

Cambridge University Press

978-0-521-12601-4 - A Tropical Belle Epoque: Elite Culture and Society in Turn-of-the-Century Rio de Janeiro

Jeffrey D. Needell

Index

More information

Index

People are listed by their last family name or by the family name by which they are generally known; brackets indicate names generally ignored by contemporaries. People given titles of nobility are listed by the name in the title; if the title employs more than one family name, the person is listed by the last of these names.

- abolition movement: and monarchy's decline, 2; course of, 5–7, 191; and urban population, 13; and 1880–97 period, 20; and Carioca elite, 21, 102; and Joaquim Nabuco, 113, 121, 195; and post-Romantic generation, 183, 189, 190, 191, 231; and Romantics, 188; and 1880s journalism, 189; and bohemia, 189, 190; and Machado de Assis, 193; and Coelho Neto, 203; and José Veríssimo, 216
- Abrantes, Maria Carolina de Piedade, marquise de [later, viscountess de Silva and baroness do Catete], 110
- Abrantes, Miguel Calmon du Pin e Almeida, marquis de: career and background, 68; in Casino Fluminense, 68; salon of, 105, 106, 108, 110–11, 132, 133; elite relations of, 110–11; palacete of, 147, 152
- Abreu, [João] Capistrano [Honório] de, 55
- Academia de Belas Artes, see Escola de Belas Artes
- Academia Brasileira de Letras: and Inglês de Sousa, 95; and Ataúlfo de Paiva, 101; and elite relations, 103; origins and significance of, 192–6, 231; and Machado de Assis, 192–3, 194, 195, 196–7, 225; apolitical quality of, 193, 194, 195, 231; relations of, with State, 193, 195; organization and goals, 194–6; French influence on, 194; emphasis on tradition, 194–5; and geração de setenta, 195; and Romantics, 195; and elite values, 195; and "respectability," 195–6; and new bohemia, c. 1900, 196; and Olavo Bilac, 100; and João do Rio, 208, 209, 223; and Júlia Lopes de Almeida, 214; and women, 214; and Silvio Romero, 216; and Lauro Müller election, 217–18; and Euclides da Cunha election, 221; and Lima Barreto rejection, 223–4
- Academia de Medicina, 97
- Academie Française de Lettres, 193, 194, 214
- academies, colonial Brazilian, 180–1
- academies, French royal, 40, 145–6, 282n14, 282n121
- academies, Portuguese royal, 146, 180
- Academy, see Academia Brasileira de Letras
- actresses, French: and fashion, 160, 287–8n16; and prostitution, 160, 162–3, 166, 190, 287–8n16; in Rio, 162–3, 166, 172–3, 175, 190
- aestheticism, 184, 210, 217
- Aguiar, Francisco Marcelino de Souza, 42
- Aimée, Mlle., 175
- Albuquerque, [José Joaquim de Campos da Costa de] Madeiro e, 305n156
- Albuquerque Cavalcanti family, 259n22
- Albuquerque Diniz family, 259n22
- Alcazar Lyrique Française, 163, 165, 172, 175, 178–9, 289n24
- Alencar, José [Martiniano] de, 110, 182, 227, 232, 273–4n30
- Almeida, Felinto de, 196, 214
- Almeida, Fernando Mendes de, 68–9
- Almeida, Júlia [Valentina da Silveira] Lopes de: attitudes of, regarding women, 135–6, 303n121; representative quality of, 136; reaction of, against new worldliness, 136; career and role of, 212–15; works of, 213; post-Naturalism of, 213, 215; and Academy, 214; social mobility of, 213–14;

Cambridge University Press

978-0-521-12601-4 - A Tropical Belle Epoque: Elite Culture and Society in Turn-of-the-Century Rio de Janeiro

Jeffrey D. Needell

Index

More information

328

Index

- Almeida, Júlia Lopes de: cont.
 compared to European women, 214–15;
 and feminism, 303n121
- Almeida Júnior [José Ferraz de], 179
- Almeida, Manuel Antônio de, 182, 187
- Alves, [Antônio] Castro, 182, 188
- Alves, Francisco, 295n24
- Alves [Francisco de Paula] Rodrigues; 47; and 1890s politics, 15; and reform administration of, 33, 38, 45, 50, 217;
 and Pereira Passos, 33, 34, 83; and Colégio Pedro II, 56, 57; and Club dos Diários meeting, 81; and Rui Barbosa, 84; and Paulo de Frontin, 89
- ama de leite, 138, 155
- Amado, Gilberto: on clothing, 171; on literary worldliness, 184; on elite readership, 197; on João do Rio, 209
- Amazon region, 93, 183
- Amazonas (Province of, then State of), 6, 7, 109
- Américo, Pedro, see Melo, J. Pedro Américo [de Figueiredo e
- Amerindians, 6, 144, 181
- Amoeda, Rodolfo, 179
- ancien régime (France), 147, 157, 161
- Andaraí, 27, 152
- Andrade e Silva Filho, Antônio Carlos Ribeiro de, 94
- Antigny, Blanche d', 172, 290n53
- anxiety, social: and social columns, 126,
 273–4n30, and commodity fetishism, 156, 163–4; and modern fashion, 157–8; and bourgeoisie, 159; and Carioca elite, 211
- Aqueduct, Carioca, 24, 151
- Araguáia, [Domingos José] Gonçalves de Magalhães, viscount de, 185
- Araripe Júnior, [Tristão Alencar], 220
- Araújo, [José Tomás] Nabuco de: 121; salon of, 105, 106, 110, 112; position of, 105; elite relations of, 110; and grand-daughter's perspective, 111; and his son, Joaquim Nabuco, 112, 122, 123; family and marriage of, 120–1; solar of, 152
- architecture [see also Avenida Central;
 architecture, domestic; and style], xiv,
 39–44, 143, 179–80
- architecture, domestic: traditional, 141–2;
 neo-classical, 142–3, 149; Eclectic, 143,
 150; in Petrópolis, 149–50
- aristocracy, English, 80, 156–9, 166, 232
- aristocracy, French: and Carioca educational model, 60; and central Carioca model for social institutions, 80, 106, 111–15; and commodity fetishism, 156–9; and common
- culture with English, 166; and impact on belle-époque literature, 232
- army, Brazilian: and Paraguayan War, 7–8;
 and middle-sectors, 8; and "modernizers," 8; and Military Question, 8–10; and coup of 1889, 8–10; and Canudos, 10; and election of 1891, 15
- Arrival of the Court (1808), 24–5, 152, 161, 181
- Assembleia Constituinte of 1823, 67–8
- Assis, [Joaquim Maria] Machado de: 196, 226; and Club Beethoven, 65; and patronage, 129, 229; background and career of, 186–7, 192–3, 214, 225–31;
 and disillusion, 191–2; and Academy, 192–3, 194, 195, 196–7; politics of, and Abolition, 193; and "respectability," 195–6; and response to French fin de siècle, 200; and Gazeta de Notícias, 200–1; and Coelho Neto, 203, 204; and Sílvio Romero, 216; death of, 217, 225; literary achievement of, 225–6, 230–1, 232, 233;
 and João do Rio and Lima Barreto, 226–7; literary versatility of, 227; influences on, 227–9, 232; personality, method, and style of, 227–31; and elite, 228; and Rio, 226, 227, 228, 229, 230; and José de Alencar,
 232; and Romanticism, 228–9
- Ataúlfo, see Paiva, Ataúlfo [Napoles] de
- Avenida Atlântica, 35
- Avenida Beira Mar, 34, 35, 36, 38
- Avenida Central, 35, 39; and Paulo de
 Frontin, 34, 89; and role in Rio's reform,
 34, 36; symbolism of, in Rio's reform,
 37–45, 46, 48, 203, 255n104, 307n184; and belle époque, 37–45, 179–80; and Eclectic architecture, 39–44, 143,
 253n.83; and Guinle building (Docas de Santos), 100, 269n86; and elite relations, 103; and Count of Paranaguá, 109; and Rua do Ouvidor, 164; compared to belle-époque literature, 179–80; and fashionable appeal, 201, 233; and elite fantasy, 232; and Guinles, 269n86
- Avenida dos Cais, see Avenida Rodrigues Alves
- Avenida Francisco Bicalho, 34, 35
- Avenida Mem de Sá, 35, 36
- Avenida Presidente Vargas, 36, 151
- Avenida Rio Branco, see Avenida Central
- Avenida Rodrigues Alves, 34, 35, 38
- Azeredo, Antônio [Francisco] de: in Casino
 Fluminense, 68; in Club dos Diários, 73; and Rui Barbosa, 86, 91, 92; career and background, 91–2, 117; and role in belle époque, 92–3, 108, 111, 114; and Joaquim

Cambridge University Press

978-0-521-12601-4 - A Tropical Belle Epoque: Elite Culture and Society in Turn-of-the-Century Rio de Janeiro

Jeffrey D. Needell

Index

More information

Index

329

- Murtinho, 98; and elite relations, 102, 103, 111
- Azevedo, Aluísio [Tancredo Gonçalves de], 183, 190
- Baependí, Manuel Jacinto Nogueira da Gama, marquis de, 66, 152
- Bahia (Province of, then State of): and Abolition, 6, 7; and Canudos, 10, 219; and Campos Sales, 18; and origins of Carioca elite, 67–8, 105; and Barbosa de Oliveira family, 83–4, 119; and Count of Figueiredo, 86; and Paulo de Frontin, 88; economy of, and Society, 132; and Afrânio Peixoto, 211; and Guinles, 261n86
- bairros*, see districts, residential
- Balzac, Honoré de, 158–9, 182, 198, 205
- Banco do Brasil, 67, 69, 87, 90
- banking, see economy and finance
- Barbosa de Oliveira family, 84, 118, 119
- Barbosa [de Oliveira], Rui; 113, 118; and Encilhamento, 11, 12, 84, 87; and daughter [Maria] Adélia, 53; and Club Beethoven, 65; and Club dos Diários, 73, 83; in Diários meeting, 81; as senator from Bahia, 83, 84; family and career, 83–5, 108; salon and role of, in Society, 86, 108, 111, 114; and Francisco Mayrink, 87; and new Carioca elite, 91; and Antônio de Azeredo, 91, 92, 93; and family relations with Azeredos, 93; and Bebê Lima e Castro, 97; and Joaquim Murtinho, 98; and elite relations, 102, 103, 111; and Romantic literati, 191; as Republican, 244n10; and Hague reputation, 264n13
- Barreto, [Afonso Henrique de] Lima: background and patronage, 129–30, 221; Realism of, 215, 222; marginality of, 218, 221–3; background and work, 221–4, 225; and literary ideal, 221–2, 223; adaptive capacity of, 222; and antagonism towards belle époque, 222–3, 224–5; and Euclides da Cunha, 222–3; and failure, 223–4; death of, 224, 233; and bovarismo, 225; and Machado de Assis, 226–7
- Barreto, [Alfredo] Coelho, 207–8
- Barreto [de Menezes], Tobias, 183, 215, 216
- Barreto, Joaquim Francisco Alves Branco Moniz, 67
- Barros, João do Rego, 73, 97, 107
- Barros, Maria Eugênia Monteiro de Barros, countess Monteiro de, 58–9, 61
- batalhas de flores*, 45, 255n102
- Bauer, Harold, 64
- bazaars, 158
- Bénévent, Charles Maurice de Talleyrand-Périgord, prince de, 93, 114
- Benjamin, Walter, 160, 162, 286n5
- Bernadelli, Henrique, 179
- Bernadelli, [José Maria Oscar] Rodolfo, 41
- Biblioteca Nacional, 39, 41–3, 146
- Bicalho, Francisco de, 34
- Bilac, Olavo [Bras Martins dos Guimarães]: 47, 196; attacks traditional Afro-Brazilian Rio, 48–9; and Avenida Central, 48, 183; as bohemian, 190, 200, 201; as Parnassian, 200, 224; background and career, 200–1, 202–3, 224; and Gazeta de Notícias, 200–1; and Pereira Passos, 201, 202; and Kásmos, 201; and public lectures, 201, 214; and Civilization, 202, 224; and French culture, 202–3; and Rio, 202–3, 224; and Coelho Neto, 203, 204, 206, 207; on journalism, 205; and João do Rio, 207
- "Binoculo," 126–7, 162, 170
- blacks (and others of obvious African descent): presence of, among elite, 49–50, 141; role of, in elite child rearing, 138; and Europeanization and racial relations, 154; and sexual exploitation, 171, 175; and prostitution, 172; among Romantic literati, 185; and social mobility, 185–7, 214; Machado de Assis, 186–7, 193, 226–7; Paula Brito, 187; José do Patrocínio, 190, João do Rio, 207, 226–7; and Lima Barreto, 221, 222, 226–7
- "bloco," 81, 84, 92, 264–5n17
- bôémia dourada*, 210, 211, 232
- bobême dorée*, 210
- bohemians: origins and character, 189–92; and Academy, 195–6; literary taste of, 198; Olavo Bilac, 200; Coelho Neto, 203; lack of women among, 213; and Lima Barreto, 223, 224; and careers of, 298n56
- Bois de Boulogne, 30, 32, 50
- Bois de Vincennes, 30
- Boldini, Giovanni, 174, 175, 291n63
- bonds, 26, 134–5, 152, 164, 187, 277n76, 284n142, 284n143
- bookstores, bookshops [see also Garnier's Bookstore and Laemmert's Bookstore]: on Rua do Ouvidor, 86, 165, 186; in cidade velha, 103; and Frenchmen and booktrade, 186, 198, 295n2; and literati, 165, 186, 196, 198
- Bosi, Alfredo, 206
- Botafogo: 24, 27, 35, 37; isolation of, from colonial Rio, 23; as elite residential district, 26, 61, 103, 151, 152, 184; and

Cambridge University Press

978-0-521-12601-4 - A Tropical Belle Epoque: Elite Culture and Society in Turn-of-the-Century Rio de Janeiro

