

INDEX

- Afranius, L., consul in 60, 136 ff.
 Allobroges, Gallic tribe, involved in Catilinarian conspiracy, 114 f.
 Antiochus, head of Academy, 30
 Antonius, C., praetor in 44, 239; surrenders Macedonia to M. Brutus, 249
 Antonius, C. Hibrida: candidate for consulship for 63, 95 f.; exchanges provinces with Cicero, 98, 115; prosecuted for maiestas, 148, 151
 Antonius, M., praetor in 102, given command against pirates, 74
 Antonius, M., tribune in 49, 207; flees to Caesar, 208, 216; his difficultie sas Master of Horse, 223; takes initiative after Caesar's murder, 236 f.; assigned Macedonia, 238; first meeting with Octavian, 239; has both Gallic provinces transferred to him, 240; attacks Cicero in Senate, 245; demands Cisalpine Gaul, 247; S.C.U. passed against him, 249; defeated at Mutina, 250 f.; joins second Triumvirate, 256; institutes proscription, in which Cicero murdered, 256
 Army, service in by Italians, 11 f.; Marius accepts volunteers without property for, 21; influence on Senate and politics of, 22 ff.; diminishing influence of Senatorial families in, 23 f.; power of generals through, 24 ff.; its importance in first century, 56 ff.; means of acquiring property, 106 ff.
 Arpinum, 4; its influence on Cicero, 13 f.
 Atticus, T. Pomponius, 92, 138, 149 f., 157, 160, 177 f., 185, 214, 215, 218, 220, 222, 228 f., 230, 242 f., 246
 Autronius, P., see Pactus
- Balbus, L. Cornelius, 141; defended by Cicero, 185
 Bibulus, M. Calpurnius, Caesar's colleague as consul, 140; fails to oppose land law, 145; prevented from speaking at end of consulship, 154, 161 f., 182
 Brutus Albinus, D. Junius, named in Caesar's will, 237; governor of Cisalpine Gaul, 240; refuses to hand it over to Antony, 247; withdraws to Mutina, 250; honoured and entrusted with war against Antony, 251; joins with Plancus, 253; deserted and put to death, 256
 Brutus, M. Junius, one of Caesar's murderers, 234, 238; given insulting commission and province, 240; publishes edict, 244; wins Macedonia from C. Antony, 249, 253, 255
- Caelius Rufus, M., persuaded to allow bill in Caesar's favour, 196; Cicero's correspondent, 201, 205, 206 f., 213, 219
 Caesar, C. Julius, 25; and the first Catilinarian conspiracy, 86 f.; his anti-Senatorial attitude and part in Egyptian bill, 88 f.; supports Catiline for consulship, 95, 97; and Lex Rulla, 99; attacks S.C.U., 102 f.; unsuccessful attempt to implicate him in conspiracy, 118; his views on punishment of conspirators, 119; as praetor with Metellus tries to pass bill in Pompey's favour, but fails, 133 f.; elected consul, 140; forms first Triumvirate, 141; introduces land bill, 143 f.; uses force to attain ends, 144 ff.; is voted both Gauls as province, 147; summons

