

INDEX

- ab esse ad posse*, 158
 abnormalities, positive and negative, 120, 122, 129, 132, 140, 160; total, 122–4, 129, 152 ‘a caused b’, analysis of, 91–7 aCb, as abbreviation for ‘a caused b’, 91 accidental conjunctions, 99–101, 103 actions, as caused, 104–15, 185–6 actions, composite, 29 actions, mediated, 28; not all actions mediated, 28–9, 31–2; thus entailing basic actions, 28, 33; relation of agent to object of, 31; preliminary analysis of 8–17. See also basic actions action and knowledge, parallel structures in the concepts of, x–xi, Ch. 1 passim, 45–50, 195–6 adequacy, 9; of evidence, 10–12; and actions, 12 adventitious truth, 14–15 agent causation, see immanent causation agent’s point of view, 55, 119
 Anscombe, G. E. M., 16, 156, 204, 217
 Anselm of Canterbury, on ‘doing’, 7–8, 199 anxiety, 160
 Arena frescoes, ix–xi, 197
 Aristotle, on character, 207; on the future, 168
 Armstrong, David, 77
 Assertions, 37, 39, 204
 Austin, J. L., on ‘doing’, 8, 199; on evidence, 33, 203; on giving one’s word, 37, 38; on promises, 201, 216; on trying, 134–5; on time-travel, 143–4
 Augustine, on authority of the will, 116, 120, 121, 141, 213, 220; on lust, 116–17
 Ayer, A. J., 202
 basic actions, and basic cognitions, ix, Ch. 2; and basic descriptions, 42; and feelings, 145; and forbearances, 172, 184; and freedom, 137; as entailed by the analysis of mediated actions, 28; as effects, 58–9; as not mere bodily movements, 43–4, 47, 54; as identical with bodily processes, 63–4; implications of on Determinism, 185–7; whether believing can be one, 146–7; whether compound or complex events basic cognitions, 28, 30, 31, 136, 138 basic descriptions, 39–44, 79; their logical relations to non-basic ones, 41; problem of identifying, 42–4 basic ignorance, 118, 121 basic impotency, 118, 120–2, 136, 141, 143–4, 150, 151, 175 basic powers, 35, 120 basic sentences, as distinct from basic cognitions, 32–3, 57, 202–3 basic understanding, 127–31. See also existential understanding Baudelaire, Charles, 218
 ‘because’, 17, 187
 Beecroft, R., 213
 Behaviorism, 46–9, 108–9 belief, as component in the analysis of knowledge and action, 14, 23; adventitious, 15; as effects, 18, 189; beliefs about things not amongst the letters’ properties, 67; and the explanations of actions, 113–15; and intentions, 25–8; and understanding, 134; concept of motive inapplicable to, 146–7; whether beliefs can be actions, 146–50, 192, 220; and evidence, 147–8; and their causes, 147; as guides in life, 148, 149; as of something, 155; of contradictions, 169–70; compared with actions from the viewpoint of truth and freedom, 182–5 belief-sentences and reference, 19, 201
 Bergson, H., 210
 Berkeley, George, on all God’s actions having to be basic, 35; on brain and mind, 66; on Divine Visible Language,