Jeffrey D. Needell

Index

More information

330

Index

- Botafogo cont.
 Pereira Passos' reforms, 35; and Rui Barbosa's residence, 85; and Inglês de Sousa's residence, 95; and Antônio de Azeredo's residence, 93; and Gaffrée/Guinle residences, 100; and fashionable promenades, 165
 Botanical Garden Railroad, 152
 Boulevard des Italiens, 164 boulevards, 29, 30–1, 34, 36–40, 43–5, 166
 "bourgeois," 286–7n11 bourgeoisie, 156–9, 232
 bourgeoisie (French), 147–9, 163
 Bourget, Paul, 184, 198, 199, 205 bovarismo, 225, 232
 Bragança dynasty, 22, 235
 Brandão, Alberto, 100, 204
 Brazil, "African," 49–50
 Briguier's [Bookstore], 198
 Brito, [Francisco de] Paula, 187, 295n24
 Broca, Brito: on salons of 1900, 114; on literary life c. 1900, 184, 232; on bohemians, 196; on "Latinity" and racism, 201; on Esfinge's impact, 211–12; on literary misogyny, 214; as elite list source, 238
 Brummell, George Bryan ("Beau"), 159, 160, 287n12
 Buenos Aires, xiv, 33, 34, 172 bureaucracy: recruitment of, 3; and old elite residences, 142; and Rua do Ouvidor, 164–5; and Romantics, 185; and Machado de Assis, 187, 193; and bohemians, 203; see also State Caetano, Joaquim, 55 cafés cantantes, 163, 172
cafuné, 134
 Caixa Económica e Monte de Socorro do Rio de Janeiro, 67, 69, 90
 calle Florida (Buenos Aires), 288n21
 Campo de Santana: 24, 35, 37; in colonial period, 23, 24; Glaziou's reform of, 32, 164; Pereira Passos' reform of, 35; and batalhas de flores, 45; and elite residence, 151; and Rua do Ouvidor, 164; and prostitutes, 172
 Campos, Bernardino de, 15
 Campos, Cândido, 209
 Cândido, Antônio, see Sousa, Antônio Cândido [de Melo e Canudos rebellion [see also Cunha, Euclides [Pimenta Rodrigues] da; Os sertões], 10, 16, 219, 220, 247n43
 capoeira, 165, 279n92
Carnaval, 35–6, 39, 48–9, 203, 256n111
 Caruso, Enrico, 78
 Carvalho, Elísio de: quoted on Maciel Monteiro, 112; quoted on Joaquim Nabuco, 114; quoted on elite women, 135; quoted on Petrópolis, 150; role and career, 210–11; as belle-époque aesthete and decadent, 210–11; and Afrânio Peixoto, 212
 Casals, Pablo, 64
 Casino Fluminense: origins and role, 64–5, 106, 164; seat of, 65; membership of, in Second Reign, 65–8, 104; membership of, in Old Republic, 68–9; financial troubles of, 70; impact of 1880s and 1890s on, 70; recovery attempted, 70; and belle-époque merger with Club dos Diários, 70, 74; metamorphosis in membership of, 70–2, 107, 120, 125; identification of, with Second-Reign elite, 72; and continuities with Club dos Diários, 72–3; and shared membership with Jockey Club, 74, 262n61; compared to Jockey Club and Club dos Diários, 76–7; compared to Teatro Lírico, 79–80; and Count de Figueiredo, 86; compared to salons, 111; and Rua do Ouvidor, 164; as elite list source, 238; number of members of, 241–2
 Castelo, Morro do, 23, 24, 39
 Castro [Filho], João da Costa Lima e, 97, 118
 Castro, [Violeta] Bebê Lima e, 97–8, 102, 103, 118, 136, 278n79
 Catete, 37, 106, 152
 Catholicism, 53, 56, 58–61
 Catumbí, 27, 152
 Caxias, Luís Alves de Lima e Silva, duke de, 3–4, 110
 Ceará (Province of, then State of), 7, 87 census: categories employed in, 239, 240–1; of 1870, 239, 241; of 1890, 240, 241; of 1906, 240, 241, 242 centro, 234
 Chadwick, Edwin, 29
 Chagas Dória family, 118, 295n22
 Chamber of Deputies (Monarchy): and Crisis of 1868, 4; and coup of 1889, 9; and the Season, 105–6; and Maciel Monteiro, 111; and Joaquim Nabuco, 113, 121; and Rua do Ouvidor, 164
 Chateaubriand, François René de Chateaubriand, viscount de, 93, 198
 Chaves, Henrique, 73
 chic, 160, 161, 210, 287n15 children, elite [see also education, Colégio Pedro II, Collège de Sion]: and economic

Cambridge University Press

978-0-521-12601-4 - A Tropical Belle Epoque: Elite Culture and Society in Turn-of-the-Century Rio de Janeiro

Jeffrey D. Needell

Index

More information

Index

331

- preoccupations, 117, 140; as "women's work," 131; and Júlia Lopes de Almeida, 136; in elite households, 137–41; and infant mortality, 137, 140, 278n90; names of, 137; and parental distancing, 137–8, 139; and role of black people, 138; education of, 138; socialization of, 138–9, 280n95; and domestic world, 138–41, 150–1; and family roles, 139–40; and affective bonds, 139–41; and comparisons with European childrearing 139–40; innocence of, 278n90
- choros*, 178
- Church: represented on Avenida Central, 40, 42; and elite schooling, 58; and Congrégation de Notre Dame de Sion, 59; and social reform and evangelism, 59; and Fernando Mendes de Almeida, 69; and social prestige, 88, 91; as locale for amorous exchanges, 122, 133; and Brazilian literary strengths, 180; as target of scientism, 183; and Machado de Assis, 225
- Cidade do Rio*, 189, 190
- cidade nova*, 24, 24–5, 26, 27, 49, 208
- cidade velha*: location of, 23; and cidade nova, 25; and residential districts, 26, 151–3; and Pereira Passos' reforms, 34–5, 36, 38, 39, 48, 49; and Afro-Brazilian culture, 48–9; and housing for the poor, 49, 256n12; and Colégio Pedro II's externato, 54–5; and Teatro Lírico site, 77; and Rui Barbosa's office, 85; and Count de Figueiredo's addresses, 87; and elite relations, 103; and elite women, 134–5; and traditional elite residence and architecture, 141–2; and increasing departure of elite residence, 142–3; and climate of, and European clothing, 169–71; "red light" districts of, 172; and women's adultery, 174; and bohemians, 190; and Olavo Bilac, 202; and João do Rio, 208; and Lima Barreto, 223; and Machado de Assis, 228; and modern Rio, 234; see also, Rua do Ouvidor
- cinema, 86
- cities, Brazilian: after Paraguayan War, 2; lack of concert for, 26; impact of, on education, 53; and Count de Figueiredo, 87; and social mobility, 116–17; and Rio's comparative appeal, 180; and post-romantic generation's impact, 183; and origins of post-romantic movements, 188; and Euclides da Cunha's perception of, 219
- cities, European, 28–9
- cities, Latin American, xiv
- civilista* campaign of 1910, 84
- Civilization, fantasy of: and Avenida Central, 44, 46; and Rio's reform, 47–8, 231; demonstrated in Eclecticism, 148–9; and Petrópolis, 149–50; and adaptation of Franco-English cultural forms, 155, 231; and Carioca commodity fetishism, 163–4, 170–1, 176; domination of, 176, 231; function of, 176; internalization of, 176–7; and high culture, 178; and music, 178–9; and painting, 179; and literature, 178, 179–80, 182, 209–10, 231–3; and Olavo Bilac, 202–3; and João do Rio, 209; and Lima Barreto, 225
- class, ruling, 111, 124, 129, 138, 148
- class, social, 61–3
- classicism, literary French, 182, 201, 228
- clothing for men, fashionable [see also fashion; fashion, European]: and Beau Brummell, 159; nature of, 167–8, 169; discomfort of, in Rio, 169–71; expense of, 170; significance of, 170–1
- clothing for women, fashionable [see also fashion; fashion, European]: and Eugénie, 159–60; nature of, 168–9; discomfort of, in Rio, 169–71; expense of, 170; significance of, 170–1
- Club Beethoven, 64–5, 179
- Club de Engenharia, 39, 100, 103, 165, 253n81, 269n86
- Club dos Diários: merger of, with Casino Fluminense, 70, 74; origins of, 72, 82, 107, 125; and continuity with Second-Reign elite, 72–4; membership of, 73–4, 261–2n61; and shared membership with Jockey Club, 74; end of, 77; compared to Jockey Club and Casino Fluminense, 76–7; compared to Jockey Club and Teatro Lírico, 79–80; and importance of, 81, 93, 103; and Guinle family, 100; and elite fantasy, 232; number of members of, 241; and Derby Club and Jockey Club, 262n71
- clubs, social [see also Casino Fluminense, Club Beethoven, Club dos Diários, Derby Club, Jockey Club]: and French and English antecedents, 63; and ephemeral quality of, in Rio, 63–4; European origins of, 72; and horseracing in Europe, 74; essential function and purpose of, 80–1, 110, 129; and locale of, 103; and Romantics, 191
- cocodettes*, 161, 173
- cocotes*, see prostitution
- coffee: and regional economy, 2–3, 6–7, 11,

Cambridge University Press

978-0-521-12601-4 - A Tropical Belle Epoque: Elite Culture and Society in Turn-of-the-Century Rio de Janeiro

Jeffrey D. Needell

Index

More information

332

Index

- coffee cont.
 117; and paulista Republican politics, 14; and Rio, 22–3; 25; and Monarchy's consolidation, 22, 25, 163; and belle époque, 45; and elite family fortunes, 66–7, 70, 71, 105, 110; and Nogueira da Gama family, 66; and Nova Friburgo family, 67; and Itamarati family, 67; and Rio Bonito family, 67; and Quartim family, 69, 90; and Rodrigues Torres family, 69; and fluminense agriculture, 70, 117; and elite occupations, 71–2, 74, 108, 117; in São Paulo, 89, 233; and Guinle family fortune, 94; and Brazilian primacy in world market, 99; and indirect impact on elite Europeanization, 106, 132–5, 235; and Teixeira Leite family, 119; and Ribeiro de Resende family, 119; and Sousa Queirós family, 119; and Gomes de Carvalho family, 120; and florescence of Society in São Paulo, 132; and centrality in neo-colonial order, 154; and commodity fetishism in Rio, 163, 166
- Colbert, Jean Baptiste, 146, 282n114
- Colégio Abílio, 259n25
- Colégio Brandão, 100, 101
- Colégio Pedro II: illustrative character of, 53–4; origins of, 54, 258n11; role and alumni of, 54, 57–8, 110, 259n22; curriculum of, 54, 55, 56; faculty of, 55, 69; socialization in, 56–7; compared to Collège de Sion, 59; impact of, 61–3; and Paulo de Frontin, 88; and Escragnolle Dória, 96; and Ataúlio Paiva, 101; and Count of Paranaguá, 109; and literati, 185, 186; and Coelho Neto, 203; and Coelho Barreto, 207; and alunos gratuitos, 258n11
- colégios, religious, 58, 259n25
- Collège de Sion: illustrative character, 53–4; origins of, 58–9; and Catholicism, 58–9, 60; role of, 58–9, 60–1; centrality of French culture in, 59–61; curriculum of, 59–60; socialization in, 59–61; impact of, 61–3
- colonial period (Brazil): and Rio's evolution, 23–4; and the family, 116; and regional economy, 117; and décor, 144; and João VI in Rio, 146–7; and cultural relations, 153, 176; and music, 178; and literature, 180–1, 182; and Carioca belle époque, 231
- colonialism, xiii–xv, 46–7
- colonialism, African, xiii–xiv
- colonialism, Latin american, xiii–xiv
- columns, social [see also "Binoculo," "Normas de Polidez"]
- Counts de Paranaguá in, 109; rise of, 126–8, 273–4n30; and social anxiety, 126–8, 273–4n30; and Figueiredo Pimentel, 126–7, 210; and João do Rio, 209; and literature, 212; and Lima Barreto, 222; as source of elite lists, 238
- comedy, French light, 78
- commerce (see also goods; entrepreneurs); and Rio's origins and function, 10–13, 23, 33; and elite occupations, 66–7, 69, 71–2, 105, 107, 110, 121–2, 239; and Rodrigues Torres family, 69, 90, 122; and Count of Figueiredo, 86–7; and Baron de Quartim, 90; and Count de Parangagá, 109; and Teixeira Leite family, 119; and Gomes de Carvalho family, 120; and Soares Ribeiro family, 121–2; and foreign merchants, 152; and Rua do Ouvidor, 161–4
- companies, European touring, 78
- Companhia de Docas de Santos, 99, 269n86
- Companhia Ferro-Carril de Vila Isabel, 66
- Comte, Auguste, 182, 188, 218
- Conceição, Morro da, 23, 24
- Confeitaria Colombo, 190, 200
- conferências, see lectures, public
- Congrégação de Notre Dame de Sion, 59, 60, 61
- Congress (Old Republic), 10, 16, 18–19
- Conselheiro, Antônio [see also Canudos; Cunha, Euclides [Pimenta Rodrigues] da; Os sertões], 16
- Conservative Party: and traditional regional recruitment, 3; and Duke de Caxias, 4; and Abolition, 9; and Monarchy's crisis, 9; and Carioca and fluminense roots of, 20; and Viscount do Rio Branco, 31; and Marquis de Monte Alegre, 68; and Rodrigues Alves, 33; and Marquis de Paranaguá, 108–9
- Constant, Benjamin, see Magalhães, Benjamin Constant [de Botelho
- Constituent Assembly of 1891, 10, 15
- consumption, conspicuous: on Avenida Central, 44; at Teatro Lírico, 79; in cidade velha, 103; in salons, 105, 115; and wedding presents, 124; and Monarchy's Society gatherings, 125, 132; and evolution of women's role, 134–5; and French bourgeois culture, 147, 232; and prostitution, 160–1; and Rua do Ouvidor, 165–6; and Coelho Neto's style, 207; and João do Rio's style, 207, 208–9; and Elísio de Carvalho's style, 211; and the belle époque, 232
- Copacabana, 27, 34, 35, 109

Cambridge University Press

978-0-521-12601-4 - A Tropical Belle Epoque: Elite Culture and Society in Turn-of-the-Century Rio de Janeiro