INDEX

- Pompey to Luca, 174 f.; his situation in 56, 180 ff.; continued in province further five years, 186; tension with Pompey, 188 ff.; given permission to sue for consulship in absentia, 196; embarrassed by Pompey's legislation, 198 f.; his situation in 50, 202 ff.; surrenders two legions for Parthian war, 206; addresses his troops at Ravenna, 208; returns to Italy and pardons Cicero, 224; accepts dictatorship for life, 231; his murder, 234 f.
- Caesar Octavianus, C. Julius, adopted in Caesar's will, arrives in Italy and first meeting with Antony, 239; strained relations with Antony, 240 f.; collects army and woos Cicero, 245 f.; given propraetorian imperium, 249; slighted by Senate after Mutina makes advances to Antony, 251 f.; refuses to help Republic, marches on Rome and becomes consul, 254; joins second Triumvirate, 256
- Cassius Longinus, Q., tribune in 49, flees to Caesar, 208, 216; given insulting commission and province, 240; publishes edict, 244; seizes Syria, 249; proceeds against Dolabella, 250
- Catiline, L. Sergius, involved in first Catilinarian conspiracy, 86 f.; candidate for consulship for 63, 95 f.; candidate for consulship for 62, 105; the aims of his conspiracy, 105 ff.; holds meeting of supporters, 110; leaves Rome, 112; tries to justify behaviour and is declared hostis, 112; his defeat and death, 134
- Cato, C. Porcius, mauled by Pompey's veterans, 145; tribune in 56, prevents elections, 185
- Cato, M. Porcius, speaks on behalf of death penalty for Catilinarian conspirators, 122 f.; opposes Caesar's land law, 144 f.; sent to Cyprus, 160; fails for praetorship of 55, 186, 188; supports Pompey's powers, 200; in Pompey's camp, 222
- Cethegus, C. Cornelius, leading Catilinarian conspirator, 114 f.; put to death, 124
- Chrysogonus, Sulla's freedman, 27 ff.
- Cicero, M. Tullius, birth and childhood, 4; influence of country background, 13 f.; early education, 14; moves to Rome, 19; military service in Social War, 20; defends Roscius, 27 f.; obtains quaestorship, 31; in Sicily, 32; inadequacy of his ideals, 61 f.; assumes prosecution of Verres, 64 f.; elected aedile, 66; his victory over Verres and Hortensius, 66 f.; is sympathetic to Lex Gabinia, 74 ff.; becomes praetor, 77; supports Lex Manilia, promises to defend Manilius, 80 f.; defends tribune Cornelius, 91 f.; canvass for consulship, 92 ff.; attains consulship, 96; defeats Rullan land bill, 99 ff.; informed of Catiline's plans by Fulvia, 108; persuades Senate to pass S.C.U., 109; summons meeting of Senate, 111; delivers early Catilinarian speeches, 111 f.; takes action as result of Allobrogian disclosure, 114 f.; his speech on death penalty, 121; has conspirators executed, 124; insulted by Metellus Nepos, 126; tries to win over Pompey, 132 f.; approached to join Triumvirate, 141; defends Antonius, 148; refuses offer on Caesar's staff, 151 f.; attacked by Clodius' legislation, 155 ff.; his exile, 158 ff.; his recall brought about, 163; speeches of thanks, 165; proposes commission for Pompey, 165 f.; defends Sestius, 169; significance of speech, 169 ff.; gives notice of intention to raise question of Campanian land, 173; requested to leave Campanian question alone, 175; acquiesces in Triumvirs' demands, 176 ff.; speaks in favour of Caesar and his retention of his provinces, 178 ff.; his unhappiness at the situation, 191 f.; defends Vatinius and Gabinius, 192 f.; unsuccessful in defence of Milo, 197; governor of Cilicia, 212 f.; his difficult

