CAMBRIDGE

Cambridge University Press
978-0-521-12627-4 - Religions, Reasons and Gods: Essays in Cross-Cultural Philosophy of Religion
John Clayton
Index
More information

Index

a priori argument. See ontological argument academic discipline, philosophy/philosophy of religion as. See philosophy/philosophy of religion accessibility and immediacy of sacred texts, 101, 158–9, 173, 176, 300–1 Adams, John, 22, 25, 292
Adams, William, 257
Addison, Joseph
  congruity of natural and human history for, 251–3, 258, 261
  expressive-explanatory use of design argument by, 282–3
  'The Spacious Firmament', 84, 97, 156, 172, 252, 272, 282, 313
Advaitins. See Vedanta
agamas, 45
America. See also Jefferson, Thomas, and natural religion European Enlightenment's manifestation in, 17–20
  First Amendment of US Constitution, 22–3, 60
  liberalism in, origins of, 60
  'pluralism' in eighteenth-century America, what constituted, 29, 64 Puritans in, 317
  separation of church and state in, 22–3, 60, 292
  special relationship between Britain and, 19 suspicion of public role for religion in, 60 American Indians, University of Virginia chair for mission to, 24 analytical philosophy, Clayton on, 129–31
Anaxagoras, 191
Anselm
  audience of, 176
  Barth on, 166–9
  belief and reason in, 175
  Cartesian proofs viewed as variations on, 196
  Clayton's thought on, xv, 100 confirmation of matters of faith, theistic proofs used as, 95 contemporary opposition to, 163
  context
    monastic life as central to, 166–8, 172–4 tendency to separate Anselm's ontological argument from, 165–9 theistic proofs, context-specific nature of, 81
  devotional nature of Proslogion, 164, 168
  The Fool, role of, 173–4
  God addressed by, 169
  knowledge of God as aim of, 174–6
  Other, theistic proof not aimed at, 174
  otherness of Anselm from modern world, 162–4
  otherness of God in perception of, 161–3, 176
  piety reflected in theistic proofs of, 10, 84, 97 Psalm recitation and development of ontological argument, 173–4 purpose of ontological argument for, 169, 172–5, 299 relationship of Proslogion to other writings of, 168 sacred texts, embeddedness in, 173–4, 301
  on sufficiency of reason for knowledge of God, 247 theologian, not to be understood as, 167–9 theology as understood by, 173
  Western learning and scholarship, Proslogion predating birth of modes of, 164–5 apologetical use of theistic proofs, 169 Christian (pre-modern) apologetics, 92–4
  design argument in Britain, modern survival of, 272–5
  al-Ghazali's proofs interpreted as apologetic, 137
  by Udayana, 154
  Whewell as apologist, 275

© in this web service Cambridge University Press www.cambridge.org

CAMBRIDGE

Cambridge University Press
978-0-521-12627-4 - Religions, Reasons and Gods: Essays in Cross-Cultural Philosophy of Religion
John Clayton
Index
More information

Thomas Aquinas, 6–7, 82–3, 91, 92, 191, 196, 209–10, 247, 300
Aristodemus, 9, 172, 220
Aristotle, 213
  atheistic conclusions drawn from early modern critique of, 214
  dialogic comparison with Nagarjuna suggested by Halbfass, 102
  Indian versus Aristotelian syllogism, 113, 157
  Islamic and Jewish philosophers influenced by, 7, 141, 170, 171 Jesuit Aristotelians versus Cartesians and Jansenists in early-modern French philosophy, 194–9 localized context-specific rationalities for, 308
  Ramanuja on causality compared, 126
  Strato and, 8, 95, 170
  theistic proofs, influence on, 82, 90, 91, 93, 94, 95, 170
  Thomist-Aristotelian versus Cartesian method, 209–10
a-theism of Eastern religions. See non-theism atheism, Western Anselm, as kind of square-circle for, 162
  Bayle's Dictionnaire, presumption against theism created by, 188–94
  British apologetic theology's attitude toward, 264 cultural possibility of, 218–21
  of Diderot, 203–5, 206–8 educational institutions creating audience for, 215–18
  false belief viewed as greater threat than, 94
  German philosophy and, 228, 238, 240–4
  of d'Holbach, 203, 205–8
  Hume shocked by, 115, 212
  Jansenists, Jesuits and Cartesians, problematic effects of dispute between, 194–9
  Jefferson on sectarian religion as encouraging, 25, 26
  Kant and Atheismusstreit, 240–4 natural theology and, 26
  Other, atheists as classical authors, materialism and 'atheism' of, 213 cultural possibility of atheists, 218–21
    in debate, 214–15
    educational system paving way for, 215–18
    foreign travel and exploration, 213–14
    as reason for seventeenth-century obsession with atheism, 212 physics (sciences) as best antidote to, 207
  Priestley on, 260–4, 285
  providence, combated by doctrine of, 252–3 reasons for modern rise of, 210–12
  seventeenth-century obsession with, 184–8, 212 Spinozism equated with, 127, 187
  theism of opponents entailing, 218
  theistic proofs used as disproofs, 178, 302, 314
  unbelief or infidelity in Catholic countries as atheism, but in Protestant countries as theism, 292
  Voltaire's concerns regarding, 200
atman doctrine of self in Vedic philosophy, 38–40
Atmatattvaviveka (Udayana), 146, 148, 158
Augsburg, Diet of (1555), 225
Augustine of Hippo, 247
Austin, J. L., 131
Averroes (Ibn Rushd), 89, 90, 91, 171, 246 awe or wonder, theistic proofs used to express, 96–8, 172, 316 (See also expressive-explanatory use of design argument in Britain)
Ayodhya, Islamic/Hindu accommodations in, 65

Bacon, Francis, 18, 275
Barrington, Shute, 265
Barrow, Isaac, 204
Barth, Karl, xii, 166–9, 172
Batinites, 157
Baumgarten, Alexander Gottlieb, 228, 234
Bayle, Pierre, 127, 185, 188–94, 200, 206, 222, 223
Bergier, Nicolas-Sylvestre, 207
Berman, David, 213
Bhagavadgita, 106, 155
bhasyas, 8
body–soul model, Ramanuja's rejection of, 125
Bonaventura, 2, 10, 171
Boyle, Robert, 24
Boyle Lectures. See Clarke, Samuel
Brahmanas, 44
Brahmasutrabhasya (Ramanuja), 103
Brahma-Sutras, 8
Brhadaranyaka Upanisad, 44
Bridgewater Treatise (Whewell), 275, 288
Britain and America, special relationship between, 19 British philosophy, early-modern debate about God in, 245 atheism, seventeenth-century obsession with, 213 Catholic versus Protestant cultures, effects of theistic arguments on, 221
  design argument
    Addison's use of (See Addison, Joseph) continuing popularity despite Hume's refutation, 248–9, 267, 268
    Darwin's theory of natural selection and, 268, 269–75

© in this web service Cambridge University Press www.cambridge.org

CAMBRIDGE

Cambridge University Press
978-0-521-12627-4 - Religions, Reasons and Gods: Essays in Cross-Cultural Philosophy of Religion
John Clayton
Index
More information

British philosophy, early-modern debate about God in (cont.)
embeddedness in religious tradition, 277
expressive-explanatory use of (See expressive-explanatory use of design argument in Britain)
Hammon on, 264
Hayter on, 256, 259, 260
Hume on (See under Hume, David) Milner on, 256, 259–60, 283–4
modern survival of, 272–5, 277
Paley's classical statement of, 249–50, 265–9 (See also Paley, William) popularity in Britain compared to France or Germany, 208, 224
Priestley on, 256, 259, 260–4, 284–5
providence (human social history and natural history interwoven), doctrine of (See providence, doctrine of) Ray on, 250–1, 276
science and religion, Clayton's use of Brooke's theories on British tendency to mix, 278–80 distinctive cultural features compared to Germany or France, 224 education in science in, 217 Mendelssohn influenced by, 232 religious pluralism, rise of, 30–2, 65 special relationship between America and, 19
Brockliss, L. W. B., 215–18
Brooke, John Hedley, 11, 269, 276, 278–80, 290
Buckley, Michael, 211, 218
Budde, Johann Franz, 228
Buddhism. See also vada-tradition of Indian philosophical debate; specific proponents and theories intra-traditional context of theistic proofs and, 114 intra-traditional use of vada-tradition by, 69–70
neo-Vedantan philosophy ignoring, 131
non-theistic nature of, 40, 87–9, 149 origins of vada-tradition in, 44–5
Sa-skya Pandita (Sa-pan), doxological treatise of, 51, 53, 74 self, Buddhist versus Hindu understanding of, 38–40, 51, 53–6 theistic disproofs in, 87–9
as traditional nastika system, 46
Udayana's refutation of, 143–6, 152, 158
Buffier, Claude, 197
Butler, Bishop Joseph, 105, 249