Jeffrey D. Needell

Index

More informationIndex

333

- Cordeiro, Heitor, 107
cordões, 35, 48–9
Correio da Manhã, 197
Correio Mercantil, 67, 186
Cosme Velho, 26, 27, 152, 225
Costa, João Cruz, 148
Costa, J Luiz Edmundo [da: quoted on Rio, 49, 50; quoted on French literary influence, 114; quoted on Rua do Ouvidor, 165; quoted on fashion, 170, 171; quoted on Machado de Assis, 227; as source for elite lists, 238]
Cotegipe, João Maurício Wanderley, baron de, 86, 105, 108, 110
Council of State, 4, 68, 258n21
Council of the Emperor, 68, 69, 73, 258n21
Coup of 15 November 1889, 7–10, 11, 69 court, Brazilian: and Carioca elite, 71; and Jockey Club Fluminense, 75; and Nabuco de Araújo's salon, 110; and d'Escagnolle family, 119; and Taunay family, 119; and aristocratic French émigrés, 119; and Ribeiro de Resende family, 119; and patronage of French material culture, 146–7 court, French, 106, 146, 157, 160 couturiers, haut, 159, 160–1
Crisis of 1868, 3–4, 224n7 criticism, literary: post-Romantic, 183; and literary disjunction and antagonism, 184–5; and José Veríssimo, 193, 216–18; impact of, 197; and Sílvio Romero, 215–16, 217, 218; and Os sertões, 220–1; and Machado de Assis, 227 criticism, socio-political, 183, 215, 216, 217, 218 critics, post-Modernist, 184, 206
crônicas, 187, 197, 227, 229
Cruz, Oswaldo [Gonçalves], 33, 41 culture, xvi, xiii–xiv, see also under specific types culture, African, 183, 144, 279n92 culture, Afro-Brazilian: and Pereira Passos' reforms, 48–51; contrast of, within elite education, 63, 138, 141; and elite households, 141, 150–1, 280n95; and contrast with Rua do Ouvidor, 165; and literature, 178; and music, 178–9; and Olavo Bilac, 202–3; and João do Rio, 208; impact of, 279n92, 280n95 culture, bourgeois, 147–9, 158, 161 culture, Carioca high [see also architecture; literature, Brazilian; music; painting, Brazilian]: and neo-colonial milieu, 21; and continuity, 21; evasion and denial in, 45–51; and Afro-Brazilian culture, 48–51, 62–3, 202–3; and relationship to power, 104; and increased European and French influence, 105, 106, 178–80, 198–200; and fantasy of Civilization, 178–80; and literature, 178, 179–80, 197, 198–200, 205–7, 209–12, 215; and architecture, 179–80; and cultivators of, 197, 209; and "Latinity," 201–2; and João do Rio, 209; and belle-époque women, 213–15; and Sílvio Romero, 216–18; and José Veríssimo, 216–18; and belle-époque literature, 231–3; nature and role of, in present study, 234–6 culture, European: role of, in Rio, xiii, 21, 105; and "modernizers," 8; and Rio's reforms, 45; and education, 53, 138; and perception of Brazil, 62; use and value of, 148–9, 151, 176; influence of, on Brazil, 153–4, 156; and neo-colonialism, 154, 156; and Rua do Ouvidor, 164; unmodified forms of, in Rio, 165–6; special literary impact of, 232; post-war impact of, 233 culture, humanist, 53, 54, 56, 58, 59–60, 62–3 culture, mass, 35–6, 48–51, 62, 232–3 culture, paradigms of, xiii; and Republicans, 5; and "modernizers", 8; and change, 21; and urban reforms, 25, 45–50; and urban improvements, 25, 26, 28–31; and technology and education, 28; and Brazilian development, 32–3; and cultural repression and reform, 35–6, 45–50; and Avenida Central, 39–40, 41–8; and elite education 53–4, 61–3, 138–9, 141; and Colégio Pedro II, 54–8; and Collège de Sion, 58–61; and Carioca theaters and clubs, 63, 74–6; and opera, 77–80; and Carioca salons, 86, 111–15; and alto mundo, 102; increased influence of, 105, 106; and Napoleon III's Paris, 106; and Society manners, 125–9; and patronage, 130–1; and elite women, 135, 136–7; and domestic architecture and decor, 141–5; and taste, 145–9; and elite adaptation of, 147–51, 153–5; and households, 149–51; and residence locale, 152–3; realization of, and neo-colonialism, 154, 156, 235; origins of, and commodity fetishism, 156–61; and commodity fetishism in Rio, 161–3; meaning of Carioca use of, 163–4, 235; in Rua do Ouvidor, 164–6; and clothing, 170–1; and prostitution, 172–3, 174, 175; centrality of, to elite culture and society, 175–7, 235; and Carioca high

Cambridge University Press

978-0-521-12601-4 - A Tropical Belle Epoque: Elite Culture and Society in Turn-of-the-Century Rio de Janeiro

Jeffrey D. Needell

Index

More information

334

Index

- culture, paradigms of cont.
culture, 178–80, 235; and bohemia, 188–91; and the Academy, 193–6; and significance of Carioca belle époque, 231–3; literary sensitivity to, 231–3; role of, in present study, 234–6 culture, urban [see also under other types of culture], xiii, xiv, 2 Cunha, Euclides [Pimenta Rodrigues] da; social criticism of, 215, 220–1; life and work of, 218–21, 225; marginality of, 218, 224–5; and geração do setenta, 218; and O sertão, 219–21, 247n43; isolation of, among literati, 219–21; success of, 220–1, 224; and Lima Barreto, 222–3
- dandies, 159, 166, 170, 208 decadence, 199, 211, 216, 228, 232 décor, 143–5, 176, 233
demi-monde, demimondaines: origins and character of, 158, 160, 212, 288n17; and commodity fetishism, 158, 160–1; in Rio, 162–3, 166, 172–3, 175
Denis, Ferdinand, 181, 182
dependency, cultural, xiv
Derby Club: and Beaux-Arts building, 42; and rival Jockey Club, 76, 262n70; and Paulo de Frontin, 89; and Carlos Guinle, 100; and Jockey Club and Club dos Diários, 262n71 determinism, 182–3, 228
Diário de Notícias, 92, 189
Diário do Rio de Janeiro, 186 diários [see also Club dos Diários], 42, 82, 107, 125, 150, 169
Dias, [Antônio] Gonçalves, 55, 182, 214
Dimas, Antônio, 202, 307n184 districts, “red-light,” 172 districts, residential [see also under specific district names]: origins and distribution, 24, 26, 27, 37, 142, 143, 151–3, 284n142; and Avenida Central and belle époque, 45; and bonds’ impact on women, 134; and Rua do Ouvidor, 164; and urban transport, 284n142 diversion, domestic, 64, 125, 132 diversions, Society [see also entries for clubs; salons, Carioca; and Teatro Lírico and Teatro Municipal], 64, 80–1
Dolores, Carmem, see Melo Emilia Moncorvo Bandeira de Dória, Luís Gastão d’Escragnolle, 96–7, 103, 118
Dória, Luís Manuel das Chagas, 96, 118
- Drummond, João Baptista Vianna
Drummond, baron de, 66, 262n61
Dumas fils, Alexandre, 160, 198
- Eclecticism, Brazilian (thought) [see also style, Eclectic], 6, 148–9, 183
Eclecticism, French (thought) [see also style, Eclectic], 6, 147–9, 183
Ecole des Beaux-Arts: and Brazilian architecture, 4, 41–4; and Eclectic style, 40, 41–4, 148; origins of, 40, 282n121; teachings of, 40–1; and Brazilian domestic architecture, 143, 153 economy and finance: under Monarchy, 10–1, 87; and Encilhamento, 10–3; and neo-colonial order, 11, 154; and paulistas, 14–15, 17–18, 19, 21; and Rio’s reform, 32–3; and Second-Reign elite careers, 66–7, 71, 105; and careers of Rodrigues Torres family, 69, 122; and impact on Carioca elite in 1890s, 70; and career of Count de Figueiredo, 87; and career of Francisco Mayrinck, 87; and Viscount de Ouro Preto, 87; and career of Baron de Quartim, 69, 90; and shifts in elite family circumstances, 108, 116–17, 129, 140; and Teixeira Leite family, 119; florescence of, and Petrópolis, 149 education: in Second Reign and Old Republic, 52; elite character of, 52–3; general nature of, 52–4; and Brazilian and European socialization, 56, 129, 149, 155; European, for girls, 58; elite concept of, 59; impact of, 61–3, 149, 155; literary emphasis in, 180; Pombaline reform of, 180; French literary influence on, 180, 181; level of, among literati, 185, 190
Edmundo, Luiz, see Costa, Luiz Edmundo [da] elites, agro-export: and cities, 2; and Republic, 4–5, 107; and Abolition, 5–7; and coup of 1889, 9–10; and 1890s politics, 10, 11, 12, 13, 14–19; and belle époque, 20–2; Carioca exemplars of, 71; and Portuguese-Brazilian elite interests, 91; and traditional power vis-à-vis State, 116–17; see also elites, regional elite, traditional [see also, elites, agro-export], 118, 121; and Encilhamento, 12; and Floriano, 14; and urban change, 221; Carioca example of, 71; passing of, 76–7; exemplary families from, 118–22 elite, fluminense, 22, 204 elite, paulista: and Monarchy, 2–3, 9; and

Cambridge University Press

978-0-521-12601-4 - A Tropical Belle Epoque: Elite Culture and Society in Turn-of-the-Century Rio de Janeiro

Jeffrey D. Needell

Index

More informationIndex

335

- Republicanism, 4–5; and Abolition, 6–7; and 1890s politics, 14–20, 21 “elite pool,” 237, 239, 241 elites, regional [see also elite, agro-export]: division among, 2–3, 6–7; and 1890s politics, 10, 14–19, 92; and Regency, 22; representation of, 244n6
 émigrés, French aristocratic (in Brazil), 96, 119, 152, 181, 279
 Empire of Brazil: change and decline of, 1–7; and Rio, 20; and perception of urban improvements, 26–7; and Colégio Pedro II, 57, 58; and Portuguese-born titulares, 66–7; and French aristocratic émigrés, 96; and Romantic literati, 181, 182; and post-Romanticism, 183; Church and Eclecticism dominant in, 183 empire, Portuguese, xiii, 142, 146, 181
 empiricism, English, 182
Encilhamento: 10–3; and Campos Sales, 17; and urban reform, 32; and Rui Barbosa’s career, 94; and Count de Figueiredo, 87; and Francisco Mayrink, 87, 94; and Carioca elite origins, 102
 Engenho Novo, 23, 27
 Engenho Velho, 23, 27, 55, 152
 engineers, engineering [see also Club de Engenharia]; in elite, 28, 107; and Pereira Passos, 28; and French training, 28, 41; and Carioca training, 28, 41; Brazilian, and infrastructure, 31; and Paulo de Frontin, 32, 88; Brazilian, sophistication of, 33–4; and Sousa Aguiar, 42; and Paula Freitas, 88; and Vieira Souto, 88, 107, 251n76; and Club de Engenharia, 89, 165; and Escragnolle Dória’s family, 96; and Júlio de Paranaguá, 109; and Euclides da Cunha, 218, 219; in census, 240 England: model for Civilization, 28, 231; source of technology, 28; and parks and urban reform, 29, 30; and Pereira Passos, 31; and Colégio Pedro II curriculum, 56; and Carioca theaters and clubs, 63, 72, 74, 75; and Joaquim Nabuco, 113; and preoccupation with manners, 128–9; and model for women, 136–7; and childrearing, 139–40; and model for gardens, 143; influence of, on décor, 144, 146; merchants of, 152, 161; centrality of, in neo-colonial order, 153–4; and fashion, 156–7, 159; and department stores, 158; commodity fetishism in, 163–4; and cultural relations with France, 165, 166–7; greater suitability of, for European fashion, 167–8; clothes from, 170; and origin of post-Romantic ideas, 188, 216; culture from, and French mediation, 198; literature of, and Machado de Assis, 227, 228 entrepreneurs: among “modernizers,” 5, 244n10; among Carioca elite, 21, 66–7, 68, 71, 73, 102, 106–7, 108, 110–11, 121–2, 239–40; and urban improvements, 25; and Pereira Passos, 83; and Count de Figueiredo, 86–7; and Paulo de Frontin, 88–9; and Baron de Quarim, 90; and Cândido Gaffrée and Guinles, 99–100; and Count de Paranaguá, 109; and Viscount de Mauá, 45, 110–11, 244n10, 250n75; and bonds, 152; and fashion, 159–60; on Rua do Ouvidor, 165; and Adolfo Aschoff, 269n86; and James Mitchell, 169n86
entrudo, 35, 48 epidemics, 28, 31, 32, 33, 251n76
 Escola Central, 8, 41
 Escola de Belas Artes, 39, 41, 42, 69, 147, 179
A Escola de Recife, 183
 Escola de São Joaquim, 54, 59, 258n11
 Escola Militar, 8, 25, 28, 69, 146, 218
 Escola Nacional de Belas Artes, see Escola de Belas Artes
 Escola Politécnica: origins and role, 8; as Francophile, 41; and Paulo de Frontin, 88; and Antônio de Azeredo, 92; and elite congregation, 110; and bohemians, 189; and Lima Barreto, 221; and Adolfo Aschoff, 269n86
 Escragnolle Dória, see Dória, Luís Gastão d’Escragnolle
 Escragnolle Taunay family, 118, 119
A esfinje (Afrânio Peixoto), 114, 211–12
 Estácio de Sá, see Mata Porcos
estilo João V, 144, 146
 Estrada de Ferro Central (Estrada de Ferro D. Pedro II), 26, 89
 Estrela, Joaquim Manuel Monteiro, 1st viscount de, 66
 Estrela, Joaquim Manuel Monteiro Filho, 2nd viscount de, 66
 Estrela, José Joaquim de Maia Monteiro, baron de, 66, 121
 Estrela family, 66, 91, 105
 Eu, Louis Gaston d’Orléans, prince d’, 65
 Eugénie, empress of the French, 159–60, 169
 Europe [see also England, France, North Atlantic, Paris]: and trade with Rio, 23; and function of, in Carioca belle époque, 61, 148–9; and elite women, 135; and elite

Cambridge University Press

978-0-521-12601-4 - A Tropical Belle Epoque: Elite Culture and Society in Turn-of-the-Century Rio de Janeiro

Jeffrey D. Needell

Index

More information

336

Index

visits to, 141; and French cultural influence, 146; and elite legitimization, 148–9; rise of commodity fetishism in, 156–61; and symbolic identity with Petrópolis and Rua do Ouvidor, 164; greater suitability of, for European fashion, 167–8; and greater elite sexual latitude, 174–5; influence of, on music, 179; and determinist thinkers, 182; and Machado de Assis, 225
 evolutionism, 182, 216, 222
 Exhibition of 1904 (St. Louis), see Louisiana Purchase Exposition at St. Louis exports [see also coffee; economy and finance], 1–2, 6–7 façades, 29, 40, 41–2, 44
 Faculdade, Livre de Direito, 92, 95, 96, 267n48
 Faculty of Law at Recife: established, 3; and planters' sons, 28; and boys' education, 53, 120; and elite congregation and socialization, 58, 110; and metamorphosis of elite background, 71; and Inglês de Sousa, 93; and Count de Paranaguá, 109; and Joaquim Nabuco, 112; students' dress at, 171; and Tobias Barreto, 183; and geração de setenta, 183, 188–9; and Coelho Neto, 203; and Sílvio Romero, 215
 Faculty of Law at São Paulo: established, 3; and planters' sons, 28; and boys' education, 53, 120; and elite congregation and socialization, 58, 103, 110; and Fernando Mendes de Almeida, 69; and metamorphosis of elite background, 71; and Inglês de Sousa, 93; and Escragnolle Dória, 96; and Ataúlio de Paiva, 101; and Count de Paranaguá, 109; and Joaquim Nabuco, 112; and Romantics, 185–6; and bohemians, 189; and Olavo Bilac, 200; and Coelho Neto, 203
 Faculty of Medicine: and João da Costa Lima e Castro [Filho], 97; and Carlos Guinle, 100; and elite classmates, 110; founded by João VI, 146; and bohemians, 189; and Olavo Bilac, 200; and Coelho Neto, 203 families, traditional elite, 57–8, 118, 121, 259n22 family (institution): importance of, 116–17; and matrimony, 117–24, 273n11; and manners and diversion, 125; increased European influence in, 126; and etiquette for advancement of, 128; integral importance of patronage to, 129–30; and purpose of Society, 132; as defining locus for women, 131, 133–5, 136; ambiguity of increased Europeanization in, 155 fashion, 126–7, 156–8, 166, 168, 185n4, 290n46 fashion, European [see also clothing; fashion]; displayed at Teatro Lírico, 79; significant at salons, 105; significant in Society, 125, 132; anxiety over, 126–8; and childrearing, 128–9; as phenomenon in Brazil, 156; origins of, 156–8; and Beau Brummell, 159; and Empress Eugénie, 159–60; Carioca sensitivity to, 162; shared origin of, in France and England, 165; peculiar Carioca significance to, 166–7, 170–1 favelas, 49, 208, 209