Index

- Berkeley (cont.)
 37; on perception, 46, 109; on spirits, ideas, and notions, 36, 203, 216; on volitions and actions, 206
- Berofsky, Bernard, 211, 219
- bilateral causation, 61–3
- blindness, 119, 122, 127, 128, 129, 130, 137, 153, 167
- Blondel, Maurice, 206
- bodhisatvas, 166, 179
- Bodhisatva Paradox, 166–7
- bodily movement, and basic actions, 43–50
- Boring, E. G., 214
- boundaries, of power and knowledge, 118–19
- Bradley, F. H., 219
- brain-states, 65–72
- Brand, Myles, 201
- Broad, C. D., 206
- Brown, D. G., 203
- Buddha, 158
- ‘can’, 135–6, 138
- Cason, H., 213
- causal dependence, 93–4, 96
- causal episodes, 56
- causal independence, 92–3, 110, 156, 170
- causal knowledge and meaning, 79–80
- causal matrix, 93
- causation, as component in certain actions and cognitions, 12; multiple, 103; and negativity, 120; and reasons for actions, 193–4; theory that there are two species of, 51–63; and simultaneity, 208
- causes and objects of feelings, 156
- ‘causes,’ logical form of, 81, 90, 156, 210; as of the same type as semantical predicates, 85–7, 90; not a descriptive predicate, 91; as entailing a covering law, 91–6; as semi-transparent, 97–9; as non-basic description, 40, 41
- causing someone to do something, 56, non-basic description, 40, 41 104–15
- Chisholm, Roderick, 63, 197, 205, 209, 216
- Chomsky, Noam, 69
- coercion, 182, 187
- cognitions, composite, 29; mediated, 28–9, 32, and Ch. 1 passim
- cognitive impotency, 168
- cognizing, instances of, 31
- Coherentism, 46–8
- Collingwood, R. G., 208
- colors, how they feel, 130
- comedy, 21
- communication, 113, 132
- complex events, 56–8, 73–3, 78, 81, 105
- compound events, 56, 73, 77, 91, 92, 101
- conditional sufficiency, laws of, 96
- conditioned reflex, 121, 213
- consequences, of actions and cognitions, 14–15
- constraint, in the analysis of freedom, 182, 219
- control, 116, full and partial, 180–1; over feelings and their expressions, 145–6; and socialization, 161
- correspondence, in representationalist theories, 45
- Covering Law Models, 100
- Davidson, Donald, 43, 198, 204, 205, 208, 209, 211, 212, 219
- Davis, Lawrence, 207
- depression, 160
- Descartes, René, and Problem of External World, 5, 69, 77; on what men are essentially, 1–2, 11, 23, 216; and God, 126, 147; on belief and will, 220; on sensation and will, 159; on causes of our ideas, 189; on categories, 211; and images, 217
- descriptions, under which events are covered by laws, 97–8; theory that something is an action only relative to descriptions, 39–44, 204
- Determinism, 2, 115, 183–8, 195
- Dewey, John, 198, 208
- dictionaries, and encyclopedias, 79–81, 209–10
- dilation of eyes, whether an action, 120, 213
- direct knowledge and action, parallels between theories of, 45–50
- Direct Realism, 49–50
- ‘does’, descriptive meaning of, 51, 49, 119; said always to be of something, 57, 75
- doings, in special sense, 75–9
- Donellan, Keith, 219
- double negatives, 164–5
- Dray, William, 212

Index

- Ducasse, C. J., 210
 Dummett, Michael, 209 duty, 187
- Early Christian Strategy, 173 embodied agents, 60 emotional engineering, 151
 Empiricism, classical, 127–9
 encephalographic evidence for pictorial imagery, 131, 215 Engels, Frederick, 197
 epistemologically normal cases, 110, 111 erections, 55, 207; as expressions of sexual feeling, 116–17, 152 event-types, 34–5, 193–4 ‘existence’, Phenomenological theory of, 87 existential understanding, 49, 119–20, 128, 131, 143–4, 146 experience and causal ascription, 81 explanation, and evidence, 10, 11 expressions, of feelings, 117, 151–5, 158, 163, 181 External World, Problem of, 5, 11, 45, 84 extensionalist sense of ‘of’, 57–8, 75–6
- faith, 169
 falsification, 102–3
 Fatalism, 26
 fear, 150–1, 156
 feelings, and actions, 145–6, 151, 156–7; cognitive contents of, 150; causes of, 152–5; objects of, 152, 155–6, 158; their role in life, 154
 Felix Krull, 120–1
 First Law of Expression, 63–4 ‘five senses’, 122, 214
 forbearing, 164–5, 166, 167, 172–4, 181, 184 freedom, 60, 192–5, 219
 Frege, Gottlob, 37, 38, 204 full control, 180–1 future, blindness to, 168 future and past, as respectively open and closed, 26–7
- Galileo, 203
 Galton, Francis, 131, 215
 Gasking, Douglas, 208
- Geach, Peter, 204, 215
 Gerall, A. A., 213
 gestures, 29
 Gettier, Edmund, 9–10, 11, 199
 gifts, 35, 122, 123, 125, 127, 129, 132–3, 147
 Giotto, ix, x, 197 given, 123–4
 God, modes of action and knowledge, 34–5; world evidentially neutral in regard to his existence; 36–126; if identical with the world, 72; as allegedly inscrutable, 127; incapable of feeling at will, 146; power and knowledge of, 203
 Goldman, Alvin, 200, 219
 Goodman, Nelson, 198, 212
 Grice, Paul, 212
 Grünbaum, Adolf, 201
 Gurwitsch, Aron, 211
 Gustafson, Don, 204
- habit, in Hume’s account of causation, 88, 89, 99, 211
 Hampshire, Stuart, 202, 219
 Hanson, N. R., 10, 200
 Harman, Gilbert, 200, 210
 Hart, H. L. A., 219
 Helmholtz, Wilhelm, 214
 Henning, Hans, 214
 Hintikka, Jaakko, 197 history, view of implied by the concept of intention, 26
 Hobart, R. B., 219
 Hobbes, Thomas, 153, 206, 219
 Hudgins, C. V., 213
 Hume, David, on causation, 36, 41, 49, 51–2, 82, 92, 94, 99, 156, 208, 211; alleged rebuttal of through ‘mental causes’, 156–8; on phenomenology of causality, 81–2; 85, 88, 89; on the source of our causal concept, 117, 204, 212; on the self, 52–3, 106; on control of our bodies and ideas, 116, 117, 212; on our incapacity to alter feelings, 145, 217; on simple ideas, 129, 132, 214, 216; on vivacity and veridicality, 143; on liberty, 219
- Ideal Chronicle, 173
 Idealism, 65–72
 identity, 43; of events, 59; of basic actions