Calvin, Jean, 93–4, 247
Calvinism
Adams and Jefferson on, 25
Bayle influenced by, 192, 193
Campbell, George, 257, 264, 287
Candide, Voltaire, 201
canons, philosophical, 107–8
Cartesians. See also Descartes, René
Bayle as, 189, 192
in early-modern French philosophy, 188 educational institutions, Cartesian method in, 215, 217 d'Holbach's use of Cartesian proofs, 206 versus Jansenists and Jesuits, 194–9
Kant on Cartesian proofs, 234, 235
Leibniz's connection to, 226, 227, 234
Rousseau's inversion of Cartesian method, 202
Thomist-Aristotelian versus Cartesian method, 209–10
Wolff's systematization of philosophy as emblematic of, 229
Carvaka/Lokayata
intra-traditional context of theistic proofs and, 114
non-theism of, 149
vada-tradition and, 45, 46, 52, 72, 73 (See also vada-tradition of Indian philosophical debate)
Castillon, Johann von, 207
categorical imperative, 297
Catholicism
power struggle between Cartesians, Jesuits and Jansenists, 195
theistic proofs affecting Protestant and Catholic cultures differently, 221
unbelief or infidelity in Catholic countries as atheism, but in Protestant countries as theism, 292
causality. See also motion or change, argument from Aristotle and Ramanuja on, 126
Bayle on, 192
Chandogya Upanisad, 2 change, argument from. See motion or change, argument from Chaudon, Louis-Mayeul, 207
China, Western exposure to culture and theology of, 93, 213, 228
Christian, William, 5
Christianity. See also Catholicism; Protestantism; specific proponents and theories debate tradition in, 70–1
'Enlightenment project' and 133
inter-religious accommodations in popular practice of, 66
Islam's influence on theistic proofs of, 91

© in this web service Cambridge University Press www.cambridge.org

CAMBRIDGE

Cambridge University Press
978-0-521-12627-4 - Religions, Reasons and Gods: Essays in Cross-Cultural Philosophy of Religion
John Clayton
Index
More information

Jeffersonian universal natural religion, Protestant/Western/Enlightenment bias of, 29–30, 64
kalam tradition and, 70–1
Psalm 19, 312
Psalms generally in worship of, 311–12
scholasticism, intra-traditional rather than inter-religious discourse of, 44
theistic proofs as used in, 91–8
Cicero, 93, 104
Clarke, Samuel, 26, 105, 199, 201, 204, 205–6, 211, 248, 314 classical world, early-modern encounter with 'atheism' and materialism of, 213
Clayton, John, life and thought of, ix–xiii, xv Cleanthes in Dialogues concerning Natural Religion. See Hume, David; Ramanuja and Hume compared Cleanthes the Stoic, 10, 127, 172
Clinton, Bill, 16, 59
Clooney, Frank, 109
Code, Lorraine, xiii
Collins, Anthony, 26, 211, 314, 317
'common ground' in religion, problems with concept of, 58–9 community solidarity contribution of diversity to, 61 privatization of religious belief and religious diversity affecting, 61 religious rationality as expression of, 10–11 theistic proofs, edificatory uses of, 10–11, 154, 156, 171 tolerance, advantages of, 220 comparative philosophy of religion Clayton's use of, 100
dialogic comparison, 101–3
Halbfass on nature and requirements of, 129–32
theistic proofs as comparative grammar, 305–6 competence, presumption of, 2–3 concept of God/s. See God/s Confucianism, 213, 228 consensus, argument from, 191, 194, 200 conservative religious movements, modern rise of, 58
context
accessibility to texts complicated by, 101
of Anselm (See Anselm) Clayton's preoccupation with, x–xiii, 183
for defensible difference (See defensible difference) human-rights discourse in Enlightenment tradition, non-neutral and context-specific nature of, x–xiii inter-religious context of rationality in religion, 5, 70–4
intra-traditional context
of rationality in religion, 5, 68–70, 113–14
of theistic proofs, 5, 6–11, 157–8
localized context-specific rationalities, diverse religions viewed as, 66–8, 307–9
piety and proofs (See piety and theistic proofs) rationality, diversity of religious contexts of, 4–7 theistic proofs, context of, 81–3, 133–4, 156
contingency, proof from. See cosmological argument correspondence theories of truth, xiii, 3 cosmological argument
dependency on ontological argument, 231
al-Ghazali's, 136–7
Kant's naming of, 116, 134, 231, 234
Leibniz's proof from contingency, 227
in non-Western religious traditions, 85
piety reflected in, 83, 134
Wolff's systematization of, 230 creation, argument from. See causality; design argument; motion or change, argument from Crusius, Christian August, 232–3 cuius regio eius religio, German principle of, 225 cultural difference and location. See context; otherness

Daniel, Gabriel, 196
darsanas, 36
Darwin, Charles, 268, 269–75
Davidson, Donald, 2
Dawkins, Richard, 178, 271, 272, 302
Déclaration des droits de l'homme et du citoyen, 77 Declaration of Independence, 22, 76, 77
defensible difference
as appropriate method of dealing with modern pluralism, 74
in Christianity, 70–1
Clayton's thought on, xiv
common ground, problems with concept of, 58–9
human-rights discourse and, 75–9 inter-religious systems of, 70–4
intra-traditional systems of, 68–70
Islamic kalam tradition of, 68–9, 70–1 Jeffersonian/Enlightenment view of diversity versus concept of, 59–65 jurisprudential nature of, 67
localized context-specific rationalities, diverse religions viewed as, 66–8 political imbalance and, 70–1, 72

© in this web service Cambridge University Press www.cambridge.org

CAMBRIDGE

Cambridge University Press
978-0-521-12627-4 - Religions, Reasons and Gods: Essays in Cross-Cultural Philosophy of Religion
John Clayton
Index
More information

defensible difference (cont.)
popular religion, strategies arising from accommodation of diversity in, 65–6
vada-tradition of Indian philosophical debate, 69–70
value of clarifying, 59
denial of ultimate religious difference, quantifier-shift fallacy of, 32–4 Descartes, René, 186–7, 189. See also Cartesians
Anselm and, 165
defensible difference and, 64
German philosophy and, 222, 229
Hume and Ramanuja compared, 102, 108, 117
design argument
artisan–artifact analogy, 118, 124
British fondness for (See under British philosophy, early-modern debate about God in) Darwin's theories and, 268, 269–75
dependency on ontological argument, 231
Diderot on, 203–5
disparate groups, mediating between, 11
edificatory uses of, 10
expressive-explanatory use of (See expressive-explanatory use of design argument in Britain)
in Greek philosophical tradition, 10
d'Holbach's attack on, 192
Hume on (See Hume, David)
Indian context, 116
Jefferson on, 25, 292
Kant on, 297
Leibniz's rejection of, 227
Luther's attraction to, 98
modern survival of, 272–5, 277
in non-Western religious traditions, 85
piety reflected in, 83, 84
providence (See providence, doctrine of)
Ramanuja and Hume compared, 8, 115–20, 121–8
Rousseau's use of, 201, 202
Saunderson's blindness and, 204 scientific discovery, adaptability to, 272 social history and natural history interwoven, doctrine of (See providence, doctrine of) Voltaire's use of, 201
Wolff's systematization of, 230
Desmond, Adrian, 270, 271
determinate or positive religions
Enlightenment project distinguishing between natural religion and, 223, 292–4, 306
Jeffersonian project's denial of public space to, 21, 23, 24, 25–6, 61, 292–4 Deus sive natura, 127, 204, 239
devotional nature of Anselm's Proslogion, 164 devotional practice and theistic proof. See piety and theistic proofs devotional use of theistic proof, 152–5, 156, 171 Dharmakirti, 45, 70, 116, 132
dialectical Other, atheist as, 214–15
dialogic comparison, 101–3. See also Ramanuja and Hume compared Dialogues concerning Natural Religion, Hume, 103–6, 253–65 (See also Hume, David; Ramanuja and Hume compared) Diderot, Denis, 25, 189, 199
Diet of Augsburg (1555), 225 difference and location, cultural and historical. See context; otherness Digha Nikaya, 45
Dignaga, 45
discipline, philosophy/philosophy of religion as. See philosophy/philosophy of religion diversity of religion and public life Clayton's life and thought and, xiii–xiv common consensus, collapse of, 292–4, 306–7 community, contribution of diversity to, 61 debate as way of mediating (See defensible difference) displacement of Enlightenment project of religion, rationality and God with religions, reasons and gods, 41–2
Enlightenment assumptions regarding, 292–4, 306
Indian vada-tradition and (See vada-tradition of Indian philosophical debate) in Jeffersonian universe denial of public space for sectarian religious claims, 21, 23, 24, 25–6, 61, 292–4
'pluralism' in eighteenth-century America, what constituted, 29, 64
Protestant/Western/Enlightenment bias of natural religion envisaged by, 29–30, 64 ultimate rejection of diversity in, 60–5 Kantian construction of public and private, 294–8
localized context-specific rationalities, diverse religions viewed as, 66–8, 307–9 modern pluralism, rise and consequences of, 30–2, 65 popular religion, strategies arising from accommodation of diversity in, 65–6
quantifier-shift fallacy of 'same Ultimate Reality' argument, 32–4 respect for the Other combined with possibility of public discourse, 35–6, 43
theistic proofs used as mediators of, 11, 305–6 tolerance, concept of, 43, 220

