAPTER 6: RITES AND TIMES OF FOUNDATIONS	219
What Is the Significance of Foundational Events in Mesoamerican Memory Systems?	219
Foundation Rites and the Remembrance of the Sacrificial Act of Offering	223
The Place of Penitence	228
Mock Battles	230
The Looped Cord	237
Foundational Events during Colonial Times	246
CHAPTER 7: A NEW CULT, A NEW TEMPLE	249
The Ajusco Title	249
Ixchocholli: The Veiling of the Leaping God (of the Smoking Mirror)?	267
The Primordial Title of Coatepec de las Bateas	278
EPILOGUE: A POPOLLOCAN MEMORY TALE	288
Appendix: The Primordial Title of St Tomás Ajusco	295
Bibliography	315
Index	333