 Feijó Júnior, 41
 feminism, 213, 303n121
 Ferrez, Marc, 40
 fetishism, commodity: defined, 154;
 European emergence of, 156–61; Carioca emergence of, 161–3; and fantasy identity with aristocracy, 158–9; and bourgeois culture, 158, 161; and department store, 158–9; and fashion, 159–60; and prostitution, 160–1, 175; and "phantasmagoria," 160; in Rio, 161–3; and "interiorization," 162; distinct quality of Carioca, 163–4, 166–7, 170–1; and literary style, 206–7; and literature, 210, 211; origins of concept of, 286n5
 fetishism, consumer: European and Carioca varieties of, 163–4, 166–7; and Carioca fantasy identification, 164, 165–6; and clothing, 170–1; and prostitutes, 172–3, 175; and centrality of Civilization in elite culture and society, 175–7, 233; significance of, 177; and fin-de-siècle literature, 184–5, 206–7, 210, 211, 233
 Figueiredo, Francisco de Figueiredo, count de: and Club dos Diários, 73; representative quality of, 86, 111; in Second Reign Society, 86; family and career of, 86–7; Society role of, 57, 87–8, 111; compared to Baron de Quartim, 90; compared to "new men" c. 1900, 91; and elite relations, 102, 103; addresses of, 284n142
 Figueiredo, Heloisa de, 73, 88
 Figueiredo, José Carlos de, 73, 88 fin de siècle, Brazilian: neglected, 183–4; condemned, 184; and Brito Broca, 184; character of, 184–5, 199–200; and mundanismo, 184; and French influence, 184, 198; and Coelho Neto's style, 206, 224; and Sílvio Romero, 200, 215, 216

Cambridge University Press

978-0-521-12601-4 - A Tropical Belle Epoque: Elite Culture and Society in Turn-of-the-Century Rio de Janeiro

Jeffrey D. Needell

Index

More informationIndex

337

- fin de siècle*, French, 184, 198–9, 205, 206, 216, 228 fine arts, 178, see also architecture, literature, music, painting
 First Reign, 6, 96, 143
 Flamengo: 24, 27, 37; as elite residential district, 26, 103, 152; and Pereira Passos' reforms, 35; and Paulo de Frontin's residence, 89; and Lima e Castro residence, 97; and Guinle residences, 100; and Coelho Neto's residence, 204
 Flaubert, Gustave, 182, 198, 205, 223, 225
 Floresta da Tijuca, 25n176
florianistas [see also jacobinos; radicals, urban-based], 13–14, 15, 16, 192, 248n47
 Fluminense Futebol Club, 100, 204
 Fonseca, Hermes [Rodrigues] da, 84, 265n17
 Fonseca, [Manuel] Deodoro da, 8–10, 13, 15, 94, 204
 France [see also French language; literature, French; salons, French]: as special model of Civilization, 28, 106, 154, 167, 231; as source of technology, 28; and Pereira Passos, 28, 31; and architectural taste, 41–5; centrality of, in Rio's reform, 45; influence of, in education, 53; influence of, in Colégio Pedro II, 54, 56; influence of, in elite self-perception, 62; influence of, in Collège de Sion, 58, 59, 60–1; function of, in Carioca belle époque, 61; perceptions of, of Brazil, 62; influence of, on Rio's night life, 63; Restoration aristocracy of, and Jockey Club, 74; influence of, on Second Reign elite, 106, 111–15; influence of, on meals, 115, 151; and preoccupation with manners, 128–9; and model for women, 136–7, 268n80; influence of, on child rearing, 139–40; influence of, on domestic architecture, 142–3, 144; influence of, on gardens, 143; influence of, on décor, 143–5; and origins of Carioca taste, 145–9; academic and artisan tradition of, 145–6, 282n115; and Missão Artística Francesa, 146; and Arrival of Court, 146, 181; émigrés from, 147, 181; and sociocultural comparisons with Brazil, 147–9; bourgeois culture in, 147–9; immigrants of, and Carioca districts, 152; and fashion, 156–7, 159–60; and department stores, 158–9; and prostitution, 160–1; merchant community from, 161–2; prostitutes from, 162–3, 172–3, 174–5; commodity fetishism in 163–4; and cultural relations with England, 165, 166–7; musical influence of, 178–9; influence of, on painting, 179; influence of, on literature, 180–1, 183, 190, 198–200, 300n66; writers from, and Brazilian Romanticism, 181–2; immigrants from, and Carioca periodicals, 186, 198; immigrants from, and bookstores, 186, 198, 295n24; influence of, on Academy, 194; cumulative influence of, 198; and significance of fin de siècle, 199; Symbolism in, 200; and women in high culture, 214–15, 268n80
 France, Anatole [pseud. of Anatole François Thibault]: mistress of, 62; and Carioca salons, 114; fashionable in Rio, 184, 198; impression by, of Academy, 195–6; perspective of, 198–9; influence of, on José Veríssimo, 200, 217; influence of, on Olavo Bilac, 202; influence of, and Afonso Peixoto, 212; irony of, and Machado de Assis, 230–1
 Franco-Prussian War (1870), 199, 201
 Freitas, [Francisco de] Paula, 88
 French Artistic Mission (1816), see Missão Artística Francesa
 French language: in elite education, 56, 59, 60, 61, 133, 135; use of, in opera reports, 78–9; and Society, 106, 111–15; Joaquim Nabuco's use of, 113; in childrearing, 138, 141; used among English, 165; assumed in elite, 198; use by Machado de Assis, 187, 193, 227
 French Revolution, 157, 161, 235
 Frenchwomen, elite, 161, 173
 Freyre, Gilberto, 153
 Frontin, [Gustavo André] Paulo de Frontin, count de: failed portworks, reform of, 32; and Avenida Central, 34, 36, 38–40, 41, 269n86; and Colégio Pedro II, 55; representative quality of, 86, 91, 111; family and career of, 88–9, 117; role in belle-époque society, 89–90, 111; and elite relations, 102, 103; and Júlio de Paranaguá, 109; and Guinles, 269n86
 Gabinete Português de Leitura, 90
 Gaaffrée, Cândido, 99–100
 Gama, José de Saldanha da, 41
 Gama, Nicolau Antônio Nogueira Valle da Gama, viscount de Nogueira da, 66
 Gambôa, 24, 49
 gardens [see also parks], 142, 143
 Garnier, Charles, 40–1, 43, 44
 Garnier's Bookstore: and Inglês de Sousa, 95; and bohemians, 190; and French influence,

Cambridge University Press

978-0-521-12601-4 - A Tropical Belle Epoque: Elite Culture and Society in Turn-of-the-Century Rio de Janeiro

Jeffrey D. Needell

Index

More information

338

Index

- Garnier's Bookstore cont.
 198, 295n24; and Machado de Assis, 227, 228
- Garrett, [João Batista da Silva Leitão de] Almeida, 293n8
- Gávea, 23, 27, 51
- Gazeta da Tarde*, 92, 189
- Gazeta de Notícias*: and Henrique Chaves, 73; and Escragnolle Dória, 96; and "Binoculo", 126, 210; origins of, 189; and belle époque, 197; and Olavo Bilac, 200; and Figueiredo Pimentel, 210; as source of elite lists, 238
- a geração de setenta*: origins of, 183; impact of, 188–9, 224–5; failure of, 191–2, 231; and the Academy, 195; literary taste of, 198; and Euclides da Cunha, 218, 220–1
- German culture, influence of, 182, 183, 198, 216, 227
- Glaziou, Auguste Marie François, 32, 164, 251n76
- Glicério, Francisco, see Leite, Francisco Glicério [de Cerqueira Glória, 24, 26, 34, 37, 108, 152
- Góes [e Vasconcellos], Zacharias de, 3–4, 110
- Gomes, [Antônio] Carlos, 179
- Gomes de Carvalho family, 118, 119, 120
- goods, imported luxury: and Avenida Central, 44; and cidade velha, 103, 134; as wedding presents, 124; and growth of French influence, 146–7; origins of trade in, 161–2, 163; and Rua do Ouvidor, 161–2, 163; and European cachet, 162; in Carioca department stores, 162; and Carioca fantasy identification, 164; and association with prostitutes, 172–3
- Gouveia, Hilário de, 97, 121, 268n73
- Grãça, Morro da, 86, 92–3, 271n128
- Great Exhibition of 1851 (England), 146
- Great War, 22, 233, 262n71
- Guanabara Bay, 23, 27, 25, 151
- O Guarani*, 182
- II Guarany*, 78, 179
- Guinle, Eduardo Pallassin, 99–100
- Guinle Filho, Eduardo, 100
- Guinle, Carlos, 100, 262n61
- Guinle, Guilherme, 100, 262n61
- Guinle, Otávio, 100, 262n61
- Guinle family, 99–100, 102, 103, 111, 269n86
- Guttuso, Humberto, 98
- Hague International Peace Conference (1907), 84
- Hahner, June E., 213
- havaneiras, 178
- Haritoff, Ana Moraes Costa, 105
- Haritoff, Maurice, 105
- Haussman, Georges Eugène Haussmann, baron: and Parisian reforms, 29–31, 250n74; influence of, in Brazil, 33–4; influence of, on Rio's reforms, 36; influence of, on Avenida Central, 38, 40, 41–2, 44
- Hellenism, 201, 206
- Hime, Elkim, 73, 262n61
- historicism, 182, 192, 216
- history, Carioca, 1, 20–22
- history, Latin American, xiii, xiv
- history, urban, xiv, 243–4n3
- Hollander, Ann, 174, 286n11
- Homem, [Francisco de Sales] Torres, see Inhomirim, [Francisco de Sales] Torres Homem, viscount de horizontales, 161, 163, 166, 290n46
- house, plantation big (casa grande), 144, 237
- households, elite [see also architecture, domestic; décor; population, Carioca; space, domestic]: hierarchy and affection of, 141, 280n103; occupants of, 141, 239, 273n25, 280n103; and sexual promiscuity, 173–4; numbers of, 239, 240, 241–2
- housing of the urban poor, 49, 256n112
- Hugo, Victor Marie, 188, 198, 220
- Huysmans, Joris Karl, 184, 198, 199, 206
- Hyde Park, 29, 50
- idealism, 182
- Inaculada Conceição (Colégio da), 257n5
- immigration: and free labor, 7, 32; and domestic market, 12; and Carioca elite origins, 66–7, 71; and Carioca French taste, 147
- Imperial Council of State, see Council of State
- Imperial Family, 10, 60, 65, see also Bragança dynasty
- imperialism, European, xiv, 50, 149
- Impressionism, 199
- improvements, urban, 23–7, 25, 26, 164
- Indianism, 181, 182, 228
- Indians, see Amerindians
- "Indicações Uteis," 127
- Industrial Revolution, 147–9, 157, 182, 235
- industry: dependency of, on financial booms, 10; Monarchy's lack of support for, 11, 12; and Provisional Government's Encilhamento, 11–12; impact of Campos Sales' policies on, 17–18; Pereira Passos' failed promotion of, 31; and Rio's "modernizing" role c. 1900, 71; new elite opportunities in, 71–2; and Count de Figueiredo's career, 87; and Paulo de

Cambridge University Press

978-0-521-12601-4 - A Tropical Belle Epoque: Elite Culture and Society in Turn-of-the-Century Rio de Janeiro

Jeffrey D. Needell

Index

More informationIndex

339

- Frontin's career, 89; and Baron de Quartim's career, 90; impact of, on English décor, 146; impact of, on European fashion, 157, 158, 160; of luxury goods, in Rio, 162; in São Paulo, 233
- infrastructure, urban: and boom and bust cycles, 10–11; and Encilhamento, 12; and Rio's nineteenth-century improvements, 25–6; and Pereira Passos, 31; and Baron de Drummond, 66; and Rio's "modernizing" role c. 1900, 71; and Light and Power Company, 85; and Count of Figueiredo, 87; and Paulo de Frontin, 88–9; and Dória family, 96; and elite occupations, 102
- Inhomirim, Francisco de Sales Torres Homem, viscount de, 110, 185
- Inohan, José Antônio Soares Ribeiro, baron de, 121, 273n14
- Institut Historique, 192
- Institut Pasteur, 41
- Instituto da Ordem dos Advogados Brasileiros, 95, 101
- Instituto Histórico e Geográfico Brasileiro, 88, 192, 220
- Instituto Politécnico, 41
- Isabel, imperial heiress and princess regent of Brazil, 65, 132
- Itaborá, José Joaquim Rodrigues Torres, viscount de, 69, 121, 273n14
- Italy, 12, 78, 143
- Itamaracá, Antônio Peregrino Maciel Monteiro, 2nd baron de, 110, 111–12, 113, 185
- Itamarati, Francisco José da Rocha, 2nd baron [later, count] de, 67
- Itamarati, Francisco José da Rocha Leão, 1st baron de, 67
- Itamarati family, 67, 91
- Itambi, Cândido José Rodrigues Torres, baron de, 121, 152, 273n14
- Jacobina family, 259n22
- jacobinos* [see also, florianistas; radicals, urban-based], 13–14, 16, 18, 19, 21
- Januzzi, Antonio, 45, 73, 281n109
- Jardim Botânico, 146, 152, 251n76
- Jews, 59, 172, 291n56
- João VI, prince regent, then king of Portugal and Brazil: founds Escola Militar, 8; Carioca reforms under, 24–5; strengthens French influence in Brazil, 146–7, 181; institutionalizes monarchy in Brazil, 146; patronizes Missão Artística Francesa, 146
- Jockey Club (Brazilian): Avenida Central building of, 42, 75; attempts Casino Fluminense merger, 70, 76; common membership of, with Casino Fluminense and Club dos Diários, 74, 261–261; origins, 74–5; 1890s difficulties, 75; role of, 75–6, 103, 149, 164, 262n71; flexibility of appeal, 76–7, 262n71; character of membership, 76; compared to Casino Fluminense, 76–7; and Pereira Passos, 82, 262n64; and Paulo de Frontin, 89; and Paulo Inglês de Sousa, 95; and Guinles, 100; and Cândido Gaffrée, 100; compared to salons, 111; and Rua do Ouvidor, 164; number of members of, 241
- Jockey Club (Paris), 74, 75
- Jornal do Brasil*, 197
- Jornal do Commercio*, 39, 186, 297, 273n30
- José I, king of Portugal, 180
- journalism [see also journalists, periodicals]: and Joaquim Francisco Alves Moniz Barreto, 67; and elite careers, 102; locale of, 103; as career for literati, 186, 187, 189–90; as link to politics and patronage, 186–7, 188; and bohemians, 189–90; and belle époque, 197, 231; and João do Rio, 208; and Lima Barreto, 223; and size of elite, 238
- journalists [see also journalism, periodicals]: and jacobinos and florianistas, 13; and Canudos, 16; and Rio's reforms, 45–8; and Rio's Afro-Brazilian culture, 49–51; and Rio's nightlife, 63–4; and Joaquim Francisco Alves Branco Moniz Barreto, 67; and Marquis de Monte Alegre, 68; and Fernando Mendes de Almeida, 69; and Henrique Chaves, 73; and Antônio de Azeredo, 73, 92; and Rui Barbosa, 84; and Baron de Quartim, 91; and Inglês de Sousa, 94; and Escragnolle Dória, 96; and Rua do Ouvidor, 164–5; and Machado de Assis, 187, 193, 227, 228; and Olavo Bilac, 200–1; and Coelho Neto, 204; and João do Rio, 207–9; and Euclides da Cunha, 219
- Kásmos*, 96, 150, 197, 210, 233, 307n184
- labor, 7, 12
- Laemmert's [Bookstore], 95, 219, 220
- Läet, Carlos [Maximiliano Pimenta], 55, 193
- Lamartine, Alphonse Marie Louis de Prat de, 112, 198
- Lamoureux, A. J., 77, 78
- Lapa, 23, 24, 27, 152
- Laranjeiras, see rua das Laranjeiras
- Largo da Carioca, 37, 77, 103, 170