© in this web service Cambridge University Press www.cambridge.org

CAMBRIDGE

Cambridge University Press
978-0-521-12627-4 - Religions, Reasons and Gods: Essays in Cross-Cultural Philosophy of Religion
John Clayton
Index
More information

in Udayana's India, 151
ultimate rejection of diversity as irrational in Jeffersonian/Enlightenment/liberal thought, 63–4, 306 Wittgensteinian approach isolating religious discourse from public contestability, 34–5
Don Juan, Molière, 185

Eadmer, 162, 179
Edict of Nantes, revocation of, 191 edificatory uses of theistic proofs, 10, 154, 156
education
academic discipline, philosophy/philosophy of religion as (See philosophy/philosophy of religion)
British education in science and fondness for design argument, 217
France, educational institutions creating audience for Enlightenment in, 215–18
Germany, effects of principle of cuius regio eius religio on education in, 225 institutional requirements for rejuvenated study of philosophy of religion, 42
Edwards, Jonathan, 156, 172, 272, 275
Emerson, Ralph Waldo, 66
Emile, Rousseau, 201–2 empathy, practice of, 2–3
Encyclopédie Méthodique, Jefferson's contributions to, 19 England. See British philosophy, early-modern debate about God in Enlightenment thought
Age of Enlightenment, not limited to, 223–4 assumptions about public and private religion essential to, 292–4, 306 Clayton on, 182–3
common acceptance of natural religion envisaged by, 293, 306–7 concept of 'Enlightenment project', 21, 63, 133–4, 182–3, 222–5 displacement of Enlightenment project of religion, rationality and God with religions, reasons and gods, 41–2 diversity ultimately rejected as irrational by, 63–4, 306
educational institutions creating audience for, 215–18
European manifestation in America and Jefferson as embodiment of, 17–20 human-rights discourse in tradition of, non-neutral and context-specific nature of, 76–7 modern pluralism, inability of Enlightenment concepts of reason to cope with, 30–2, 65, 74 natural religion and (See natural religion/natural theology) piety, theistic proofs cut off from, 133–4, 156 Protestant/Western bias of natural religion envisaged by, 29–30, 64 vada-tradition of philosophical debate in India differentiated from thought of, 40, 56–7 Enquiry concerning Human Understanding, Hume, 110, 112, 117, 254 epistemology
theistic (See knowability of God(s))
vada-tradition of Indian philosophical debate, 53
European Enlightenment's manifestation in America, 17–20
European liberal thinking and beginnings of American Republic, 60 European mediaeval mentality, origins of modernity in, 245–6 evil, problem of Hammon on, 264
Ramanuja and Hume compared, 118
evolution, Darwin's theory of, 268, 269–75 existence of God(s). See also theistic proofs evidence for God's existence, development of proofs as, 199–200, 220, 254
Findlay's ontological proof for necessary non-existence of God, 178 modern use and misuse of theistic proofs regarding, 176–80 purposes of theistic proofs and, 80, 169–72
Ramanuja and Hume not questioning, 114, 121
rise of atheism, reasons for, 210–12
theistic proofs contributing to doubts about, 26, 211, 314, 317 Udayana on, 149–51
experimental argument a posteriori. See design argument expressive-explanatory use of design argument in Britain Brooke, John Hedley, Clayton's use of theories of, 278–80 modern survival of argument attributed to, 272–5 before Paley, 280–8
Whewell, William, 275, 288–91
external versus internal relationship of God and world in Ramanuja and Hume, 115, 127
extra-religious context of rationality in religion, 5

© in this web service Cambridge University Press www.cambridge.org

CAMBRIDGE

Cambridge University Press
978-0-521-12627-4 - Religions, Reasons and Gods: Essays in Cross-Cultural Philosophy of Religion
John Clayton
Index
More information

falasifa (Islamic scholastic philosophy), 89–91, 94
al-Farabi, 90, 138, 171
Fénélon, François, 198
Fichte, Johann Gottlieb, 238, 241–3
Fieser, James, 256, 257
Findlay, J. N., 178
First Amendment of US Constitution, 22–3, 60
Flew, Anthony, 130, 131, 132 flower metaphor used by Udayana, 153–4 Forberg, Friedrich, 242–3
foreign travel and exploration
  atheism, seventeenth-century Western obsession with, 213–14
  China, Western exposure to culture and theology of, 93, 213, 228
'form of life', Clayton's concept of. See piety and theistic proofs foundationalism. See also theistic proofs essential problem of, 245, 314 Kant's thought and, 294–8 mediaeval versus modern mentality on sufficiency versus necessity of reason for belief, 247–8
  purpose(s) of theistic proofs and, 298–300
Francke, Auguste Hermann, 228
Franklin, Benjamin, 18
Frederick II, 228 freedom of religion leading to triumph of natural theology, fallacy of, 26–9, 213
freethinking, 252
French philosophy, early-modern debate about God in, 184
  Bayle's Dictionnaire, presumption against theism created by, 188–94
  Catholic versus Protestant cultures, effects of theistic arguments on, 221 cultural possibility of atheism, 218–21
  dialectical Other, atheist as, 214–15
  Diderot, rational atheism of, 203–5, 206–8 distinctive cultural features compared to Germany or Britain, 224
  educational institutions creating audience for, 215–18 establishment of modern tension between religion and science at end of Enlightenment, 206–8 evidence, development of treatment of proofs as, 199–200, 220 d'Holbach, rational atheism of, 203, 205–8
  Jansenists, Jesuits and Cartesians, problematic effects of dispute between, 194–9 obsession with atheism in the seventeenth century, 184–8, 212 pre-Enlightenment period, proofs redirected at atheism in, 184–8
  rise of atheism, reasons for, 210–12
  Rousseau's rational deism, 200, 201–2
  Thomist-Aristotelian versus Cartesian method, 209–10
  Voltaire's rational deism, 200–1
Frost, Robert, 79
Funkenstein, Amos, 247

game theory and theistic proofs Clayton's thought on, 14–15 language-game approach to philosophy of religion, 34–5, 305–6
Ganeri, Jonardon, 131
Gargi, 44
Gaunilo, 163
general consensus, argument from, 191, 194, 200 generic God of theism, 41, 248
George III, 256
German philosophy, early-modern debate about God in, 222–5
  Atheismusstreit, 228, 238, 240–4
  Clayton's interest in, xi
  cuius regio eius religio, principle of, 225 distinctive cultural features compared to France or Britain, 224 Hume and, 256
  Kant (See Kant, Immanuel)
  Leibniz and, 226–7
  lowered expectations regarding theistic proofs in, 225 Mendelssohn (See Mendelssohn, Moses) Pantheismusstreit, 238, 239–40
  pietism (See pietism in German philosophy) rationalism (See rationalism in German philosophy) scholasticism, pietistic and rationalist challenges to, 225–7
  University of Halle, debate between pietism and rationalism at, 228–31
  Wolff, classification and systematization of philosophy and natural theology by, 228–31
al-Ghazali
  apologetic interpretation by, 137
  biographical information, 134, 135–6
  full name of, 135
  localized context-specific rationalities for, 308
  nature of God according to, 141–2 rationality in religious contexts and, 7, 8, 10
  sacred texts, primary importance of, 136, 142–3, 158–9, 171 Sufi experience of, 136
  theistic proofs
    cosmological argument used by al-Ghazali, 136–7

