1 Read and listen to the dialogue.

Claire Listen to that! How funny! I can't believe I used to like them.

Karen Who is it? I can't even remember them.

Rick Neither can I, and I had to listen to all of Claire's music when I was younger!

Claire It's Don't Speak by No Doubt.

Karen Oh, yes! That's what it is! I remember it now.

Oliver So do I. You used to play this all the time.

Claire Don't remind me! So, what else do we have here?

Oliver Pink, Outkast, I didn't use to like U2, but now I'm a big fan.

In fact, I have a lot of their CDs. So, what are you into right now, Rick?

Rick I like hip-hop, especially classic stuff. I've just borrowed a bunch of my brother's old music. He used to spend his allowance on CDs, so he has a massive collection.

Claire I used to spend all my money on music, but now I've started collecting recorded books. You can get some amazing books!

Karen That's a great idea. Do you have Lord of the Rings?

Claire Yes, I have it on my MP3 player!

2 Answer the questions.

- 1 Who used to like No Doubt?
- 2 Who is a U2 fan?
- 3 What kind of music does Rick like at the moment?
- 4 What did Rick's brother use to do with his allowance?
- 5 What kind of collection does Claire have?
- 6 Has she always collected these things?

John Lennon, Paul McCartney, George Harrison and Ringo Starr—together they were the Beatles, the greatest band the world has ever seen. Here are eight of the most important events in their history.

Lennon and McCartney meet

On July 6, 1957, fifteen-year-old Paul McCartney first met John Lennon in Liverpool. John Lennon was on stage with his band The Quarry Men. Later in the evening, Paul played piano with the band. They thought he was so good that they asked him to join them.

The Beatles go to Germany

In August 1960, the Beatles went to Germany, where they played at Hamburg's Star Club until December 1. The band was made up of John Lennon (rhythm guitar/vocals), Paul McCartney (rhythm/vocals), George Harrison (lead guitar/vocals), and two other musicians on the bass and the drums.

The early hits

In summer 1962, a new drummer, Ringo Starr, joined John, Paul, and George. On October 11, 1962, the Beatles made their first appearance in the UK charts with "Love Me Do." In early 1963, their second single "Please Please Me" became their first number 1. The Beatles quickly followed this with another number 1 single, "From Me to You," and a number 1 album, also named Please Please Me.

The Beatles "invade" the U.S.

On February 7, 1964, 10,000 fans were at New York's Kennedy Airport to see Pan-Am flight PA101 land. On board were Paul, John, George, and Ringo. Four days later, the Beatles played their first American concert in Washington, D.C., to 8,600 screaming fans. More than 70 million Americans watched their performance on TV. On April 4, 1964, the top five singles in the United States were "Can't Buy me Love," "Twist and Shout," "She Loves You," "I Want to Hold your Hand," and "Please Please Me"—all of them were Beatles songs!

Sergeant Pepper's Lonely Hearts Club Band

On June 1, 1967, the Beatles released their eighth album, Sergeant Pepper's Lonely Hearts Club Band. Many people think this is the greatest of all their records. The album had the famous songs "She's Leaving Home," "When I'm Sixty-Four" and "Lucy in the Sky with Diamonds." It was also famous for its cover, which showed pictures of many of the band's idols.

The last show

On January 30, 1969, the Beatles played their last concert. It was a show on the roof of their record company in London. A large group of fans watched from the street below, but there were complaints about the noise from neighbors so the police arrived and stopped the show after only 42 minutes. Just over a year later, the band broke up.

The death of John Lennon

On December 8, 1980, when John Lennon was outside his home in New York City with his wife, Yoko Ono, a crazed fan called Mark Chapman shot him. John's death was a great shock all over the world. Now people knew that the Beatles would never play together again.

The release of One

In November 2000, a compilation of the Beatles' number 1 hits called One went straight to the top of the album charts. It was the fastest selling CD of the year and sold 320,000 copies in the first week. It also reached number 1 in many other countries around the world, including Germany, France, Spain, and Canada. It showed that the Beatles were still one of the biggest and most popular bands in the world.