Cambridge University Press

978-0-521-12601-4 - A Tropical Belle Epoque: Elite Culture and Society in Turn-of-the-Century Rio de Janeiro

Jeffrey D. Needell

Index

More information

340

Index

- Largo da Mãe do Bispo, 37, 38
 Largo da Prainha, 36, 37, 38
 Largo do Machado, 35
 Largo do Rócio, see Praça Tiradentes
 "Latinity," 201–2
 Leão, Luís Felipe de Sousa, 73 lectures, public, 65, 201, 206, 208, 214, 233 legitimization: by European culture in Carioca salons, 115; by Europeanized manners, 126, 131; and French bourgeois culture, 147–9; and Eclecticism and European identification, 148–9; by Franco-English cultural forms, 154, 234; and fashion in Europe, 157; and João do Rio's work, 209; and Afrânia Peixoto's work, 212; and tradition, 235
 Leite, Eufrásia Teixeira, 118, 121, 122–3
 Leite, Francisco Glicério [de Cerqueira], 15, 16, 18
 Lemaitre, [François Elie] Jules, 200, 217
 Leme Tunnel, 34
 Leuzinger, Paulo, 107
 Liberal Party: regional bias of, 3; and Crisis of 1868, 3–4; and 1870s reformism, 31; and Inglês de Sousa, 94; and Nabuco de Araújo's salon, 110; and Machado de Assis, 187, 193; and Antônio Carlos, 267n57
 Liberalism, 293n14
 Light and Power Company of Rio de Janeiro, 85
 Lima, Manuel José Amoroso Lima, viscount de Amoroso, 65
 "Lions of the North," 110
 Lisbon, 33, 90, 181
 literati: and Abolition, 6, 188 and Colégio Pedro II, 55; and Club Beethoven, 65; and Inglês de Sousa, 94, 95; and career choices, 95; dilettantes among, 95–6, 185; and Escragnolle Dória, 96–7; and Viscount de Taunay, 96; in salons, 106; and Maciel Monteiro, 111–12; and Joaquim Nabuco, 113; and Rua do Ouvidor, 164–5; and elite respect for, 180; and French influence on, 181, 198, 199–200; and French Romanticism, 181–2; Romantic, 181–2, 185–8, 191; first Romantic generation of, 181–2, 185; second Romantic generation of, 182, 185; and post-Romantic critique, 183, 184; Naturalists among, 183; Parnassians among, 183; and a geração de setenta, 183, 188–9; fin-de-siècle, 184; and readership, 184; and Paris, 184; and typical background of, 185, 188–9, 189–90; upward mobility among, 185–6, 186–8; and Rua do Ouvidor, 186; and Machado de Assis, 186–7, 192–3, 214, 225–31; and journalism, 186; and bookstores, 186; and link to politics and patronage, 186–7; and bohemians, 189–92; bohemian and Romantic compared, 191; belle-époque, and Republic, 191–2; impact of 1890s on, 192; origins and significance of Academy for, 192–6; and literary organizations, 192; retreat from politics of, 192, 193, 195; new "respectability" of, 195–6; new bohemians among, 194; and consumer fetishism, 196, 210; and belle-époque periodicals, 197; impact of belle-époque readership on, 197–8, 201; and French translation, 198; response of, to French fin de siècle, 199–200; and Olavo Bilac, 200–1, 202–3, 204–5; and nature of belle-époque success, 201; and Hellenism and "Latinity," 201–2, 222; and Coelho Neto, 203–7, 224–5; and João do Rio, 207–9, 224–5; and Figueiredo Pimentel, 210; and Elísio de Carvalho, 210–11; and Afrânia Peixoto, 211–12; and Júlia Lopes de Almeida, 212–15; and opposition to the belle époque, 215–21, 224–5, 233; and Sílvio Romero, 215–16, 224–5; and José Veríssimo, 216–18, 224–5; and Euclides da Cunha, 218–21, 224–5; and Lima Barreto, 221–4, 225; and special role of, in belle époque, 231; and special role of, in fantasy of Civilization, 231
literatice, 216 literature [see also, literature, Brazilian; literature, French]: and Inglês de Sousa's career, 95; and career choices, 95; determinist goals for, 183; and disjunctions and antagonism, 184–5; as commodity, 210; as sanctuary, 217 literature, Brazilian: and metropolitan culture, xv; and anxiety, 128; and adultery, 174; and images of women, 175; potential for analysis of, 178, 179–80; elite character of, 178; contradictions in, 179; Rio's centrality for, 180; importance to elite of, 180, 187–8; perennial strengths of, 180; French influence on, 180–1, 184, 198–200, 201, 202, 204, 213, 295n24, 300n66; and Arrival of Court, 181; and French Romanticism, 181–2, 228; tradition of, 181, 182; Romantic mission of, 182; and Progress and Civilization, 182; and Romantics, 181–2; and a geração de setenta, 183, 224–5, 228; and fin de siècle,

Cambridge University Press

978-0-521-12601-4 - A Tropical Belle Epoque: Elite Culture and Society in Turn-of-the-Century Rio de Janeiro

Jeffrey D. Needell

Index

More informationIndex

341

- 183–5, 300n66; subordination of, to Society, 184, 210, 217; and consumer fetishism, 184–5; fin-de-siècle, and Civilization, 184–5; and social mobility, 185–7, 214; links of, to journalism and politics, 186–7; post-Romantic, non-French origins, 188; and bohemians, 189–92; and significance of Academy, 194–6; impact of belle-époque readership on, 197–8, 201–2; and French fin de siècle, 199–200, 300n66; Symbolism and Parnassianism in, 200; and comparative audience limitations, 201; Hellenism and “Latinity” in, 201–2; and belle-époque style, 203, 205–7, 211; and belle-époque milieu, 204–5, 210–11, 211–12; impact of journalism on, 207–9; and social columns, 210, 212; as commodity, 210; post-Naturalism in, 213, 224; women’s role in, 213–14; and opposition to belle-époque trends of, 215, 224–5; perceptions of, of Silvio Romero and José Veríssimo, 217; stature in, of Euclides da Cunha and Lima Barreto, 218; and failures and successes of belle époque, 225; and Machado de Assis, 228–31; non-cumulative nature of, 228; and larger significance of belle époque, 231–3; special sensitivity of, to European paradigms, 231; distinct Eurocentric quality of belle époque, 231–3
- literature, French: in elite education, 53, 54, 56, 59–60; and Escragnolle Dória, 96–7; and Maciel Monteiro, 112; and Joaquim Nabuco, 113; and Carioca salons, 114, 115; and elite women, 135, 136; and the demi-monde, 160; prestige of, 180, 181, 198–9; centrality of, for Brazilian fin de siècle, 184, 198–9, 198–200, 213; fin-de-siècle, 198–9, 300n66; and Machado de Assis, 200, 227; and Parnassianism, 201; and Symbolism, 201; and “Latinity,” 201; and Coelho Nero, 205–6; and João do Rio, 207, 209; and Júlia Lopes de Almeida, 213; and Lima Barreto, 222
- Livramento, Morro do, 23, 24
- Livro das noivas*, 136, 213, 214
- Lobo, Laurindo Santos, 98–9, 102, 102–3, 136, 214, 278n79
- Lobo, Roberto Jorge Haddock, 66
- London: Campos Sales in, 17, 32; urban improvements in, 25; and urban reform, 29; origin of clubs in, 72; and Rui Barbosa, 84; elite familiarity with, 126; and manners, 137; and fashion, 156–7; and Beau Brummell, 159; and luxury commerce, 162; and Rua do Ouvidor, 165
- Longchamps, 75, 161
- Loreto, Amandinha de Paranaú de Meneses Dória, baroness de, 108
- Loreto, Franklin Américo de Meneses Dória, baron de, 89
- Lossio, Jorge, 41
- Loti, Pierre, 96, 184, 198, 199, 205
- Louisiana Purchase Exposition at St. Louis, 42
- Iusophobia, 13, 70, 90
- Luís, Washington, see Sousal, Washington Luís [Pereira de Macedo, Carlos Buarque de, 68, 73
- Macedo, Joaquim Manuel de, 55, 110, 182, 187, 289n30
- Machado, see Assis, [Joaquim Maria] Machado de
- Machado, [José Gomes] Pinheiro: Club dos Diários meeting of, 81; and Rui Barbosa, 85, 86, 103; and Antônio de Azeredo, 92–3; assassinated, 93; and role in belle époque, 264–5n17, 271n128
- Magalhães], Benjamin Constant [de Botelho, 8
- Magalhães [Domingo José] Gonçalves de, see Araguaiá [Domingos José], Gonçalves de Magalhães, viscount de Maia, Alcides [Castilhos], 305n156
- maisons de nouveauté*, 158, 162
- Mangaratiba, Antônio Pereira Passos, baron de, 22
- Mangue, 24, 25, 26, 34, 172
- manners, 113, 124–9
- Maranhão (Province of, then State of), 7, 93, 108, 203
- market, urban bourgeois, 157, 158, 162
- A Marmota, 187, 295n24
- Martínez Estrada, Ezequiel, 288n21
- Marx, Karl, 286n5
- masses, urban: in early Republic, 12–13; and Campos Sales, 17, 19; and alienation from elite, 61, 62; influence of, on music, 178–9
- Mato Porcos (Estácio de Sá), 152
- materialism, 182, 199, 216
- Mato Grosso (Province of, then State of), 91, 92, 220, 267n50
- marriage, 117–24, 273n11
- Matriz da Glória, 204
- Mauá, Irineu Evangelista de Souza, viscount de, 45, 110, 244n10, 250n75
- Mayrinck family, 259n22
- Mayrinck, Francisco de Paula, 87, 94, 98

Cambridge University Press

978-0-521-12601-4 - A Tropical Belle Epoque: Elite Culture and Society in Turn-of-the-Century Rio de Janeiro

Jeffrey D. Needell

Index

More information

342

Index

- maxixe*, 178
 Meireles [de Lima], Vitor, 179
 Mello, Francisco Ignácio Marcondes Homem de Mello, baron de Homem de, 55, 69, 89
 Melo, Emília Moncorvo Bandeira de (pseud. is Carmem Dolores), 213
 Melo, Heitor de, 42
 Melo, Pedro Américo [de Figueiredo e], 179
 Mendes de Almeida family, 68–9, 259n22
 Mendonça, Lúcio de, 193, 219
 Meneses, Emílio de, 298n54
 Merití, Manuel Lopes Pereira Bahia, viscount de, 105
 Mestre Valentim, see Silva, Valentim da Fonseca e Mexico City, xiv middle sectors: and cities, 2; and Republican movement, 5; and Abolitionism, 5–6; and military schools, 8; and 1890s politics, 10, 11, 12–14, 17, 18, 19, 21; and education, 52; and elite education, 61–2; and literary careers, 95; increased social mobility of, 116–17; anxiety of, about fashion and manners, 126–8; as readership, 127; and commodity fetishism, 163; and polacas, 172; and literary taste, 181; and Romantics, 185; and belle-époque readership, 197; and French culture, 198; in Machado de Assis's work, 228; and society, 237; and census data, 240
 Military Question, 8–9
 Minas Gerais (Province of, and then State of): gold and diamond trade of, 1, 23, 117; and coffee, 2, 3, 117; and pro-slavery cause, 6, 7; and política dos governadores, 18; and Collège de Sion, 60; and Barbosa de Oliveira family, 84, 119; and Teixeira Leite family, 119; and Ribeiro de Resende family, 119; and Machado de Assis, 228; and Guinle, 269n86 ministry of Rio Branco, 31–2 ministry of Zacharias e Góes, 3–4
 Miranda, Luis Rocha, 73, 262n61
 Missão Artística Francesa: origin and purpose of, 146, 181, 282n118; and Escola de Belas Artes, 47, 179; and impact of, 147, 149, 179, 181, 249n63; and French influence in Rio, 181; and Grandjean de Montigny, 249n63; and urban planning, 249n63 mobility, social: and education, 8, 52; and literature, 95, 185–7, 214; and cities and patronage, 116–17; and manners, 128–9
 Modernism (Modernismo), see Modernist Movement of 1922, 183–4, 233
 "modernizers," 8, 13, 244n10 modinha, 178
 monarchists: and coup of 1889, 10; and florianistas, 13; and 1890s, 13, 192; and Republicans in São Paulo, 14, 15; and Canudos, 16, 220; and Machado de Assis, 193; and Academy, 193; among Paris' Brazilian colony, 268n73; and Hilário de Gouveia, 268n73; and Joaquim Nabuco, 271n127, 297n39
 Monarchy: change and crisis in, 1–7; coup of 1889 ends, 7–10; and Rio's importance, 20, 21, 22, 25, 107; consolidation of, 20, 22, 25, 163; and Marquis de Monte Alegre, 68; economic uncertainties during, 108; and elite career patterns, 107, 109; and João VI, 146; and commodity fetishism in Rio, 163; post-Romantic attacks on, 183, 188, 189, 191
 Monte Alegre, José da Costa Carvalho, marquis de, 67–8, 110, 118
 Monteiro, Antônio de Maia Monteiro, baron de Maia, 66
 Monteiro, [Antônio Peregrino] Maciel, see Itamaracá, [Antônio Peregrino] Maciel Monteiro, 2nd baron de Montigny, Auguste Henri Victor Grandjean de, 249n63, 282n121
 Montserate, Joaquim José Pinheiro de Vasconcelos, viscount de, 108, 152
 Moors, influence of, 24, 144
 Moraes [Barros], Prudente [José] de, 10, 15–17, 20, 84, 101
 Müller, Lauro, 34, 36, 41, 217–18 munderismo, 184, 200, 202, 210, 233
 Murger, Henri, 296n32
 Murtinho, Joaquim [Duarte], 92, 98, 102–3, 268–9n81 music (see also opera): and salons, 97, 104–5, 106, 114, 115, 178, 179; and French influence, 106, 114, 115; and women, 97, 104–5, 133, 135; and domestic diversions, 125, 132; evolution of, and popular and European influence, 178–9; and Rio, 180
 Musset, [Louis Charles] Alfred de, 198, 204, 220
 Nabuco, Carolina, quoted, 98–9, 111, 137, 151
 Nabuco [de Araújo], Joaquim [Aureliano Barreto]: 113, 121; and Colégio Pedro II, 56, 57; on civilization and Europe, 62–3; on father's salon, 110; as exemplar of elite, 112–14, 271n127; background, career,