© in this web service Cambridge University Press www.cambridge.org

CAMBRIDGE

Cambridge University Press
978-0-521-12627-4 - Religions, Reasons and Gods: Essays in Cross-Cultural Philosophy of Religion
John Clayton
Index
More information

historical survey of Islam's use of, 90, 91, 94 minor importance assigned to, 136, 142–3
piety reflected in, 91, 135–43, 155–9
purpose of, 137–8, 142–3, 170, 171, 299 rational proof alone not sufficient, 142
Udayana compared, 155–9
'unbelief' (takfir) of scholastic philosophers addressed by, 137–41
Gibbon, Edward, 259, 263
Giddens, Anthony, 301
Gitabhasya (Ramanuja), 106
God/s. See also atheism; non-theism; theism; theistic proofs
Anselm
God addressed by, 169
knowledge of God as aim of, 174–6
otherness of God in perception of, 161–3, 176
Aristotle, Islamic philosophers' concepts of God adapted from, 141 Enlightenment project of religion, rationality and God displaced with religions, reasons and gods, 41–2 existence (See existence of God(s)) external versus internal relationship of God and world in Ramanuja and Hume, 115, 127
generic God of theism, 41, 248
al-Ghazali, nature of God according to, 141–2
Indian beliefs and debates about, 149–51
Kant's use of theistic proofs to refine understanding of concept and nature of, 100, 178–80, 236, 302–5 knowability of (See knowability of God(s)) Ramanuja and Hume compared
conceptions of God, 114–15, 122
existence of God not questioned by either, 114, 121
external versus internal relationship of God and world, 115, 127
on knowability of God, 113–14, 121–8
Udayana's concept of God, 146–8
Goethe, Johann Wolfgang von, 241
Gosthipurna, 107
Great Britain. See British philosophy, early-modern debate about God in Greek philosophical tradition early-modern encounter with 'atheism' and materialism of, 213
Indian versus Aristotelian syllogism, 113, 157
prominence of theistic proofs in Western religions not solely attributable to, 84–5 Shi'ite interest in, 137, 138 specifically religious ends of theistic proofs in, 9–10, 219, 220
Green, T. H., 255
Greene, Jack, 17
Griswold, Charles, 61
Grose, T. H., 255

Habermas, Jürgen, 21
Hacker, Paul, 101
Halbfass, Wilhelm, 101–3, 108, 129–32
ha-Levi, 299–300
Halle, debate between pietism and rationalism at University of, 228–31
Hamann, Johann Georg, 256
Hammon, William, 264, 285
Hanafi, 69
Hanbali, 69
Haribhadra, 48–50, 51
Hartley, David, 261, 284
Hartshorne, Charles, 166
Hayter, Thomas, 256, 259, 260, 283
Hegel, Georg Wilhelm Friedrich, 244
Herder, Johann Gottfried, 21, 244 hermeneutical use of theistic proofs, 8–9, 156, 158–9, 170–1
Hick, John, 32–3, 131
Hinduism. See also specific proponents and theories apologetic use of Thomistic proofs by Christians against, 93
Ayodhya, Islamic/Hindu accommodations in, 65
Hume's low esteem for, 109, 130, 132 origins of vada-tradition of Indian philosophical debate in, 44–5 (See also vada-tradition of Indian philosophical debate) self, Hindu versus Buddhist understanding of, 38–40, 51, 53–6
theistic proofs as used in, 86–7
Trinitarianism in, 295
historical difference and location. See context; otherness d'Holbach, Paul-Henri Thiry, Baron, 189, 198, 199, 203, 205–6, 211, 314 Holyoake, George, 271
Home, Henry, Lord Kames, 105
Houtteville, Claude-François, 197
Huguenots
Bayle as, 191
sceptical fideism of, 186
Hulse, John, 310–11
Hulsean Sermon, 310–11
human history and natural history, conflation of. See providence, doctrine of human-rights discourse, 75–9
Humboldt, Alexander von, 19

© in this web service Cambridge University Press www.cambridge.org

CAMBRIDGE

Cambridge University Press
978-0-521-12627-4 - Religions, Reasons and Gods: Essays in Cross-Cultural Philosophy of Religion
John Clayton
Index
More information

Hume, David
atheism as shocking to, 115, 212
on design argument
alternative analogy, Hume's failure to provide, 268, 273
artisan–artifact analogy, 118
context of, and responses to, Hume's Enquiry and Dialogues, 253–65, 283–7 continuing popularity in Britain despite, 248–9, 267, 268
evil, problem of, 118
natural theology as belief system undermined by, 26 Ramanuja compared, 8, 115–20, 121–8 refutation of, 116–20, 248–9 survival despite critique of, 11 dialogue format used by, 103–5 Dialogues concerning Natural Religion, 103–6, 253–65
Enquiry concerning Human Understanding, 110, 112, 117, 254 existence of God not questioned by, 114, 121, 212
identification of characters in dialogues of, 104–5
India, Hume's low esteem for culture and thought of, 109, 130, 132
Jefferson's knowledge of, 25, 292
'On Miracles', 112, 256–8, 265 Ramanuja compared (See Ramanuja and Hume compared) on scepticism, 120
traditional Christian doctrines, attacks on, 212
Huxley, Thomas Henry, 255, 271, 272
Hymn to Zeus, Cleanthes the Stoic, 127, 172

Ibn Rushd (Averroes), 89, 90, 91, 171, 246
Ibn Sa'di, 70–1
Ibn Sina, 90, 91, 137, 138, 157, 171
ijma, 68, 69, 135
immediacy and accessibility of sacred texts, 101, 158–9, 173, 176, 300–1 India. See also Buddhism; Hinduism apologetic use of Thomistic proofs by Christians in, 93
Aristotelian versus Indian syllogism, 113, 157
Ayodhya, Islamic/Hindu accommodations in, 65
design argument in context of, 116
Hume's low esteem for culture and thought of, 109, 130, 132
vada-tradition of philosophical debate (See vada-tradition of Indian philosophical debate) value of studying philosophy of, 129–32
institutional requirements for rejuvenated study of philosophy of religion, 42 internal versus external relationship of God and world in Ramanuja and Hume, 115, 127
inter-religious context of rationality in religion, 5, 70–4
intra-traditional context
of rationality in religion, 5, 6, 69–70, 113–14
of theistic proofs, 5, 6–11, 157–8
Islam. See also specific proponents and theories apologetic use of Thomistic proofs against, 92
Ayodhya, Islamic/Hindu accommodations in, 65
influence on Judaism and Christianity, 91 kalam tradition, 44, 68–9, 70–1, 90, 95
law's importance to, 135 motion or change, argument from, 82, 83
as nomocracy, 135
Shi'ite belief, al-Ghazali's concerns regarding, 137–8
Sufism, 90, 136
theistic proofs as used in, 89–91, 94
Israelis and Palestinians and 'common ground' fallacy, 59

Jacobi, Friedrich Heinrich, 237, 239–40, 244
Jagannatha, 143 Jaina
non-theism of, 49, 149
vada-tradition of, 45, 46, 47, 48–50, 69, 72 (See also vada-tradition of Indian philosophical debate)
James II, 279
Jansenists, 186, 187, 188, 194, 198
Japan, inter-religious accommodations in, 66
Jayanta, 47–8, 51, 116, 132
Jefferson, Thomas, and natural religion, 16–17, 292–4
Clayton's thought on, xiii–xiv
Declaration of Independence, 22, 76, 77
on design argument, 25, 292
diversity of religion (See under diversity of religion and public life)
early views, 19
European Enlightenment, Jefferson as embodiment of, 17–20 Jeffersonian project, 20–3 market forces theory of triumph of natural religion, 26–9, 61–3 personal religious views, validation of, 27–9, 62
'pluralism' in eighteenth-century America, what constituted, 29, 64

