

Index

- agriculture, output, 174, 245
 American Stabilisation Fund, 373 see also PPP and controls
 arbitrage, 138–41, 223, 370 see also Granger causality
 Argentina, 49, 59, 244
 and the international economy, 260–6 see also Gold Standard autoregressive process (AR), 37, 38, 45, 107, 121, 127, 128, 376
 ARIMA, 38
 ARMA, 36, 101, 119, 121, 217, 375
 vector autoregressions (VAR), 39–41, 98, 140, 207, 211–15, 388; and British economic fluctuations, 80; and the gold standard, 61

 balance of payments, 2, 6, 58, 92, 139, 161–2 adjustment mechanism, 49–55 capital account, 53
 current account, 52, 92, 166
 monetary approach to, 2, 6, 51–4, 137–41, 153–4
 banking panics, 93–7
 Barings, 94, 240
 see also business cycle
 Bank of England, 2, 7, 8, 9, 57, 61, 67, 70, 73, 74, 75, 76, 82, 93–5, 125, 128, 137,
 138, 163, 202, 223, 224, 231, 232, 233,
 236, 237, 240, 353, 360, 362–3
 Bank rate, 2, 64, 66, 72, 239–40, 354 bimetallism, 15–16 see also Silver Bretton Woods System, 155, 161, 163, 365
 Britain see United Kingdom
 British Economic Fluctuations and capital accumulation, 98, 103, 111 consumption, 114–25
 investment, 114–25, 131
 Keynesian Factors, 102, 131, 134 nineteenth century, 80–97 relation of growth theory, 98–134 role of money, 8, 80–86 time series implications, 113; technology
 shocks, 114
 British Exchange Equalisation Account, 373 see also PPP and controls broad money, 82, 93, 160, 217 see also narrow money
 business cycles, 31, 32, 35, 54, 66, 98
 real, 5, 9, 10, 99–102, 107–19, 131–134;
 impulse responses, population moments, 108; and the neoclassical model, 98–119; technology shocks, depreciation, 109–11
 relationship with banking panics, 93–7 relationship with money, 80–97 classical economists, 271, 273 coal mining, data on, 341–4 see also employment and staple industries cointegration, 41–5, 149, 369 and British and foreign prices, 141 cointegrating parameter, 43 cointegrating regression, 44, 377, 384 cointegrating vector, 206, 211, 386 equilibrium error, 43 long-run equilibrium, 43, 145

 and money, prices and interest rates, 206–215
 and PPP, 144–8, 369–70, 375–8, 382–8
 and spurious regression problem, 43–4
 testing for, 44–5

Cambridge University Press

978-0-521-12260-3 - Britain in the International Economy

Edited by S. N. Broadberry and N. F. R. Crafts

Index

More informationIndex

423

- collective bargaining see unemployment in Britain
- consols, 205
- consumer spending, 174
- cotton famine, 224–5 see also Eastern Treasure drain
- cotton textiles, data on, 341–4 see also employment in staple industries
- currency/deposit ratio, 83, 87–92, 94, 97
- demand for money, 160, 163, 211–12
- Durbin-Watson Statistic, 41, 145
- Eastern Treasure drain and new gold, 224 and the Parachute, 224
- economic fluctuations see British Economic Fluctuations
- Edwardian Economy, 133 see also British Economic Fluctuations
- efficiency wages, 299
- employment
 - econometric modelling of, 331–41
 - in the staple industries, 316–22
 - relationship between employment and own-product real wage, 331–41 see also unemployment in Britain
- Europe, 4
 - and Silver 221–6
- exports, prices of, 152, 166
- financial crisis, 92–7 see also business cycle
- fiscal policy, war-time, 204
- Fisher effect, 217
- floating exchange rate, and controls, 369–70
- food economy
 - and Argentina, 260–6; American Civil War, 261–2; Boer War, 263
 - grain market, 246–53; evolution of between 1850–1914, 249–50; model of international integration, 247–50
 - integration of world markets, 244–6; population growth, 244–5; transportation costs, 244–5;
 - the international meat trade, 253–60; British regulation, 267; business organisation, 258–60; Cattle plague (1865), 255; meat imports, 255; refrigeration technology, 258; regulation and technology, 254–5
- foreign investment, 128 see also overseas investment
- foreign prices, 152–4
 - effects on wages, 152–3
- French Exchange Fund, 373 see also PPP and controls
- General Strike, 333
- General Theory, 302, 214 see also Keynes
- Gibson Paradox, 12, 13, 162, 199, 208–15 and fiscal policy, 204
- gold
 - drain of treasure, 224–5
 - monetary, 204, 215, 217
 - new gold, 223
 - non-monetary, 204, 217
- gold mining, 158
- gold parity see gold standard
- gold standard, 2, 6, 14–15, 23, 35, 49–77, 125, 137–55, 160–3, 204, 236–7
 - Britain's exit from, 355–9; reasons for leaving, 356–9
 - British data, 61–77
 - business cycles and credit rationing, 54
 - and central banks, 57–9
 - contribution to recessions, 363
 - current/capital account, 61–73
 - and the end of the gold standard, 359–66
 - and exchange-rate stability, 363–5
 - foreign lending, 65–73
 - German adoption of, 228
 - imports/exports, 61–73
 - insulation from export fluctuations, 73–7
 - and international capital markets, 57–9
 - and international monetary conference, 227
 - and Latin American experience, 59–60
 - and the Monetary approach, 51
 - and the Mundell-Fleming model, 51
 - and price stability, 55–6
 - prior to 1914, 60–77, 346–9
 - British return to gold, 349–54; role of Keynes, 349–353
 - and the silver question see silver
 - Swedish experience, 53
 - terms of trade, 61–73
 - US experience, 54
- government expenditure, 164
- Granger causality, 39, 149, 162, 370 and arbitrage, 388–92