Cambridge University Press

978-0-521-12601-4 - A Tropical Belle Epoque: Elite Culture and Society in Turn-of-the-Century Rio de Janeiro

Jeffrey D. Needell

Index

More informationIndex

343

- and marriage, 120–2, 122–4, 271n123; and his father, 140; and bohemians, 191; and Academy, 193, 194, 195; on Euclides da Cunha, 220; politics of, 271n127, 297n39
- Nabuco de Araújo family, 120–1, 121, 259n22
- Napoleão, Artur, 292n1
- Napoleon III, emperor of the French, 29, 106, 160
- National Exposition of 1908, 97
- National Press, 186, 187
- Naturalism: and post-Romantic literati, 183, 228; and bohemians, 189, 190; and Aluísio de Azevedo, 190, 262n58; and José Veríssimo, 193, 216; and Coelho Neto, 205, 215, 224; and Júlia Lopes de Almeida, 213, 215; and social criticism, 215; and Os sertões, 220; impact of, on national literature, 232; and Inglês de Sousa, 267n58
- Nazaré, Ernesto, 178, 179
- Nei, [Francisco de] Paula, 190
- neo-colonialism, xiii; and culture, xiii–v; and Latin America, xiii–v, 248n48; and Brazilian economy, 11–12, 15, 17–18, 19; and Rio's role, 21, 22; and limitations and directions of change, 21–2; and urban improvements, 26; and Rodrigues Alves' reforms, 33, 46–7; and Avenida Central, 44–5; and formal elite education, 61–3; and Carioca elite origins, 71; and domestic culture, 192; and fantasy legitimization, 148–9, 234; and Petrópolis, 150; and symbolism of elite residence, 153; and cultural relationships, 153–4, 156, 176, 234, 235; emergence of, 153–4; defined, 248n48
- Nepumuceno, Alberto, 178, 179
- Neto, [Henrique Maximiano] Coelho: in Colégio Pedro II, 55, 203; as bohemian, 190, 203–4; and Academy, 193, 204; role and career, 203–7, 224; style of, 203, 206–7; Modernists' attack on, 203; as journalist, 204, 205, 206; and Olavo Bilac, 203, 204; and elite, 204–5; salon of, 204–5; works of, 205–6, 224; post-Naturalism of, 205, 215, 224; and João do Rio, 207; and Júlia Lopes de Almeida, 213, 214; lack of perennial quality in 225; and bovarismo, 225
- Neto, Maria Gabriela Brandão Coelho ("D. Gaby"), 204, 205
- Niemeyer family, 259n22
- North Atlantic: and neo-colonial relations with Brazil, xiii, 11, 22, 44, 60, 116, 153–4, 156, 176; as model for change, 5, 12, 25, 231; and technology, 25; and Progress and Civilization, 26, see also England, France, Paris, United States
- Northeastern region: and sugar, 1–2, 117; role of, in Monarchy, 3; and Abolition, 6; Liberals of, 110; and Barbosa de Oliveira family, 119; and Nabuco de Araújo family, 120
- Nova Friburgo family, 66–7, 91, 105, 262n61
- Nova Friburgo, Antônio Clemente Pinto, baron de, 66–7, 105
- Nova Friburgo, Bernardo Clemente Pinto Sobrinho, count de, 66–7, 152
- Novais, Carolina de, 187, 227
- novels, Brazilian: Romantic, 182, 295n24; Naturalist, 183, 189; and a geração de setenta, 188; of Machado de Assis, 227, 229–31
- novels, serial (folhetim romances), 197, 198, 204, 295n24
- Novo Casino Fluminense, 70
- officers, army: origins, 8; politicization, 8–9; and Coup of 1889, 9–10; and Floriano, 13–14; and Canudos, 16; and Campos Sales, 18
- Old City, see cidade velha
- Old Republic: founded, 10; defined politically, 10–22, 191; and Rio, 20, 107; and Jockey Club, 75–6; and new elite members, 91, 92, 102; and role of informal elite institutions, 93; and continuities in elite values, 99, 191; and Ataulfo de Paiva, 101
- oligarchies, state, 14, 18–19, 107
- Olinda, 108, 111, 181, 270n108
- Olinda, Pedro da Araújo Lima, marquis de, 110
- Oliveira, Alberto de, 183
- Oliveira, Albino José Barbosa de, 118, 122, 123, quoted 137
- Oliveira, Isabel Augusta Barbosa de, 118, 122, 123
- Oliveira, João Alfredo Correia de, 31
- Oliveira, João José Barbosa de, 83–4, 118
- Oliveira, Luís Antônio Barbosa de, 118, 122, 123
- Opening of the Ports (1808), 146, 152, 163, 235
- opera (institution): centrality of, 77–9, 135, 179; repertoire, 78, 97; significance of, 79–80, 129; and Carlos Gomes, 179; as source for elite lists, 238

Cambridge University Press

978-0-521-12601-4 - A Tropical Belle Epoque: Elite Culture and Society in Turn-of-the-Century Rio de Janeiro

Jeffrey D. Needell

Index

More information

344

Index

Opéra (Paris), 29, 36, 40–1, 43
 oratory, 68, 111, 113
 Orient, influence of the, 144, 147
 Ottoni family, 259n22
 Ouro Preto, Afonso Celso de Assis Figueiredo, viscount de, 87

padrinhos, 124
 Paes Barreto family, 121
 Paes Leme family, 259n22 painting, Brazilian, 179, 180 paió, 175, 291n69
O País, 96, 189, 197
país de santo, 208
 Paiva, Ataúlfo [Napoles], 98, 100–2, 103, 114, 117, 204
 Paiva, Belizara de, 110 palacetes, 61, 142, 143, 152, 153, 232
 Palácio Monroe, 39, 42
palácios, 143
 Palais Royal, 164, 172
 Paraguayan War, 2, 3, 7, 8, 31
 Paraíba Valley, 11, 100, 119
 Paraná, Honório Hermeto Carneiro Leão, marquis de, 118, 121, 152
 Paranaguá, João Lustosa da Cunha Paranaguá, marquis de, 89, 108–9
 Paranaguá, José Lustosa da Cunha Paranaguá, count de, 109
 Paranaguá, Júlio Lustosa da Cunha, 109
 Paranaguá, Luiz Carlos de, 307n3
 Paranaguá family, 108–9, 259n22
 Paranápiacaba, [João Cardoso de] Menezes e Sousa, baron de, 110
 Paris [see also France; literature, French]: and Pereira Passos, 22, 28–31; and urban improvements, 25; and Haussmann, 28–31, 225, 250n70; and Morales de los Ríos, 42; and girls' education, 58; and Brazilian elite visits, 58, 70, 106, 109, 126, 135, 147, 155, 175; and Brazilian elite colony, 70, 268n73; and origin of clubs, 72; and Teatro Lírico, 77; and influence of its littérateurs, 96, 232; Second Empire, influence of, 106; and Maciel Monteiro, 111, 112; and elite women, 135; and Marquis de Abrantes' taste, 147; and fashion, 156–7, 160, 232; and department stores, 158, 161–2; and Carioca luxury trade, 161–2, 201; and Rua do Ouvidor, 165; as fantasy model for Rio, 166, 167, 232; and women's images, 175; and Brazilian painters, 179; and Brazilian students, 181; and Brazilian Romanitcs, 181–2, 186, 188; and fin-de-siècle

readership, 184, 198, 300n66; and bohemians, 189; and Marcel Prévost, 199; and Olavo Bilac, 201, 202; and public lecture fashion, 207; and Parnassianism, 201; in Afrânio Peixoto's work, 212; centrality of, in belle époque, 232, 300n66 parks, 29, 30, 32, 35, 36, 166 parliament, Brazilian, 7, 164, 165, 185 parliament, British, 112 Parnassianism: noted Brazilian practitioners of, 183, 190; and bohemians, 189; and Academy, 195; and Olavo Bilac, 200, 224; in France and Brazil, 201–2; and Coelho Neto's style, 206 Passeio Público, 23, 35, 37, 65, 103, 164 Passos, Francisco de Oliveira, 36, 43, 73, 83, 254–5n98 Passos, Francisco Pereira, 47; birth and family, 22, 22–3, 100; education of, 25, 28; and Haussmann's influence, 28–31, 225, 250n74, 251n76, 252–3n80; French and English influence on, 31, 83; career of, 31, 83, 250n75, 251n76; reform plans of 1874–6, 31–2, 251n76, 252–3n80; and reforms of 1903–6, 33–6, 83, 251n76, 252–3n80; and Avenida Central, 36–7, 41; and Teatro Municipal, 43, 254–5n98; attacks traditional culture, 48, 50; in Club dos Diários, 73, 82; role in Society of, 82–3, 111; salon of, 82–3, 86; representative quality of, 86, 111, 114; elite relations of, 102, 103; and Carioca climate, 169–70; and Olavo Bilac, 201, 202; library of, 210; multiple club memberships of, 261n61; and Jockey club, 262n64 Passos, Paulo de Oliveira, 83 Passos, [Sebastião Cícero] Guimarães, 190, 196 Patrocínio, José [Carlos] do, 92, 190, 193 patronage: and salons, 110; and social mobility, 117, 185, 187; of the arts, 145–7, 179, 204; and elite family, 117, 129–31; and literati, 185, 187, 204; and Machado de Assis, 187, 229 patronage of the arts, 145–7, 179 Pedro I, emperor of Brazil, 68, 119 Pedro II, emperor of Brazil: and Crisis of 1868, 3–4; and Regency aftermath, 22; opposes Rio's reform, 31, 251n76; and Colégio Pedro II, 55, 57, 258n14; and Viscount de Nogueira da Gama, 66; and Marquis de Monte Alegre, 68; and Petrópolis, 72, 149; and Count de Figueiredo, 87; and Paulo de Frontin, 89;

Cambridge University Press

978-0-521-12601-4 - A Tropical Belle Epoque: Elite Culture and Society in Turn-of-the-Century Rio de Janeiro

Jeffrey D. Needell

Index

More informationIndex

345

- and Baron de Quartim, 91; and Marquis de Paranaguá, 108; and French émigrés, 119; as literary patron, 185, 187; and Instituto Histórico e Geográfico Brasileiro, 192; youth of, 225
- Pedro V, king of Portugal, 66
- Peixoto, Afrânio, 114, 135, 211–12
- Peixoto, Carlota Emilia, 94
- Peixoto, Floriano [Vieira]: and Coup of 1889, 8–10; regime of, 13–14, 15, 16, 19, 20; and Rui Barbosa, 84
- Penamacôr, Francisca Calmon do Valle da Gama, countess de, 110
- periodicals, Carioca: and Abolition, 6; and opera, 78–9; and study of clubs and nightlife, 63; and study of elite, 82; and Old Republican politics, 93; literary, and Society c. 1900, 96; wedding announcements in, 124; and anxiety about fashion and manners, 126; and Rua do Ouvidor, 165, 186, 187; images of women in, 175; and Romantics, 182; and bohemians, 189–90; and Academy, 193–4; and belle-époque literati, 197; and belle-époque milieu and readership, 197, 232, 299n59; French influence on, 186, 198, 295n24; and Parnassianism, 202; and Symbolism, 202; and José Veríssimo, 193, 217, 218
- periodicals, French, 175, 198
- Pernambuco (Province of, then State of), 73, 105, 108, 121, 171
- Petrópolis: and ferry to Rio, 25; and elite segregation and preferences, 103, 110, 169; and Club dos Diários, 72; and Joaquim Nabuco's courtship, 122; and elite homes, 144; and cultural significance, 149–50, 153; and Rua do Ouvidor, 164; and João do Rio, 209; and Elísio de Carvalho, 210; and Afrânio Peixoto, 211; and Lima Barreto, 222
- Pimentel, Figueiredo: and "Binoculo," 126–7, 162; and Carioca fashion, 126–7, 169; and childrearing, 140; on fashion and Civilization, 170; career of, 210; on literature as commodity, 210; and Afrânio Peixoto et al., 212; and "O Rio civiliza-se," 255n102
- Pinho, [José] Wanderley [de Araújo], 110, 112
- planning, urban, xiv, 249n63, see also improvements, urban; Passos, Francisco Pereira; reform, urban
- plantations: and society, 1–2; and Abolition, 7; and elite fortunes, 66–7, 70, 71, 105, 107
- planters: and society, 1–2; and Republicanism, 4–5; and Abolitionism, 6–7, 123; and Carioca elite, 66–7, 69, 70, 71, 105, 122; and Rodrigues Torres family, 69, 90, 122; and Old Republic, 107; and Teixeira Leite family, 119, 123; and Sousa Queirós family, 119–20; and Barbosa de Oliveira family, 119; and Gomes de Carvalho family, 120; and manners, 125; and wealth of, and Society in São Paulo, 132; sons of, as literati, 185; and census data, 239
- poetry: Romantic, 111, 112, 182, 188; and salons, 111, 115; as Brazilian strength, 180; and Abolition, 188; Parnassian, 189, 200, 201–2; Symbolist, 200, 201–2
- poets: Maciel Monteiro, 111, 112; Olavo Bilac, 183, 190, 200–1, 202; Alberto de Oliveira, 183; Paula Nei, 190; Guimarães Passos, 190, 196; Romantic and elite, 191; Felinto de Almeida, 196, 214; Symbolist and Parnassian, 201–2; Silvio Romero, 216; Machado de Assis, 227
- Poggiali, Renato, 157, 159, 287n11
- polacas, 172, 175, 291n56
- política dos governadores, 17, 18–19, 92
- polkas, 178
- Pombal, Sebastião José Carvalho e Melo, marquis de, 180
- Pompeia, Raul [d'Avila], 259n25
- population, Brazilian, 243n1
- population, Carioca: and economy, 12; and change, 21, 25; and slavery, 22; and Afro-Brazilians, 49–50, 279n92; and elite size in Second Reign, 110, 239; and elite size in belle époque, 111, 239–42; and cultural contrast, 165–6; and literary opportunity, 189, 276n30; census data on, 239–42
- population, urban, 243n3
- Porto-Alegre, Manuel José de Araújo, see Santo Angelo, Manuel José de Araújo
- Porto-Alegre, baron de
- Portugal: and Brazilian bureaucrats, 3; immigration from 12; transfers seat of vice-royalty to Rio, 23; and Baron de Quartim, 90–1; and Maciel Monteiro, 111; influence of, 144; and French influence, 146, 180–1; and flight of João VI, 146; and royal academies, 146, 180; and French literary influence, 180–1; literature of, 181
- Portuguese: immigration 12; in Rio, 13; and lusophobia, 13; and Carioca elite, 66–7, 71, 90, 119, 120; and Carioca commercial community and elite, 66–7, 90–1, 105, 161; and aristocratic taste in Rio, 146–7; and residential locale, 152; Romantics, 181