© in this web service Cambridge University Press www.cambridge.org

CAMBRIDGE

Cambridge University Press
978-0-521-12627-4 - Religions, Reasons and Gods: Essays in Cross-Cultural Philosophy of Religion
John Clayton
Index
More information

positive or determinate religions versus natural religion, denial of public space to, 21, 23, 24, 25–6, 61, 292–4 private nature of personal belief, 22–3 public space for religion (See under diversity of religion and public life) separation of church and state, 22–3, 60, 293 slavery, inconsistencies regarding, 20, 76–7
theistic proofs, 24, 25
tombstone, 22
'universal' religion, Protestant/Western/Enlightenment bias of concept of, 29–30, 64 University of Virginia, study of religion at, 23–5 vada-tradition of Indian philosophical debate in India differentiated from thought of, 40, 56–7
Virginia Statute for Religious Freedom, 22–3, 27, 65
Jerusalem Tract (Kitab ar-Risalah al-Qudsiyyah), al-Ghazali, 136, 142, 171
Jesuits in France, 187, 188, 192, 194–9, 201
Judaism. See also specific proponents and theories
apologetic use of Thomistic proofs against, 92
Christian debate, pitfalls of, 71
'Enlightenment project' and, 133
Islam's influence on theistic proofs of, 91
kalam tradition and, 70–1
Mendelssohn and, 231, 237–8
Psalm 19, 312
Psalms in worship, 311–12
theistic proofs as used in, 91–8
jurisprudence defensible difference in religious contexts resembling, 67 Islam, importance to, 135
kalam tradition and, 68–9
Psalm 19's praise of Law, 313
shari'a, 68–9, 140
justification. See also apologetical use of theistic proofs
design argument in Britain, modern survival of, 272–5 rationality in religious contexts associated with function of, 3–6

kalam tradition in Islam, 44, 68–9, 70–1, 90, 95
Kames, Lord (Henry Home), 105
Kant, Immanuel
Atheismusstreit, 240–4
biographical information and early life, 231, 232–3
on Cartesian proofs, 234, 235
categorical imperative, 297
classification and analysis of theistic proofs by, 234–7, 294–8 Clayton's thought on, xi, xv concept and nature of God, theistic proofs used to refine understanding of, 100, 178–80, 236, 302–5 development of thought on theistic proofs, 234–7 different Kantian and anti-Kantian philosophical schools associated with, 240–4, 294 Enlightenment as defined by, 222
Enlightenment project, contributions to moving beyond, 294–8
Hume read by, 256
Jefferson's lack of knowledge of, 292
Mendelssohn and (See Mendelssohn, Moses) moral argument, 85
naming of proofs by, 116, 134, 165, 231, 234 ontological argument concept and nature of God, used to refine understanding of, 100, 178–80, 236 dependency of design and cosmological arguments on, 231
named by Kant, 165, 231, 234
refuted by, 177, 234, 235, 242, 244
Pantheismusstreit, 240
pietism and German expectations regarding theistic proofs, 226
Prussian Royal Academy essay competition, 233–4
Psalm 19 and, 97, 316
public and private, Kantian construction of, 294–8 rationality in religious contexts, 3 religious enthusiasts, suspicion of, 117
Schleiermacher on, 244
on transcendental proof, 235, 236
Whewell compared, 277
Wolff's influence on, 230, 231
karma, 88, 126, 147, 150
Kautiliya, 52
Kennedy, John, 17, 19
Kierkegaard, Søren, 11
al-Kindi, 90
Kirwan, Richard, 257
Kitab ar-Risalah al-Qudsiyyah (Jerusalem Tract), al-Ghazali, 136, 142, 171
Klimt, Gustav, xv

© in this web service Cambridge University Press www.cambridge.org

CAMBRIDGE

Cambridge University Press
978-0-521-12627-4 - Religions, Reasons and Gods: Essays in Cross-Cultural Philosophy of Religion
John Clayton
Index
More information

knowability of God(s). See also ontological argument
  Anselm on, 174–6
  Bayle on, 192
  Descartes on, 192
  Halbfass and, 108
  Ramanuja and Hume compared, 113–14, 121–8
  sufficiency versus necessity of reason for, 247–8 Knutzen, Martin, 232
Köhnke, Klaus Christian, 294
Kors, Adam Charles, 211

La Méttrie, Julien Offray de, 201
Lamy, François, 196
Lanfranc, 166, 173
Lange, Joachim, 228
language-game approach to philosophy of religion, 34–5, 305–6
Laplace, Pierre-Simon, Marquis de, 204 Lash, Nicholas, 1 law. See jurisprudence
Leibniz, Gottfried Wilhelm, 165, 193, 201, 213, 226–7, 229
Leland, John, 257
Lessing, Gotthold Ephraim, 238, 239–40
Lessius, Leonard, 185
l'Herminier, Nicolas, 197, 198
liberalism
  American liberalism, origins of, 60
  common ground, problems with concept of, 58–9
  diversity ultimately rejected as irrational by, 63–4
  secular nature of liberal state, 61 liberty in religion leading to triumph of natural theology, fallacy of, 26–9, 213 libraries, Hume on, 110
localized context-specific rationalities, diverse religions viewed as, 66–8, 307–9
location and difference, cultural and historical. See context; otherness Locke, John, 6, 18, 76–7, 117, 199, 226, 232, 246–7, 250, 269
Lokayata. See Carvaka/Lokayata
Louis XIV, 191
Low Countries in pre-Enlightenment period, theistic proofs in, 184–8
Luther, Martin, 1, 98, 172, 247

M'Ewen, Bruce, 255
MacIntyre, Alasdair, 13, 21, 224, 293, 294
Madhva, 87, 150
Madhyamikas, 69, 70
Maimonides (Moses ben Maimon), 82, 91, 231
Major, John, 58
Malcolm, Norman, 166
Malebranche, Nicolas, 213
Maliki, 69
market forces theory of triumph of natural religion, 26–9, 61–3 Marty, Martin, 22
Mather, Cotton, 314, 317
Matilal, Bimal Krishna, 131
Mayhew, Henry, 271
mediaeval European mentality, origins of modernity in, 245–6 Mendelssohn, Moses atheism, French obsession with, 188
  biographical information and early life, 231–2
  Enlightenment according to, 222
  Judaism of, 231, 237–8
  Kant and comparison of, 233
    Morgenstunden as counter-achievement to Critique, 240
    Prussian Royal Academy essay competition, 233–4 review of Kant's monograph by Mendelssohn, 234 ontological proof of, 240, 244
  pantheism controversy, 238, 239–40
  Prussian Royal Academy essay competition, 233–4
  on revealed religion and natural theology, 237–8 Wolffian classification of proofs used by, 231
Mersenne, Minim Marin, 185
Meslier, Jean, 188, 198–9, 200, 205, 210
Milbank, John, 5, 6–11
Milinda, 2, 72
Milner, Joseph, 256, 259–60, 283–4
Mimamsa
  intra-traditional context of theistic proofs and, 114
  non-theism of, 150
  Ramanuja's refutation of, 106, 115, 122, 126
  Udayana's refutation of, 149, 150, 152, 157
  vada-tradition and, 46, 52, 73 (See also vada-tradition of Indian philosophical debate)
Mirabaud, Jean-Baptiste de, 207 miracles, Hume's attack on, 112, 256–8, 265 Mo Tzu, 85
modernity, origins of, 245–6 Molière, 185
monastic life in understanding of Anselm, contextual importance of, 166–8 Monroe, James, 20
Moore, James, 270, 271

© in this web service Cambridge University Press www.cambridge.org

CAMBRIDGE

Cambridge University Press
978-0-521-12627-4 - Religions, Reasons and Gods: Essays in Cross-Cultural Philosophy of Religion
John Clayton
Index
More information

moral argument
  Anselm and, 172
  Kant's version of, 85
  in non-Western religious traditions, 85
  piety reflected in, 83, 84
Mossner, Ernest Campbell, 105
motion or change, argument from Bayle's rejection of, 192 context-specific nature of, 82–3
  d'Holbach's attack on, 192
  Rousseau's use of, 201, 202
Mu'adh, 68
al-Mulk, Nizam, 135
mutakallimun (Islamic scholastic theology), 89–91, 95

