

Contents

List of illustrations	page vii
Preface	ix
Key dates	xi
Chapter 1 Life and historical contexts	1
Canterbury: birth and early education	1
Cambridge and the translations of Ovid	5
‘Good service’ and ‘faithful dealing’	7
London: the success of Tamburlaine	11
Brushes with the law	14
Marlowe and patronage	16
Marlowe, atheism and the Baines note	17
Chapter 2 Tamburlaine, Parts One and Two	22
1580s drama and its influence	22
What’s new about Tamburlaine ?	25
Mighty lines	26
Words and power	29
Tamburlaine , politics and religion	31
Judging Tamburlaine	35
Sequel-itis?	37
Chapter 3 Doctor Faustus	41
The ‘Faust Book’	41
Renaissance magic and science	42
The Protestant Reformation	47
Focus on Scene 7: ‘When I behold the heavens’	50

vi	Contents
	Power and theatre	54
	Audience response and the two texts of Doctor Faustus	57
	Chapter 4 The Jew of Malta and The Massacre at Paris	61
	Machiavel and Vice in The Jew of Malta	62
	The Machiavel in The Massacre at Paris	67
	Religion, race and nationality	69
	The place of the audience	75
	Chapter 5 Edward II	79
	History	79
	Sexuality, gender and status	86
	Late Marlowe?	93
	Chapter 6 Dido, Queen of Carthage and Marlowe's poetry	99
	Ovid	99
	Dido, Queen of Carthage	102
	Lucan	107
	'The Passionate Shepherd to His Love'	110
	Hero and Leander	113
	Chapter 7 Marlowe's afterlives	118
	Marlowe in the early modern period	118
	Marlowe on stage: The Jew of Malta , Doctor Faustus , Tamburlaine and Dido	124
	Marlowe in other media: Edward II and A Dead Man in Deptford	132
	Bibliography	138
	Index	142