Cambridge University Press

978-0-521-12601-4 - A Tropical Belle Epoque: Elite Culture and Society in Turn-of-the-Century Rio de Janeiro

Jeffrey D. Needell

Index

More information

346

Index

portworks, 15, 32, 89
 Positivism, 182, 293n14
 Positivists, 8, 14, 207, 218, 221
 Praça da Glória, 35
 Praça da República, 37, 103
 Praça dos Governadores, 35, 36
 Praça Ferreira Viana, 38
 Praça Mauá, 35, 36
 Praça 11 de Junho, 35
 Praça XV de Novembro, 35, 37, 103
 Praça Tiradentes, 23, 35, 37, 103, 151, 172, 187
 Praça Vieira Souto, 35, 36
 Prado, Antônio [da Silval, 57 prejudice, class, 138, 141, 157, 221 prejudice, racial and cultural: and Rio's reforms, 48–51; and elite childrearing, 61–3, 138, 141, 279n93; and significance of Petrópolis, 149–50; and significance of domestic space organization, 150–1; and Hellenism and "Latinity," 201–2; and Olavo Bilac, 202–3; and João do Rio, 207; and Lima Barreto, 221, 222
 Prévost, Marcel, 96, 198, 199 professionals, liberal: emergence and importance of, in cities, 2, 244n10; as source of Republicanism and desire for change, 5, 6, 244n10; and florianistas, 13; and increased elite membership, 21, 71, 91, 120; and Bebê Lima e Castro's family, 97; and belle-époque salons, 106, 107; and Barbosa de Oliveira family, 119; and Gomes de Carvalho family, 120; as literati, 185; and Olavo Bilac, 200; and João do Rio, 207; in census data, 239, 240 prostitution; fashionable, as phenomenon in Brazil, 156; European fashionable, 160–1; Carioca fashionable, 162–3, 171–5; on Rua do Ouvidor, 165, 172, 173; ranking within Carioca, 172–3; among Azoran women, 172; among Frenchwomen, 172–3, 190; polacas and, 172; and elite sexuality in Rio, 173–4; and elite sexuality in Europe, 174; and elite men's sexual tastes, 175, 233; and fetishism, 175
 Proust, Marcel, 128
 Provisional Government, 10, 11–12, 84
 Quartim (pai), Antônio Tomás, 69, 90
 Quartim, Antônio Tomás Quartim (filho), baron de: and Casino Fluminense, 69; representative quality of, 86, 91; family and career of, 90; compared to Count de Figueiredo, 90, 284n142; role of, in belle époque, 91; and elite relations, 103; address of, 284n142

 Queirós, [José Maria] Eça de, 183, 205, 213, 220
 Quinta da Boa Vista (royal, then imperial, villa), 25, 152, 251n76
 Rachel [pseud. of Elisa Félix], 172, 290n53 racism, "scientific," 50 radicals, urban-based, 10, 11–14 railroads: first of, to Petrópolis, 25; first major example of, 26; and Pereira Passos and other Brazilian engineers, 31, 83; and Viscount do Rio Bonito, 67; and Baron de Homem de Mello, 69; and Paulo de Frontin, 89; and Baron de Quatrim, 90; and elite careers, 102, 105; and neo-colonial order, 154 readership, 296n30, 299n59
 Real Teatro de São João, 262n72
 Realism, 182, 205, 215, 220, 221
 "Re-Europeanization," 153, 154 reform, urban [see also improvements, urban; Relatórios of 1875 and 1876; Rio de Janeiro (city)]: in colonial Rio, 22–5; in early Monarchy, 25–8; European, 28–9;
 Parisian, 28–31; failure of, in 1870s Rio, 31–2; triumph of, in Rio under Rodrigues Alves, 32–6; and Rio's Avenida Central, 36–45; significance of, 45–51; impact on Afro-Brazilians of, 49–50; and elite origins, 102; and belle-époque reviews, 197
 Regency (Brazilian), 6, 22, 68, 189
 Reis, Aarão, 41
 Reis Filho, Nestor Goulart, 148–9
 Réjane [pseud. of Gabrielle Charlotte Réju], 77
Relatórios of 1875 and 1876, 251n76
 Renan, Ernest, 113, 182, 198, 220
Renascença, 197
 rents, urban, 261n54
 Republic (institution), 5, 13, 14, 15, 19, 20, 21, 220
 Republic of Letters, 185, 213, 220
 Republican movement [see also Old Republic; Republic]: origins and course, 3–5, 191; and Coup of 1889, 9–10; and Floriano, 13–14; impact of, on socio-political structure, 20, 191; and role of Rio, 20; and Carioca élite, 21; and Rui Barbosa, 84; and Antônio de Azeredo, 91–2; and Carioca élite origins, 102; and post-Romantic generation, 183; and 1880s journalism, 189; and bohemians and a geração de setenta, 189, 190, 191, 231; and

Cambridge University Press

978-0-521-12601-4 - A Tropical Belle Epoque: Elite Culture and Society in Turn-of-the-Century Rio de Janeiro

Jeffrey D. Needell

Index

More informationIndex

347

- Coelho Neto, 203; and José Veríssimo, 216; exemplars of, 244n10
- Republicans, Carioca, 4–5, 9–10, 192, 193, 207, 218
- Republicans, Historic, 14, 15
- Republicans, paulista, 4–5, 9, 14–19
- residence, fashionable, 26, 151–3
- Retiro Literário Português, 90
- Revista Brasileira*, 193, 194
- Revolta Contra Vacina* of 1904, 256n112
- Revolts of 1893–1894, 10, 12, 13–14, 15–16, 19, 248n47
- Revolution of 1930, 921, 262n71
- La Revue des Deux Mondes*, 109, 222
- Ribeiro, Evelina Torres Soares [see also, Nabuco [de Araújo], Joaquim [Aureliano Barreto]], 121, 121–2, 122–3, 123–4
- Ribeiro, João, 55
- Ribeiro de Resende family, 118, 119
- Rio, João do [pseud. of Barrero, [João] Paulo [Emílio Cristovão dos Santos Coelho]], 47; on Carnaval, 49; fiction of, regarding women, 135; career and role of, 207–9, 223, 224; and journalism, 208; and elite, 208–9; and elite fantasies, 209, 210; and Elísio de Carvalho, 210, 211; and Afrânio Peixoto, 212; and Júlia Lopes de Almeida, 214; death of, 224, 233; and lack of perennial quality, 225; and bovarismo, 225; and Machado de Assis, 226–7
- Rio Bonito, João Pereira Larrigue de Faro, viscount do, 67
- Rio Bonito, Joaquim José Pereira de Faro, 1st baron do, 67
- Rio Bonito, José Pereira de Faro, 3rd baron do, 67
- Rio Bonito family, 67, 91
- Rio Branco, José Maria da Silva Paranhos, 2nd baron do, 38, 55, 81
- Rio Branco, José Maria da Silva Paranhos, viscount do, 31, 110, 273n30
- "O Rio civiliza-se," 45, 50, 255n101
- Rio Comprido, 26, 37, 152
- Rio de Janeiro (Province of, then State of): and export dynamism, 2, 113; centrality of elite to Monarchy, 2; and recruitment into imperial bureaucracy, 3; and decline of coffee and rise of pro-slavery politics, 6, 7; and Viscount do Rio Bonito, 67; and Rodrigues Torres family, 69; and decline of elite families with coffee crisis, 70, 117; and decline as basis for Carioca elite, 71; and former identity with Rio's elite, 72; and Barbosa de Oliveira family, 84, 119; and Teixeira Leite family, 119; and Ribeiro de Resende family, 119; and wealth, and French luxuries, 144; and Francisco Portela's bohemian administration, 204; and Guinle family, 269n86
- Rio Grande do Sul (Province of, then State of), 10, 14, 15, 16, 18, 248n47
- Rio Negro, Manuel Gomes de Carvalho, baron do, 73, 101, 118
- Rios, Adolfo Morales de los, 42
- Rocha, Ismael da, 41
- Rocha, Justiniano José da, 110, 295n24
- Rodrigues Torres family, 69, 90, 121, 122, 259n22, 273n14
- Romanticism [see also literature, Brazilian; literature, French]: and Abolition, 6, 188; and architecture, 40, 41, 147; and salon culture, 112, 178; and reaction against Industrial Revolution, 147–9; and Brazilian music, 178; and French and Brazilian literature, 181–2, 188; nature of, 181, 182, 183; materialistic critique of, 183; continued interest in, 183; and upward mobility for literati, 185; and bohemians, 189; European, and Institut Historique, 192; and Academy, 195; and Parnassianism, 201, 202; and Symbolism, 200; and Coelho Neto, 205; and Sílvio Romero, 215; and Euclides da Cunha, 220; and Machado de Assis, 228; and impact on national literature, 232
- Romantics [see also Romanticism]: origins and significance of, 181–2, 295n24; background and social relations of, 185–8, 191; and Abolition, 188; and politics, 188, 191; and Machado de Assis, 191–2; and Academy, 195; favorite French, 198; and special appeal of, in Brazil, 201; lack of women among, 213
- Romero, Sílvo [Vasconcelos da Silveira Ramos]: and Colégio Pedro II, 55; and bohemians, 191; response of, to French fin de siècle, 200, 215; and social criticism, 215, 216, 217, 218; career and role of, 215–16, 218, 224, 225; and Escola de Recife, 215; and Tobias Barreto, 215, 216; opposition of, 215–16, 218, 224–5, 231; literary criticism of, 216, 217; and differences with José Veríssimo, 216, 217; and Euclides da Cunha, 220–1
- Romero, José Luís, xiv
- Rostand, Edmond, 96, 114, 184
- Rothschilds (M.N. Rothschild and Sons), 17
- Royal School of Sciences, Arts, and Trades, 146
- Rua Chile, 151

Cambridge University Press

978-0-521-12601-4 - A Tropical Belle Epoque: Elite Culture and Society in Turn-of-the-Century Rio de Janeiro

Jeffrey D. Needell

Index

More information

348

- Rua da Ajuda, 37, 38, 151
 Rua da Alfândega, 37, 103
 Rua da Candelária, 37, 103
 Rua da Constituição, 37, 88, 284n42
 Rua da Prainha, 37, 38, 151
 Rua da Quitanda, 37, 100, 103
 Rua da Vala, see Rua Uruguaiana
 Rua das Laranjeiras, 26, 27, 37, 61, 83, 152
 Rua de Matacavalos, see Rua do Riachuelo
 Rua do Acre, 38, 151
 Rua do Lavradio, 151
 Rua do Ouvidor: and Rui Barbosa, 86; and Inglês de Sousa, 95; and elite men's afternoons, 95, 170, 171; and Ataúlfo da Paiva, 102; and elite relations, 103; and commodity fetishism, 161–3, 164–6, 233; and luxury trade and department stores, 161–2; and modistes, 161, 170; and fashionable prostitution, 162–3, 172–3; role of, 164–6, 220; and elite identification and public expression, 164–6, 176, 232, 233; colonial and neo-colonial character of, 165; and elite women, 165, 173, 201, 290n46; and centrality for literati, 186–7, 219, 220; as focus for politics and patronage, 182–7, 220; and Machado de Assis, 186–7, 227; and bohemians, 189–90; and Academy, 193, 196; and Olavo Bilac, 200, 201; and Euclides da Cunha, 219, 220; present reality of, 234
Rua do Ouvidor: cited on belle époque's beginnings, 19–20; on Jockey Club, 76; Escragnolle Dória contributes to, 96; Bebê Lima e Castro wins beauty contest of, 97–8; concerns and readership of, 127, 274n37; social column in, 127; origins of, 197; as source for elite lists, 238
 Rua do Riachuelo, 37, 91, 210, 266n46, 284n42
 Rua do Rosário, 37, 103
 Rua do Senado, 151
 Rua dos Ciganos (Rua da Constituição), 175
 Rua Frei Caneca, 35, 36
 Rua Gonçalves Dias, 37, 103, 170
 Rua Marechal Floriano, 35, 36
 Rua Marquês de Abrantes, 37, 89
 Rua Marquês de São Vicente, 100
 Rua Primeiro de Março, 37, 103
 Rua São Clemente 37, 85, 95
 Rua Senador Dantas, 172
 Rua Senador Vergueiro, 37, 89
 Rua Sete de Setembro, 23, 37, 151, 172, 209
 Rua Teixeira de Freitas, 35, 36
 Rua Treze de Maio, 172
 Rua Uruguaiana, 23, 37, 151