Nagarjuna, 102
Nagasena, 2, 72
Nahmanides (Moses ben Nahman), 71
Naigeon, Jacques-André, 208
Nantes, revocation of Edict of, 191
Napoleon I, 208
nastika systems. See Buddhism; Carvaka/Lokayata; Jaina; non-theism Native Americans, University of Virginia chair for mission to, 24
The Natural History of Religion (David Hume), 109, 117 natural religion/natural theology Clayton's thought on, xiii common acceptance, Enlightenment assumption of, 293, 306–7 Darwin's theories and, 269–75
  d'Holbach's denial of, 205–6
  displacement of Enlightenment project of religion, rationality and God with religions, reasons and gods, 41 diverse groups, as mediator between, 11
  Hume's Dialogues on (see Hume, David; Ramanuja and Hume compared) Jeffersonian (see Jefferson, Thomas, and natural religion)
  localized context-specific rationalities, diverse religions viewed as, 307
  market forces theory of triumph of, 26–9, 61–3
  for Mendelssohn, 238
  positive or determinate religions versus Enlightenment project distinguishing between, 223, 292–4, 306
  Jeffersonian project's denial of public space to positive religions, 21, 23, 24, 25–6, 61, 292–4
  Psalm 19 as early form of, 97
  'universal' concepts, Protestant/Western/Enlightenment bias of, 29–30, 64
  Wolff's systematization and classification of, 230
natural selection, Darwin's theory of, 268, 269–75 natural world. See design argument; Psalm 19 nature of God/s. See God/s neo-Vedantan philosophy, 130–1
Nepal, inter-religious accommodations in, 66
Netherlands in pre-Enlightenment period, theistic proofs in, 184–8
Newton, Isaac, and Newtonian physics, 18, 116, 199, 204, 205–6, 217, 232 Nobili, Roberto de, 93, 94
nomocracy, Islam as, 135
non-theism of Buddhism, 40, 87–9, 149
  of Carvaka/Lokayata, 149 Jainas, non-theism/transtheism of, 49, 149–50
  of Mimamsa, 150
  Ramanuja and Hume compared regarding, 113–14, 115 of Samkhya, 150
  in Udayana's India, 149–51
  of Yoga (philosophical school), 150
Nyayakusumanjali. See Udayana Nyaya/Naiyayika. See also Udayana; vada-tradition of Indian philosophical debate analytical philosophy as Western Nyaya, 129
  on design argument, 116
  intra-traditional context of theistic proofs and, 114
  neo-Vedantan philosophy ignoring, 131
  Ramanuja's refutation of, 106, 115
  theism of, 149–51
  vada-tradition and, 38–40, 46, 47–8, 52, 73

objectivism, 11
Ogilvie, John, 286–7
O'Neill, Onora, 294, 295
ontological argument. See also knowability of God/s Anselm's version (See Anselm) Cartesian version, 192, 206
  context-specific nature of, 81
  continuing potency of, 242, 244
  dependency of design and cosmological arguments on, 231
  Findlay's ontological proof for necessary non-existence of God, 178
  Hegel's, 244
  d'Holbach's use of, 206

© in this web service Cambridge University Press www.cambridge.org

CAMBRIDGE

Cambridge University Press
978-0-521-12627-4 - Religions, Reasons and Gods: Essays in Cross-Cultural Philosophy of Religion
John Clayton
Index
More information

ontological argument (cont.)
Kant on (See Kant, Immanuel)
Leibniz's proof from possibility, 227, 234
Mendelssohn's, 240, 244
named by Kant, 165, 231, 234
in non-Western religious traditions, 85
piety reflected in, 83, 84, 97
Wolff's systematization of, 230
order, argument from. See design argument Origin of Species, Darwin, 268, 269–75
otherness
Anselm
otherness of Anselm from modern world, 162–4
otherness of God in perception of, 161–3, 176
atheism and (See atheism) Clayton's preoccupation with concepts of, x of God in Anselm, 161–3, 176 Jeffersonian natural theology viewed as eventually overcoming, 26 past, sense of otherness of, x–xi practice of philosophy/philosophy of religion and, 2
respect for the Other combined with possibility of public discourse, 35–6, 43 in vada-tradition of Indian philosophical discourse, 35–6, 40, 44 Outram, Dorinda, 280

Palestinians and Israelis and 'common-ground' fallacy, 59
Paley, William
Anselm and, 178
belief that natural order requires explanation, 271 classical statement of design argument by, 249–50, 265–9
Darwin's fondness for, 269–71
German philosophy and, 238
reasons for success of position on design argument, 274 social order and natural order interwoven by, 265–9, 315
Vince narrowly preceding, 257
Whewell compared, 275
pantheism, 187, 206, 227, 238, 239–40
Parisuddhi (Udayana), 145
Pascal, Blaise, 186–7, 193, 197, 203
Patanjali, 146
Paul (apostle), 247
Peace of Westphalia (1648), 225 philosophy/philosophy of religion accessibility of texts, 101
analytical philosophy, Clayton on, 129–31
canons, philosophical, 107–8
Clayton's interest in integrating with historical sociology, 183 comparative (See comparative philosophy of religion)
displacement of Enlightenment project of religion, rationality, and God with religions, reasons, and gods, 41–2 Enlightenment project and aims of, 224
Greek tradition (See Greek philosophical tradition) history and development as academic disciplines, xiv–xvi Indian vada-tradition of philosophical debate (See vada-tradition of Indian philosophical debate) institutional requirements for rejuvenated study of, 42 localized context-specific rationalities, use of, 66–8, 308–9 professionalization of, 229
systematization of, 229–31
'universal' concepts, Protestant/Western/Enlightenment bias of, 29–30, 64 window cleaning, principles akin to, 1–3 Wittgensteinian approach isolating religious discourse from public contestability, 34–5 physico-theology, 116, 127, 227, 231, 275, 297, 298. See also design argument physics (sciences)
as best antidote to atheism, 207
British tendency to mix science and religion, Clayton's use of Brooke's theories on, 278–80 Cartesians versus Aristotelians regarding, 195
design argument's adaptability to, 272 educational institutions creating audience for Enlightenment, 215–18 establishment of modern tension between religion and science at end of Enlightenment, 206–8 Newtonian, 18, 116, 199, 204, 205–6, 217
pietism in German philosophy
Jacobi, 237, 239–40, 244
Kantian theory, interest in, 242 principles and origins, 225 Schleiermacher's self-stylization, 244
scholasticism challenged by, 225–7
University of Halle, debate between pietism and rationalism at, 228–31
piety and theistic proofs, 133–5
Clayton's interest in, 100
'Enlightenment project' divorcing theistic proofs from spiritual context, 133–4, 156

© in this web service Cambridge University Press www.cambridge.org

CAMBRIDGE

Cambridge University Press
978-0-521-12627-4 - Religions, Reasons and Gods: Essays in Cross-Cultural Philosophy of Religion
John Clayton
Index
More information

al-Ghazali, 91, 135–43, 155–9 (See also al-Ghazali)
in Islam, 91
strong relationship between, 83–4 Udayana, 10, 143–59 (See also Udayana)
pitakas, 45, 69
Plantinga, Alvin, 167
Platonic dialogue, 103–4 pluralism, religious. See diversity of religion and public life polemics (correction of deviant or defective beliefs within a community), 7–8, 94, 170 political events encouraging particularly British approach to natural theology, 279 political expression of rational deism/atheism in France, 208 political imbalance and defensible difference, 70–1, 72 political order, ramifications of Paley's explication of design argument for, 267 political separation of church and state in Jeffersonian project, 22–3, 60, 293 political theology, natural theology for Mendelssohn as type of, 238 Pope, Alexander, Kant's attribution of Cartesian proof a priori to, 234 Porter, Roy, 279 positive or determinate religions
Enlightenment project distinguishing between natural religion and, 223, 292–4, 306
Jeffersonian project's denial of public space to, 21, 23, 24, 25–6, 61, 292–4 possibility, argument from. See ontological argument Powell, Enoch, 30
pragmatism, 3, 11
pramanas, 53
presumption of theism
Bayle's Dictionnaire overturning, 188–94
early-modern British shift away from, 285 Enlightenment destruction as theistic proof, 191
Leibniz's argument from, 227
Rousseau's preservation of, 202
Priestley, Joseph, 28, 104, 256, 259, 260–4, 284–5 privatization of religious belief community, effect on, 61
Enlightenment assumptions regarding, 292–4, 306
Jeffersonian project of, 22–3, 292–4
for Mendelssohn, 238
origins and history of, 59–62
personal belief, Jefferson's contribution to concept of privacy of, 22–3 Wittgensteinian approach isolating religious discourse from public contestability, 34–5 property-location logic versus subject–predicate logic, 113 Proslogion. See Anselm
Protestantism
Calvinism
Adams and Jefferson on, 25
Bayle influenced by, 192, 193
Huguenots
Bayle as, 191
sceptical fideism of, 186
Jeffersonian universal natural religion, Protestant/Western/Enlightenment bias of, 29–30, 64
theistic proofs affecting Protestant and Catholic cultures differently, 221
unbelief or infidelity in Catholic countries as atheism, but in Protestant countries as theism, 292 providence (human history and natural history interwoven), doctrine of Darwin's observations refuting, 269–75
Hammon on, 264
Paley's espousal of, 252–3, 265–9
Psalm 19 and, 315
Psalm 8, 312
Psalm 19
Anselm and, 172
edited together from two separate hymns, 312–14 Hulsean Sermon, as focus of, 311
Hulsean Sermon on, 312–17
in Jewish and Christian worship, 312 Law portion, 313
modern perspectives contrasted with Psalmist's vision, 314–17
as praise hymn, 312
The Spacious Firmament (Addison), 84, 97, 156, 172, 252, 272, 282, 313
sun/nature/creation portion, 313
theistic proofs using, 83, 84, 96–8
Psalm 51, 312
Psalm 89, 312
Psalm 90, 96
Psalm 104:24, 281
Psalm 119, 312
Psalm 148, 312, 313
Psalms generally
Anselm's development of ontological argument and recitation of, 173–4
in Jewish and Christian worship, 311–12
'pseudo-Samkara', 50–1
public space and religious pluralism. See diversity of religion and public life

