

Cambridge University Press

978-0-521-12155-2 - Inventing Retirement: The Development of Occupational Pensions in Britain

Leslie Hannah

Table of Contents

More information

Contents

List of tables and figures	vii
Preface	ix
Part I The rise of pensioning	1
1 Savings, work and old age in Victorian Britain	3
2 Rival pioneers of collectivism: pensions, the state and employers (1899–1927)	15
3 The insurance challenge (1927–56)	31
4 The state: partner or competitor? (1940–78)	46
5 Competition and professionalization: the maturing of the pension market (1956–79)	65
Part II The shaping of the modern pensions institution	83
6 Accident and design in the evolution of pensions	85
7 Pensions in peril? Security, solvency and vesting	91
8 Designing the benefit structure	105
9 Retirement: age discrimination or the fruits of prosperity?	122
Epilogue: Contemporary critics and the future of pensions	138

Cambridge University Press

978-0-521-12155-2 - Inventing Retirement: The Development of Occupational Pensions in Britain

Leslie Hannah

Table of Contents

More information

vi	Contents
	Statistical appendix	145
	A note on sources	150
	Notes	153
	Index	195