Index

- Rua Visconde de Inhauma, 35, 36
 Rua Visconde do Rio Branco, 35, 36 rubber, 109, 117
 Sá Barreto family, 121
 Saco de Alferes, 24, 49, 165, 289n32
 Sacre Coeur (Collège de), 58, 59
 Sales, [Manuel Ferraz] Campos: and early Republic, 15; administration of, 17–20, 191, 255n106; and basis for belle époque, 19–20, 22, 32, 70; and Rui Barbosa, 84; and Joaquim Murtinho, 92 salons, Carioca: of Marquis de Abrantes, 68, 105, 106, 110–11, 132, 133; of Antônio de Azeredo, 68, 93, 106; of Baron de Quartim, 69, 91, 107; of João de Rego Barros, 73, 107; of Pereira Passos, 82–3, 107; of Rui Barbosa, 86, 106; function of, 86, 90, 91, 104, 105, 109–15, 129; of Baron de Cotegipe, 86, 105, 106; of Count de Figueiredo, 88, 107; of Paulo de Frontin, 89–90, 107; of Inglês de Sousa, 93, 95, 106; and Escragnolle Dória, 96–7; components of, 97, 104–5, 109–15, 178, 179; and women, 97, 268n80; and Bebê Lima e Castro, 97, 98; and Laurinda Santos Lobo, 98–9, 106; during Second Reign, 104–6, 107–8, 109–15, 125; Second Reign distinctions among, 105–6; of Nabuco de Araújo, 105, 106, 110, 112; of Viscount de Meriti, 105; of the Haritos, 105; of the Estrelas, 105; of the São Clementes, 105; of the Nova Friburgos, 105; and centrality of French influence, 106, 111–15; during belle époque, 106–8, 111–15, 125, 184; of Paulo Leuzinger, 107; of Heitor Cordeiro, 107; of Oscar Varadí, 107; of Vieira Souto, 107; reflecting elite in belle époque, 107–8, 114–15, 271n128; of Count de Paranaguá, 109; English influence on, 111–15; continuities in, 1850–1900, 109–15; compared to education, etc., 115; and association with European civilization, 115, 149; and Romantic literati, 191; of Coelho Neto, 204–5; and Afrânia Peixoto, 211–12; and counter example of Pinheiro Machado, 271n128 salons, French, 112, 214, 268n80, 270n102
 Salvador, 23
 Santa Casa da Misericórdia, 88, 97, 207
 Santa Margarida, Fernando Vidal Leite Ribeiro, baron de, 73
 Santa Teresa, 24, 99

Cambridge University Press

978-0-521-12601-4 - A Tropical Belle Epoque: Elite Culture and Society in Turn-of-the-Century Rio de Janeiro

Jeffrey D. Needell

Index

More informationIndex

349

- Santo Angelo, Manuel José de Araújo
Porto-Alegre, baron de, 185
- Santo Antônio, Lake of, 23, 24
- Santo Antônio, Morro de, 24, 151
- Santos, 94, 99
- Santos, Deodato C. Villela dos, 73, 74
- Santos, Paulo F., 42
- São Bento, Morro do, 24, 39
- São Clemente, Antônio Clemente Pinto, count de, 66–7, 105
- São Clemente, Maria Fernandes Chaves, countess de, 67, 105, 110
- São Cristóvão, 23, 24, 26, 55, 151, 152
- São Diogo, 24, 25, 49
- São João Marcos, 22, 100
- São Nicolau, Leopoldo Augusto de Câmara Amoroso Lima, baron de, 66, 262n61
- São Paulo (city) [see also Faculty of Law at São Paulo]: cultural level of, 132; and Naturalism, 183; and Romanticism, 185–6, 188; writers from, and Lima Barreto, 224; and Modernist movement, 233
- São Paulo (Province of, then State of): and regional change and politics, 2–3; and coffee, 2, 117; and Republicanism, 4–5; and Abolitionism, 6, 7; and 1890s politics, 14–19; and Rodrigues Alves' reform, 33; and Collège de Sion, 60; and Marquis de Monte Alegre, 68; and Baron de Homem de Mello, 69; and Barbosa de Oliveira, 84, 119; and Inglês de Sousa, 93, 94; and Santos, 99; and Prudente de Moraes' administration, 101; and Sousa Queirós family, 119, 120; economy of, and Society, 132; and Euclides da Cunha, 219, 220; and Guinles, 269n86
- Saúde, 24, 49, 165, 289n32
- La Scala, 179
- Scènes de la vie bohème*, 189, 296n32
- schools, convent, 53, 58
- schools, military, 8
- schools, technical, see schools, military; Escola Politécnica
- Schorske, Carl E., 250n74
- schottisches, 178
- Schwarz, Roberto, 229, 232
- scientism: in military schools, 8; in post-Romantic thought, 182, 188, 202; in a geração de setenta, 182, 188, 216, 220; in criticism, 183, 216; in Euclides da Cunha, 222
- Season the, 77, 105–6
- Second Empire (France), 29, 40, 106, 144, 148
- Second Reign [see also, Monarchy]: and belle époque, xiii; and Eclectic ideology, 148; consolidation of, and Petrópolis, 149; institutions of, attacked, 183; and Romantics, 191; and political gentility, 193; Machado de Assis' rise in, 229
- Senate (Monarchy), 106, 164, 186
- Senate (Old Republic): and Antônio de Azeredo, 68, 92, 93; and the "bloco," 68, 81, 92; and Rui Barbosa, 83, 84
- Serra do Engenho Novo, 66
- Os sertões* [see also Cunha, Euclides [Pimenta Rodrigues] da], 219–21, 222–3, 247n43
- servants [see also slaves, blacks]: and Afro-Brazilian impact, 49; and elite children, 138, 141; and elite household, 141, 150–1, 273n25, 280n103; and sexual exploitation, 171, 172; number of, in households, 280n103
- Sevcenko, Nicolau, 222, 231
- sexuality, elite, 171–5, 176
- shanty towns, see favelas
- shopping [see also goods, imported luxury; stores, department], 156, 158, 161–2
- Silva [Francisco Joaquim] Bittencourt da, 54–5
- Silva, Valentim da Fonseca e (Mestre Valentim), 282n116
- Skidmore, Thomas E., 50
- slave population, 2, 6, 243n1 see also population, Carioca
- slave trade, internal, 6
- slave trade, transatlantic, 2, 12
- slavery: and Brazilian society, 1–2, 6, 124; in various regions, 6–7; and finances, 11; and Rio, 22–3, 49; attacked, 186, 188
- slaves [see also blacks, slave population, slavery]: in Carioca population, 22–3, 49; African, 22, 248n52; as presents, 124, 273n25; in elite households, 49, 133, 141, 142, 151, 155, 273n25; and relations with masters, 154, 155; and sexual exploitation, 171; in Brazilian population, 243n1; reproduction of, and purchase, 248n52
- Soares Ribeiro family, 121, 121–2
- sobrados de moradia, 141–2, 143, 169, 186
- Sociedade Geográfica, 89
- solar, 108, 142–3, 147, 152, 153, 281n107
- Sousa, JAntônio Cândido[de Melo e, 186, 228
- Sousa, [Antônio Gonçalves] Teixeira e, 187, 214, 295n24
- Sousa, [Herculano Marcos] Inglês de; and character of his salon, 93; family and career of, 93–5; as Naturalist, 94–5, 183,

Cambridge University Press

978-0-521-12601-4 - A Tropical Belle Epoque: Elite Culture and Society in Turn-of-the-Century Rio de Janeiro

Jeffrey D. Needell

Index

More information

350

Index

- Sousa, [Herculano Marcos] Inglês de cont. 267n58; and role in belle époque, 94–5, 111; and elite relations 102, 103, 111, 114
- Sousa, João da Cruz e, 214, 222
- Sousa, Washington Luís [Pereira de, 57
- Sousa Queirós family, 118, 119, 122
- South America, 25, 39, 62, 172
- South-central region, 2, 3, 6, 7, 117, 119
- Souto, [Luis Rafael] Vieira, 88, 107, 251n76
- Souza, [João Cardoso de] Menezes e, see Paranápiacaba, [João Cardoso de] Menezes e Souza, baron de
- space, domestic: and greater cultural ambiguity, 63; and symbolic significance, 150–1; and Petrópolis, 150; and European influence, 150–1; and distinctions within, 150–1; and public and private roles, 150–1, 176
- Spencer, Herbert, 182, 188, 220
- State: under Monarchy, 1, 2–3; and elite recruitment, 3, 124; and Republic, 5; and immigration, 7; and politics of 1890s, 10, 11–13, 15, 17–19; and economic intervention, 11–13, 15, 17–18, 19, 255n106, 268–9n81; and Regency, 22; and urban reform, 25; and Carioca elite, 71, 72; and Rodrigues Torres family, 69, 90, 122; weakness of, and the family, 116; and Barbosa de Oliveira family, 119; and Ribeiro de Resende family, 119
- stores, department, 158–9, 161–2, 288n20
- streetcars, see bonds
- style, Baroque, 40, 41
- style, Beaux-Arts [see also, style, Eclectic], 29–30, 40–5, 253n83
- style, Classical, 40, 41
- style, Eclectic [see also, Eclecticism; style, Beaux-Arts]: on Avenida Central, 40–5, 253n83; and Colégio Pedro II externato, 54; and elite homes, 143, 150, 153; and Eclectic thought, 148–9; and fashion, 169; and Antônio Januzzi, 281n109
- style, Neo-Classical, 142–3, 147, 149, 153 “Sublime Porte,” 227
- Suckow, João Guilherme de, 75
- Supreme Federal Tribunal, 86, 101
- Symbolism, 199, 200, 201–2, 222
- Symbolists, 196, 211
- Taine, Hippolyte, 182, 198, 216, 220
- Talleyrand Périgord, Charles Maurice de, see Bénévent
- tango, Brazilian, 178
- taste [see also architecture, domestic; clothing; décor]: Brazilian, origins of, 145–9; and status in Europe, 157; sexual, 175; literary, 181, 182, 184–5, 198–9, 206
- Taunay, Adelaide d'Escagnolle, 96, 118
- Taunay, Adrien-Aimé, 179
- Taunay, Alfredo Maria Adriano d'Escagnolle Taunay, viscount de, 57, 96, 118, 193, 268n67
- Taunay, Félix Emile Taunay, baron de, 96, 118
- Taunay, Nicolas-Antoine, 179
- Tautphœus, Josef Hermann de Tautphœus, baron de, 55
- Teatro Lírico: origins and role of, 77–8, 79–80, 106, 164; and centrality of opera, 77–8, 179; and repertoire for 1898, 78; and fashionable passion for singers, 78, 289n24; and conspicuous consumption, 78; compared to Jockey Club, Casino Fluminense, and Club dos Diários, 79–81; and Rui and Antônio de Azeredo's families, 93; and Bebê Lima e Castro, 97; and Ataúlfo de Paiva, 102; compared to salons, 111; and Rua do Ouvidor, 164; compared to Teatro Municipal, 263n78
- Teatro Municipal, 39, 42, 43, 44, 254–5n98, 263n78
- Teatro São Pedro, 263n83
- technology: and military schools, 8; and scientific education, 8; and “modernizers,” 8; and Escola Militar, 8, 25; and Escola Politécnica, 8; and Escola Central, 8; and France and England, 28; negligible prestige of, 28, 54; and Escagnolle Dória's family, 96; impact of, on women's world, 135; and neo-colonial order, 154; and rise of commodity fetishism, 156, 158
- Teixeira Leite family, 73, 118, 118–19, 120, 123
- telephones, 269n86
- Teresa Cristina, empress of Brazil, 66
- theaters: French and English antecedents of, 63; ephemeral quality of, in Rio, 63–4; and special place of Teatro Lírico, 77; essential function and purpose, 80–81, 110; and elite women, 135; and Parisian fantasy of Rio, 166
- Tijuca, 23, 26, 27, 152
- travellers: response of, to nineteenth-century Rio, 32; response of, to Brazil, 62; response of, to Casino Fluminense, 65; report of, on the Jockey Club, 75; observations of, on the family, 116; observations of, on Society, 125, 132; observations of, on women, 131, 133–4; biases of and usefulness of, 134;

Cambridge University Press

978-0-521-12601-4 - A Tropical Belle Epoque: Elite Culture and Society in Turn-of-the-Century Rio de Janeiro

Jeffrey D. Needell

Index

More informationIndex

351

- observations of, on children, 139–40; response of, to elite residential districts, 143; response of, to Petrópolis, 149–50
- United States, 8
- University of Coimbra, 3, 67, 68, 71, 180, 181
- Valença, Estevão Ribeiro de Resende, marquis de, 118, 119
- Valença, Ilídia Mafalda Sousa Queirós Ribeiro de Resende, marquise de, 118, 122
- Varadí, Oscar, 107
- Vasconcellos de Drummond family, 121, 272n14
- Vassouras, 100, 204
- Vassouras, Francisco José Teixeira Leite, baron de, 118, 123
- Veblen, Thorstein, 285n4
- Venerável Ordem Terceira dos Mínimos de São Francisco de Paula, 88, 91
- Verdi, Guiseppe, 179
- Veríssimo [Dias de Matos], José: 196; quoted on literature and Abolition, 191; and Academy, 193–4, 217–18; and Revista Brasileira, 193, 217; quoted on literature, 195; response of, to French fin de siècle, 200; and Coelho Neto, 207; and social criticism, 215; and Sílvio Romero, 216, 217, 218; career and role of, 216–18, 224–5; and a geração de setenta, 216; and disillusionment, 216; differentiates social and literary criticism, 217; French influence on, 217; and Machado de Assis, 217; literary devotion of, 217; and Euclides da Cunha, 220; and Lima Barreto, 223, 305n156
- Viana, [Antônio] Ferreira, 54, 57, 65
- Viana, Paulo Fernandes, 24–5
- viceroy, 23, 181
- Vienna, 30–1, 33, 40, 45
- Villa-Lobos, Heitor, 178
- Visconti, Eliseu [d'Angelo], 179
- visitas*, 127, 128, 173, 274n42
- Wanderley family, 105
- weather, 169–71, 290n40
- women, elite [see also, Collège de Sion, education for girls]: salons and, 97, 268n80; and Bebê Lima e Castro, 98, 136, 278n79; and Laurinda Santos Lobo, 98–9, 136, 278n79; and changing roles, 99, 131, 135, 136, 137; and marriage, 110, 133; centrality of, in Society, 131; subordination of, 131, 135, 136; basic roles of 131, 136–7; impact of evolving Society on, 132–7; education of, 133, 134, 135, 136, 257n5; and seclusion, 133; and lack of sexual freedom, 133, 134, 173–4, 175; and childbearing and rearing, 133, 136; and social limitations of, 133–4; and limited personal fulfillment, 134, 136; and impact and symbolism of bond, 134–5; new expectations of, by belle époque, 135, 136; and new exposure of, with belle époque, 135; new worldliness of, 135–6; and Júlia Lopes de Almeida, 135–6, 212–15; compared to European models, 136–7, 214–15, 268n80; and Rua do Ouvidor, 165, 290n46; as readership, 184, 188, 197, 201; and public lectures, 201; and João do Rio, 209; and Carmem Dolores, 213; role of, in high culture, 213–15; and Machado de Assis, 225; historiography on, 275–6n61; and nursing, 278n82
- Worth, Charles Frederick, 159–60
- yellow fever, 137, 149, 251n76
- Zacharias, see Góes [e Vasconcelos], Zacharias de
- Zola, Emile, 182, 190, 198, 220
- Zona Norte, 24, 26, 34, 152
- Zona Sul, 24, 26, 34, 38, 152