© in this web service Cambridge University Press www.cambridge.org

CAMBRIDGE

Cambridge University Press
978-0-521-12627-4 - Religions, Reasons and Gods: Essays in Cross-Cultural Philosophy of Religion
John Clayton
Index
More information

Puritans, 317
Purva-Mimamsa, 52, 73

quantifier-shift fallacy of 'same Ultimate Reality' argument, 32–4

Radhakrishnan, Sarvepalli, 130, 131
Ramanuja
  causality as analysed by, 126
  Clayton's interest in, xv presentation of alternative views by, 106 rhetorical strategies of, 105–7
  theistic proofs
    body–soul model, 125
    design argument, 121–8
    intra-traditional context of, 113–14
    opposition to, 85, 86, 103, 112, 299–300 used to aid proper interpretation of sacred texts by, 8–9, 170
  Udayana and, 114, 116, 149
  Yamuna tradition, writing within constraints of, 106
Ramanuja and Hume compared, 100
  anticipation of Hume by Ramanuja, 8, 132 on belief, 112, 115
  canonical status, 107–8
  conceptions of God, 114–15, 122
  on design argument, 8, 115–20, 121–8
  dialogic comparison method, 101–3 dialogues engaged in by, 103–6 differences in historically dominant religious models for, 113–14 ends, reasons in sense of, 112, 128
  evil, problem of, 118
  existence of God not questioned by either, 114, 121
  external versus internal relationship of God and world, 115, 127 grounds, reasons in sense of, 112, 128 on inference and experience, 110–12
  on knowability of God, 113–14, 121–8
  non-theism/atheism, 113–14, 115 purposes and ends of each, 103–12 suspicion of theistic proofs by rational means alone, 103, 112
  syllogism, Indian versus Aristotelian, 113
ratio anselmi. See Anselm; ontological argument rational atheism of Diderot and d'Holbach, 203–8 rational deism of Voltaire and Rousseau, 200–2 rational religion. See natural religion rationalism in German philosophy Leibniz's rationalism, 226–7
  scholasticism challenged by, 225–7
  University of Halle, debate between pietism and rationalism at, 228–31
rationalism in pre-Enlightenment France and Netherlands, 186
rationality in religious contexts
  Bayle's suspicions as to power of reason to settle religious questions, 192, 193 community solidarity, expressing, 10–11 defined, 3
  displacement of Enlightenment project of religion, rationality and God with religions, reasons and gods, 41 diverse contexts of religious claims, importance of considering, 4–7 diversity ultimately rejected as irrational in Jeffersonian/Enlightenment/liberal model, 63–4, 306
  'Enlightenment project' and, 21, 182–3, 222–5
  extra-religious context, 5
  inter-religious context, 5
  intra-traditional context, 5, 6–11
  Jansenist doubts about, 195 justification, association with, 3–6 Kantian view of, 294–8
  localized context-specific rationalities, diverse religions viewed as, 66–8, 307–9 Locke's principles of, 246–7
  modern pluralism, inability of Enlightenment concepts of reason to cope with, 30–2, 65, 74
  Ramanuja and Hume compared, 110–12, 128
  sufficiency versus necessity of reason for belief, 247–8
  syllogism, Indian versus Aristotelian, 113, 157
  theistic proofs (See theistic proofs)
Raven, Charles, 250, 281
Rawlsians, 58
Ray, John, 156, 250–1, 272, 275, 278, 280–2, 283 reason. See rationality in religious contexts regularity in nature, argument from. See design argument Reinbeck, Johann Gustav, 232
Reinhold, Karl Leonard, 241, 242
relativism, 11, 77
religious belief and human rights, perceived disconnection between, 75–6 religious freedom leading to triumph of natural theology, fallacy of, 26–9, 213 religious life and experience. See piety and theistic proofs reticence, maxim of, 2–3 revealed religion. See also sacred texts
  for Kant, 236
  Locke versus Thomas Aquinas on, 246–7

© in this web service Cambridge University Press www.cambridge.org

CAMBRIDGE

Cambridge University Press
978-0-521-12627-4 - Religions, Reasons and Gods: Essays in Cross-Cultural Philosophy of Religion
John Clayton
Index
More information

for Mendelssohn, 237–8
Psalm 19, modern perspectives contrasted with Psalmist's vision in, 314–17 (See also Psalm 19)
Ricci, Matteo, 93, 213 rights discourse, 75–9
Robespierre, Maximilien de, 208
Roman Catholicism. See Catholicism
Rorty, Richard, xiii, 10, 23, 171, 224, 294
Rousseau, Jean-Jacques, 200, 201–2

Saadya Gaon (Saadya ben Joseph), 7, 94, 95–6, 170, 308 sacred texts
accessibility and immediacy of texts, 101, 158–9, 173, 176, 300–1 Anselm's ontological proof and Psalms, 173–4, 301 al-Ghazali, primary importance to, 136, 142–3, 158–9, 171
for Kant, 236
Mather on book of nature and book of scripture, 314, 317
for Mendelssohn, 237–8
modern disembeddedness from, 300–1 theistic proofs used to aid proper interpretation of (hermeneutics), 8–9, 156, 158–9, 170–1 Udayana, primary importance to, 145, 148–9, 158–9, 301
salvific purpose of argument for Udayana, 151–2, 154
'same Ultimate Reality' argument, quantifier-shift fallacy of, 32–4 Samkara
Anselm and, 170
Jefferson and, 50–1
piety and theistic proofs, 150
Ramanuja and Hume compared, 102, 108, 121, 122, 123, 127
rationality in religious contexts and, 9
Samkhya
non-theism of, 150
vada-tradition and, 46, 52, 73 (See also vada-tradition of Indian philosophical debate)
Sankara. See Samkara
Sarvasiddhantasamgraha, 50–1
Sa-skya Pandita (Sa-pan), 51, 53, 74, 104
Saunderson, Nicholas, 203–4 Sautrantikas, 70
sceptical fideism, 186 scepticism
Bayle and, 190, 193
Hume on, 120
of Jansenists, 197
of Pascal, 186–7
in pre-Enlightenment France and Netherlands, 186, 190
Rousseau's inversion of, 202
Schleiermacher, Friedrich, 244
scholasticism, Christian Cartesians versus, 195
German philosophy, pietistic and rationalist challenges to scholasticism in, 225–7 intra-traditional rather than inter-religious discourse of, 44 metaphysics dominated through eighteenth century by, 195
Wolff's systematization of philosophy as emblematic of, 229
scholasticism, Islamic takfir ('unbelief') of scholastic philosophers as main concern of al-Ghazali, 137–41 theistic proofs as used by, 89–91, 94 sciences. See physics
secular nature of liberal state, 61
self, Buddhist versus Hindu understanding of, 38–40, 51, 53–6 separation of church and state in Jeffersonian project, 22–3, 60, 293 al-Shafi'i, 69, 135
Shankara. See Samkara
Shapiro, Barbara J., 253
shari'a, 68–9, 140
Shi'ite belief, al-Ghazali's concerns regarding, 137–8
slavery, 20, 76–7
Sloane, Sir Hans, 251
Smart, Ninian, 81, 131
Smith, Adam, 61–3, 254
Smith, Norman Kemp, 108
Smithers, Peter, 251 social order and natural order, conflation of. See providence, doctrine of Socrates, 1, 9, 10, 172, 219, 220
Socratic dialogue, 103–4
The Spacious Firmament (Addison), 84, 97, 156, 172, 252, 272, 282, 313
special relationship between Britain and America, 19 Spinoza, Benedict, 187–8, 190–1 atheism, Spinozism equated with, 127, 187, 190–1
Bayle and, 190–1
Deus sive natura, 127, 204, 239
Diderot and d'Holbach, 204, 206
Leibniz and, 226, 227
pantheism and, 187, 206, 227, 239–40