INDEX

- position in relation to Caesar and Pompey, 213 ff.; keeps away from Rome, 220; joins Pompey's camp, 221; retires to Brundisium after Pharsalus, 222; reconciled to Caesar and returns to Rome, 224; speaks on behalf of Marcellus, 225 f.; pleads for Q. Ligarius, 226 f.; withdraws from public life, 227 f.; divorces Terentia and marries Publilia, 228; divorces Publilia, 229; entertains Caesar, 231; rejoices at Caesar's murder, 241 f.; sets out for Athens, but returns to Rome, 243 f.; delivers first Philippic, 244 f.; his second Philippic, 245; encourages Octavian, 246; rallies Senate and people, 247; takes lead against Antony, 250 f.; exhorts Brutus and Cassius to bring armies to Italy, 253; withdraws from active politics, 255; his murder in the proscriptions, 256 f.
- Cicero, Q. Tullius, writes his brother a pamphlet of advice for gaining consulship, 92; nearly killed by Clodian gang, 162; asked by Pompey to give warning to brother, 175; quarrels with his brother, 223
- Cinna, Cn. Cornelius, 46
- Citizenship, Roman, difficulty of extending, 7 ff.
- Claudius Marcellus, C., consul in 50, invites Pompey to take command against Caesar, 207
- Claudius Marcellus, M., consul in 51, flogs citizen of Novum Comum, 201; tries to have Curio censured, 205; pardoned by Caesar, 225
- Clodius, P. Appius, 79; involved in scandal of Bona Dea, 136; made plebeian, 148, 150 f.; tribune for 58, passes much legislation, 153 f.; attacks Cicero, 155 ff.; disposes of Cato, 160; tries to force Caesar's hand, 161 f.; uses force to prevent bill in Cicero's favour, 162, 165, 167 f.; attacks Milo and Sestius in courts, 168 ff.; supports Pompey, 190; candidate for praetorship of 52, 194 f.; his death, 195
- Concordia ordinum*, 94, 100 f., 105; Cicero's hopes for its consummation, 116, 122, 124; its consummation in 63, 127, 135; in jeopardy, 138 f., 150
- Consensus Italiae*, Cicero's reformed ideal, 128, 132 f., 164; its importance in connexion with Sestius' trial, 169 ff., 214 f.
- Cornelius, C., tribune in 67, 76, 85; his legislation and prosecution, 90 f.
- Cotta, C. Aurelius, sponsors law on behalf of tribunes, 44, 68
- Cotta, L. Aurelius, 86
- Courts, jury, under control of Senate, 44 f.; Pompey's attitude towards, 67 f.
- Crassus, P. Licinius, 25; early life, 52 f.; against Spartacus, 53; seeks consulship, 54 ff.; defends Macer unsuccessfully, 77; and the first Catilinarian conspiracy, 86 f.; his part in Egyptian bill, 89; supports Catiline for consulship, 95, 97; and Lex Rulla, 99, 106; hands anonymous letters to Cicero, 109; unsuccessfully accused of implication in conspiracy, 118; joins Triumvirate, 141; hostile to Pompey, 168; meets Caesar at Ravenna, 173 f.; consul for 55, 186; given Syria for five years, 186; departs, 188; defeat and death, 194
- Curio, C. Scribonius, tribune for 50, supports Caesar, 203 f., 207, 216
- Deiotarus, king of Galatia, defended by Cicero, 230
- Demetrius, teacher of rhetoric, 30
- Dictatorship, accepted for life by Caesar, 231
- Diodotus, Stoic, 19
- Divinatio in Caecilium*, 65

INDEX

- Dolabella, P. Cornelius, 226, 228; assumes consulship, 235; assigned Syria, 238; extended for five years, 240, 243; murders Trebonius and proclaimed hostis, 249
- Domitius Aenobarbus, Cn., rallies Marian forces in Africa, 47
- Domitius Aenobarbus, L., sues unsuccessfully for consulship of 55, 186
- Equites: support Marius, 15, 17; Cicero courts their support, 30 f.; given power by C. Gracchus, 39 f.; lose control of jury courts, 41, 61, 76; support Pompey in East, 80; their power in the state, 81; antagonism to Senate, 93; threaten Caesar at time of Catilinarian troubles, 124; as part of Cicero's ideal, 128 ff.; at loggerheads with Senate, 138 f.; support Cicero in 58, 155 f.
- Fabircius, C., of Aletrium, 34
- Flavius, L., tribune in 60, fails to pass land law in Pompey's interest, 137 f.
- Fulvia, reveals Catiline's plans to Cicero, 108, 110
- Gabinus, A., 25; author of law in Pompey's interest, 73 f.; consul for 58, 148, 155 f., 179; restores Ptolemy, 192; prosecuted and unsuccessfully defended by Cicero, 192 f.
- Glaucia, C. Servilius, 15
- Gracchus, C. Sempronius, his hostility to Senate, 39 f., 129
- Gracchus, Tib. Sempronius, his methods, 38 ff., 129
- Hirtius, A., consul in 43, 243, 248; killed at Mutina, 251
- Hortensius, Q. Hortalus: assumes Verres' defence, 64; elected consul for 69, 66; tries to oppose Lex Gabinia, 76; tries to oppose Lex Manilia, 80
- Italians, unsatisfactory political status of, 4 ff.; large numbers of in army, 11 f., 22
- iudicium Iunianum*, 34, 44
- Julia, Caesar's daughter: marries Pompey, 150; her death, 194
- Junius, C., 34
- Labienus, T., institutes prosecution against Rabirius, 103
- Latin status, 4 ff.
- Lentulus Spinther, P. Cornelius, consul for 57, 161; governor of Cilicia, 167, 186, 192
- Lentulus Sura, P. Cornelius, leading Catilinarian conspirator, 114 f.; put to death, 124
- Lepidus, M. Aemilius, Master of Horse, 236; surrenders his army to Antony, 252 f.; declared hostis, 253; joins second Triumvirate, 256
- Ligarius, Q., pardoned by Caesar, 226 f.
- Luca, conference at, 174 f., 180, 188
- Lucullus, L. Licinius, 44, 52, 61, 73, 77 ff., 90, 137
- Macer, L. Licinius, 77
- Manilius, C., author of law to transfer command against Mithridates to Pompey, 77 f.; prosecuted, 81, 90