Cambridge University Press

978-0-521-12260-3 - Britain in the International Economy

Edited by S. N. Broadberry and N. F. R. Crafts

Index

More information

424 Index

- Granger causality (cont.)
 and PPP, 394
 predictability, 39
 spurious causality, 40
 testing for, 5, 39–41
- Granger Representation Theorem, 44–5 error correction representation, 45, 211–12, 215
see also cointegration
- Great Depression, 371
- growth
 British, 99
 neoclassical model, 10, 98–106, 119, 125, 134; dynamics of, 105–7; preferences, technology, capital accumulation, 102–4
 steady-state, 103–5
 stochastic, 119–25
see also business cycles, and British economic fluctuations
- high powered money, 87–92, 127, 162 see also
also monetary base
- Home Investment, 2, 3, 5, 80 behaviour of, 128–31
 share prices, 128–31
- imports
 falling prices of, 171–8
 non-food, 182
 prices, 157–87
 rising prices of, 178–80
- impulse responses, 208, 212, 217 see also
 business cycles
- inflation, 127, 133, 154, 175 effect of new gold on, 224–5
 expectations, 200–3, 217
- inflation-output trade-off, 211 see also
 Phillips Curve
- integrated processes see unit roots
- interest rates
 international interest differentials, 54–5
 and the price level-Gibson's Paradox, 56, 201–5, 216
see also Gibson's Paradox
- international economic cooperation, 22, 361–2, 365
- international monetary conference and financial crisis, 226
 and the adoption of the gold standard, 227 and the Latin Monetary Union, 227
 Paris (1878), 231, 233
 Paris (1881), 232
 recommendation for international monetary order (1867), 226–8 iron and steel, data on, 341–4 see also
 employment and staple industries
- IS-LM model, 6, 50, 140, 303
- Joint Industrial Councils, 274
- Keynes, 75, 199, 201–2, 271, 277, 301, 302, 306, 307, 314, 348 see also gold standard
- Keynesian macroeconomics, 1, 10, 12, 18, 21, 25, 273,
- Latin Monetary Union
 and depreciation of silver, 230–231 and intra-European silver flows, 225 law of one price, 138, 140, 156, 155
 Lucas critique, 171
- macroeconomic model of the UK, 164–87 falling import prices (1872–96), 171–80 predictive performance, 167–70 rising import prices (1897–1913), 178–80 maximum likelihood estimation, 386
- monetarism, 50
- monetarists, 92, 157
- monetary base, 82, 83, 85, 87–92, 160, 161, 162
- monetary policy
 and the balance of payments, 67
 and the gold standard, 60
- monetary shocks, 80, 84–5, 87
- money multiplier, 52, 82–3, 95
- money supply
 and the balance of payments, 59–60
 data, 205
 determinants of, 87–92
 effects of once and for all shift, 199–201;
 income effect, liquidity preference effect, loanable funds effects, price
 expectations, 200–1
 empirical work, 206–15; impact on output, prices and interest rates, 207–15
 and prices, 160–4, 186
 relationship with output, 84–6, 93, 161–4

Cambridge University Press

978-0-521-12260-3 - Britain in the International Economy

Edited by S. N. Broadberry and N. F. R. Crafts

Index

More information

Index

425

- target, 125–8
- trend growth of, 86
- monometallism, 15, 236–8
- moving averages, 30–1
 - moving average process, 37, 121
- multiplier-accelerator model, 4, 12, 98

- NAIRU, 24
- narrow money, 205 see also broad money
- National Debt, 223
- nominal assets, 200–3, 215
- nonsense regression see spurious regression
- non-stationary series, 32 see also
 - stationary series
- Nordic group
 - Nordic monetary system, 228
 - Scandinavian monetary union, 228

- Ordinary Least Squares (OLS), 29, 298, 333, 376, 394
- Output
 - GNP correlations across countries, 143
 - persistence in, 100–2, 133–4
 - relationship with real wages, 131–3
 - trend growth of, 86
- overseas investment, 2, 5, 80 see also
 - foreign investment