Index

- identity (cont.)
 and bodily processes, 63–72, 108, 209; thing- and property-, 64; of us and our bodies, 141
- ignorance, 2, 3, 118
- ignorance and impotency, 26, 33, 118, 127, 184
- illusions, Eastern and Western, 217
- imagination, 131, 132, 142–3, 215, 216
- immanent causation, 51–6, 72–3, 205, 206
- impotency, 2, 3, 178; sexual, 218. See also basic impotency, power
- induction, and theories of causation, 89– 90, 99–101
- infinite regression, 28
- intensional use of ‘of’, 57–8, 75–6
- intentions, as causes, 17, 186; not part of basic actions, 31; essential part of mediated action, Ch. 1; not actions in their own right, 190–2; ascriptions of intention and opacity, 19–22; comple-mentarity of beliefs and, 25–7
- interpretation, 113
- James, William, 147, 170, 198, 211
- Johnson, W. E., 206
- Kant, Immanuel, 100, 211, 212
- Kneale, W. and M., 20
- knowing negations, 167–8
- knowledge, mediated, Ch. 1; basic, Ch. 2
- knowledge, direct, 30
- Krishna, Daya, 217
- laughter, 151–5, 160–3
- laws, 91, 96, 97–9, 103–5, 194; and understanding, 98–100, 103–4; and universalizations, 99–100, 212; generality of, 101; of stimulus and response, 108–11;
 as entailed by and as rendering causal ascriptions semi-opaque, 91, 94, 97–9;
 and representationality, 189; as pre-supposed by causation, 212
- Lehrer, Keith, 199
- Leibniz, W., 214, 215, 217
- Lescher, James, 198
- Lewis, C. I., 45, 204
- liability, strict and limited, 20–1
- Libertarianism, 184, 186, 195
- limits of the self, 138, 143–4
- Locke, John, 124, 125, 130, 214, 215, 217
- Louch, A. R., 210
- Lucas, J. R., 220
- Mackie, J. L., 211
- Mahayana, 166
- ‘makes happen’, Chisholm’s sense of, 63, 209
- Mann, Thomas, 213
- Marx, Karl, on understanding and changing the world, 1, 25
- masochism, 159
- Materialism, and its opponents, 65–72
- mDa*, abbreviation introduced, 7
- meaning, theories of, 202
- meaning and truth, 5
- meanings and causal knowledge, 79, 82
- Medici Chapel, 1–2
- Melden, A., 202, 204
- men, what they are essentially in some philosophies, 1–2
- ‘mental causes’, 156–8
- Merleau-Ponty, M., 216–17, 220
- metonymy, 43–4
- Miller, N., 213
- mKs*, abbreviation introduced, 3
- Moore, G. E., 126, 184, 201, 219
- modal deprivation, 127–31, 132
- motives, and belief, 146–7
- mystics, 132
- natural expressions, 164
- necessity, 103
- negative events, 95, 96, 165, 171, 171–4
- negativity, 175
- nervous impulses, 62
- Nietzsche, F., 73, 117, 198, 209, 213
- Nirvana, 166, 179
- non-basic actions, 28–30
- non-basic descriptions, 40–4, 45, 75, 193
- non-fortuitous explanations, 10, 12, 13, 25
- normal agents, 120, 133
- Nothingness, 165
- n-series*, 63–74
- objects, of action and cognition, 18, 30
- objects of feelings, 152, 155–6, 158
- Obrist, P. A., 213
- ‘of’, 57–8
- opacity, 19–22, 97–9, 200
- O’Shaughnessy, B., 217
- Other Bodies, 141–2, 216