INDEX

- Manlius, detailed to start revolt in Etruria, 109 f.; declared hostis, 112
- Marius, C., 13 ff.; in Social War, 16; massacre instituted by, 16 f.; opens army to volunteers without property, 20 f.; supported in 107 B.C. by Equites, 40; with Sulpicius, 40
- Messius, C., tribune for 57, proposes powers for Pompey, 166
- Metellus Celer, Q. Caecilius, sent to Cisalpine Gaul, 110
- Metellus Creticus, Q. Caecilius, 65; consul for 69, 77; given command against pirates, 74; sent with army to Capua, 110, 136 f.
- Metellus, L. Caecilius, governor-designate of Sicily, 63, 65
- Metellus, M. Caecilius, 65; praetor for 69, in charge of quaestio de repetundis, 66
- Metellus Nepos, Q. Caecilius, tribune for 62 to urge Pompey's interests, 126; hostile to Cicero, 126; with Caesar tries unsuccessfully to pass bill in Pompey's favour, 133 f.; consul for 57, 161
- Milo, T. Annius, tribune for 57, 161, 167; evades prosecution by Clodius, 168 f.; opposed by Pompey, 190 f.; candidate for consulship of 52, 194 f.; tried and condemned, retires to exile at Massilia, 197
- Milvian Bridge, scene of arrest of Allobroges, 114
- Mithridates, 16, 21, 40 f., 73, 77
- Molo, Rhodian rhetorician, 19, 30
- Murena, L. Licinius, consul for 62, 108; prosecuted for bribery, 113 f.; supports Silanus' motion on conspirators, 119
- Mutina, D. Brutus besieged in, 250 f.
- Niger, Q. Caecilius, 65
- Ninnius Quadratus, L., tribune, 155, 160
- Octavian, see Caesar
- Otium*, Cicero's ideal, 187 f.
- Paetus, P. Autronius, accused of bribery in consular elections, 76, 86
- Palicanus, M. Lollius, 55
- Palinode, Cicero's so-called, 177 f., 184
- Pansa, C. Vibius, consul in 43, 243, 248, 249; killed at Mutina, 251
- Philo, head of Academy, 19
- Pirates, Gabinus' law against, 93 ff.
- Piso Caesoninus, L. Calpurnius, consul for 58, 25, 148, 155 f.; governor of Macedonia, 161, 179
- Piso, Cn. Calpurnius, member of first Catilinarian conspiracy, 86
- Plancius, Cn., receives Cicero kindly, 158
- Plancus, L. Munatius, governor of Transalpine Gaul, 247; goes to support of Lepidus, 252; joins Antony, 255 f.
- Pollio, C. Asinius, joins Antony, 255 f.
- Pompeius Magnus, Cn., 25; early life, 46; supports Sulla, 47; proceeds to Sicily and Africa, 47; refuses to discharge army, 48; greeted by Sulla as 'Magnus' and allowed to triumph, 48; defeats Lepidus and is sent against Sertorius, 51, 53; seeks consulship, 54 f.; given command against pirates, 73 ff.; given command against Mithridates, 80, 84; cold towards Cicero's achievement against

