

Cambridge University Press

978-0-521-15832-9 - Sir Philip Sidney: The Last Part of the Countesse of Pembrokes

Arcadia: The Lady of May

Edited by Albert Feuillerat

Index

More information

INDEX OF FIRST LINES OF POEMS

- A banisht man, long bard from his desire 15
 A neighbor mine not long agoe there was 66
 As I my little flocke on Ister banke 74 (Cf. vol. 1, 132.)
 Aurora now thou shewst thy blushing light 39

 Beautie hath force to catche the humane sight 42

 Do not disdaine, ô streight up raised Pine 24

 Envious wits what hath beene mine offence 284

 Farewell ô Sunn, Arcadias clearest light 143

 Get hence foule Griefe, the canker of the minde 50

 Howe is my Sunn, whose beames are shining bright 9

 In faith, good Histor, long is your delay 78 (Cf. vol. 1, 137.)

 Let him drinke this, whome long in armes to folde 48
 Let mother earth now decke her selfe in flowers 63
 Like divers flowers, whose divers beauties serve 26
 Like those sicke folkes, in whome strange humors flowe 9
 Locke up, faire liddes, the treasure of my harte 26

 My Lute which in thy selfe thy tunes enclose 35
 My true love hath my hart, and I have his 17

 O night the ease of care the pledge of pleasure 91
 O stealing time the subject of delaie 32
 O words which fall like sommer deaw on me 18

 Phæbus farewell, a sweeter Saint I serve 5

 Since natures workes be good, and death doth serve 166
 Since that the stormy rage of passions darcke 8
 Since that to death is gone the shepheard hie 139 (Cf. vol. 1, 498.)
 Since wayling is a bud of causefull sorowe 138
 Sweete roote say thou, the roote of my desire 25

 The ladd Philisides 70
 The love which is imprinted in my soule 55
 This cave is darke, but it had never light 10

 Vertue, beawtie, and speach, did strike, wound, charme 53

Cambridge University Press
978-0-521-15832-9 - Sir Philip Sidney: The Last Part of the Countesse of Pembrokes
Arcadia: The Lady of May
Edited by Albert Feuillerat
Index
More information

INDEX OF FIRST LINES OF POEMS

When two Sunnes do appeare 38
Who doth desire that chaste his wife should be 70
Who hath his hire, hath well his labour plast 83
Why doost thou haste away 32

You goodly pines, which still with brave assent 25