Index

- Other Cultures, 114
- pain, 158–60
- Pap, A., 211
- paralysis, 122
- partial control, 180–1
- passions, 217
- past, see future
- Pavlov, 213
- Paxson, Thomas, 199
- Peirce, C. F., 10, 200
- perception, analogies between theories of and theories of direct action, 45–50, 75–6; and behaviorism, 109–11; and identity theory, 70–1
- Phenomenalism, 46, 48
- Phenomenologists, 24, 211
- phenomenology and physiology, 60–1
- pictures, 4–6, 68–9; inaccurate and accurate, 190; mental, 131, 142–3, 198
- Plato, 1, 8, 28, 214, 218
- Popper, Karl, 102–3, 212
- powers, 118–22, 135, 167–8, 176
- practical syllogisms, 188, 194
- pragmatic tensions, 183, 184, 187
- Pragmatism, 199
- prevention, 170–1
- Price, H. H., 215
- privacy, 141–2
- promises, 24, 201
- psychic energy, its discharge no way to move arms or anything, 139
- pupillary reflex, conditioning of, 213
- quantification, and substitution, 19–21
- Quine, W. V. O., 19, 197, 200
- quotation, 21
- Radical Atomism, 57, 81, 83
- Ramsey, F. P., 37, 38, 204
- reactions, 112–15, 162, 189, 195
- reality, formal and objective, 66
- ‘reality,’ phenomenalist theory of, 87
- reasons and causes, 17, 24, 187–8, 219–20
- recipes, for actions, 123–5
- Reid, Thomas, 206, 209
- reflexes, 115, 213
- Reichenbach, H., 211
- relevancy, 98
- repertoires, 120–5, 127, 131–2, 138, 145–6
- representation, 3–7, 14, 19–20, 22, 66–7
- representational art, 68
- representational properties, 4, 6, 66, 67, 189
- representational states, 22
- Representationalism, in perception, 45, 49, 70–1
- representations of the world, as figuring in explanation of men’s actions, 114, 188–90, 195–6
- resemblance, 198
- responses, 106–11, 189, 195
- Rollin, Bernard, 214
- Russell, B., 143, 262
- Ryle, Gilbert, on volitions, 53–4, 206, 207; on imagination, 131, 132, 215
- sadism, 56, 158–9
- Schilder, Paul, 216
- Schlick, M., 202
- Sciences of Man, 189
- Searle, John, 201
- ‘seeing’, 128
- Sellars, Wilfred, 201, 207, 209
- semantical predicates, 84–5, 86, 90; attempts to define them through the procedures of their attachment, 86–9; ‘causes’ as an instance of one, 85–90, 91, 96–7
- semantical values, 4, 23, 79, 87
- semantical vehicles, 4–6, 85
- sensations, 159–60; and the will, 159, 218; and their ordering, 214, 216
- sense of humor, 153
- sentential events, and speech acts, 38–9
- singular causal ascriptions, 91–7
- ‘sixth sense’, 122
- skepticism, 2, 26, 84, 183
- Skyrms, Bryan, 199
- smell, 129
- sneezing, 153
- Socrates, 218
- Sokolowski, Robert, 207
- speech-acts, 37–9
- Spinoza, 128, 213, 214, 216
- Standard Analysis of Knowledge, 3, 6, 30, 197, 198
- Stanley, Mrs, 130, 215
- Stubblebine, James, 197
- substraction recipes, 45, 204–5
- Taylor, Richard, 205, 208, 219

Index

- telekinesis, 138–141
Theatetus, 22 thoughts and their content, 66–72 tragedy, 21
 transeunt causation, 51, 205. See also
   immanent causation
 transparent contexts, see opacity ‘truth’, pragmatic theory of, 87, 211 truth and freedom, some parallels, 182–5 truth-attitudes, 22–6 trying, 133–5; considered as partially analyzing ‘can’, 135–6; as inapplicable to basic actions, 136–8; two senses of, 136–8; and intentions, 194
 two-stage predicates, 215
- understanding, 125, 145. See also existential understanding Urteilsstreich, 37, 38
- Van Haagen, Ernst, 199
- Verificationism, 48, 65, 87, 88–90, 93, 101
Verstehen, 112–13 virtues, 166
 volitions, as analogous to percepts, 45–6, 60; in Hume’s theory of action, 52, 57,
   73–4; Ryle’s destructive analysis of,
   53–4; as theoretical posits, 54, 61, 207
- Walsh, James, 199, 218
 Walter, Grey, 215 weakness of will, 218
 White, Morton, 212
 Whitehead, A. N., 62, 207
 Wiggins, David, 198, 217, 220
 Will-to-believe, 147–8
 Williams, B. A. O., 201, 208
 Wittgenstein, L., x, 5, 45, 46, 150, 158, 198, 216
- Youtz, R. P., 215