- Parachute, 224 see also gold, and inflation
- perfect foresight, 128–30, 134
- persistence, overlapping wage contracts as
 - source of, 127, see also output
- Phillips Curve, 10, 12, 128, 133–4, 141, 148, 152
- physical assets, 202–3
- Pigou, 271, 273, 276, 277, 297, 306, 308, 312
- prices
 - adjustment models, 148–53
 - aggregate, 140
 - correlation between foreign and domestic, 141–4
 - determination of, 137–55
 - expectations, 200–1, 203
 - and interest rates see interest rates
 - relative, 52–4, 139, 145
 - retail, 142
 - stability of, 55–6
 - wholesale, 142, 148
- price swing
 - background, 158–64
 - and fixed investment, 182–5
- productivity, in services, 176–80
- Purchasing Power Parity (PPP), 11, 52–4, 137–55, 369
 - and arbitrage, 388–92
 - and cointegration, 369–70, 375–8
 - and controls in the 1930s, 370–4
 - data on, 378–82
 - exchange control, 373–4
 - exchange rate management, 372
 - exchange rates, and relative prices, 379–82
 - impact of German controls, 392
 - long-run, 25, 148, 374, 378–9, 382–8
 - and long-run equilibrium, 369, 374–5, 393–4
 - protection, 370–2, 393
 - and relative prices, 52–4, 129
 - results on cointegration, 382–8
 - short-run, 148
 - testing PPP, 144–8, 155

- quantity theory, 160

- random walk, 32, 33, 41, 101, 121, 125, 145, 377
 - with drift, 32, 33, 38
- reserve/deposit ratio, 83, 87–93, 97
- reserves, foreign exchange, 7, 51, 52
 - gold reserves, 61, 64–6

- services, 176–8
 - prices of, 178–80
- ship building, data on, 341–4 see also
 - employment in staple industries
- shocks
 - interest rate, 210–15
 - money supply, 210–15
 - output, 210–15
 - price, 210–15
- silver, 15, 16
 - appreciation of from 1840–1870, 221–3, 226
 - and bimetalism, 233–41
 - British Bimetallic league, 233
 - and the Bland-Allison Act (1878), 230–7
 - crime of 1873, 229
 - depreciation after 1870, 229–32
 - and Europe, 221–6
 - and India, 232–41

426 Index

- Silver (cont.)
 and Lancashire and the cotton industry, 237–41
 United States coinage, 228 specie flow mechanism, 140, 142 spurious regression, 41, 43 staple industries employment in, 316–22
 and labour costs, 323–6
 and prices, 326–31
see also employment
 stationarity, 34, 42, 145, 374
 differencing, 42
 non-stationarity, 41
 stationary series, 30, 38, 46, 121
 difference stationary (DS), 9, 32–7, 46, 86 distinction between DS, TS, 32–6 estimation of DS, TS, 32–4 trend stationary (TS), 9, 32–7, 46, 86, 101, 115 see also non-stationary series supply-shock school, 157, 159, 172
- technology shocks, 115–16, 119, 125, 131, 133 see also British economic fluctuations
- terms of trade, 17, 58, 181 see also gold standard
- time series techniques, 28, 86
- Trade Disputes Act (1906), 275
- trade unions see unemployment in Britain
- transportation, costs, 247–50 see also food economy technology
- trends, 28, 45
 and cycles, 28, 45
 deterministic, 30, 115
 linear trend model, 28–30, 38
 stochastic, 31, 119
 trend growth, 28–30, 36, 99
- TUC, 274
- unemployment in Britain centralised bargaining, 294–5 and the classical-Keynesian debate, 273 and collective bargaining, 273–85, 291–5, 312 and cost of living adjustment (COLA), 279–84 empirical evidence on, 297–301 and institutional rigidities, 21, 272–4, 276, 278–84 international perspective, 286–97
 Keynesian explanations, 272, 301–7 and minimum wages, 275–6
 and social security, 275–6, 285–6, 296, 308, 311 strikes, 287–91
 and trade unions, 274–5, 283, 286–91, 311, 312 unemployment insurance, 296
- United Kingdom
 banking, 96
 and the gold standard, 60–77
 persistence of output innovations, 101
see also British economic fluctuations
- United States, banking, 96–7 see also gold standard
- unit roots, 10, 26, 34, 100, 125, 128, 145–6 integrated processes, 42, 145, 376
 testing for, 34–7, 44, 99, 101, 377, 382, 384
- unobserved components model, 37–9, 45
- velocity of circulation, 160
- Victorian economy, 98, 125, 134, 316 see also British economic fluctuations
- wages
 adjustment models, 148–53
 expected, 127
 nominal, 127, 174–80, 302–6
 real, 10, 19, 20, 21, 25, 133, 174, 277, 298–9, 302–6, 313, 331 sticky adjustment of, 18, 26, 139, 272–4, 276, 278–84, 297–301
- Wages Act (1918), 277
- wage setting
 bargaining theory, 284–5
 and Keynes, 303–7
 Nash solution, 284
see also unemployment in Britain
- Wall Street Crash, 354
- white noise, 37, 38, 377
- wool and worsted
 data on, 341–4
see also employment in staple industries