© in this web service Cambridge University Press www.cambridge.org

CAMBRIDGE

Cambridge University Press
978-0-521-12627-4 - Religions, Reasons and Gods: Essays in Cross-Cultural Philosophy of Religion
John Clayton
Index
More information

Spinoza, Benedict (cont.)
parallels drawn between Chinese and, 214–15
Schleiermacher on, 244
spirituality. See piety and theistic proofs Sribhasya. See Ramanuja
Srivaisnavas, 107
Stanton Lectures, ix–x, 209
Stewart, M. A., 105
Stoics, 9
Strato, 8, 95, 170
subject–predicate logic versus property-location logic, 113
Sufism, 90, 136
syllogism, Indian versus Aristotelian, 113, 157
systematization of philosophy/philosophy of religion, 229–31

takfir ('unbelief') of scholastic philosophers as main concern of al-Ghazali, 137–41
teleological argument. See design argument Tennant, F. R., 274
Texas Securities Act, 42
theism
in philosophy of religion, need to displace, 41–2 unbelief or infidelity in Catholic countries as atheism, but in Protestant countries as theism, 292
theistic disproofs
in Buddhism, 87–9
proofs subverted as, 178, 302, 314
theistic proofs. See also specific types, e.g. design argument all major religious traditions featuring, 84–5 apologetics (See apologetical use of theistic proofs) Aristotle's influence on, 82, 90, 91, 93, 94, 95, 170 awe or wonder, used to express, 96–8, 172, 316 (See also expressive-explanatory use of design argument in Britain) in British philosophy (See British philosophy, early-modern debate about God in) Buddhist a-theism, 87–9
in Christianity, 91–8
as comparative grammar, 305–6 concept and nature of God, Kant's use of theistic proofs to refine understanding of, 100, 178–80, 236, 302–5 as confirmation of matters of faith, 95–6, 171, 175 context, importance of, 81–3, 133–4, 156
as correction of deviant or defective beliefs within a community (polemics), 7–8, 94, 170 devotional use of, 152–5, 156, 171 disproofs, used as, 178, 302, 314 doubts about existence of God/s created by, 26, 211, 314, 317 edificatory (community solidarity) uses of, 10–11, 154, 156, 171
evidence for God's existence, development of proofs as, 199–200, 220, 254 in French philosophy (See French philosophy, early-modern debate about God in) in German philosophy (See German philosophy, early-modern debate about God in) al-Ghazali's use of (See al-Ghazali)
in Greek philosophical tradition, 9–10, 219, 220
Hindu versus Buddhist understanding of self and, 40 in Hinduism, 86–7
historical survey of religious traditions making use of, 85–98
intra-traditional context of, 5, 6–11, 157–8
in Islam, 89–91
Jefferson and, 24, 25
in Judaism, 91–8
of Leibniz, 227
localized context-specific rationalities, diverse religions viewed as, 66–8, 307–9 modern use and misuse of, 176–80, 247–8, 301–2, 305–6 modern versus pre-modern understanding of, 10–11, 14, 91, 133–4, 159–60, 169, 182–3 as moves within religious language games (See game theory and theistic proofs) opposition to use of, 85, 103, 112, 299–300 pietism and lowered expectations regarding, 225 piety reflected in (See piety and theistic proofs) purposes of, 80, 169–72, 298–300
for Anselm, 169, 172–5 British use of design argument, 272–5 for al-Ghazali, 137–8, 142–3, 170, 171 Kant's use of theistic proofs to refine understanding of concept and nature of God, 100, 178–80, 236, 302–5 modern use and misuse, 176–80 pre-modern versus modern approaches to, 10–11, 14, 91, 133–4, 159–60, 169 for those endorsing use, 299 for those repudiating use, 299–300 for Udayana, 151–5, 154, 171
Ramanuja and (See Ramanuja) sacred texts, proper interpretation of (hermeneutics), 8–9, 156, 158–9, 170–1 specifically religious significance of, 80–5

© in this web service Cambridge University Press www.cambridge.org

CAMBRIDGE

Cambridge University Press
978-0-521-12627-4 - Religions, Reasons and Gods: Essays in Cross-Cultural Philosophy of Religion
John Clayton
Index
More information

sufficiency versus necessity of reason for belief, 247–8
Udayana and (See Udayana)
Wolff's systematization and classification of, 229–31, 230
thinkability of God/s. See knowability of God/s; ontological argument
Thomas Aquinas, 6–7, 82–3, 91, 92, 191, 196, 209–10, 247, 300
Thomasius, Christian, 228
Tillich, Paul, 12
Tocqueville, Alexis de, 17
tolerance, concept of, 43, 220
Tournemine, René-Joseph, 198
transcendental proof of Kant, 235, 236
Trinitarianism
Jefferson's rejection of, 27–9
Kantian appeal to, 295
Troeltsch, Ernst, xii truth
correspondence theories of, xiii, 3
Jefferson on, 19
practice of philosophy/philosophy of religion and, 2, 3

Udayana beliefs and concept of God, 146–8
biographical information, 134, 143–6 existence of God in India of, beliefs and debates about, 149–51 flower metaphor used by, 153–4 legends associated with, 143–6
Ramanuja and, 114, 116, 149
religious pluralism in India of, 151 sacred texts, primary importance of, 145, 148–9, 158–9, 301
theistic proofs
apologetic purpose, 154
devotional nature of, 152–5, 156, 171
for edification of faithful, 154, 156 endorsement of use of, 299
al-Ghazali compared, 155–9 historical survey of proofs in India, 85, 86
piety reflected in, 10, 143–59
salvific purpose of, 151–2, 154 types of proofs used by Udayana, 148–9
vada-tradition and, 38–40, 53–6, 151–2
Unitarianism, Jefferson's attraction to, 27–9
United States. See America
universal consensus, argument from, 191, 194, 200
Universal Declaration of Human Rights, 77
'universal' religious concepts, Protestant/Western/Enlightenment bias of, 29–30, 64 Upanisads, 8, 44, 112, 121–8

vada-tradition of Indian philosophical debate
contestability rather than neutrality as price of entry into, 40, 72 devotional nature of argument for Udayana, 152–5 epistemology of, 35–41, 43–4, 53
as inter-traditional discourse system, 71–4
as intra-religious discourse system, 69–70 Jeffersonian/Enlightenment thought differentiated from, 40, 56–7 origins of, 44–5 otherness as treated in, 35–6, 40, 44
salvific purpose of argument for Udayana, 151–2, 154
self, Buddhist versus Hindu understanding of, 38–40, 51, 53–6 sustained experience of religious pluralism in India, 44 tradition-constituted nature of, 53–6 tradition-constituting nature of, 45–53, 73–4 Udayana and, 38–40, 53–6, 151–2
winners and losers in, 72 Vaisesika
theism of, 149–51
vada-tradition and, 46, 52, 73 (See also vada-tradition of Indian philosophical debate)
Vasubandhu, 45
Vedanta
neo-Vedantan philosophy, 130–1 Ramanuja and, 106, 115, 121–8
theism of, 150
Udayana and, 146
vada-tradition and, 38–40, 46, 47, 50–1, 52, 53–6, 73 (See also vada-tradition of Indian philosophical debate)
Vedanta-Sutras, 8, 121–8
Vince, Samuel, 257
Virginia Statute for Religious Freedom, 22–3, 27, 65
Visuddhimagga, 33
Voltaire, 189, 199, 200–1

Weigel, Erhard, 227
Westphalia, Peace of (1648), 225
Whewell, William, 249, 275–7, 288–91, 299
Whiston, William, 252
Wilkins, John, 253
window cleaning, principles of practising philosophy/philosophy of religion akin to, 1–3 Wittgensteinian philosophy of religion Clayton's thought and, xiii, 14, 15 isolation of religious discourse from public contestability by, 34–5 theistic proofs, aversion to, 81

© in this web service Cambridge University Press www.cambridge.org

CAMBRIDGE

Cambridge University Press
978-0-521-12627-4 - Religions, Reasons and Gods: Essays in Cross-Cultural Philosophy of Religion
John Clayton
Index
More information

Wolff, Christian, 228–31, 239 wonder or awe, theistic proofs used to express, 96–8, 172, 316 (See also expressive-explanatory use of design argument in Britain)

Xenophon, 10, 220

Yamuna, 106, 107
Yandell, Keith, 131
Yoga (philosophical school)
non-theism of, 150
vada-tradition and, 46, 52, 73 (See also vada-tradition of Indian philosophical debate)

© in this web service Cambridge University Press www.cambridge.org