PREFACE

I worked on this book during my four-year post as Research Associate at the Faculty of Classics, University of Cambridge (2005–9), within a wider project studying first-century BC philosophy, funded by AHRC.

I should like to express my gratitude to all those who were a part of this project: the two directors, Professors David Sedley and Malcolm Schofield (who also followed the Sitz im Leben of this book step by step), as well as Dr Myrto Hatzimichali for helpful comments. I should also like to thank Dr Angela Chew, who kindly read through parts of the book.

The facilities offered by the Faculty, the library in particular, provided the most congenial setting for carrying out the research incorporated in this book.

During those years my father passed away, after long illness. I dedicate this book to him.