Cambridge University Press
 978-0-521-13143-8 - Cicero the Statesman
 R. E. Smith
 Index
More information

INDEX

- Catiline, 126; reluctant to join with Cicero, 132 f.; returns to Italy and disbands army, 134 f.; his difficulties, 137; joins with Caesar in Triumvirate, 141; uses veterans in Caesar's interest, 144 ff.; unable to help Cicero, 156; supports Cicero's recall, 163; given corn commission, 166; his discomfiture at Crassus' hands, 168; supports Milo and Sestius, 168 f., 173; consul for 55, 186; given both Spains for five years, 186; tension with Caesar, 188 ff.; angles for dictatorship, 189 ff.; marries Metellus Scipio's daughter, 195; invited by Senate to save state, and named sole consul, 195; organises Milo's trial, 196 f.; his legislation, 198 ff.; his tenure of province extended, 200; his illness, 206; defeat at Pharsalus, 222
- Provinces, Pompey's attitude towards, 55
- Ptolemy Auletes, 167, 192
- Ptolemy, king of Cyprus, 160
- Quinctius, L., tribune, 34
- Rabirius Postumus, C., prosecuted for perduellio, 103
rex, title refused by Caesar, 232 f.
- Rex, Q. Marcius, sent to Faesulae, 110
- Roscius, S., defended by Cicero, 27 ff.; significance of defence, 29
- Rullus, P. Servilius, author of tribunician land bill, 99 ff.
- Sallust, his explanation of Cicero's success at consular elections, 96 f.
- Saturminus, L. Appuleius, 15
- Scaevola, Q. Mucius, 19
- Scamander, defended unsuccessfully by Cicero, 34
- Senate, effective government of Rome in second century, 36 ff.; its position in Sulla's reforms, 41 ff.; its relations with army, 59 ff.; antagonism to Equites, 93; its consultum ultimum, 102 ff.; passes S.C.U. to deal with Catiline, 109; declares Catiline hostis, 112; as part of Cicero's ideal, 128 ff.; passes S.C.U., 134; opposes both Pompey and Equites, 138 ff.; prevented from supporting Cicero, 155 ff.; brings about his recall, 163; calls on Pompey to save state as sole consul, 195; withdraws two legions from Caesar, 205 f.; passes S.C.U., 208, 216; votes amnesty after Caesar's murder, 236; recognises Caesar's acta as valid, 237; supports Octavian against Antony, 246 f.; passes S.C.U. against Antony, 249; withdraws sentence of outlawry on Antony and Lepidus, 255
- Sertorius, Q., 51 f.
- Sestius, P., tribune for 57, 161; prosecuted by Clodius, 169 ff.
- Silanus, D. Junius, consul for 62, 108, 115; gives opinion on conspirators, 119; changes his mind, 122
- Social War, 6, 16, 19
- Spartacus, 52 f.
- Sthenius, fugitive from Sicily, 34 f.
- Sulla, P. Cornelius, 24 f., 36, 40; his constitutional reforms, 41 f.; relations with Pompey, 48 ff.
- Sulla, P. Cornelius, accused of bribery at consular elections, 76, 86
- Sulpicius Rufus, P., enlists Marius' support, 40
- Sulpicius Rufus, S., consul in 51, 225

Cambridge University Press
978-0-521-13143-8 - Cicero the Statesman
R. E. Smith
Index
More information

INDEX

- Torquatus, L. Manlius, 86
- Trebonius, C., tribune in 55, passes law to give Pompey and Crassus provinces, 186; murdered by Dolabella, 249
- Tribunate, used by Gracchi against Senate, 39 f.; deprived of power by Sulla, 41 f.; agitation for restoration of its powers, 44; its powers restored, 68; used by Populares, 89 f.
- Triumvirate, formation of first, 141; its renewal in 56, 174 ff.; the second, 256
- Tullia, Cicero's daughter, 163; her death, 228 f.
- Vatinius, P., tribune in 59, passes laws in Caesar's interest, 147; defended by Cicero, 192
- Verres, C., 34 f.; governor of Sicily, 63; withdraws into exile, 67