Acknowledgements

Author Acknowledgements

First of all, I would like to thank Caroline Thiriau and Kate Hansford for managing the publication of this book in such a constructive, supportive and expert way. I would also like to thank Verity Cole, who provided me with extremely useful and thorough feedback over different drafts. Thanks also go to Brigit Viney and Jessica Errington for their patience and expertise in the final shaping of the book. It has been a pleasure to have worked with such a great editorial team.

I would like to thank Karen Momber for commissioning the book and Dilys Silva, Martin Hewings and Michael McCarthy for their feedback and for the valuable work they did in initially shaping this EAP series. Much of the corpus-based material in the book is the result of the excellent support of the Corpus team at Cambridge University Press. In the latter stages of the book, Linda Matthews efficiently managed the production of the book in liaison with the team at Wild Apple Design. Thanks also to Steven Shuttleworth for on-going support during the writing of the book.

Finally, I would like to acknowledge colleagues and students at Languages International, Auckland, whose contributions over the years have helped shape the thinking behind these materials. In particular, I would like to thank Darren Conway for his expertise and insight into the field of EAP.

Publisher Acknowledgements

A special thanks to Dr Karen Ottewell at the University of Cambridge Language Centre for reviewing the material so thoroughly and helping us to organise the lectures and to all the lecturers who allowed us to film them delivering lectures for the book:

Dr Patricia Fara, Dr Hugh Hunt, and Dr Prodromos Vlamis.

We would like to thank all the reviewers who have provided valuable feedback on this project: Anna Derelkowska, Ludmila Gorodetskaya, Chris Hilton, Maggie McAllinden, Marie McCullagh, Gavin McGuire, Sylwia Maciaszczyk, Karen Ottewell, Margareth Perucci, Elaine Rowlands, Chris Sowton and Lisa Zimmermann.

We would also like to thank the students who participated in the interviews which appear in the Lecture skills units:

Frederike Asael; Larissa Bosso; Fei He; Cristoffer Levin; Anna Lowe; Zaneta Macko; Sithamparanathan Sabesan; Maria Silva-Grazia; Anita Thillaisundaram.

The Cambridge Advanced Learner's Dictionary is the world's most widely used dictionary for learners of English. Including all the words and phrases that learners are likely to come across, it also has easy-to-understand definitions and example sentences to show how the word is used in context. The Cambridge Advanced Learner's Dictionary is available online at dictionary.cambridge.org. © Cambridge University Press, Third edition & 2008, reproduced with permission.

Development of this publication has made use of the Cambridge English Corpus (CEC). The CEC is a computer database of contemporary spoken and written English, which currently stands at over one billion words. It includes British English, American English and other varieties of English. It also includes the Cambridge Learner Corpus, developed in collaboration with the University of Cambridge ESOL Examinations. Cambridge University Press has built up the CEC to provide evidence about language use that helps to produce better language teaching materials.

Introduction

Who is the course for?

Cambridge Academic English is for anyone who needs English for their academic studies.

It is an integrated skills course, which means that at each of the levels you will develop your abilities in reading, writing, listening and speaking in an academic context. In your class there will probably be students studying or hoping to go on to study many different subjects. With this in mind, Cambridge Academic English includes topics and texts that will be of interest to students from all disciplines (subject areas), and teaches language and skills that will be of use to students working in all subjects. However, some parts of the course also help you to develop abilities relevant to your particular area of study.

Student's Book B1 is aimed at students who need to improve their English significantly in order to guarantee success in higher education. If you are familiar with the Common European Framework of Reference (CEFR) proficiency levels, Student's Book B1 is likely to be most useful for Independent Users at level B1 and above. Student's Book B2 is aimed at students who will soon be starting undergraduate or postgraduate studies and are Independent Users at level B2 and above. Student's Book C1 is aimed at students who may already have begun their academic studies. It will also be of interest to non-native English-speaking academics who need to present and publish in English. It will be of most use to Proficient Users at level C1 and above.

