

Contents

List of illustrations	page viii
Preface	xv
Introduction	1
Letter of 24 May 1919 from Van Doesburg to J. J. P. Oud and his wife	25
PART I
1 The early years of De Stijl : national and international contexts	29
2 Elementary means and the development of the painterly conception of architecture	58
3 Work with De Boer: colour, mathematics and music	82
4 Berlage and the new humanism	106
PART II
Letter of 29 December 1922 from Van Doesburg to De Boer	117
Introduction to Part II	121
5 Towards an elementary architecture	130
6 The Aubette and related work	166
7 The full compass of architecture: from the private house to the new image of the city	199
Letter of 7 February 1929 from Van Doesburg to the paci- fist Bart de Ligt and his wife	219
Conclusion	221
Notes	225
Select bibliography	240
Index	255