How is the book organised?

The introductory unit, Academic orientation, introduces you to aspects of studying academic English. For example, you will learn about academic culture and consider possible differences in study methods in different countries and in different subject areas.

The Student's Book is organised into integrated skills and lecture skills units:

- Integrated skills units 1–10 (with separate Audio CD)

Ten units are organised around a broad topic of interest and help you develop your skills in reading, speaking and writing academic English. Each of these units ends with a grammar and vocabulary focus that is of particular importance in academic written and spoken communication. The cross references in the margins point to further information, strategies, or extra practice which can be found in the Grammar and vocabulary section of that unit.

 The separate Class Audio CD includes all the recordings needed for the listening and speaking sections and gives students focused listening practice, strategies to participate in tutorials and group work.

- Lecture skills units A–E (with separate DVD)

After every two integrated skills units there is a Lecture skills unit to help you develop skills in listening to lectures and taking notes. For this course, a variety of lectures were recorded at the University of Cambridge and a separate DVD accompanies the Student's Book, containing clips of these lectures and of students talking about their experience of studying in English at university.

 Extracts from these lectures have been used in the lecture skills units to help you understand, for example, how lecturers use language, visual information, gesture and pronunciation to present content and show how they are organising the lecture.

What kind of language does the course teach?

Cambridge Academic English uses authentic academic texts. The texts you will read are taken from the kinds of textbooks and journal articles that your subject tutors might recommend you to read. You may find these challenging at first but you will learn strategies in the course to help you to cope with them. We believe that working with authentic texts in EAP is the best way of preparing to read them during your academic course of study.

The lectures you will watch are delivered by experienced lecturers and researchers. In many colleges and universities around the world you will be taught in English by some tutors who are native English speakers and others who are non-native English speakers. To help you prepare for this, both native and non-native English-speaking lecturers have been included in this course.

The vocabulary focused on in the course has been selected for being of particular importance in academic writing, reading, lectures and seminars. In choosing what to teach we have made use of the Academic Word List compiled by Averil Coxhead (see www.victoria.ac.nz/lals/resources/academicwordlist/ for more information). This list includes many of the words that you are likely to encounter in your academic studies.

What are the additional features?

Each unit contains the following additional features:

The Study tip boxes offer practical advice on how you can improve the way you study.

The Information boxes provide useful background on language or academic culture.

The Focus on your subject boxes encourage you to think about how what you have learnt applies to your own subject area.

The Corpus research boxes present useful findings from the CAEC.

- The Word list at the back of the Student's Book covers key academic words essential for development of academic vocabulary.
- For each level of the course, a full-length version of one of the lectures from the DVD is available online. This gives you the opportunity to practise, in an extended context, the listening and note-taking skills that you develop in the Lecture Skills units. The video and accompanying worksheets are available for students at www.cambridge.org/elt/academicenglish.

To make sure that the language we teach in the course is up-to-date and relevant, we have made extensive use of the Cambridge Academic English Corpus (CAEC) in preparing the material.

What is the Cambridge Academic English Corpus (CAEC)?

The CAEC is a 400-million-word resource comprising two parts. One is a collection of written academic language taken from textbooks and journals written in both British and American English. The second is a collection of spoken language from academic lectures and seminars. In both parts of the corpus a wide variety of academic subject areas is covered. In addition to the CAEC, we have looked at language from a 1.7-million-word corpus of scripts written by students taking the IELTS test.

Conducting our research using these corpora has allowed us to learn more about academic language in use, and also about the common errors made by students when using academic English. Using this information, we can be sure that the material in this course is built on sound evidence of how English is used in a wide variety of academic contexts. We use the CAEC to provide authentic examples in the activities of how language is used, and to give you useful facts about how often and in what contexts certain words and phrases are used in academic writing.

We hope you enjoy using Cambridge Academic English and that it helps you achieve success in your academic studies.
